Dedication

As a tribute to their kindness and generosity, with gratitude for their words of encouragement in the face of misfortunes, their congratulations and pride in our triumphs throughout our high school careers, and feeling that without this comfort and inspiration we could never have made a success of this volume, our first issue, we dedicate this annual to our fathers and mothers.

School Song

MADISON! O Madison!
O sing of the praises of the victories we have won—
MADISON! O Madison!
That's all right,
We've won the fight,
But we must keep right on.
Here's to the blue and white of M. H. S.
May she lead us to success
And let us show that fine school spirit grand,
And prove ourselves a loyal band.

Chorus

M. M. H. S., M. M. H. S.
Keep the goal in sight,
Find your work, and never shirk,
And you will be all right,
M. M. H. S., M. M. H. S.
Fight on for her fame,
Strive, ever strive and we will win a name.

Class Poem

When the day's work's almost done
And the battle's almost won,
Then our thoughts begin to stray
To a land of dreams, so far away.

Four years we've labored here together,
Rain or shine or cloudy weather;
And now our goal is very near,
Do you wonder that we shout and cheer?

Four years like a day is done
And the battle's joyfully won.
Now the world's ours to take
We must not dream, but keep awake.

The Senior Class of 1929 is presenting their Annual entitled "The Caldron." It is the first of its kind ever published in Madison High School. This annual gives some idea of the work the school has carried on during this school year, as well as the activities of each Senior since he or she has been in high school. We hope that the other classes may continue to publish an annual, and we wish them success in their undertakings. We appreciate the work and cooperation of all those who have taken part and thank everyone who has helped to make this, our first annual, a success.

Class Prophecy

TODAY feeling the need of excitement, I decide that I shall visit a spiritualist. Upon arriving I find him to be very tall, dark and fierce looking with a far away look in his eyes that seems as though he can see into the future very clearly.

I ask him if he can call before me a vision of all the classmates of 1929 as they will be in 1939.

He looks blank for a moment and then, nodding his head, he leads me into a darkened room where I sit for five minutes without seeing anything. But suddenly a vision appears before me.

There is a roomful of little Chinese boys and girls gazing steadfastly at a young woman who is holding them spellbound by her rapid speech. I can recognize her by the tilt of her head. It is Ruth Adlard teaching the heathen in China.

The scene changes and I can see Dorothy Akins handing a basketfull of food and clothing to a group of delighted poor children. Dorothy has been a social service worker for five years.

What is this I see before me now? It is a large reproduction of a magazine page. There is a woman standing at the side of a table covered with fancy dishes. Ah! I see, it is Mable Alber, the head of the domestic science department for Good Housekeeping.

Now I view a busy scene in a beauty parlor. Advancing gracefully across the room is a tall, strikingly handsome woman, who is evidently in command of things. Marinda Allen! I recognize the dark-haired person she is approaching the moment she smiles. It is Eunice Potter who, now that I think of it, is Marinda's partner.

I see long rows of flowers in a greenhouse. Emerging from behind a clump of ferns is Mary Anielski holding a huge spray of roses. What is Mary doing there?

Now I gaze upon a scene in a church where there are many beautifully dressed people. Far in the front I can barely see the organist's head bobbing back and forth. For a fraction of a second I see her profile as she pulls a stop. It is Helen Stearns, the organist in this huge church. But, who is this beautiful blushing bride who is advancing down the aisle? I gasp with astonishment when I recognize her to be Winifred Babcock.

Now I see an immense room filled with furniture. By the authoritative manner in which that tall young man is pushing those chairs in place and giving out orders to his men I judge him to be the manager of this big furniture house. Delford Behm is the man.

I view a flower bedecked platform which is surrounded by crowds of people. Edna Davet is rising to speak. I recall that she is running for governor of Ohio.

I see a girl standing on a balcony looking at stars through a telescope. Well, well, it is Lucy Ferguson, the famous astrologist who discovered that the moon is 239,999 miles from the earth instead of 240,000 miles.

A long corridor in a hospital greets my eyes. Two primly starched figures are wheeling a white table holding a motionless figure. They turn abruptly and enter an operating room, but in that instant I recognize Mary Dunlap and Anna Escola, Winifred Baumgarten is the third nurse holding a towel for Raymond Neff who is busy sharpening a gleaming knife. The scene changes quickly.

Dorothy Fell is seated beneath a brilliant sunshade watching the bounding turf. The signs around indicate that this is Palm Beach. Dorothy must be watching her sister Cora who is running headlong into the waves. It was just three years ago to-day that Dorothy discovered a gold mine in their back yard.

THE CALDRON

Now I see an excited throng carrying an aviator on its shoulders. It is Walter Gunn, and he must have just won the aeroplane race he entered last week.

Ah! The vision darkens and a theater appears. Hamlet is being played and the audience is breathlessly watching the duel between Hamlet and Laertes. Hamlet sinks as Laertes stabs him and I recognize him as Charles Hart, the man who has filled Fritz Leiber's shoes.

Now, I see a big ocean liner passing. On the bridge of the deck is the captain scanning the horizon with his glasses. As he lowers them I recognize this bronzed face to be that of Edward Keyse. Here comes Billy Kosicek to salute the captain. Judging from the number of brass buttons on his coat I know that he is an officer on the boat.

I see a scene in the ballroom of the same ship. I quickly recognize the man who is playing the drums so furiously as James Pavny.

The scene changes to a street in Venice. I see Clarence Lossing deftly guiding a gondola on its course. I thought he would tire of driving a car all his life.

The vision is different now! The rain is pouring down in torrents making traffic slow in the big city. Here comes "une petite demoiselle" whom the wind almost carries away. She turns into a large department store where an elevator takes her to her stop. There she enters a large room where there are many busy stenographers. She slips into her place and quickly starts typing. Her name—it is Marie Ross. She speaks to the girl next to her and I gasp again when I recognize Lucille Faust.

But a big surprise awaits me. From an inner door marked "President" walks John North. He is talking to, or rather, listening to, a young woman. Her face is familiar to the newspaper world for it is Mary Wingard, the great financial wizard.

The vision changes and it is night in the same city. The small figure I recognize as Marie Ross is climbing a flight of stairs in an apartment house. The door opens and a large figure hurries forth to meet her. Of course it is Genevieve Manley who is going fifty-fifty with Marie by taking care of the apartment while Marie works.

Again the scene changes to a room in a farmhouse where a sweet-faced woman is sewing beneath a lamp. I remember, now, that Lucille Diedrich married a few years ago.

How different is the scene before me now! A red-haired man is pacing up and down an office that is wildly bestrewn with papers. Something must have upset this genius for it is Melvin Naughton, editor of the "Daily Thunderstorm." This paper is very influential in business and political affairs.

Now I see a big scene at a military school graduation. Well, well, is that Ben Greene handing out the diplomas? It must be—and yet that duty is reserved for the Secretary of War. So Ben Greene is Secretary of War and I always thought Ben was peacefully inclined.

I see a scene in a schoolroom. The young teacher is standing before her pupils with a puzzled look upon her face. Suddenly she smiles and the children lean back in their seats with a relieved look upon their faces. She is Alice Pitschmann, the young woman who was recently made principal of Madison Grade Schools, which, I feel, is but a step toward her teaching career.

The scene now carries me to a studio at the top of a very high building. In the center of the room is a girl in a painter's smock, putting the finishing touches on a beautiful peacock she is painting. Well I do remember her face for it is Dorothy Smith, the girl that has been winning so many prizes with her paintings. Dorothy had plenty of practice on the blackboards of M. M. H. S.

What is this I see now? It is a holiday in Madison. A crowd is gathered about a platform in the park. Helen Weber is being cheered with applause. According to the latest reports from Madison, Helen is the first mayoress ever elected there. Katherine Lang is her assistant campaign manager.

That vision is gone and before me I see a large room where many women are sewing on beautiful dresses. A door opens and a woman enters. The lettering on the door says Ruth Fisher, manager—dressmaking. As I look at her closely I see that it is indeed Ruth Fisher.

Oh! what has happened? I see clouds of smoke clearing away. Emerging from beneath all this is a blackened face with singed eyebrows and eyelashes. I can barely recognize him, but it is Luther Rutter, renowned scientist, who is still looking for the "definition of electricity."

I rise now for that is the last of the seance. Tomorrow I must start my new duties as a teacher in Arkansas public schools.

—Virginia Lyons

The Class Will

THE Senior Class, sadly bemoaning their poor fate, must leave this world of care and trouble, joys and laughter, always with a plentiful splattering of tears and giggles, all known as Schooldays. As they "pass out" they leave their "last will and testament" to be wept and laughed over:

The following leave as memories to their friends, each their dearest souvenirs and belongings:

Del, that school-girl complexion to the Palmolive Advertising Co.

Ruth F., my favorite book "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes" to Winifred Thompson.

Mary W., "My pep, I got it, can't keep it—doggone it! must give it" to Lucille Brotzman.

Ben, my ardent Paulette to any one who has the patience to write to a sweet French girl.

Anna, to the next B. B. Capt., this rule, "Don't EVER make eyes at blonde, curly-haired underclassmen."

Melvin, my burning blushes to Jake Lee.

Luther, my old tin can to Cutie Bezdek. The last hundred miles are the roughest!

Winifred Baumgarten, "my almond green" flirting eyes to Peggy Hawkins.

Mary D., a little beauty secret—a smile will make a Cinderella out of you.

Alice, my motherly part in the Senior play to Jerry Wellman.

Helen W., my beloved violin to Oren Whipple.

Edna D., my great orating ability in English to Kennie Walker.

Lucille F., my "Tale of Two Cities" to the bookcase, "forever and a day, till the pages shall fade and wither to dust, and crumble away."

Pat, sympathy to all the broken hearts that my flirting blue eyes have caused.

Lucille D., my perpetual tongue to Betty Adlard, so she won't be so quiet.

Mary A., to the Brunettes "Gentlemen may prefer blondes" but "They marry Brunettes!" Watch my dust!!

Walt G., mah gold headed cane; mah derby hat; mah distaste of those beastly athletics, mah wooden leg, bah jove! to Abie Gelber.

Billy Kosicek, my football suit, shoes, and sundry to Wesley Hunter.

Dot F., my Geneva boy friend—to any one who can get him.

Johnny, my "Grin, Grit and Glory" to Roland Miller.

Eunice, my title "Class Beauty" to Holly.

Winnie Babcock, my spikes to Bob McCune. Do they fit, Bob?

Ray N., my curly locks to Fuzzy Biddison.

Minnie, my "dancing dogs" to Docky Turner.

James P., my golden Silence to Oliver Seifert.

Dot A., my little verse "call me when you're feeling blue,

And I'll sympathize with you."

Genevieve M., My beloved Perrichon to the Juniors—Hope it chokes you, too.

Junior World Trotters

LETTERS and telegrams flew back and forth from Hollywood to Los Angeles, but at last our plans were completed. As we had been on the stage for eight years and had not had any vacation to speak of, except occasional trips back home, we made our plans for a trip around the world.

Before leaving California we stopped to say goodbye to our old friend Dock Turner, who was then a trained nurse in the City Hospital at Los Angeles.

We took an airplane from California to Chicago and who do you suppose our pilot was? Dick Whipple! The world's greatest "acrobat on wings."

Arriving in Chicago who should we meet at the station but Captain Maurice of the Salvation Army. After exchanging greetings with Ginnie and promising to send remembrances of our journey, we went down town. Over one of the large buildings we saw a sign which read: "The Land of Toys"—William Knittel, Manager.

We left Chicago that night arriving in Painesville the next morning where our parents met us.

We spent a couple of weeks in our "Old Home Town" among our friends. While in Madison we naturally visited our favorite spots among which was dear old "M. M. H. S." A new and better equipped building stood in the place of the old one. Cutie Bezdek had stepped into Mr. Hibs-chman's shoes as superintendent. Miss Shafer had been replaced by our old pal Jerry Wellman, who was not only a singing but also a dancing teacher. While in Madison we visited the largest poultry farm in the world, owned and managed by Art Hart, one of our former classmates.

After arriving in New York we learned that the boat was not scheduled to sail until the next day so we decided to attend one of the world's largest circuses—"The Barnum and Bailey." We saw a sign on one of the tents which said "The Fattest and Skinniest Ladies in the World." Of course we were interested; so we went in, and who do you suppose we saw? You'd never guess!! Tootie Stearns, the fat lady and Rose Kornitsky the skinny lady. Upon leaving the circus we noticed a great commotion out in the street. We ran with the crowd and arrived just in time to see the end of the great "Coast to Coast Walking Race." As the crowd rushed forward we were astounded to find the winner, Rowland Walker, now the champion walker of the world.

Upon arriving at the boat we met our old friend, Bert Emigh, whom we learned was a reporter for the New York Sun.

After becoming acquainted with the boat, we went down to dinner. The captain of the boat was Oren Whipple. He asked us to sit at his table and we had a wonderful time recalling the good times of our "School Days." Remarking on the excellent service we had, he informed us that the head waiter was one of our classmates, Joe Hejduk. The next afternoon while on deck we saw a number of children gathered about a nice looking young lady who was evidently telling them stories. As we passed by, she called to us, and we were pleased to find that it was Dotty Whipple, a governess to one of the wealthy families of Florida.

Having docked at Liverpool we took a taxi to our hotel and were surprised to learn that our driver was Tump Orcutt. That evening we attended the opera with two of our intimate friends from Hollywood. We spent a very enjoyable evening listening to Hattie Barton, a great opera singer, and one of the best jazz bands led by Oliver Seifert, with Lois Avery playing the drum and Catherine Thomson, the saxophone.

The next day we received an invitation to spend the week-end with one of our old class-mates, Katy Forsch, who had married Lord Arlington and owned one of the largest estates in London. While visiting them they took us to one of the famous Hunting Clubs of London. We were shown a very charming time by the hostess, Katy Borling.

After spending a delightful time with our friends in London we bid them farewell and left for Paris. While shopping in Paris we entered a millinery shop and were greeted cordially by Katherine Lang and Ivy Heaton who were partners in "The Modest." We asked them to recommend a beauty parlor to us and they informed us of

THE CALDRON

"The Shiek's and Sheba's Beauty Studio," managed by Clifford Tafel. After leaving the beauty parlor we were shown dresses and hosiery at the "Fashion" by Frieda Whipple, the head saleslady.

On our way back to the hotel we met Russell Biddison, who had just arrived in Paris with the U. S. mail. We purchased a "London Times" and on the front page was a picture of Babe Baster, who had just recently made a new record by swimming the English Channel in 10 hrs. 5 min. 25 sec.

The following week we went to Switzerland to the Olympic games, and there we met Alice Norton who was then a tester of watches in one of the largest watch-making factories of Switzerland. The Olympic games proved to very exciting to us, as our old friend, Olive Dunlap, was entered in the tennis tournament. It was a great game but at last Olive was proclaimed the victor. While in Switzerland we took the opportunity to climb the mountains and were able to obtain the services of Laurence Beall who was recommended to us as a very reliable guide.

While in Italy we visited one of the most alluring and fascinating sights in Europe, "The Wonder Charmer of Snakes," Winifred Thompson. We visited one of the greatest art galleries in Rome where we were attracted by a number of paintings of Hazel Adams, one of the most noted artists of Italy.

After leaving Europe we toured Asia; in India we visited our old friend, Ruth Seith, married to a professor from the U. S. doing research work in India. She had three of the most adorable little girls with whom we immediately fell in love. While touring Asia we visited Hongkong, China. The Chinese were all excited over the arrival of one of the best known and best liked missionaries from the U. S. We inquired about him and found his name to be Gordon Lyons, one of our former classmates.

We decided we had seen enough of foreign countries; so we sailed for home. We landed at New Orleans two weeks later. On our way to Hollywood we stopped at New Mexico where we stayed with friends who took us to visit one of the largest high schools in the West. We were greeted by Bob McCune, the professor, very much more serious and studious than in his high school days. We were taken to the largest ranch in New Mexico which was owned by Vivien Corle. One afternoon while we were seated on the veranda of the ranch-house, a cowboy came tearing up with a telegram for us. It was a message from our manager telling us to return to Hollywood immediately. After the excitement was over and we started to give orders for an immediate return, we recognized him as Lex Babcock, foreman of the "Bar O Ranch."

CLASS WILL (Continued from Page 20)

Mable A., "Everything seems all given and said
I'll only bequeath my little red head."

Ruth A., those excuses I have for bad behavior in class to Lewie Cone—such a nice boy won't need them.

Ed Keyse, my comb to the school—everybody's used it anyway.

Marie, "my gurgling giggles" to Miss Corlette.

Charlie, my warbling voice, and my Perpetual Motion to the school to profit by.

Virginia, my funny bone—that makes me laugh at the wrong time, to Charles Leet.

Helen S., my "helping hand" that is always ready to do something for somebody else to Katherine Borling.

Stub L., that doggone bandage of mine to the ashcan—no reward for its return.

Cora, my "four leaf clover in my pocket, and the horse-shoe over my door" to Dorothy Gardner.

Lucy, I want to leave to the school that brush of Minnie's in the Type Room, that she so kindly brushes my hair with every day.

Dorothy S., the Senior Class as a Whole, their Sanctimonious air, dignity and what-not, the vacant-chairs and please, please miss us! (you're all supposed to sob over this—it's so sad) the quietude and sweetness that they were noted for (don't laugh—this is a funeral) and most especially their wonderful aptitude to absorb into their gray matter the serious part of school—their studies. Their athletic prowess, the football and basketball stars give to next year's team, and their general wish that you will all enjoy your next years in high-school fully.

A Slice of Life

Time: Any noon during the basketball season.

G. Quirk (reading)—and Caesar crossed the Rhone with his tenth legion. He stormed the town of the enemy—

R. Orsborn (enters)—Say Gert, did you hear about L. Ransom and the two girls he took out last night?

Quirk—and the slaughter was great! What?

Orsborn—Oh, nothing. What are you doing with that Latin?

Quirk—If I had—(Enter F. Pasco and M. Warner.)

Pasco—Well, here we are.

H. Stegmuller—Hip-ah-Hip-ah-Choo!!!

Warner—Murder, or what have you? (Enter M. Fell and L. Brotzman.)

Pasco—Girls, did—Gracious, I can't do everything before—

C. Leet (enters, anxiously scanning a Plane Geometry.)—Did Mr. Risley say we'd have a test?

Fell—Quid est?

Leet—Did you have a test today in Geometry?

Fell—If I told you, you'd know as much about it as I do.

Leet—Don't you s'pose I know that? (Sighing) I'd better study it, anyway.

D. Green—Teehee!

Quirk—And so the speech went on and on—

G. Greenman—(enters)—Oh, Fay, are you going to use your English next Period? Guess I left mine home.

Pasco—No, I'm not using it. But what's that you're carrying?

Greenman—My English! But I left something at home.

Brotzman—Did you hear about the—(All crowd around.)

Green—Well, I always thought—

Fell—Impossible!

Brotzman—And, I didn't even—(Enters R. Hood and W. Titman.)

Hood—Hey, Charles! What's on your mind, nothing as usual?

Titman—And so, says I—Shucks, I'm a—!

Hood—Go ahead and say it, Walt, I can bear up under the strain!

Titman—Is that nice? (Enter F. Gelber, W. Gygli, R. Kimball, and E. Akins.)

Kimball—Let's work out a peppy yell to give at the game tonight.

Gelber—How does it start, anyway?

Gygli—Let's give a rah—

Akins—Always willing to oblige—Rah! Rah! Rah!

Gelber—Keep still, we must get this down pat.

Gygli—How about a locomotive one?

Kimball—That's stale. Get something snappy!

Akins—Yes, Say, you kids, Gelber, Ransom and Hood represent the Sophs in the varsity, so don't let us down, after MY nice yells!

(H. Stegmuller issues another volcanic sneeze. All jump!)

G. Titterington (enters)—Gracious! What was that?

E. Eldridge—Oh, it's only one of Hedwig's famous sneezes!

Titterington—I might have known—(Enter M. Seifert and W. Kracker.)

Kracker—Say, Walt, come with us. We've—

Seifert—Yes, and it's the best time—

Titman—I might, if I had—

 Orcutt—Say, I forgot about that! Thanks. (Exits hurriedly.)

A Freshmen Schoolday

MISS SHAFER had just left after leading the students in singing. Mr. Hibschan then rose. "I have a few announcements to make this morning," he said. "There will be a collection taken up for moving pictures .(as you pass out.) There will be a boys' basketball game this noon. That is all."

The Freshmen then rushed for the laboratory, (General Science being their first class.) Mr. Trescott soon entered, looked the class over, and mopped his brow. "What is an electric motor, Lewis?" Lewis Cone scratched his head and finally stated that he hadn't been able to discover the answer to that question just yet.

"Joe Larko, can you answer that question?"

"Well, Mr. Trescott," answered Joe, "surely you haven't been teaching that chapter on electricity all this time and don't know what an electric motor is?"

Lillian Wingard, Margaret Lezak, and Gertrude Eland then started giggling.

"Wesley Hunter, will you answer that question?"

"I could answer it all right but it wouldn't be correct."

The class responded with a hearty laugh. After all were quiet Kenneth Walker loudly whispered to Bruce Miller, "What were they laughing about?"

Paul Robinson then recited, "An electric motor is a motor that isn't run by coal."

"Say, that boy is smart," remarked Laurie Albee.

"I wish that old bell would ring," said Margaret Wetzel.

"Same here," answered Helen Leyde, "I don't know a thing about motors."

Margaret Wetzel again spoke, "Helen, do you know anything about anything?"

"I don't think you know nothing about nothing yourself," said Frances Hall.

(Bell rings)

The Freshies rush around the hall and take their places for an Algebra recitation.

Mr. Risley steps into the room and quickly asks, "Vernon Armstrong, what does  $x-x-2x-x$  equal?"

"I believe it equals the whole family of  $x$ 's."

"You are on the right path."

"Mildred Peterson, do you know the answer?"

"Yes, that is a very easy one. It is equal to  $a-a-2a-a$  if both  $a$  and  $x$  have the same numerical value."

"I certainly take my hat off to that girl." The speaker was no other than Carl Hummel.

Student Council

"In order to promote the highest type of relationship between the different student organizations and faculty, to foster a desire for the best school order, to develop a loyalty to Madison Memorial High School and to all her activities, and to promote the general welfare of the school, this constitution establishing a Student Council is hereby adopted by the student body and faculty.

The Student Council represents the student body as a whole, each class being represented in accordance with its standing; the Freshmen have four representatives, the Sophomores have five, The Juniors have six, and the Seniors seven representatives.

The Student Council directs and is responsible for all school activities. This work is carried on by the boards which are directly responsible to the Council and carry out the instructions of the Council. The boards may also give suggestions to be accepted or refused by the Council. The following are the boards, their work, and this year's members.

The Merit Board awards athletic and literary letters to persons who deserve them. Its members are Ruth Adlard, Chairman; Russell Biddison; Mary Warner; Mary Louise Baster; Luther Rutter.

The Demerit Board gives demerits to pupils who disobey the rules of the school. If a person receives more than a certain number of demerits in one year he is not allowed to participate in any of the school's activities for that year. The members of the demerit board are Alice Pitschmann, Chairman; Edna Davet; Virginia Lyons.

The Athletic Board superintends the athletics of the school, makes rules for the use of the gymnasium, etc. The members of the Athletic Board are John North, Chairman; Betty Adlard; Robert Hood; Melvin Naughton; Ruth Adlard.

The Traffic Board makes rules concerning the traffic in the school corridors and its members superintend the order in the school building. Its members are Luther Rutter, Chairman; Maude Fell; Katherine Borling; Elmer Bezdek; Richard Kimball; Oren Whipple; Robert McCune; Russell Biddison; Ben Greene; Louis Pohzehl.

The Social Board superintends all school parties and entertainments. Its members are Lucille Brotzman; Chairman; Gertrude Quirk; Ruth Fisher; Georgia Turner; Mildred Peterson.

The Financial Board's members are the treasurers of the various school organizations, with its chairman, Virginia Lyons, chosen from the Student Council. In this way the financial standing of the school is kept recorded.

The Building and Grounds Board superintends the upkeep and improvement of the school building and grounds. The members of this board are Gertrude Stearns, Chairman; Wallace Whipple; Mary Louise Davet;

Reading and Oratorical Contest

Every year all the high schools in Lake County carry on an oratorical and reading contest. All the Juniors and Seniors are required to write an oration; the best of these orations are picked out and the writers are asked to learn them. At the Preliminary Oratorical Contest the best orator is chosen and is sent to the County Oratorical Contest to represent the school from which he comes. Anyone enrolled in the school may give a reading and the same process is followed as in orations.

Representatives of Madison High School who have won the contest since it was started ten years ago are: Glenice Bowers (Hillier) in 1919 and 1920; Warner Kimball in 1921. In the reading contest Jeanette Blood carried off first prize in 1926 and Steven Rostas in 1928.

This year those who participated in our local contest in orations were Dorothy Smith, Luther Rutter, Ruth Adlard, Winifred Thompson, James Pavny and Winifred Babcock. Winifred Babcock was awarded first place in the preliminaries and James Pavny second place.

Those who participated in the reading contest preliminaries were Helen Lossing, Betty Adlard, Harriet Wellman, Katherine Borling, Virginia Maurice, and Dorothy Gardner. Katherine Borling was awarded first place while Betty Adlard and Harriet Wellman tied for second.

Winifred Babcock and Katherine Borling represented Madison at Mentor in the county contest but were not successful in carrying off the honors although they spoke unusually well. First place in the county contest for orations was given to Russell Abbott of Mentor. Second place was awarded to Arnold Sturri of Fairport. First place in the reading contest was awarded to Frances Woodworth of Willoughby Union while Virginia Beevar of Wickliffe received second place.

SENIOR PLAY CAST

 Standing, Edward Keyse, Marinda Allen, Jenny Lind Givens, coach, Virginia Lyons, Genevieve Manley, Walter Gunn.

“The Lottery Man”

Presented by the Senior Class at the M. M. H. S. auditorium
 May 16 and 17, 1929

Jack Wright .....	Charles Hart
Foxy Peyton .....	Edward Keyse
Mrs. Wright .....	Alice Pitschmann
Mrs. Peyton .....	Virginia Lyons
Helene Heyer .....	Eunice Potter
Lizzie Roberts .....	Marinda Allen
Hedwig Jensen .....	Genevieve Manley
Stevens .....	Walter Gunn
Hamilton .....	Luther Rutter

Jack Wright arranges with his friend Foxy Peyton to offer himself at a dollar a chance to women in America. The money from the chances will go to Jack and the woman who draws him for a husband in the lottery. Very soon after this is arranged he meets Helene Heyer with whom he immediately falls in love. The plan becomes very popular, and all of Jack's friends buy chances with Helene's name on them. At the drawing, one of the friends of the family, an old maid, Lizzie Roberts, gets the lucky ticket. She will not give Jack up; but finally it is discovered that she stole the ticket and the play comes to a happy ending.

The Senior Class recognize the great amount of time and thought that the cast have put into the play, but the great success of “The Lottery Man” depended to a large extent upon the director, Miss Givens.

SCHOOL ORCHESTRA

Second row, seated, Helen Stearns, James Pavny, C. C. Ross, standing.

The High School Orchestra

The orchestra devotes most of its time practicing and studying classical music. Throughout the school year it furnishes music for various school activities.

This year the orchestra has nine members. The numeral after each name indicates the number of years each player has been a member.

From left to right:

Oren Whipple IV, Ruth Adlard IV, and Helen Weber IV—Violins, Elmer Bezdek II, and Winifred Thompson I—Trumpets, Frank Gelber II—Viola, Andrew Lee I—Obligato Violin, Helen Stearns II—Piano, James Pavny IV—Drums, C. C. Ross—Director.

Boys' and Girls' Glee Club

The Glee Club has been very fortunate to have a leader as fine as Miss Shafer. She has taught the group the fundamentals of group and solo singing besides many new and beautiful songs. There is a girl's sextet chosen from the Club composed of Eunice Potter and Katherine Forsch, Sopranos; Marinda Allen and Gertrude Stearns, second sopranos; Virginia Lyons and Winifred Thompson, altos. They have sung at many of the Parent-Teachers' meetings, Kiwanis and school and church activities. Each year the glee clubs give an operetta; and they have all been great successes.

“Carrie Comes to College”

This operetta was given by the Boys' and Girls' Glee Club, April 12, 1929

The plot centers around a plan to help Spencer Goodnow out of his foolish ways so that he can pay his debts and stay at Beetax College without the aid of his father, Hiram Goodnow, who says Spencer must continue without his aid. Those who help in the plan are Madame Louise, a beauty doctor; Bobby, a spitfire who loves to quarrel with Tommy, one of Spencer's loyal friends. Others are Fred, a happy-go-lucky college student; Porky, a fat and good-natured millionaire's son; Ma Jenkins, the keeper of the boarding-house and a mother to all. Among Spencer's many creditors is Sol Rosenbaum and his son Izzy. All this plan fails and Sol is paid by Carrie, Ma Jenkins' foster child who has recently “come to college.” Carrie and Spencer have fallen in love at first sight and Carrie wishes him to stay at college and “make good.”

Spencer blames Carrie because he believes her to be an accomplice in the plan and determines to make good and pay her back. This he does and all ends happily. Madame Louise turning out to be Spencer's mother and Tommy, the Governor's son. Bobby and Tommy decide to go on quarreling together all through life and Carrie and Spencer are happy again.

The Girl Reserve Club is the high school branch of the Y. W. C. A. Our symbol is a triangle; the three sides of the triangle representing body, mind and spirit. When we planned our program for the year we tried to have some meetings which would help us understand and develop each of these phases of a girl's life.

Early in the year we had a ring meeting. The G. R. ring is the greatest honor a girl can earn. When a girl decides that she wants to be the very best Girl Reserve that she can, she is given a ring.

THE CALDRON

To develop the spiritual side of our triangle we have a poem or an article read at the beginning of each meeting. These are meant to give us a better idea of what a Christian girl's life should be. Thanksgiving we packed baskets and distributed them to people in the community who needed them.

For the third side of our triangle, our minds, we planned discussion meetings on World Fellowship, G. R. Code, Hobbies and Milady Charm.

We also have many good times during the year. This year we had a Halloween party, Valentine party, Mother-Daughter Banquet, Father-Daughter Banquet and a Maple Sugar party.

These are some of the things we have done this year to carry out our Madison purpose which is—

“It is the purpose of the Friendship Club of the Girl Reserves of Madison High School to create an atmosphere of friendliness in the school, to encourage the spirit of good sportsmanship and wholesome fun and to seek to help the girls of Madison to a better understanding of the Christ way of life.”

The Hi-Y Club is a group of purposeful High School boys who are seeking Christian ideals for themselves and for the community in which they live.

The purpose adopted by the Club is "to create, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community high standards of Christian Character." The Motto is, "Clean Living, Clean Scholarship, Clean Athletics, and Clean Speech."

The Club is Christian though non-sectarian and is national in its organization. Thousands of the finest boys of the country are afforded the opportunity to meet and plan means of helping themselves and of helping those outside the Club. Its purpose is to correct the bad and the mediocre and to encourage the best. It gives boys a chance to understand life's problems and under the leadership of Christian ideals and with Christian training to become trained and worthy leaders.

The Scholarship Club

The Lake County Scholarship Club was organized in 1925 among the High schools of Lake County for the purpose of promoting higher standards of scholarship and to recognize those who maintain this standard. The County Club adopted the same qualifications for membership as had been adopted by the Student Council of our school for a local scholarship club which had been organized a few years previously. It was largely through the influence of our superintendent, R. O. Hibschman, that the County Club was organized.

The qualifications necessary to become a member of the Club are based on the point system, such as we use in determining the honor roll, that is, A counts five points, B, four points, and C, three points. The total number of points necessary for one year is 114 or the equivalent of eighteen A's and six B's.

A person who is a member of the Club for one year is entitled to the bronze scholarship pin, for two years a silver pin; and those who are members for three years are life members of the Club and are entitled to a gold pin. The members of the Club from Madison are given their pins by the School Board.

A scholarship banquet is held each year. Helen Stearns of Madison was President for the year 1927-28. The President for 1928-29 is Lenna Landon of Wickliffe.

The life members of the Club from Madison are: Mary Louise Adlard, Elton Behm, Betty Greene, Donald Gardner, Mary Chubb, Helen Stearns, and Ruth Adlard.

Madison Chapter of Future Farmers of America

OFFICERS

President ..... Delford Behm
 Vice Pres. .... John North
 Secy. Treas. .... Elmer Bezdek

The boys of the Agricultural classes have recently affiliated with the National Organization of Future Farmers of America and have adopted the above name. This club has formerly been known as the Madison High School Agricultural Society.

At the beginning of the school year thirty boys enrolled for the agricultural course. More boys are enrolling in the club each year.

The purpose of the club is to promote outside activities among the students and the people of the community. The club has an annual banquet and by the attendance at this banquet much interest has been shown on the part of the students and the people of the community. Our organization also has an annual egg and poultry show in connection with the Farmers Institute at the high school building. More poultry and eggs have been exhibited this last year than previous years. The club also has a spraying program which is very successful. The sprayer is mounted on a Chevrolet truck and it has been possible to spray potatoes, orchards, grapes and many other crops with the outfit.

The club made a tour to visit Ohio's Master Farmers in the summer of 1928. Many places of educational and historical interest were visited.

Each student of the agricultural class carries a farm project, raising poultry, potatoes, pigs or anything that he chooses, the project being part of the school work.

Our instructor, Mr. Haskins, is a graduate of Ohio State Agricultural College.

Literary Societies

There are two literary societies in the high school—the Alphas and the Irvings.

The purpose of these two societies is to stimulate interest in music, literature, and dramatics. This is done by having pupils take part in programs given before the school. Debates, piano solos, vocal solos, plays, reports on current events and readings, all go to make up the programs.

At the beginning of each year the old members of each society meet to elect new officers. The meetings are conducted by one of the teachers until the new president is elected.

A few weeks before a program is to be given, the officers of the society that is to give it meet and draw up a program. This is read in assembly some morning and faculty advisors are designated for each number.

If any boy or girl has talent for a certain thing he is given a chance to use it on these occasions. Many of those who have taken part in these programs have gone forth into the world to take part in bigger and better programs.

When four people are on a debate of course each one of the four wants his side to win and puts forth his efforts to do it. They become interested in their subject and if it is a good debating team they will make their audience interested too. This brings many important matters home to the students and starts them thinking.

Then there are the current events reports. Whoever makes the report gets his information from the leading magazines and newspapers of the day. Topics of current interest are thus brought in.

No program would be complete without a humorous sketch and there is usually a large drawing list of students to select from.

Piano, vocal and violin solos, as mentioned before, comprise the musical element.

Each literary society has a paper which is edited by an editor and his two assistants. It generally contains some articles about school events and several jokes.

Last of all comes a play which serves as a climax to all the other numbers.

This year the first meetings were held September the twenty-eighth.

The Irvings elected Charles Hart as president, Delford Behm, vice-president, Cora Fell, secretary, Eunice Potter, treasurer, William Kosicek, sergeant-at-arms, and Ruth Fisher, pianist.

The Alphas elected Helen Stearns as president, Dorothy Smith, vice-president, Ben Greene, secretary, Melvin Naughton, treasurer, Clarence Lossing, sergeant-at-arms, and Winifred Baumgarten, pianist.

October the fourth the officers of both societies met to choose their new members. A list of all the new members in school, who are mostly freshmen, was taken and from them the new members were chosen.

The programs of the year were the Thanksgiving program given by the Irvings, followed by the Alpha program at Christmas time.

ATHLETICS

Football Team

Capt. Walter Gunn showed that he was worthy of being called Captain. He was in the game all the time both defensively and offensively. Walt made many long runs during the season which helped us to victory.

John North showed that he knew how to play football although this was his first time out for the team. Johnny was a good backfield man, proving that he could take the ball for gains time after time.

Robert Hood was unfamiliar with football at M. M. H. S. but soon found a regular berth with the team. Bob was noted for his long passes to Louie, which either went for a touchdown or netted a gain. Bob will be with us again next year.

Louis Pohzehl was a stranger at the beginning of the season, but soon become acquainted and showed that he knew how to play football. Louie played quarterback besides carrying the ball his share of the time. He will be remembered for the long run he made in the Willoughby game which resulted in a tie.

Frank Gelber was the mainstay of the line. Abie was in the game all the time for all his worth and was one of the best defensive men on the team. He will be with us two more years.

Russell Biddison probably played the hardest position on the team—center. Biddy was very accurate with his passes and played a “bang-up” game defensively. He will be with us another year.

Ben Greene played end. Although he didn't play all the time, he played a hard and sure game while he was playing. Benny shined mostly on defense making his share of the tackles.

Roland Walker played end chancing off with Benny Greene. Walker was small, but showed that that was no handicap to him. He played a good game both defensively and offensively. Walker, too, will be here again next year.

Luther Rutter played a guard position on the team. Toots deserves more credit than he received because he played a position where he was not noticed so much. He showed up best defensively, breaking up many plays and recovering fumbles whenever the chance came.

Edward Keyse played tackle during the season. Ed was in the game to give all he had. He made his share of the tackles besides playing a good game offensively, taking his man out so that one of the backfield men could go for a gain.

Billy Kosicek was the battering fullback of the team. Bill was one of the best men that have played this position for M. M. H. S. He made many of his opponents quiver by his hard plunging. Although Bill didn't make many long gains, he was always good for a short gain.

George Nagy played a guard position. This was his first year playing the game and showed his worth in spite of this. George will be with us three more years.

Robert McCune played two positions during the time he was out, playing in the back-field and substituting at center. He played a good game, showing best on defense. Bob will be with us another year.

Roland Miller was the smallest fellow on the team but played in the backfield. Roland didn't get to play much but showed his ability when he got the chance.

Melvin Naughton and Richard Kimball were the managers of the squad and although Bing and Dick were not on the field, much credit is due them for the victories.

Coach Trescott deserves a lot of credit for the showing the team made this season. Starting out with a lot of "green" material, he soon rounded it out into a very good team to which he referred as "the bunch that found themselves." Mr. Trescott has coached some very good teams at M. M. H. S., this year's team being one of the best.

Echoes of the Basketball Season

Delford Behm, Del, has been a good captain. He played a good game and was a good sport. We hope his successor will be as good as "Del" was. We are very sorry that we can't have him with us longer.

John North, Johnny, isn't very tall but he surely makes up for it by his ability to jump in and get the ball. He also co-operated well with his team-mates. Sorry you're graduating, Johnny.

Edward Keyse, Ed, has won a name for himself in basketball. We wish every one of the boys would have made as great an effort as "Ed" did to "make the varsity."

Lawrence Ransom, Lawrence just entered our school this year and proved himself a basketball player. He still has two years to play and we know that he will help win many games for his school during that time.

Frank Gelber, Abie, never became discouraged no matter how hard the fight was. He was always a good sport and team-mate. We have high hopes for "Abie."

Robert Hood, Bob, was always ready to help out in case of trouble and he always kept cool. He has two more years in school and we hope he stays with the team.

Ben Greene could always be depended on to play a good game and always be a good sport. We are sorry you are leaving us, Ben.

Walter Gunn, Walt, always played a clean game and kept cool. It's too bad you're graduating, Walt.

Arthur Hart, Art, played a good, clean game and he co-operated well with his team-mates. We hope he goes out for the team the remaining two years of his school life.

Charles Hart, Chuck, played hard and we all appreciate it. He was a good sport and scored many baskets for our team.

Laurence Beall, Laurie, proved his ability to make baskets this season. We know he will be on the varsity the two remaining years of his school life.

Melvin Naughton, Bing, was always willing to play a hard game. He was always a good team-mate and sport. He played a clean game. We're sorry to know that he's leaving us.

Russel Biddison, Fuzz, co-operated well with his team-mates. He was always cheerful and an inspiration to the team.

Vernon McClish, Vernie, played a hard game and we expect to see him on the team again next year.

Clyde Duesler, Clyde can be depended on to help the team win. He has two more years and we hope he stays with the team.

Roland Miller, Miller, is just a Freshman now, but he can play real basketball. He has a bright future ahead of him on the team, and we know he will lead the team to many victories.

Mr. Trescott, Coach, has done very well with the material he had for his teams and kept up the courage of his boys. He has coached many teams at this school and has done very well.

Happiness of Girls Basketball Season

Anna Escola, "Cappy," came to M. M. H. S. from Thompson to play on our B team when she was a Freshman. During her Sophomore year she subbed for the A team and played as a regular during her Junior year. She is now our little "Cappy," little in size but not in courage and ability to guard her forwards. We surely are going to miss "Cappy" next year, for as our captain and team-mate she has helped us win so many of our games.

During her Junior year Eunice Potter, "Pune," began to play on the team. At once she procured a position as center and has held it. "Pune" has played an excellent game and we certainly are sorry that she is leaving us.

Frieda Whipple, "Fritzy," began to play as a sub during her Sophomore year. She has steadily worked her way up until now she is the high scorer of the team. She has one more year to play and we know she will continue her good work.

Helen Lossing, "Holly," began to play during her Freshman year. She has always played a good game, been a good sport, and has been willing to help in any way possible. We are looking forward to a good season next year with "Holly" on the team.

Mary Louise Baster, "Babe," was one lucky discovery. What would we have done without her? She is always cool-headed in a game and she has plainly shown her ability to guard the best of forwards. She will play one more season and we expect her to help win many games.

Helen Weber, "Honey," played on the B team when she was a Freshman. She has been a faithful follower of the team every season. She has worked hard and has been a good sport. Whenever she played she put up a good fight. We could always depend on her to be ready to substitute.

Virginia Maurice, "Ginnie," showed her ability to guard her forwards this season. We are glad she came out for the squad for she will play on the varsity next season. She was a good sport and didn't become discouraged.

Gertrude Stearns, "Trudy," will undoubtedly play as center on the varsity next year, for who could outjump her? She plays well with her team-mates and is always willing to help.

We are glad that Winifred Thompson, "Winnie," came to this school for she has filled a vacancy as no one else could have done. She always put up a hard fight and co-operated well with her team-mates. We hope she will stay with us next year.

Miss Jones, "Jonesy," certainly worked hard this season. Through her untiring efforts we have won most of our games. The team co-operated well with her and we appreciate very much her good work.

Ruth Adlard was manager of the B team during her Freshman year and ever since has been the manager of the A team. She has done her work well and has been faithful to the team. We are sorry she is leaving

Curtis Publishing Co. Campaign

The students of M. M. H. S. were very successful in the sale of the Curtis Publications in 1928. As usual the school was divided into two teams and captains were chosen. Ruth Fisher and Melvin Naughton led the green side and Charles Hart and Edna Davet were the leaders of the red side. Helen Weber was secretary of the contest. She had charge of tabulation of all receipts, subscriptions, etc.; which was not the simplest or easiest thing imaginable, but the task was very well accomplished.

During the days that followed, from September 27 to October 8, everyone was busy selling subscriptions. Sometimes the Greens were ahead and sometimes the Reds were ahead. When everything was over, it was found that 271 subscriptions had been sold, but, due to the rules governing the contest, only 266 of these counted for the sides, each side having 133 subscriptions each.

The total money taken in was 313 dollars. After prizes had been bought and other expenses were paid, 106 dollars and 66 cents was left as the profit for the Athletic Association. In comparison with all the sales and profits of other years, this contest was very successful.

Buck Illustrated Lecture

The Athletic Association was also sponsoring an illustrated travel lecture given by John Buck on October 22. It was decided to manage the sale of tickets by having the same sides and leaders, who took charge of the former contest, distribute them.

A fairly large number of tickets was sold and after all expenses were paid, a profit of fifty dollars and twenty cents was left for the Athletic Association. This made the total profit for both contests 136 dollars and 86 cents.

This helped a great deal, financially, in making this last athletic season one of our best; and once again the efforts and co-operation of the students of M. M. H. S. brought success.

Good English Week

This year during "Good English Week," the first week in November, we tried something new at M. M. H. S. The Seniors took charge of the "Good English Contest" put on. A committee with representatives from all the classes was chosen. The following were on the committee — Edna Davet, Chairman, Mary Wingard, Charles Hart, Georgia Turner, Russel Biddison, Robert Hood, Edward Bayer, and Mary Louise Davet with Miss Givens advising us.

First, we put on a poster contest to advertise "Good English Week" and gave a season basketball ticket to the winner of the contest. Mary Warner's poster was judged the prize-winner.

Then, on the Monday of the first week in November, we gave a card to each student in the high school, a different colored tag to the members of different classes. If

Interleague Basketball

This league is composed of a number of teams of the fellows who were not on the varsity squad. The league was formed for the purpose of giving recreation to the fellows and also to teach them about the game. These games help out very much in supplying the varsity with new material every year.

The league is divided into two divisions, the lightweights and heavyweights. Each team has a name of some college, thus making the league more interesting. These games are played during the noon hour of each school day. The team having won the highest percentage in games at the close of the schedule is declared the winner.

Standard School Rings

Last semester the Student Council brought up the matter of Standard Rings. This matter was carried to the classes, and, as all voted in favor of the plan, three delegates from each class were chosen to serve on the "School Ring Committee," Mary Wingard acting as Chairman.

After much heated discussion, this committee selected one ring from the many shown. Although the Council rejected the committee's choice, the majority of the members liked the ring except for the fact that its design wouldn't be individual. The Council asked that the Company submit drawings of original designs, showing the building of M. M. H. S. to the committee. The ring selected from this last plan has a square top, with a miniature facade of the building. Above this is a scroll on which is emblazoned MADISON.

Physical Education

The course in Physical Education aims to educate the individual through his physical activities just as academic subjects educate him through his mental activities. It tries ever to create or enhance a condition of robust health and physical efficiency, together with a knowledge and habitual practice of health principles, which will enable the individual to better and enjoy life, throughout life.

With these objectives to be attained the course aims at the following:

1. A physical examination for each child.
  2. A follow up program to acquaint the parents with the true condition of the child and co-operation with them in gaining corrections when necessary. Teeth, tonsils, eyes, etc.
  3. Correction of remediable physical defects.
  4. Knowledge of hygiene and body mechanics.
- . Development of desirable character traits through an active program of games, relays, contests, etc.

The above constitutes the required program for all children but there are in addition two others to be found in a fully developed program of Health and Physical Education. One of these is the intramural program which gives opportunity to all, who desire to participate in active competition as members of a team. This work is usually based upon class or home divisions and gives the pupils an opportunity to en-

Culture

Why go to school? Of course I know that the law says that you MUST but is that all? No, there are many reasons: to help you decide what phase of life you wish to occupy yourself in, to help you become an intelligent citizen, to educate you in all forms of knowledge—but the greatest service which school renders is summed up in that word “culture.”

Of what use is that part of our body which is known as the mind—no matter how capable of carrying and originating ideas—until the process of cultivating that mind has begun? We all know those, who, we say, are “as sharp as a tack” but because of that lack of refinement in mind and manners are not included in our choice of friends.

One of the important points included in culture is knowledge of a great number of those things which surround us. The sciences, languages, economics, histories and mathematics educate us in that line, so that we may talk intelligently and with understanding about them. As we view that which has been accomplished by our predecessors we look upon modern life with a fuller comprehension.

As Mr. Hibschan has told us, one of the greatest obligations of school life is to rub off those “rough edges.” When we are truly cultured we have acquired appreciation of other’s talents. Where before we may have laughed at opera music; felt very bored with a serious lecture; uninterested in an art gallery; indifferent to classic music, poetry, and prose; after we have finished high school we should have attained an appreciation of these types of art.

Then there are the three R’s—not only readin’, ’riting, and ’rithmetic, for those alone can not refine or better our standards; but also respect, reverence and regard for other’s ideas. These three are very obviously marks of culture. School life gives us full opportunity to gain these in its many social, dramatic, athletic, and intellectual functions.

Then there is always the ever-important question of “Etiquette.” Proper conduct in public is more easily recognized during the many school activities we attend than in any other manner. Some of us are naturally gifted in saying and doing the right thing at the wrong time, but we must learn to conceal our outbursts of feeling, not to be conspicuous, for any sort of loudness gives evidence of lack of culture.

If we have obtained these qualities from our schooling, we have achieved that which is worth recognition toward culture and charm.

Friendship

The greatest thing in the world, the best thing in the world—what is it? Friendship—that feeling in our hearts that can be expressed only by saying “He’s my friend and I’d give my life for him.” It is one of the big things we live for and often die for.

Throughout our high school we have wanted friends, made friends and lost friends. The big questions are, “How can I make friends?” “Why do I lose friends?” First, how can I make friends. Be a friend to everybody—to the ones with the highest ideals, to the wicked; to the popular, to the wallflower; to the clever, and to the poor scholar. By being a friend be kind to all, help them if you can and stick by them through trouble and pain because it is then they need you most.

Why do we lose friends? Because sometimes we neglect them and they feel we no longer care to be friendly. Perhaps it has been caused by some hastily spoken

An Appreciation

In our first attempt to publish an annual, the Caldron Staff wishes to show its appreciation to the following people, who have so kindly and generously helped to make this project a success:

First, we wish to thank Miss Givens, our faculty advisor, for the valuable information and help that she has so willingly and generously given to us. Without her aid we could not have succeeded.

We wish to thank Mrs. Peck for naming our annual "The Caldron," in which are blended all phases of student life in M. M. H. S., besides the students who entered our contest.

We greatly appreciate the advertisements which the many businessmen and schools have given us from Ashtabula and Cuyahoga as well as Lake County. Now it is the duty of the students of M. M. H. S. to patronize these places.

We are very grateful to all of the people in and outside of school who have bought annuals besides the many canvassers and salesmen that sold so many books.

We wish to express our gratitude to the Alumni Association for the financial support that they have given us.

Many of the classes and organizations have been very helpful by paying the photographer's and engraver's bill for their group.

We are very thankful to Mrs. Peck and the typewriting classes for doing our typing, as well as to those who wrote articles for us. The written material in an annual is half of the book, so we would have been lost if it hadn't have been for the reporters and typists.

Enough appreciation can't be shown to Mr. Kirby and Mr. Lawrence, our photographers, for the fine and prompt work that they have done for us. They co-operated with us very well, making the work easier for all of us.

Similarly with our engravers, the Canton Engraving and Electrotyping Company have helped us much through their serviceman, Mr. Brooksmith, and we are very well pleased with their work.

Our printers, the Painesville Telegraph Co., have been very helpful to us and have seemed to take a real interest in our book. Mr. Hurst has patiently come to the high school and answered our foolish questions, offered suggestions, and helped us economize.

Besides the above mentioned, we wish to thank Supt. R. O. Hibschan and Mr. Trescott for their valuable suggestions, Miss Carnahan for untiringly supplying us with carbon paper, paper punches, etc., and the many other people who have offered suggestions or helped us in this successful project in anyway, shape or manner.

We hope all our subscribers will appreciate and like their books as well as we have liked to work on them. The book means much to us now but twenty years from now it will mean twenty times as much.

QUALITY REIGNS SUPREME AT THIS STORE

Quality is first—and those of you who make a practice of shopping here do not need to be reminded that our quality standard is ever unchanged. Second comes value. Our prices, though never encroaching on the province of quality—remain as low as it is possible for clever merchandising to make them. These rules of quality value are unvarying—in the smallest notion item to the most expensive fur coat.

ALERTNESS IN BUSINESS

Every business day in the year—finds us awake to the responsibility of our job of better storekeeping.

To find merchandise with character and style

To make purchases in right places at right prices.

To assemble our goods, and assist our customers in selecting suitable things.

To give better and better service.

Trained expert Buyers and Stylists with our New York group buying organization personally select, sample, and buy the newest style merchandise as soon as it is shown in the New York market.

Thus the Gail G. Grant Co. is always first in new things, alert to the needs of their customers.

A FRESHMAN SCHOOL DAY

"For goodness sake! I don't think we had to know their nationality," exclaimed Roland Miller.

The second sentence is, "When Athelstane came to life he was dead."

"Oh, dear!" sighed Lucille Vaux, "I didn't read that part."

Finally the test was over, there being 20 sentences in all. The Freshies corrected the papers and Mrs. Peck took the grades. When she came to Marjorie Stearns she said that Marjorie was getting better. She got 70 to-day and 55 the day before.

But when Dorothy Gardner gave her grade the whole class clapped for Dorothy had actually got in the thirty's after getting grades in the twenty's for the preceding weeks.

Mrs. Peck said the class didn't do well and that we had better go over the questions.

As she read sentences, those that had missed that sentence raised their hands. When the freshmen had just finished the fourth sentence, Andrew Lee put his hand up. Mrs. Peck asked him what he wanted. He said that he had missed the next four and he didn't want to take his hand down at the end of each question.

"Very bright, indeed," spoke up Wallace Whipple.

"Amy Eldridge and Mary Louise Davet! How many times do I have to tell you to stop talking?"

The Class grabbed their books and darted around the corridor. The traffic cops threw many dirty looks at the freshies, but they managed to dodge them.

When the Freshmen were quietly in their places a person came scuffing and singing into the room. "Lewis Cone, I always know when you enter the room," said Mrs. Peck.

The bell rings again and the Freshies are soon rushing over to town.

A SLICE OF LIFE

Miss Corlette—Really, I should think that—

(In the hall, are two girls busily chattering.)

J. Pesko—Wasn't that hard?

I. Heaton—Oh, so-so. Say, who'd you s'pose I saw this noon? It was—

Pesko—Honest? Well, that's just—

(Going on, we find two other girls talking.)

H. Adams—Who are you going with tonight?

D. Whipple—Don't tell a soul, but I'm—

Adams—Isn't that thrilling! How did you ever—

D. Whipple—Oh, it wasn't so—

Leaving this group, we come upon four boys.)

L. Babcock—But, we ought to—

L. Beall—Do you really know what you're talking about?

Babcock—Did you think I was talking for fun?

Beall—Well, you couldn't say it for anything else, so I—

J. Hejduk—Say, let's play basketball.

R. Whipple—We won't have time.

Hejduk—I've got to get my shot. A shot a day keeps the—ah—er—

R. Whipple—Girls away! Well, here goes! (Exeunt.)

MADISON HIGH GRADUATE MAKES PROGRESS AT DYKE SCHOOL

Steven Rostas

The Dyke School of Commerce, located so advantageously in the center of Cleveland's business activity, attracted Steven Rostas after he had graduated from Madison High School last June.

He enrolled in the Dyke School with the thought that a business training would be helpful as a preparation for college work.

After four months of study, Mr. Rostas has become so interested in the opportunities offered in secretarial work, that he has determined on an immediate business career.

A similar opportunity awaits any Madison graduate. For full description of courses, write for a copy of our new bulletin.

mistakes in English were heard, the erring person was required to give up his tag to the person correcting him. If an agreement could not be reached the matter was referred to the Good English Committee who settled the matter. Much fun was had by the students besides great improvement in English. A prize was offered to the person who collected the greatest number of tags thereby showing that he had corrected mistakes, but not made many himself. This prize, "Where the Blue Begins" by Christopher Morley was won by Lawrence Orcutt. He had twenty-nine tags.

gage in contests with those of their own ability and under adequate supervision.

The third program is that of the varsity athletics in which those who are highly proficient engage in contests with groups from other schools.

It is to be hoped that the program to be inaugurated in Madison in 1929-1930 will materially add to the happiness and usefulness of those it is to serve.

FRIENDSHIP (Continued from Page 63)

words which are not easily retrieved. How much suffering and heartache they have caused! How many beautiful friendships they have broken! And all because of our hastily aroused passions. We must be more careful.

Friendship is one of the things on which the success of this great world is built. Without it we would be continually at war and this planet would be one of devastation and ruin. We would have no lodges, clubs, or fraternities. Education other than private tutors would not be known. We could have no teams of any kind—teamwork and co-operation would be strangers in this great world.

Thus Friendship is such an important virtue that we must strive for more and more of it. True friendship is everlasting and surpasses all else.

PRINTING RESULTS

IF YOU are wise you will be more concerned about the copy in your advertising, letters and circulars than about the kind of paper they are printed on or the cost per thousand.

A customer of ours once said, "I don't care what I pay for a thing if it produces results in proportion to its cost."

By helping folks get better results from their printing we have built up a substantial business. We would appreciate an opportunity to work for you. Will you set the time for a call? No obligation of course.
