"SOMETIMES YOU FEEL LIKE A NUT . . .

. . . . Sometimes You Don't."

School is for learning,
School is for fun.
School is the place,
To get things done.
These are our best years,
To enjoy through and through,
But enjoying them too much,
Can get us in trouble, too.
Friends and teachers,
Memories that last,
Twenty years from now,
Fun in the past!

STUDENTS AND TEACHERS . . . .

OLD FRIENDS, NEW ENEMIES

Friendships in High School,
Bonds not soon broken.
People we laughed with,
People we cried with,
Through good times and bad.
Friends with their silly antics.
Snowball fights on winter days,
Trying to keep warm
At football games.
Cheering for our band
Even if they blunder.
Friends and good times,
Not soon forgotten.

TIME FOR THE JUST DESSERTS

Students receive awards for outstanding performances and participation in areas such as band, sports, and academic achievements. The awards are given out at banquets in honor of the students.

Marcia Wallace measures up to Mr. Sater.

The clean-up committee prepares for the Spring Sports Banquet.

On-looking parents at the Sports Banquet

Mr. Delp gets a head start at the banquet.

A few words from Mr. Acerra at the Banquet while the band waits in the wings.

John Teleha receives an Academic Achievement Award.

A JUNGLE OF ACTIVITIES

Everyone gets into the act, from cleaning the courtyard to taking pictures to just goofing around. There's something for everyone. Madison High School is proud of its variety of activities. Keeping busy is no problem around here! Our band does a great job and creativity abounds in the Art department. Everyone stays on the ball and has loads of fun!

Mike Winfield and the Stage Band Boogie!

The corner of tranquility at Madison High.

When Mr. Acerra talks, people listen.

SOCIAL CULTURE

Every day is a new adventure. It's not just about the food, but the people, the culture, the way of life. It's about the stories we tell, the traditions we pass on, the values we hold dear. It's about the connections we make, the friendships we build, the love we share. It's about the beauty of the world around us, the diversity of our experiences, the richness of our lives. It's about the joy of discovery, the thrill of exploration, the excitement of new beginnings. It's about the power of the human spirit, the resilience of our hearts, the strength of our dreams. It's about the hope for a better future, the faith in our ability to make a difference, the belief in the goodness of the world. It's about the love of life, the appreciation of the present, the gratitude for all we have. It's about the beauty of being human, the joy of living, the love of life.

Kathy Acerra makes her way through the jungle in the art room.

Photography focuses on fun.

Jeannette Mahany relaxes after a long day.

SOCIAL CULTURE

Everyone manages to have fun and a good laugh during school, whether it be while eating lunch, working in AV, singing in chorus, or just messing around. Even taking a test can be fun. You should make school enjoyable while you are here, for memories fade when you are gone.

All work and no play makes Ron a dull boy.

Charlie Barnicoat and Brian Sabo keep the reels rolling.

John Sency majors in conversation.

Education Enrichment

More than just your knowledge grows at madison High.

WEEKEND THRILLS BEGIN AT MADISON HIGH

Football is an important part of the high school atmosphere, and the spirit that it generates is necessary to the team's morale. On the day of each game, the football players are dressed in their jerseys, and the cheerleaders and majorettes are in their uniforms. Colorful locker stickers are visible around the school, and a feeling of excitement spreads throughout the student body. Everyone knows that when the band strikes up the fight song and the team begins to warm up, the real thrills begin.

Kathy Acerra and Mike Winfield were given the honor of "Most Musical Talent." Both have put in many hours of hard work and deserve this title.

Kathy has been in the Marching/Symphonic and Pep bands since her freshman year. She was also in the Stage Band, a select band for students who enjoy playing jazz. Kathy also plays in the Lakeland Jazz Impact, which is an all-star jazz group of students who are selected from all of the schools in the surrounding district.

Mike has been in the Marching/Symphonic and Stage bands playing the saxophone since his freshman year. He was a part of Jazz Impact during his Junior and Senior year. He also performed with the Ohio State Fair band.

KEEPING AN EYE ON THINGS

Ron Burke
Steve Carder

Keep an "eye" on these two—a pair of peepers like these aren't easy to find! In the eyes of the seniors of Madison High School, Jodie Myers and Steve Frania have the prettiest baby blues around! When interviewed, Jodie said that she felt honored that the class of '83 had picked her. Most everyone would agree that her big, lively eyes certainly are a valuable asset to her. Unlike the rest of us, Steve was surprised at being chosen for this title. Many of us knew, though, that his dreamy eyes were a sure winner. Everyone must agree that these two seniors make an eye-catching pair!

Fred Moore was voted the best actor among the senior boys. He participated in the drama club for the last few years and appeared in such plays as The Crucible, God's Favorite, Seven Wives for Dracula, and last year's variety show. Fred said, "I felt really good about winning, but I didn't expect it." Fred might possibly take drama or theater courses in college, but what he really wants to do is be a magician.

In the category of best actress, Liz Austen was voted the winner. Said Liz, "Winning was a real ego boost for me." Liz acted in such plays as Magic Theater, a children's show sponsored by Madison Fine Arts and Rabbit Run Theater, There's Always Hope, a Lake Erie Arts Program (LEAP) production and a musical called Working this past summer at Rabbit Run. She has been involved in behind the scenes activities such as costumes, props, lighting, set design, and much more. Liz is planning on attending college and then going into the field of television or communications.

Ken Malinowski and Debbie Baker were chosen by their fellow students as class clowns. Both are well-liked and have the talent to make people laugh. When told of being voted class clown, Ken was surprised and slightly embarrassed. Debbie admitted that she was happy to be picked. Each has a serious side, Debbie being an aid for the office and home economics, and Ken being class president and a member of the football team. But to the enjoyment of many students, they also each possess a great sense of humor and the ability to express it.

Helen Conrad was voted the senior girl with the prettiest hair. When asked how she felt about it, she replied, "I felt honored to win. It made me feel really good. But I was surprised that I won, since I didn't expect it." She also said that she didn't realize people paid much attention to her hair or appearance. The senior boy who was voted as having the prettiest hair was Vance Freeman. Vance said he felt honored and surprised when he found out that he won. Many seniors said they voted for Vance because he is a nice guy and his hair always looks great.

The two people the seniors of Madison thought could leave this high school and make the best use of the knowledge they obtained here were Shelly Paquin and Dave Shumaker.

Shelly is respected and looked up to by the students, as is evident when one sees the activities she has been in: President of Girls' Club, a majorette, and a National Honor Society Club member.

Dave has also made use of his abilities. He participated in cross country, was a National-Merit semi-finalist and president of the National Honor Society.

It is easy to see why Dave and Shelly were voted this honor.

will touch someone's life in a special way! And that's exactly what these two seniors, Linda Notte and Steve Frania, have done to us! They're always ready to brighten our days with their radiant smiles, spreading sunshine even on the gloomiest of days. When told of her honor, Linda, flashing her beautiful smile, said that she was flattered. Steve had no comment but couldn't hide his famous smile. It's plain to see that fortune has "smiled" upon them, for having a warm, friendly smile is one of the greatest gifts of all.

The senior girl selected for the category of "Best Dressed" was Jodie Myers. When she was asked how she felt about this honor, she responded by saying, "This came as a total surprise to me! I'm very flattered and happy that I was chosen. Also, I'm a little embarrassed." She went on to say that she felt that she didn't deserve this honor, but by the appearance of her clothes, it's evident that the honor was appropriately awarded. Paul Vrtacnik was voted "Best Dressed" for the senior boys. This came as a surprise to some seniors, but not to Paul. After being asked why he thought he was the most suitable male senior for this honor, he said, "It's not my clothes that make me look nice, but it's the idea that I take the time to make myself look nice."

The seniors voted most intelligent by other members of their class are John Teleha and Debbie Kuklinski. Both are members of the National Honor Society and both qualified to represent Madison High on the Academic Challenge team.

John was a Buckeye Boy's State Delegate and received an Honorable Mention for the OSA History Test, both in the district and state divisions.

Debbie received recognition for achievement of a 3.5 or above grade point average. She is also the drum majorette for the Marching band, a fact which demonstrates her ability in areas other than academics.

John and Debbie are regarded by their peers as having excellent minds for knowledge and outstanding achievements at Madison High School.

FOOTBALL

Although the summer football workouts began late, there was a positive player response with 45 to 50 team members attending each session. The players adjusted well to the problems that arose within the team and, although there was a lack of confidence early in the season, this lessened as the team gained experience. In the first game, a close victory over Perry created the emotional peak needed to motivate the team. The fine play continued into the Mentor game, but the team wore down in the second half and was defeated. Problems began to arise which caused the team's overall record to suffer.

However, the scores did reflect that the Streaks were equal to or better than their opponents in the statistical columns. Two high points of the season were the games against Edgewood and Geneva. Coach Paul Kovats feels that the team is taking steps in the right direction over the past years.

ODDS N' ENDS

The Blue Streaks March On

Anticipation grows in the heart of every band member as they quickly find their positions on the sidelines of the football field. The excitement of a close game, the chill of the nighttime autumn air, and the glaring stadium lights add to the thrill of performance. Freshmen and seniors alike are faced with the same fears: Did we work hard enough at band camp? Do we know our music well enough? Will our squad form a straight line in our right pinwheels?

Of course, these fears are totally unnecessary, for Madison High School's marching band is one of the best bands in the county. To start off the season, the band marched in two parades at Madison's annual Old Fashioned Days celebration. Soon after that came five grueling days at band camp, held from 7:00 to 2:00 every day for a week at Madison High School. Here, the band learned the music and marching routines for two half-time shows which combined drill dance steps, majorette features, and a pre-game show which had a military/patriotic theme.

It was hard work, but it paid off. The band was proud to march at every Madison varsity football game for the halftime show and at the Lake County Marching Band Festival in Painesville. The fans were proud of them, too, because the Blue Streaks presented some of the most outstanding halftime entertainment, even on the coldest of nights.

At the end of the football season, band director Mr. Joe Acerra held an indoor concert where the band performed all the music and majorette routines of the past season. It was a great success and will be the first of many such shows to come. A new addition to the year was beautiful new hats. The band proudly showed them off in a bow sequence at the end of one halftime show. The money for these hats came from the many fund-raising projects that the band had, such as a dunk-the-dolly booth at old Fashion Days, candy bar sales, and cheese and sausage sales. Congratulations are due to the marching band for an extremely successful year!

Debbie Kuklinski, although hampered by a cast, leads off the Marching Blue Streaks at one of their many half-time shows.

Mike Winfield, Chris Green, Adam Broberg, and Suzie Barto show their enthusiasm and support for the football team as they watch from the stands at the homecoming game.

The Tuba section finishes up a rousing little ditty with the drums.

Each year at the last home game, the band has a Senior Night. At this event, all seniors are traditionally allowed to wear any kind of hat they wish, enabling them to be easily recognized while marching. In order to take advantage of an entire half-time period after St. John's declined, Senior Night was scheduled for the next to the last game, Homecoming. According to tradition, the underclassmen play a soft tune at the end of the show while the seniors are introduced. The plans were destroyed this year when suddenly the power blacked out during half-time. This led to a second Senior Night, the last home game of the year, where things fell into place and the seniors were properly honored.

Debbie Kuklinski, Missy Bortz, Mary Jo Incorvati and Kathy Acerra clown around before the Senior show.

Jackie Blair seems to be looking for someone before half-time at the Homecoming game.

Cowboy hats are a real favorite on Senior Night as Brent Bonner knows.

Eric Heichel took a more liberal approach to Senior Night as he couldn't keep a hat with his tuba.

Even majorettes get in on the act during Senior Night as Lynda Clude shows us here.

Each year the Madison cheerleaders travel to Malone College in Canton, Ohio, to Cheerleading Camp. Camp is useful because it enables the girls to learn from other squads, develop new techniques, sharpen skills, and strengthen school pride from competition in the camp. This year, however, due to a lack of funds and uncertainty of having an athletic program, the 82-83 cheerleaders were unable to attend.

The qualities and characteristics that are necessary to be a cheerleader are the ability to be at ease before a large crowd, a nice personality, handling responsibility and being physically fit.

There are a few problems in being a cheerleader, such as the pressures of maintaining a reasonable academic level, while preparing for an upcoming game. But over-all, the problems are minor compared to the benefits of being a cheerleader.

The techniques used in cheerleading routines are combinations of old and new styles. Some are used from cheerleading camp, some are made up by the cheerleaders themselves, and others are made from new fads, such as disco and punk. The routines remain basically the same but change slightly with the current trends.

Miss Leslie Trbovich, the cheerleading advisor, feels that this was a terrific season and looks forward to another fun and exciting season next year. Cheerleading is an important part of a high school sport program.

REBOUNDING FROM THE PAST

Following a 2-19 season was a difficult task for the junior-dominated varsity squad. Coach Dolan returned after a year's absence due to medical problems. The success is directly related to the hard work of the squad and coach.

As predicted, the scoring leaders were Scott Ferra with a 15 point per game average and Craig Utt with an eleven point average. Craig also led the team in rebounding. Our assist leaders, Butch Dodson and Jim Illig, thrilled our fans on many occasions. The steady improvement of Kevin Coleman, Charlie Russell and Pat Titman paralleled the team's improvement.

The mid-season defeat of G.C.C. power Euclid at Euclid helped turn the team around. Also from this game our fan support was fantastic. We began to get recognition into the tri-county elite top ten. In the ratings we ranged from ninth to fifth place in the area.

As a fund-raising activity, Charlie Dodson, the Boosters Club Basketball Chairperson, coordinated a dance on January 22 at Immaculate Conception. The dance was a tremendous success and over $1000 was raised for uniforms. Also at the dance the boosters raised another $500 for the weight facility.

2. Frank Valerio shoots from the outside of the key.

The turning points for the Madison Blue Streaks changed the basketball season and put them on a winning streak. Beginning with St. John, many valuable players who had been absent from the team were in the line-up. The result was a defeat. Next, Madison met Euclid, the number one team, and came home with a victory. An away game at Riverside named Craig Utt WPVL Player of the Week and put Madison in second place.

One of the most heartbreaking losses of the season was against the Geneva Eagles. Both teams were tied for second place, but Madison lost by a basket in overtime.

There were factors other than scoring for Madison's success this year. They were a close-knit team and stayed together through the wins and losses. There was discipline of the entire squad. Officiating and opponents did not affect the mind or playing of the team members.

The basketball team, as well as all other sports, need support from the students, and with each win Madison had, more school and community spirit and support was shown.

A LOOK BEHIND THE SCENES

When you watch the MHS Boys' Basketball team in action, there is a lot more going on behind the scenes than you realize.

That deep, rich-sounding voice which announces the players is Mr. Ben Soriano, the band director from Memorial Middle. Mrs. Deel sells the tickets, while Mr. Loeffel takes them, Mr. Rogus, Mr. Higley, and Mr. Snyder help the township police with security by keeping some of the "rowdies" under control.

The crew that compiles the statistics are Amy Wickert, Debbie Kuklinski, Amy Zoldak, Kris Donlin, and Jenny Wickert. While Mr. Winton watches the clock, Mr. Austen is taking care of the scorebook.

Back in the locker rooms are Dave and Dan Dame helping with security, and Randy Hess, who is an assistant and tapes ankles.

In case you get thirsty cheering our team on, the Mother's Club will be more than happy to sell a drink or something to help satisfy the munchies.

We'd like to thank all these people without whom our games wouldn't be as big of a success as they are. A big thanks to Mr. Greenwald for arranging everything from security to schedules. Thanks to you all!

SENIORS HOLD IT TOGETHER

Playing one of their toughest schedules in several years, the girls' basketball team won their first game in league play over Riverside after losing to North, Mentor, South, and Lake Catholic.

Seniors Helen Conrad, Julie Cornell and Diane (Dee Dee) Ward are tri-captains and the nucleus of the team. Helen is an excellent ball-handler and press-breaker. Julie leads the team in scoring and is second in rebounds. Julie had a game high of 27 points against Willoughby South, and Dee leads the team in total rebounds and is second in scoring.

After a hard battle, sophomore Marsha Adams and Junior Laura Havrilla won the starting guard positions. Marsha leads the team in assists, and they both are very dependable ball-handlers.

As in most sports, the bench strength a team has is the difference in victory or defeat. The third scorer on the team is junior Lori Cicenas, who can be counted on heavily at the offensive end of the court. Forwards Tracy Petti, Peggy Coffman and 6'2" sophomore Marcia Wallace are counted on heavily for the future. Beth Sanford, Joan Gasper and Michele Robinson provide strength at the guard position.

The girls have worked very hard since November 1st and have improved greatly, according to Coach Sally Phillips. The team has a tremendous attitude toward practices and games and are a pleasure to coach.

GETTING A KICK OUT OF LIFE

1. Eric Delp and Joe Logan display their teamwork in assists and passing.
2. Mike Cobb's High kicking performance saved the day many times.

Goalkeeper Honored

Soccer Has Successful Season

Although the 7-7-5 record of this year's soccer team isn't quite as good as last year's, the coach is convinced it represents significant progress in the development of Madison's Soccer program. Coach Delp expressed his pleasure with the performance of this year's team and emphasized that they competed against tougher and more experienced schools than the previous year. Despite a difficult schedule and some injuries to key players, the team performed well, repeatedly, especially considering it is only a second-year team.

Highlights of the season include Madison's defeat of Willoughby South for its first victory in sectional competition, a 1-0 win over Beachwood, and a 0-0 tie with sectional runner-up, Eastlake North. This year saw one member of our team receive the highest honor yet to be awarded to a Blue Streak Soccer player. Madison's talented goal-keeper, Mike Cobb, was selected to the All-City Greater Cleveland Scholastic Soccer Coaches All-Star Team. This team is chosen from over 40 member schools. Mike was also recognized by the Telegraph as a "Star of the Week" for his very outstanding performance.

For the most total goals and assists, Eric Delp received the Most Valuable Offensive Player award. The Most Valuable Defensive Player Award went to Mike Falcon. In addition, Coach Delp singled out Dan Dame, Dave Dame and Kenn Johnson for recognition of their invaluable contributions to the team.

The Varsity team this year consisted of two freshmen, four sophomores, five juniors, and only three seniors. Next year should prove to be better than ever.

1. Eric Delp quickly passes the ball out of danger.
2. Kenn Johnson shows us his delicate coordination in leg movement.

VARSITY VOLLEYBALL TEAM

Madison High School's varsity volleyball team has some good news and some bad news. The bad news? They weren't exactly on a winning streak. But you know what people say: It's not whether you win or lose; it's how you play the game!

That's where the good news ties in. According to coach Chris Anderson, their game this year was 100% improved from past years. Although somewhat inconsistent, the team reached its goals and over-all every skill was improved, especially hitting and serving. It was a very good season for the girls, and Coach Anderson was extremely pleased with them.

Though the players only actually won a few games, they held their own against some of the toughest teams in the county. Even the best teams such as Riverside, North, South, and Mentor had to fight to be victorious over Madison. They did beat Geneva, who ranked 4th in the league, and after losing their 1st game to Ashtabula City, the 2nd proved to be victorious.

Two of the team's most outstanding players were Karen Davis and Helen Conrad, who made all NEC teams. Julie Cornell was also a very valuable player. The returning varsity for next year are: Jenny Koski, Stacy Pisor, Marsha Adams, and Valerie Lasko. These four girls will be the heart of next year's team.

Through much hard work and dedication, Madison's volleyball team has made some tremendous improvements for which we are all very proud.

WRESTLING 1982-83

The Madison Varsity Wrestling Team overcame tremendous odds and retained the N.E.C. Championship. The Streaks were 6-1 in dual meets within the league, losing only to Riverside. Overall, the team was 6-6. The team also competed in the annual Kenston Invitational Wrestling Tournament. They didn't make a good showing, but they did gain some valuable experience which showed up when they competed in the N.E.C. Tourney. Riverside was thought to win the title this year because they had previously defeated Madison in a dual meet. The Streaks entered the tournament very determined to gain some respect from other teams in the league. The team got sparked when they heard that they were not even picked to take second! Placing first in the tourney were Dave Rowan (112), a three-time N.E.C. champ; Jeff Whitehair, (126), and Vince Padavick (HVY). Finishing second were Steve Paratto (119), John Wunsch (132), Tony Ciammaichella (145), and Larry Skoch (185). Third place finishers were Rick Persinger (155), Randy Hyrne (175), and Jeff Sladek (167). Rodney Congrove finished fourth.

The winning of the title was a dream-come-true. Coach Melin and Coach Sater have brought their streaks to four titles in a row. This season was thought to be a rebuilding year for the young streaks, due to the lack of experience, but they came through when they had to and surprised the league by stealing the title.

The statisticians have played a bit part in the sports program this year. If it was not for them, no one would ever know the score. The statisticians from all the sports put out one-hundred percent this year and did a great job. No one else can keep the games together as they have. Football, wrestling, basketball, softball, track, cross-country, soccer and volleyball alike, stats in all these sports really helped the teams and the coaches. The season would not have been the same without them. Special thanks to all these people with hopes of seeing the underclassmen again next year!

THE WEIGHT ROOM

Continually striving to be the best, Madison High School went all out for this year's athletes by building a spectacular new weight room. Helmets and shoulder-pads were replaced from the old football equipment room for weights and machines. A good cleaning job, a fresh coat of paint, and about $1200 (in donations) made the room a helpful addition to the athletic training program.

The idea came to the Athletic Director Bob Greenwald and Coach Kevin Snyder in August, and though it was hard work, they managed to construct a fine facility. Many students and athletes who supported the idea helped by donating their time for the physical part of the job. An outstanding young artist in the school, Julie Ransom, painted murals on the wall.

"This is only stage one," commented Mr. Greenwald. "Soon we will be expanding the room because of the number of kids that come every day. As the money comes in, it will be spent on only the best equipment for the athletes." Already the weight room has approximately 1700 pounds in loose weights, four weight belts, a half dozen good jump ropes, an exercise chinning bar, pegboards, and a universal gladiator machine. Hopes for next year include adding new machines and perhaps even carpeting.

Thanks to many dedicated people, this new weight room will be an added advantage to Madison High's athletic program.

At the beginning of November, the Student Council had a project to match up the students of Madison High School through a professional dating service. Students who wanted to find compatible dates were asked to fill out a questionnaire which was sent to Heart to Heart Computer Services in Saint Paris, Ohio. The results were delivered in approximately one week, and each participating student purchased his or her list of ten people for $1.50.

The project was chosen to boost school spirit because the members of Student Council felt it would be fun and different from normal school activities. Nearly 300 students applied to the service, which matches people on interest, beliefs, and appearance. Reactions to the results ranged from disbelief to embarrassment. Most of the students were pleased with their results, and everyone seemed to have fun comparing their lists.

Although the use of the proceeds hasn't been definitely decided, the money will probably go toward a dance or a similar social activity.

The Senior Table

The Senior Table

Have you seen that mean and nasty bunch of seniors? They are seated at the central head table of the lunch room, the senior table. From here they can see all the action taking place or grab an unsuspecting underclassman to pick on. This is the seat of honor given only to seniors and a few privileged juniors. As the end of the year rolls around, the rest of the juniors eagerly wait to take their place at the head of the cafeteria and the head of the class.

With only 4 lettermen returning to the team the Bluestreaks were off to a slow start, losing their first seven games. As the season progressed, the team became more experienced and won five out of their last seven games, including a 7-3 win. In the first sectional tournament, they suffered a 5-2 loss, however, to Lake Catholic in the second sectional tournament.

The team's most effective pitcher was T.J. Paquin, with 3 wins. Senior Pat Melia also had 2 wins, and sophomore Larry Hall one. Todd Kingery was the best hitter, with a .324 batting average. All Conference Selections included Todd Kingery, who was named to the first team, and second team selections Pat Melia and T.J. Paquin.

With 9 lettermen returning, the 1983 team should be much improved. Coach Opron expressed optimism, saying, "With a couple of pitchers and some consistent outfielders, the Streaks should again be contenders for the conference title."

Todd Kingery gets to third with good directions. Paul Elmore is ready for the relay. Larry Hall pitches one of his strikes.

LOOSE FEET COVER GROUND

The 1982 Boys' Cross Country Team, coached by Mr. Don Strother, had a very successful season. Two important goals were reached this year by the team's hard work. These were rekindling "pride in performance" and "team spirit". This pride in turn builds confidence, which was greatly stressed throughout the year.

Although the odds were against the team, the pride that was developing led to a belief in itself. Team spirit peaked near the end of the season in a crucial meet at St. John. St. John, who only had one loss and consisted of older, more experienced runners, lost to our young, inexperienced but confident Blue Streak team. Radiating the pride, team spirit, and determination developing within the runners, the team pulled itself together by the end of the season.

Unavoidable circumstances led to the loss of some good runners, but this made the team's successes all the more impressive. In the Lake County Classic, the team's hard effort resulted in fourth place. Eighth place was taken by the Madison team in the Perry Invitational. At the NEC meet, the outcome was fifth place. The Madison runners ran to a twelfth place finish in the Sectionals. Brent Repinski at the District meet rounded off a fine season. The positive attitude of the runners will carry into next year, creating an optimistic outlook for 1983.

- 1) Brent Repinski gives it his all and Jon Sprague isn't too far behind him.
- 2) Cross Country coach Mr. Strother and runner Jon Sprague.
- 3) Eric Heichel gives us his best smile before the run.

4) The Madison Cross Country team for 1982, standing left to right: Scott Francis, Doug Manley, Mike Nolan, Jim Gumm, Todd Teeter, Duke DiPofi, Eric Heichel, Glen Orris, Mike Mills. Seated: Chris Sprague, Brent Repinski, Todd Braunlich, Dan Harrison, Jon Sprague, Mike Wilson

5) Scott Francis and Jim Gumm carry on with determination.
6) What's wrong, Jon, did your watch stop?

1. The 1982 Girls' Cross Country Team
 2. Belinda Tiller finishes in triumph.
 3. Two lady Blue Streaks race against the clock.
 4. The Girls' Cross Country team is off to a great start.

1. A lady Blue Streak strives to over-take her opponent.
2. Lori Baker finishes the race in style.
3. Cathy Pivonka puts forth her best effort to place in the meet.
4. Carla Pile adds to the team effort to win.

The Girls' Cross Country team, coached by Mr. Jack Pavesich, began the season with question marks. Three seniors had been lost to graduation, and also casting doubt on the team's ability to win was the new longer distance of 3.1 miles. The team began as an average team, finishing in the middle of the pack in the early invitational meets at Chardon and Strongsville. However, the younger runners on the team improved steadily so that by October 2 they were able to finish second to the state qualifier, Kirtland, at the Perry Invitational. They lost the championship by a mere one point.

The biggest accomplishment came with an outstanding team effort at the sectional meet, where the lady Blue Streaks finished sixth out of nineteen teams with 138 points, the same point total as Chardon, who had beaten them earlier in the season. Junior Belinda Tiller and sophomore Lori Baker qualified to run in the district meet.

The outlook for the future is very good. All six letter winners should be returning next fall. If these team members dedicate themselves in the off season, they have an excellent chance to capture the NEC title.

BOYS' TRACK HURDLE OBSTACLES

In the words of Mr. Kevin Snyder, coach of the boys' track team, 1982 was "a season of patience and promise." The patience was needed because of a 2-8 season, but a lot of promise was also evident. The best performances were saved for the end of the season, and the underclassmen performed superbly against seniors and gained experience to carry into the next season. The team finished sixth in the NEC and second in the Lake County Class.

Great performances were rendered by Jay Davis in the high hurdles as he set school records and finished second in the NEC. He also finished second in the 200-meter dash. Freshmen John Lackner, who finished fourth in the NEC in the 100-meter dash, and Mike Wilson, who finished fourth in the NEC in the mile run, also had fine seasons.

- 1) Madison High School Boys' 1982 Track team
- 2) Joe Cooper gives it his all.
- 3) John Lackner springs into action.

4. Bob Baker finally clears the hurdle.

6. Frank Mayer takes a giant leap for mankind.

Diamonds Of Course!

The 1982 Varsity Softball Team had a good year, ending with a 10-8 record overall, and a third place NEC record of 9-5. Julie Cornell led the team with 33 RBI and a .424 batting average. Marsha Adams had the highest fielding average, .923, along with 30 runs and 28 stolen bases, which placed her at the top of these categories.

Helen Conrad had a fine season also, with 26 runs and 31 RBI. Kim Horvath, Kelly Barnes, Julie Cornell, and Tammi Reese were all named to the second team in the NEC selections. Special mention went to Helen Conrad and Marsha Adams, with Tracy Petti receiving honorable mention. Julie Cornell was named to the first team of the News Herald All Stars, with Kelly Barnes and Marsha Adams being chosen for the second team. Honorable mention was given to Helen Conrad, Tracy Petti, and Tammi Reese. Mr. Hance, the girls' coach, feels that the 1983 team will definitely be stronger due to a "good crop of freshmen" and a lot of good players from junior varsity coming up. The junior varsity team had an excellent year, finishing 8-1, their only loss coming at the hands of Riverside. Val Lasko was the leading pitcher, winning 6 games, and losing one. Mary Fay and Sharon Swartzwalder each had 13 RBI, to lead the team.

Stacy Pisor had a winning season, with 22 runs scored and 17 hits. Each of the girls who participated in softball put forth a commendable effort, and the results showed that the hard work paid off.

GIRLS' TRACK

The 1982 girls' track team, coached by Mr. Jack Pavesich, had a winning season, finishing with an overall record of 7-2-1. They placed higher than predicted in the NEC, with a 5-1-1 record that enabled them to end the season in second place.

Katie Orris was an outstanding member of the team, becoming the NEC champion in the 100-meter and 200-meter dashes. She set both school and NEC records in these areas and qualified for the regional meet in both. Belinda Tiller also had an excellent season, achieving the NEC championship in both the 800-meter and 1600-meter runs. She qualified for the regional meet in the 1600-meter and also set an NEC record for this run. Madison's 3200-meter relay team, too, captured the championship in the NEC. The members of the team were Lori Baker, Annette Sanders, Deanna Andresen, and Belinda Tiller.

Trisha Reed was the team's most effective thrower, while Peggy Wilson was the best hurdler. Julie Ransom had a good season as the only high jumper on the team.

As a young team, they lost a few early, but they improved through the season. With the experience of a fine season behind them, the 1983 team should be strong.

SEASON BETTER THAN PAR.

Considering that this year's golf team contained no seniors, the coach, Mr. Higley, summed up the golf season by saying, "They played better than I predicted they would." Even though there were no seniors, there were golfers who played very well and later received varsity letters. Mark Paquin, a junior on the team, possesses the most ability for the game, according to Mr. Higley. Other talented players were a sophomore, Nelson Paquet, close junior competitors, Dave Rabe and Steve Michelson, and also Ray Adams, a junior and freshman Dean Corbisaro. All team members put forth much effort.

Considering the fact that the team was fairly inexperienced, the outcome of the tournaments that they participated in was very good. In the Lake County Classic, the team's hard work resulted in a third place win. They finished in fifth place at the League Tournament. The eighth position was given to Madison's golf team in the Sectionals. All of these tournaments were held at Punderson.

Overall, Coach Higley said that the entire team played well and that the junior varsity team also worked hard with the help of Mr. Glavan, a community member.

WHAT'S YOUR RACKET?

Last year's tennis team was well-coached by Mr. Higley. He said that he possessed a very good hard-working team. Seven players made up the varsity team with only two of these members being seniors. They were Claude Paquet and John Kationa, both playing singles. Other competitive singles players were Larry Clemente and Eric Delp. Also, the tennis team contained a very good doubles pair: Dave Kahley and Rob Rozick. A freshman varsity player was Dawn Kahley, whose great efforts surprised the coach to some extent.

Coach Higley expressed his thoughts on how well the team performed. They were second as a team in the Lake County Classic, and third place in the League. "All the team members were outstanding players. They have improved immensely," commented Coach Higley.

J.V. FOOTBALL

The JV Football team had an outstanding season under the direction of coaches Mr. Reigert and Mr. Baffer. Some of the highlights of the season were beating Geneva, Eastlake North, and Mentor, ending Mentor's 28 game winning streak. The team's great season was a balanced run-pass attack and keeping one step ahead of the opponents at all times.

The Madison JV Football team holds much promise for the future because of their positive attitude and dedication to hard work in and out of the season.

2. Madison gets into a tangle
3. Freshman coach Mr. Rex Reigert watches the J.V. team.
4. Frank Mayer makes his way to the end zone.
5. Number forty-eight dodges would-be tacklers.

J.V. VOLLEYBALL

JV Volleyball Team

According to volleyball coach Chris Anderson, the Junior Varsity players of Madison had much to be proud of this season. They were, in her words, "the best JV team she ever had." Considering that 11 out of 14 of her players were new, Coach Anderson had a great deal of work to do. But the players had good attitudes and learned quickly, so she was very pleased with their performance. These athletes worked extremely hard to develop the fine techniques and skills needed to produce a good team, and the work paid off. With talent like this, the prospects for next year's team are high.

Some of the most outstanding players were Elaine Musser, who was the leader on the court, Jackie Bell, Becky Crawford, and twins Kathy and Chris Gesdorf. The last 4 were only 1st year players, but because of a magnificent performance, they will all probably be the up and coming varsity players of next year.

3. Kathy gets down to receive the ball.
4. The Blue Streaks show aggression at the net.

J-V GIRLS' BASKETBALL

The 1982-83 Junior Varsity Girls' Basketball team consisted of four sophomores and nine freshmen who were coached by Mr. John Miller. Even though many of the opposing teams were composed of sophomores and juniors, the JV Team played comparatively well. Except for the game against North, Coach Miller considered the team to have played better on the floor than the other teams. This was especially shown with the Geneva game which was completely dominated by the Madison players. Poor shooting at crucial times and a lack of experienced players contributed to Madison's losses, but good defense, height and quickness helped to compensate for these weaknesses. Moreover, the JV Team played quite well. Mr. Miller expects a good team for next year.

2. Jackie Bell shoots for a basket.
3. The team players (from top left to right): Amy Otterman, Lori Baker, Jackie Bell, Carla Pyle, Pam Leitch, Winnie Apple, and Colleen Wilson. Bottom left to right: Jennifer Conrad, Jennifer Harrison, Stacy Pisor, Val Lasko, Becky Crawford, Chrissy Sutyak, and Coach John Miller

2. Ray Clark hurries toward the goal as he kicks the ball.
3. Two players fight for a goal.
4. The soccer game comes to a halt as the players huddle under umbrellas when it starts to rain.

The J.V. Soccer team has had a fine season this year with eight wins, five ties, and four losses. With special help from their coach, Geof Gates, the team managed to pull through and win. The coach, Geof Gates, is a non-teaching volunteer who took the team into his own hands and did a great job. We hope he will be back next year and in future seasons.

THE FRIENDSHIP CONNECTION

The Friendship Connection was planned and developed by Ohio high school German teachers in cooperation with West German high school English teachers. The purpose of the program is to provide an inexpensive exchange program that enables Ohio students to improve their ability to speak German and learn more about the German culture while living with a German family.

To qualify for the program, students must be between the ages of fifteen and eighteen and must have completed at least two years of German.

The total cost of the trip is $775. This includes the round-trip flight from Cleveland to Frankfurt, land transportation from Frankfurt to the community where the Ohio student will be staying, plus a $2500 medical and accident insurance policy. Room and board is provided by the host German family in exchange for similar accommodations when the German family's child visits his partner in Ohio. The student must bring his/her own money for extras, such as souvenirs or entertainment.

Ohio students stay in Germany for four weeks, from June eleventh to July ninth. After that, they have the option to stay an additional three weeks at no extra cost.

Madison students who are participating in the program this year are Debbie Gerred, Sue Lipka, Lisa Prasnika, and Michelle Zollner.

The students from Germany will be coming to Ohio and Madison from March 26th to April 24th. The Friendship Connection is in its third successful year. In the first two years, 695 West German and Ohio students and 78 Ohio schools participated in the exchange.

LANGUAGE FAIR

On April 14 and 15, 1983, the French, German, and Spanish classes, under the leadership of Mr. and Mrs. Strother and Mrs. Battes, sponsored a Language Fair.

The Language Fair consisted of many events, including the traditional can-can dance by the French students, a puppet show by the Spanish, and yodeling organized by the Germans. Travel and art displays, besides crepe demonstrations, were shown. Career information was also available. Many contests were held, including yodeling, theme poster, flag, maps and costumes. The Stage Band performed throughout the evening, too.

Spanish, German, and French food was sold. The Spanish food included tacos, tostitos, and non-alcoholic pina coladas. Sauerkraut, sausage, and German chocolate cake were the German specialities, while the French sold pastries.

This is always a festive evening of many events, displays, contests, music, good food, and much fun.

BRINDABAN! GERMAN CAMP

Every spring, Camp Klein, a church camp located in Concord Township, is transformed into the Bundesrepublik Brindabannmore commonly known as German Camp. There, German students from Kirtland and Madison enjoy three days of fun and relaxation while at the same time speaking and learning German. However, for those students who don't go to the overnight camp, they can go to day camp which lasts one day.

Upon arrival at the camp, everyone must go through "customs" where their luggage is checked and their German passports are examined.

Each student is put into a group and must attend classes at various times during the day. In these classes, students learn about German holidays, customs, occupations, and much more.

Lots of free time is available for students to play Fussball (soccer), take hikes, or just relax and talk with friends. For entertainment, movies about Germany are shown, and German games are played. Also, last year, a group of German dancers performed with the students and instructors joining in.

One-hundred and twenty students attended the camp last year, and about one-hundred and seventy are expected this year. The cost of the camp is $20.00

In efforts to create a superior yearbook, the Cauldron staff traveled this September to Ursuline College for a workshop. While the staff was floundering around Shaker Heights, the workshop opened without them . . . in Pepper Pike. However, the staff arrived only one hour late and was able to learn a great deal in spite of a rocky start.

The workshop covered areas such as raising funds through advertising campaigns, taking interesting pictures, creative layout and how to organize the book. The staff hopes their efforts are apparent in this year's Cauldron.

Rowdy Corner

As a person walks in the downstairs central hall, he or she may notice a group of students clustered at the end corner. These are the rowdies, the so-called "troublemakers" of the school. Just as the seniors use their table for a hang-out, these people use this corner. It is a scene of action at times, but things usually remain pretty quiet. Occasionally this area is responsible for a few firecrackers in the hall or some rowdy yelling to start off the weekend. These people were forced to vacate their former hang-out, the parking lot, and therefore they have designated the corner as "their spot."

"Walking Billboards"

Button-mania hits Madison High School! A familiar sight around the school is buttons. Buttons, buttons, everywhere. We see them on shirts, hats, and most commonly on varsity jackets. Why do Madison students wear these buttons? Because it expresses their ideas and feelings in a different and interesting way. Some people make a contest out of it, to see how many buttons they can wear. Some popular group buttons are the rock group buttons. One student says, "I want to show what groups I like and what concerts I've been to." Other popular buttons are anything good for a laugh, or those that show where you stand.

Stage Band

Many musical groups exist at Madison High under the direction of Mr. Joe Acerra. Stage Band is a group that not only practices playing instruments and learning music, but they also study the history of jazz. The Stage Band performs more than any other group with the exception of the Marching Band. There are 26 members in the band, and they play a wide variety of instruments.

The Stage Band has many plans for the upcoming new year. During the months of January and February, the group will visit and perform at each Madison elementary school, and in March they will visit each middle school. In March, they will also play at the Language Fair and on the 4th and 5th will join other jazz bands at Lakeland Community College for the Lakeland Invitational Jazz Festival. The band will hold a spring concert that is open to the public and will join the Marching Band for a fall concert. At least one short performance will be held during the lunch periods in the lecture hall so that other students will be able to hear the band's music.

A few select members of the Stage Band have been chosen to participate in the All-Star Lake County Jazz Impact group. This group consists of high level jazz musicians. The selected students are Kathy Acerra, Adam Broberg, Kevin Downs, Chris Green, Dave Kahley and Mike Winfield. The group will play with other bands and will also make guest appearances around the area. Hard-working, interested students are the main force behind the success of the stage band.

Saxsational!

A great musician, as well as student and person, Mike Winfield is considered the leading student in the music field. He is best known for his saxophone playing, but he also plays oboe, drums, guitar, and anything else he can get his hands on. As well as being in Madison's Marching and Stage Band, he also participates in Jazz Impact. A member of National Honor Society, Mike is well - liked and respected by students and teachers alike. Best wishes, Mike, from all of us.

IMPROVING THEIR MUSIC

This year's concert band is a training band consisting of eighteen members. They meet daily to play light concert music and to sharpen their playing skills. Besides playing out of scale and exercise books, they play a variety of music. This teaches them concert repertoire. Also, some time is given to sectional practice where they can better hear and correct individual mistakes. Moreover, much time is spent on working on tone, intonation, interpretation and technique.

HARMONY IN THE HALLS

Chris Hudek sings her haunting rendition of "I Wonder as I Wander" to the enthralled rapture of the audience.

The Madison High School Choir with Director, Mr. Joe Acerra

The 1982 - 83 choir consisted of 37 students and their director, Mr. Joseph Acerra. Mr. Acerra is happy with the choir because it's steadily gaining tenors and basses, resulting in a better over-all balance.

During the first semester of this year, the choir performed the annual Christmas concert alone, a performance which had previously been shared with the band. A tape of this concert was played on WPVL Christmas Day for the community's enjoyment.

Throughout the second semester, the choir maintained a full schedule. Some of the choir members participated in a Solo and Ensemble contest on February 26 that was held at Mentor High School. A day later, on February 27, the choir traveled to Kirtland High School for the Lake County Choir Festival. In addition to this, the choir sang for various community groups during the winter. Furthermore, they performed their yearly concert in the spring and also participated in the commencement ceremony.

This year's choir council consisted of freshmen Pam Hart and Sally Ditchcreek, Sophomores Kathy Golding and Trisha Ness, and Juniors Kris Hudec, Alisa Heflin, and Amy Jacobson. The senior members are Denise Warner and Lisa Prasnikar.

Mr. Joe Acerra, the Fearless Leader of the music department, prepares to accompany Lisa and Kathy's duet.

1. Rita Bocklett, Terri Hatton and Sharan Cleary sang "Little Lord Jesus".

2. Leeanne and Lori Reese played the piano for the Concert.

3. The choir practices before the concert.

4. The Choir is in full dress for the concert.

GEE, WHAT HAPPENED TO MARCHING BAND?

They're Not Playing The Radio

Many people wonder what happens to the Marching Band when the snow flies. The answer can be found fifth period in the band room, where Marching Band members have traded their uniforms for symphonic music. The approximately one hundred and thirty people in symphonic band are not seen as often as when they are functioning as a Marching Band, but they do quite a bit during this time. Major performances include Commencement, National Honor Society Induction, as well as one or two concerts with the other bands.

This year, the Symphonic Band was host for the East End Lake County Band Festival, which five other schools attended. The proceeds go towards scholarships in music which many Madison students have been awarded. Individual band members may attend a solo and ensemble contest, a great challenge which many accepted.

Mr. Acerra, a veteran band director, can be proud of this fine group as can the rest of the school.

PEP BAND

This group is a much welcomed sight at basketball games. This is the Pep Band, and they keep the spirit going at basketball games with lively music. Regretfully, this entire group was not seen together very often due to N.E.C. regulations restricting pep bands to fifteen members at N.E.C. games. This group is comprised of members from Marching and Symphonic band, and membership gives them a chance to play marching music during the off season. Many thanks to this dedicated group who added a special touch to the basketball games.

The Band Council pictured above is an elected group that helps Mr. Acerra with many of the decisions concerning the band. Two people are elected from each class in the Marching and Symphonic Band.

LIGHTS, . . . . ACTION, . . . .

The Drama Club, along with advisor Ms. Sandy Eaglen, has been very busy this year. At the beginning of the school year, the students sold candy and wall poster calendars to raise money. After being separated into different groups, (publicity, lights, costumes, etc.) they began preparing for their first performance. A few weeks before Christmas, the club presented three one-act plays: "Adam and Eve," "The Cop and the Anthem," and "Androcles and the Lion." Many people attended, and it was a great success.

The club has also gone on two extracurricular field trips. In October, the students traveled to Kent State University's Main Campus to see a performance of "Pippin", a story about the son of Charlemagne who is searching for a purpose in life. After the play, the drama club members talked to the actors in the play and asked them questions. In December, the club traveled to the Cleveland Play House to see Charles Dickens' A Christmas Carol. These outings were very entertaining and educational for those who attended.

Future plans and projects include a musical in the spring and possibly a talent/ variety show.

6. The character played by Debbie Dense is too "hot" for Fred Moore's character to "handle!"

7. Jeff Satterfield finds shelter behind Eric English, the "tree"!

8. "R-o-a-r!"

- 5. Mark Swanson is having a "tubular time".

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY . . .

Only The Best Will Do . . .

National Honor Society, one of the most prestigious clubs of Madison High School, is a local chapter of a national organization. It has some tough requirements for nomination. In making the important decision for choosing candidates, the teachers pick from the Junior and Senior class those students having a 3.0 grade average or better. Voting is done on the basis of four categories: scholarship, character, leadership and service. Being chosen for this club is more than just a great honor because colleges consider membership to National Honor Society in accepting students.

Students are presented with this award in the spring of each year. March 23, this year's induction ceremony date, brings with it many hopeful candidates. The tapping ceremony takes place during school, and the formal ceremony occurs later that evening.

This year's club is composed of some of Madison's finest students, including Dave Shumaker (President), Dennis Yard (Vice President), Lisa Prasnika (Secretary), and Kim Rice (Treasurer). Continually at work in their monthly meetings, these admirable scholars are presently trying to collect enough money to give a scholarship to a deserving senior.

Dave Shumaker, the president of the National Honor Society

STUDENT COUNCIL

Student Council

Student Council has sponsored activities this year which were more unusual than in the past. Although the traditional Christmas caroling was done, the highlight of the school year was the "Computer Dating Service". The students who participated filled out questionnaires which informed the computer about their most enjoyed past-times. Afterwards, the computer printed each person a list of ten compatible dates, complete with phone numbers. Students who participated found the activity different and interesting.

The results took the school by storm. It was a toss-up whether the onlookers or the participants had more fun. One by one, small groups would approach the table to obtain the results which were quickly read by the owner and soon became the object of much giggling, groaning and joking.

The Student Council also is planning a dance for winter sports.

Mrs. Dornhecker, the advisor for the Student Council.

GIRLS IN SERVICE

Each year, new members are initiated into Girls' Club, an exclusive club made up of Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors.

This past year, they were very active in the school and in the community. Here are some highlights: They held a canned food drive during Thanksgiving to provide food for needy families. At Christmas, they showed their appreciation to the teachers by passing out candy-filled stockings to each one. But one of the biggest events, and one the students can actively participate in, is Slave Day. This is when each Girls' Club member is sold to the highest bidder and must do whatever that owner commands.

Even though Girls' Club isn't large and overflowing with members, it is still very effective in our school.

A HELPING HAND

Teacher Aids are a valuable asset to teachers at Madison High School. They run off dittos, tutor students, serve as lab aids and run messages. The teachers truly appreciate their efforts.

The German Club

Mr. Strother and the officers of the German Club: Lisa Travis, secretary; Ralf Caswell, president; and Melissa Smart, vice-president.

The German Club, under the direction of Mr. Don Strother, is open to all German students. Once a month, the club meets to play games, sing, entertain guest speakers and discuss upcoming projects. The officers include Ralf Caswell as President, Melissa Smart as Vice - President, Janet Fulton as Secretary, and Lisa Travis as Treasurer. For the past eight years, the German Club has attended Camp Kline in Concord Township. The stay scans three dates, and the students get a sample of German cooking and customs. They attend classes at camp and learn new songs and games. Candy sales help cut the cost of camp. Their activities include annual Christmas caroling to the homes of German families in the community. This year the club plans to go both cross - country and downhill skiing, and they plan to have a booth in the Language Fair. Debbie Gered, Michelle Zoler, Lisa Prasnikar, and Sue Lipka will be traveling to Germany and attending school there for two weeks this summer, while seven German girls will come to Madison from March 26 to April 24. Ralph Caswell lived in Germany for two months this year, staying with relatives and attending school. The German Club teaches foreign culture to students and provides fun at the same time.

CAULDRON STAFF REFLECTS THE SPIRIT OF MADISON HIGH

The Cauldron staff started out confused and inexperienced with its new advisor, Mrs. Jill Bangerter, and its editor, Earl Nicholas. With a great deal of hard work and extra time, the staff gained experience and hopefully produced an exceptional yearbook for the student body. Many long hours were spent during and after school trying to meet deadlines. With unending patience, Earl Nicholas taught the entire staff the ropes of producing a yearbook. With much trial and tribulation, Pat Plourde and Steve Molnar tried to keep the finances of this year's book in order and at the same time pay off last year's debt. Julie Ransom has worked exceptionally hard and therefore has earned the position of Editor for 1983-84. Mrs. Bangerter has willingly taken on the huge responsibility of Advisor, a position which meant endless pressures concerning time and money limits. Organizing the entire staff seemed nearly impossible, but with the help and guidance of one another, Earl and Mrs Bangerter overcame the obstacles and kept the staff in order. With everybody working together, the staff survived and overcame its hurdles - - - or did we . . . ???

BUSY BODIES

Many students at Madison High use their studyhalls and free periods to work in the main office. Though most students probably think that working in the office is nothing but fun, at times it can be very demanding. An office aid has to be capable of performing a wide range of duties. It's not unusual for an aid to run off papers for the next day's history test, deliver phone messages, deliver classmates' forgotten lunches, books, and tennis shoes, answer questions asked by other students and visitors, and call students out of class for Mr. Sater or Mr. Leitch, all in one period!! It can get hectic, but most office aids enjoy volunteering their services. While giving the aids something to do, the job also makes them feel useful and feel like they are doing something to help others. The secretaries really appreciate having office aids because they are a big help and take a good bit of the work load off their shoulders. Where would Madison High School be without office aids? Probably buried under phone messages!!

The school library is an unlimited source of information and enjoyment for students. It contains many books on various subjects, such as Philosophy, Religion, Science and History, and also has an endless supply of entertaining fiction novels. Various newspapers and magazines are also available with many kinds of literature in the library. Because a great deal of organization and work is needed to keep it running smoothly, some students use their studyhalls to help out in the library. A library aid has many duties to perform, including shelving books, checking out books, sorting magazines, putting newspapers on display, assisting students who need help finding something, and straightening the library. In addition to Mr. Hanes, Mr. Morgan is also a part-time Librarian. But despite the time they put in, the library could not stay open without Library Aids.

LIBRARY AIDS

F.H.A.

Future Homemakers of America, FHA, is a national organization that is devoted to performing community service projects. The group consists of both boys and girls who attend vocational classes. They have completed many service projects, including giving 150 mums to ladies in local nursing homes, holding a fashion show for nursing home residents, and also making various crafts for the residents. Future projects include participating in a Rock and Roll Jamboree for the Heart Association. To raise money, the students sold litter baskets and Christmas bell ornaments. Annually selected FHA members travel to Columbus for a meeting to discuss the organization and learn new things. FHA is a good opportunity for students to get involved in helping the community.

300 FLYING FINGERS

Business Club members are a vital part of Madison High School in that they sponsor fund-raising projects to raise money to purchase equipment for the business classrooms.

They are also life-savers as far as many teachers are concerned. Their steno and typing skills have helped out many a harried teacher at the last minute.

AUDIO-VISUAL DEPARTMENT

The A-V department performs system-wide functions from the elementary buildings to the football field, from assisting community based groups to broadcasting live television shows such as graduation. Students that maintain good grade standing are excused from study halls to work in the A-V Department. They deliver, operate, and in general assist the staff with the A-V equipment and materials.

In the area of television, the students are trained to video-tape programs using television cameras, recording checks, monitors, and the console.

UNTIL THE BELL DO US PART . . .

1. Lighting the candle of unity with their individual candles, the bride and groom, Donna Eddy and Kevin Coleman, become as one.

2. The bride and groom carry on the tradition of feeding one another at the reception in the chorus room.

3. Everyone listens intently as the Reverend ties the final knot.

FASHIONS?

As time passes by, it seems people find the most ridiculous ways of dressing themselves.

First we were bombarded with the Preppies, with their bright clashing colors. Now, a punk craze obsesses our young generation. Wild, fly-away hair-does and crazy stripes make up the apparel of a punker.

4. Jodi Pirc looks questioningly at Leslie Sill as if to say "Are you joking???"

5. Julie Ransom, Connie Manypenny, and Rae Laufenberger pose as "PUNKERS".

MOCK WEDDING

Donna Eddy was married to Kevin Coleman this year! Don't worry, it's only make-believe. Each semester, the Marriage and Family class experiences a real wedding ceremony. Under the supervision of Mrs. Bev Lee and Mr. James Dolan, different types of ceremonies are studied and one is chosen to be enacted. After the study of sex, family roles, responsibilities, and problems which may occur, a preacher performs the ceremony. The ceremony is conducted exactly like a real wedding. Every student participates in some way. After the wedding, the bridal party invites the entire class to a bountiful reception with punch, cake, and pot-luck munchies.

I'M DREAMING OF A GREEN CHRISTMAS . . .

1. Mitch Schultz and Mike Woodworth help decorate their senior Christmas tree.
2. Santa's helpers, Steve Paratto, misses the snow at the North Pole, but Junior Elf, Dave Rowan, is enjoying the weather.
3. Some seniors enjoy decorating the courtyard Christmas tree as a tradition to their last year.

Every year it is the duty of the senior class to provide the school with a Christmas tree. It resides in the courtyard and is decorated by the senior class. After a few false starts, this year's class provided a beautiful tree for the occasion. We would like to thank all parties involved, and we hope that the tradition will continue. It is a great way to show school spirit as well as to provide Christmas cheer.

But if I do, don't pity me at all.

"Friendship Pins"

One of this year's fun-filled fads was the exchanging of friendship pins. This fad started in the middle schools and was brought up and carried on by the Freshmen. It spread from the Freshmen on up, and soon everyone was wearing safety pins with little colored beads on them. Friends gave them to one another as tokens of their friendship. They wore them on their shoes, jackets, or just about anywhere! The more pins they got, the more friends they had. Of course, fads like friendship pins won't always be around, but friends will.

We Were Told . . .

Where is that pencil sharpener when your pencil breaks in the middle of a big test? We're told new sharpeners were ordered. They must have gotten lost in the mail. Where is that clock that works when your stomach is telling you to go to lunch? The reason must be because we don't use Duracell batteries in them. Where did all the chairs disappear to in the cafeteria? The chair Burglar strikes again?? Where are all the spoons when you come late to lunch and you're in a hurry? We're told that a new shipment came in awhile ago, but somebody keeps throwing them in the garbage can. Where is that working candy machine when you're having a snack attack? We don't find out that it doesn't work until we lose our money in it. Where is the A-V equipment that really works? Did it disappear after it rolled into the elevator? Where is that locker that doesn't get jammed when you're late for the bus? Where is the only part of this high school that hasn't been vandalized in some way? Yes, we students are responsible for this problem, and we as a whole should try to strive towards a solution for these problems.

1. The Madison Freshman Football Team (not pictured: Buddy Ransom)

Freshman teams had a good year, but the freshman basketball team is one of the best teams Madison has ever had. Being so good takes a lot of hard work, long practices, cooperation on the part of the team members, and the coach, Mr. Jack Austen. Like most teams, the season started out relatively slow and noticeably improved, especially the defense. The freshmen hold a record of 12-1, and to everyone's amazement, they won the N.E.C. championship. This is the first year that the freshman team has ever won. They've made the school very proud of them. They were also a part of the Invitational tournament games at Jefferson. Some important players on the team were John Josza, rebound, Benji Kriegmont, scorer, and Mike Martin, defense. Every boy has been a starter in at least one game. Coach Austen feels very strongly that every boy has a chance of making the J. V. team next year.

2. Freshman football takes a break at the half.

3. Freshman football players start to stretch out before the game.

4. Mike Martin hands off as the Freshmen go on the attack.

5. A Madison Blue Streak intercepts a pass against St. John.

6. Freshman wrestlers and coach: Mr. Rex Reigert, Scott Stewart, Mark Manis, Jeff Haase, Joe Congrove, Buddy Ransom, Chris Sprague, Andy Spaulding, Jim Myers, Floyd Bushnell, Dennis Quayle, Larry Eland, Dave Eland, Doug Soulsby, Mark Dobbins, Danny Snyder, Scott Morgan, John Wetzel

The freshman wrestling team had a fine 1982-83 season. The team consisted of nineteen boys, with only one injury. One high point of the season was the match against Lake Catholic. Madison's efforts paid off and they defeated the Cougars 34-31 for the first time in four years. In the Mentor Shore Tournament, the team finished six out of eight. Placing second were Buddy Ransom at 90 pounds and John Wetzel at 138 pounds. Chris Sprague placed third at 100 pounds and Scott Morgan came in fourth at 132 pounds. The team as a whole fared well at the Streetsborough Tournament, finishing six out of sixteen. Buddy Ransom and Mark Dobbins both placed second, and Chris Sprague came in third. Placing fourth were Jeff Haase, Larry Eland and Scott Stewart. The team topped off the season at the St. Edward's President's Day Tournament.

Coach Rex Reigert feels that the freshman wrestling team is valuable in preparing young wrestlers for the competition they will face as they advance. He says, "The program is designed to provide a wide base of wrestling and tournament experience."

Teachers and Students Both Get Rowdy At Homecoming Pep Assembly

It all started with the students' grumblings. Students consistently complained that all the pep assemblies were boring and always the same. Consequently, Mr. Greenwald and Mr. Snyder decided to do something about this. They chose six teachers with a flair for the bizarre and played some sleazy music. The results were Katrina Snyder, Michelle Haines, Willamena "Boom-Boom" Hance, Joanna Loeffel, Katy Jo Morgan, and Jamie Lee Pelich. The winner, who was picked by the audience and who was rewarded with a pie in the face, was Wilamena "Boom-Boom" Hance. The assembly was a huge success! It riled up the students and gave everyone a chance to see teachers in different light.

STUDENTS REAR BACK WITH WILD HORSES

The 1982 Homecoming, sponsored by the senior class, was a huge success. It was held in the cafeteria and was decorated to the theme of "Yesterday". The dance floor was always full of dancers with Wild Horses providing the music. The highlight of the evening was the crowning of the Homecoming Queen, Cathy Galvin. All in all, everyone had a wild time!

- 1) Homecoming queen Cathy Galvin and her date Vance Freeman walk to the dance floor after the crowning.
- 2) Dawn Malkowsky appears to be enjoying herself.
- 3) Rob Snyder and Jodi Myers enjoy a dance to Wild Horses.

THE QUEEN

The five girls stood across the football field while the band behind played "We've Only Just Begun". Helen Conrad, Cathy Galvin, Gina Gauntner, Linda Notte, and Jenny Rowe stood with their parents, waiting to hear who won the prestigious title of Homecoming Queen. The winner was Cathy Galvin! She received her flowers and she and the other girls boarded the float resembling a yellow submarine. The float was made by a committee at Anne Bassler's house. Local merchants provided the supplies. It was another of Madison High's beautiful memories to cherish.

LEFTY LIGHTS UP HOLLYWOOD NIGHTS

A very special and exciting event to all Juniors and Seniors is Prom! It's a night when they can be formal and still have a good time. The 1982 Prom was held at the Thunder Hill Country Club. The Juniors had a banquet and dance following the themes "Stairway to Heaven" and "Hollywood Nights". The success of the evening was the band, "Lefty". The dance floor was filled the whole night, proving that everyone had a great time.

Every year traditionally there is a prom King and Queen chosen by the Seniors, and this year the honored couple was Doug Foote and Debbie Zehe. Although the weather was rainy, it couldn't cloud over the students' hopes of a good time. Prom will hold pleasant memories for many, memories to cherish the rest of their lives.

WE DEDICATE THIS BOOK TO MR. KEN HEICHEL

Dedicated, hard-working and compassionate teachers inspire students and colleagues alike, and Mr. Heichel is no exception. The only art teacher at Madison High School, his responsibilities are unending. Various organizations that know of his talent request Mr. Heichel to design advertisements, and he is the talent behind the art backgrounds at each commencement ceremony.

Mr. Heichel has been in the teaching profession at Madison since 1956, and twenty-six of these years he has served as Yearbook Advisor. Although he had never worked on a yearbook when first requested to be the advisor, he later accumulated many hours of work and experience when he attended various yearbook workshops. His artistic ability evidently helped him to excel in this area because he was soon asked to teach at the Yearbook Workshop offered by Ohio University in Athens, Ohio. For many summers thereafter, he traveled to Athens to share his skill and expertise by teaching other yearbook advisors.

Mr. Heichel was the founding force behind the development of the art curriculum established at Madison High in the 1950's, and has been, since he established his residence in Madison, a strong advocate of the arts and humanities in our community. He has also contributed a great deal in the development of the annual art show of Madison Schools.

Besides teaching art, Mr. Heichel has a deep interest in architecture and beauty, as is evident in the home in which he resides with his wife, Ellie, and four children. Not only did he design the home, but a beautiful Japanese garden graces their backyard.

On a more personal level, Mr. Heichel is a compassionate person dedicated to helping his students pursue their artistic endeavors in post-high school education. Many of his students have gone on to study art in top-notch schools of art. Always available for advice on anything, he maintains his sense of humor even when he is angry. Mr. Heichel is a true professional in every sense of the word.

Thank-you, Mr. Heichel, for your friendship and help. We wish you the best of luck always!

SENIORS GRADUATING WITH HONORS

A number of Madison students have earned, through hard work and diligent studying, a 3.5 and above grade point average. These students are honored at an awards banquet each spring with certificates, trophies and plaques that attest to their achievements. The purpose of education is sometimes forgotten in the daily grind of practices, due dates for projects and socializing, but these honor students have excelled in their academic pursuits despite these diversions and have shown what can be accomplished. Their achievements serve as an example for all students.

We, the Honor Students of the Class of '83, being of sound minds and bodies, hereby leave the following: To Mrs. Sampson, an all-expenses paid cruise to Barbados and a year's supply of fish; To Mr. Loeffel, a lifetime supply of Picket Sign material; may he demonstrate for years to come; To Mr. Delp, a copy of the film "Death of Lincoln" shown in reverse; To Miss Jackson, the rubber chicken which opened many a National Honor Society Meeting; to Mr. McIntyre, a new collection of Phrases.

THEY'VE HIT THE BIG TIME NOW!

Each fall, a package of sample questions is sent to area schools. Any student interested in trying out for the Academic Challenge team then is given the questions. From this open response, five or six students are chosen to represent Madison on Academic Challenge. Throughout the year, correct answers are totalled in practices, and those students with the highest points participate on the program in competition with area high schools. At the time of this printing, Madison had plans to compete in March for the prize of a set of encyclopedias for the school. We wish the team all the luck in this competition.

TESTS, TESTS, AND MORE TESTS . . . .

The leading seniors in the American Legion Boys' State test: Ken Malinowski, Dave Shumaker, and John Teleha

Each year, the American Legion Post sends students to a state college in Ohio to participate in Boys' State, a simulation of the state and local political systems. Students attending run for political office after conducting realistic campaigns. The experience helps to familiarize the student with the processes involved in a democratic society.

This year, Boys' State was held for fifteen days at Bowling Green University and was attended by approximately 1300 students. John Teleha, one of Madison's delegates, felt it was an excellent experience, but it convinced him that he did not want to enter politics as a career.

I . . . BEING OF SOUND MIND

I . . . Jeff Askew, leave to Mr. Sater the yelling and mischievous acts performed by Mark Reed

I . . . Kathy Acerra, leave Keith Marius all the 1982-1983 snow days for skiing expeditions. I also leave my fetal pig for possible hanging in the courtyard.

I . . . Craig Alexander leave my locker to a Freshman who knows how to blow it up!

I . . . Kathy Alexander leave to my sister, Bobbi, my slippery shoes that are best used for getting off the bus and into the school in a hurry. I also leave her my brains since I won't be needing them after I'm out.

I . . . Mark Andresen leave to my sister all my school notes so she doesn't have a tough time in her senior year like I did.

I . . . Bill Andrews leave my locker which didn't give me any trouble for five years.

I . . . Pam Baxter, leave my locker and books to my brother and all the other problems that go along with school.

I . . . Chris Beal, leave all of my early dismissals to Scott Carter who always likes to leave school early.

I . . . Barbara Bennett, leave Kym Peck my patience; Mary Beth Dollar my hair brush; Marsha Wallace my chemistry log book notes; Ms. Eaglen my humor to withstand the Drama Club; and to everyone I have met and known my smiles and laughter.

I . . . Steve Bittner, leave all of my belongings to Rita Bocklett, including all of my old high school books and notes

I . . . Jackie Blair leave my sister, Michelle, all my charm and argumentative abilities so that she may make all the teachers suffer just as I have.

I . . . Sheri Blystone, leave my perfect attendance in American Literature.

I . . . Dave Boggs, leave my locker and my books to the next year's class.

I . . . Melissa Bortz, leave my apologies to Russ Howard.

I . . . Pam Bouvia leave nothing but my books and friends and a few dent marks on some lockers.

I . . . Rich Brady leave to Jeff Whitehair all (or what little I had) of my football abilities in hopes that he will get to use them more than (and better than) I did. I also hope Larry Hall can use his abilities.

I . . . John Brichford leave all my socks to Mr. Angle, since he has none.

I . . . Bill Brueggeman leave Rob and to everyone some of the good times.

I . . . David Buby leave my empty locker to Mr. Sweesey.

I . . . Ron Burke leave my album collection consisting of everything from the Beatles to Black Sabbath; I also leave my weiner dog Otis and my personal collectables as a memorandum of my twelve years in Madison Schools.

I . . . Donna Broberg leave to my brother, Adam, my collection of party bottles. Cheers kid! And have a good one! And to Sharon Swartzwelder all of our memories and good times. And to my sisters Debra and Dianna my favorite fingernail polish remover bottle.

I . . . Harold Cattell leave my locker, which didn't work half the time, and lots of luck to the upcoming seniors.

I . . . Nancy Collingwood leave Dawn Custer the ability to keep dark secrets quiet.

I . . . Mike Cobb leave the Varsity goalie position to anyone who is capable to fill that position in soccer. P.S. Thanks to Mr. Delp and the rest of the soccer team!

I . . . Kim Conley leave my Spanish speaking abilities to Teri Eland, my ability to make people laugh to Janet Fulton, and all of my Junior tests to Cathy Clark. To Stacy Bobo I leave my senior teachers and my ability to get out of trouble.

I . . . Marty Conner leave all my bald tires to Madison High, and all my used transmission and motor oil to Vo-Ed.

I . . . Julie Cornell leave Marsha Adams all of my great jokes, my practical jokes on all of my other teammates and my use of vocabulary towards opponents.

I . . . Mark Cox leave my Chemistry log book to Mr. Mallick's future classes.

I . . . Marian Danowski leave my locker to some freshmen, I leave to the teachers memories of the good and the bad.

I . . . Karen Davis leave to my brother, Rick, all my full schedules and sleepless nights. I leave all my teachers wonderful memories of me.

I . . . Steve Dempsey leave my copy of (Life, The Universe, and Everything) to whoever has the courage to read it.

I . . . John S. Dobbins leave my great ability to party to all the juniors, and all my thanks to all the teachers for letting me get out of here!

I . . . Martha Dodge leave Jeff Askew my talented driving abilities.

I . . . Mary Donlin leave my baby sister, Kris, the ability to talk her way out of trouble and through tests.

I . . . Kevin A. Downs leave to Eric Winfield, the throne; to Patty Jerome, my sarcastic behavior; and to Mr. Acerra, Bo.

I . . . Terri Ebbert leave my sister my locker, good grades, and ways to skip Am. History without being caught.

I . . . Todd Ecolani, leave the Junior Auto Body class all of Mr. Concoby's cockamany stories about his GTO and Arctic Cat snowmobile.

AND BODY HEREBY . . .

I . . . Shawn Farrell leave all my old books at the school and my name in a few spots. I also leave an empty locker for some short freshman and my name on the minds of all.

I . . . Scott Andrew Fassett leave Madison High School all my concert shirts and ticket stubs. I also leave all my sports books.

I . . . Laurie Fede leave Gerri Collins more room in the locker for Carmine's notes. And to my favorite cuz Kristie Congrove I leave all my excuses for cutting classes. (Good Luck!)

I . . . Kelly Field leave Jim Styles my ability to make people smile, plus all the success that I have had in my four years of high school.

I . . . Steve Frania leave my brains and great personality. I also leave my coolness to all the guys in the school in hopes that they'll use it as well as I did.

I . . . Vance Freeman leave Rob Cone a vacant locker for one extra semester. "Good luck".

I . . . Mike Frye leave to the highest bidder my demerits and other school records, my school books and locker.

I . . . Kim Galloway leave to Wendy Malkowski my grades, the garbage in my locker, and the intelligence to leave whenever she feels like it.

I . . . Beth Garbark leave all the brooms and dust pans to Mr. Sweesy.

I . . . Joan Gasper leave this school.

I . . . Gina M. Gauntner leave Dawn Custer all the strength in the world to smile and forget things when you're down and out; to Butch Dodson, a new Timex to replace his father's, and to Joey Sines all the trust you can develop in Lisa; to Kelly Barnes many more North Football Trips.

I . . . Dawn Gibson leave Melissa Rigo my fuzzy boots.

I . . . Mary Grant leave my locker to the next freshman, sophomores and juniors. Remember the combination is not right.

I . . . Vim Glump leave my collection of tree bark and acorns to Bryan Frania.

I . . . Rick Halpin leave all my Alice Cooper albums to Mr. Leitch.

I . . . Dan Harrison leave all my copies of (Marine Monthly and Weights Illus) to Mike Wilson.

I . . . Jeanne Hart leave all of my "good" qualities to my sister Pam, since she needs all the help she can get.

I . . . Terri Harford leave to Debbie Hill my wit and charm.

I . . . Kim Heckman leave Kim Humberson, Maureen Quall and Barb Pettit my ability to skip, forge passes, and get away with it most of the time. I leave Mr. Sater my brother next year.

I . . . Eric Heichel leave my great running abilities to Brent Repinski, my great muscles to Mr. Snyder.

I . . . Brenda Hill leave my sister Debbie and her freshman friends a wonderful time in the following years in Madison High.

I . . . Tammie Hoffacker leave my sister all my charm, and give her all the teachers who don't like me so they can give her a hard time.

I . . . Kim Hull leave Roz Ruland all the "fuzz" during track season and another dull year in this school

I . . . Anne Hummel leave my sister Macrina Hummel all the help she needs in any of the classes I ever got an A in.

I . . . Mike Hunt leave all the women to other guys and a kiss on the end of their cheeks. I also leave everything in its place and a thought on every teacher's mind.

I . . . Mary Jo Incorvati leave all my writing abilities to my sister, Michelle; my chemistry log book to my sister, Lisa, and all my love to Dennis.

I . . . Rob Jefferson leave to Mr. Pavesich's future classes all my excuses; to Paul Steele the garbage can in the corner; and to Pat Miller, one last "AAAAAAHHHHHHHHhhhh-SPLAT!".

I . . . Toni Julius leave to all my friends, wishes for the best in life. Continue on!

I . . . Perry Kelly leave the message that this school is all right. I'm glad that they let me back in!

I . . . John Kerr leave my demerits to whoever wants them, and my book on rotten deeds to the craziest person in the school.

I . . . Patty Kessler leave to "Splat" Miller all my extra credits.

I . . . Kris Kettlewood leave to Adam Stephens my position as period leader during second period A.-V.; all my Physics notes and homework to any underclassman who is foolish enough to take it but still wants to sleep in class and pass.

I . . . Debbie Kuklinski leave an all-expense-paid trip to Barbados for three to Mrs. Sampson; my job to Terri Baker; and my clipboards to Amy, Jenny, and Kris.

I . . . Carol Livingstone leave to Debbie Hill my seat in the student center, and to Troy Livingstone, all my nick-names I have had from Livingstone.

I . . . Karen Locke leave Madison High School, never to return again!

I . . . Marie Lovejoy leave to Cathy Chakerelis all the good luck she can acquire.

I . . . Steve Lowthian leave all my school and personal belongings to all my friends.

I . . . Melissa Lupton leave Pat Miller happiness and lots of luck.

I . . . Jeannette Kathryn Mahany leave to Neva, my ability to knock over a single bowling pin in each frame; to Mary, my ability to scare away night prowlers the hard way; to Anna, all our many high school memories that are either too crazy, humiliating, or tear-jerking to mention in so few words; to all the underclassmen by our lockers, many days of jammed lockers when they're late for class.

I... Jerry Marinella leave absolutely nothing, because my possessions are an absolute necessity that I cannot do without. Sorry.

I... Ken McNulty take with me everything I have acquired because no one in this school is deserving enough to receive and honor these belongings. Sorry people.

I... Dolly Medvec, leave to my brother Barron the ability to not have such a hot temper over minor things.

I... Patrick Miller leave all my worldly possessions consisting of the following to my pet turtle my stereo, all my albums, lifetime supply of turtle food and my JC Penny Deluxe alarm clock radio.

I... Bill Mitrovich leave to Les Ebbert my Volkswagon Remains; to Kelly McGannon, my "Little Bear"; to Warren Pugh, all of my Hot Rod magazines, and last but not least to the staff of Madison High, THANKS!

I... Steven Molnar leave to Mr. Loeffel, my detailed plans for a breeder reactor and a case of Skoal; to Mr. Winfield, my still, all my acquired glassware and the ability to cope with two more Physic's students like Jim and I; to Mr. Leitch, all my excuses for being absent; and to Debbie Russell, all my English, History and Gov't. notes.

I... Fred Moore leave all my worldly possessions, which consist of a bubble gum wrapper, a toothpick, three life-savers, half a cigar (unsmoked) a 27 cent chili dog, a melted snickers bar and the intestine of a frog from the Biology department, to all the teachers.

I... Ethel Nash leave to all the teachers who had us the peace and quiet of not having any Nashes for at least 10 more years, and to Alisa Hefflin the patience to put up with Herr for another year. (I know you can hang in there!)

I... Earl Nicholas leave the yearbook, its headaches, long hours, blame and frustrations to Julie Ransom if she is dumb enough to be editor next year. I will, however, retain whatever credit for the good things, my insanity and head-start on the lynching mob. Also, to Joe Acerra I leave more good times in band than he can ever imagine.

I... Anna Owens leave Laurie Musser my place as the Volleyball Stat, if she wants it; to Jeannette Mahany more good times along with the crazy; to Neva Quickle more August 8 ths; and to Mary Grant the good luck to succeed at Wilma Boyd.

I... Dianne Owoc leave Kevin Coleman all our great times and songs. To Lori, I leave a joke. To everyone else I leave the good times and many great years ahead.

I... Michelle Parker leave my exciting classes(?) and my small overloaded locker to the not-so-fortunate, and my history notes, Chemistry folder and English essays to the lucky people that have these fun subjects yet to pass.

I... Karen Perish leave Michele Soltis, my dear cousin, my favorite English teacher Miss Jackson. Have a good time! Just tell her that you're my cousin and she'll pass you.

I... Richard Persinger leave Madison High with absolutely nothing because I do not have anything to give except my athletic equipment.

I... Pat Plourde leave to Miss Jackson all my great excuses to miss her class, and I leave Missy Paulin all my artistic abilities because she needs them.

I... Karen Powell leave my locker full of British Lit. and Gov't notes to my sister Jackie; to my brother Eddie my good influence on some of the teachers

I... Neva Dawn Quickle leave to Anna Owens the ability to break curfew on August 8 th and to more good times; To Jeannette Mahany, my ability to expose unexposed paper in Photography and more crazy times, and to Mary Grant the good luck to succeed in the future.

I... Tammy Reese leave my cousins Amy and Jenny all the good times I had at Madison High School.

I... Kim Rice leave the memories of all the fun times we had in English 3 Honors with Mrs. Sampson. Remember the fish and Barbados.

I... Coni Riel leave all my Biology notes in all three lockers to Mindy Kerns and Wendy Malkowsky.

I... Tina Roper leave Mr. Deering's Pot Class to Fran Roper and my sister Fran to Johnny Hathaway.

I... Jenny Rowe, being of sound mind and body, hereby leave my rah-rah uniform to Mr. and Mrs. Pavesich.

I... Andrea Rysko leave my albums to Kelly and my cat (Jon).

I... Lisa Saari leave my well-known locker to my buddy, Smurf.

I... Beth Sanford, leave my great personality and M&M's to Melissa Smart, and my carefully dissected fetal pig to Patti PerDue.

I... Jeff Satterfield leave my artistic talents to Mr. Heichel, my paint brush to Julie Ransom, and my sense of humor to Mark Swanson.

I... Steve Schmitt leave the right for all classes to rebel against my provisions brought over them by the Madison Local School District.

I... Tom Schnaible leave my unexcused tardies to the freshmen and all my cantankerous pranks to the juniors.

I... Lisa Schubert leave to Miss Jackson every Luke Spencer item I have for her to keep and cherish as I did.

I... Kathy Scott leave all my excuses and books to Tonya Horvath.

I... Demo Shaw leave my girlfriends to Lyle Airwyke, my talent to talk to Kim Dixon, my knowledge to Floyd Bushnell, my Worn-out tennis shoes to Matt Eberly, my sports knowledge to Mr. Kovats, and my brother to Mr. Sater.

I... Tim Sizemore leave my locker to any human capable of fulfilling the requirements of protecting and honoring it during war and peace and grand arsonists. I also render my ring to any girl of sound mind and body to protect and honor during my absence.

I... Jeff Sladek leave my worldly possessions to Madison High School, which isn't much, because M.H.S. was my home away from home.

I . . . Dave Smetters leave to Mr. Hance my camel-hair nostril brush from the Masada; to Mr. Sater I leave my book Empty Promises, by Kev Snids; to Ms. Bowman, I leave my "Bumblebee" record being hummed at B flat; and to Mrs. Sampson, I leave my engraving of the ninth commandment.

I . . . Lori Snook leave to Doug Brown my Lee Overalls and Nike Tennis Shoes.

I . . . Danielle Snyder leave my books, my paper, my locker, my experiences and all my boy friends to my friends, underclassmen and teachers.

I . . . Dave Solinsky leave my permanent log book to any Junior in need.

I . . . Lisa Soltis leave all of my wonderful and exciting books and history notes to my sister. I will also leave my Chemistry log book to Mr. Mallick and leave all my compositions to the people who will have Mr. Pavesich.

I . . . George Spaid leave all my locker remains to Robby Johnson. He is to receive any loose objects and erect a Memorium of me, representing me. My locker I would request go to the best-looking female freshman coming new into the school next year.

I . . . Jon Sprague leave Mike Wilson my great running ability, to Mrs. Sampson, my great spelling ability and to the rest of the school my fabulous personality. I also leave Mr. Strother one of my patented sub 15-minute cross country races. And to Mr. Sater and Mr. Leitch four days suspension. Finally, I would like to buy and leave Mr. Snyder a Madison jacket.

I . . . Mel Stansak leave my locker and all other belongings to my best friend Rob Cone since he will be returning next year.

I . . . Nancy Stillwell leave my brother Jon to Margaret Getch.

I . . . Nick Stincic leave my umbrella, my micky mouse pen and pencil school box set and my Mork and Mindy card collection.

I . . . Joann Stocklas leave my brother all my excuses that I gave to Mr. Sater and Mr. Leitch about why I wasn't in fifth period studyhall, and to Keith I leave my locker.

I . . . Tina Strohm leave to Alisa Heflin my ability to put up with Herr for one more year and my so called "bad back". To T.J., I leave my secret of talking in studyhall without being caught. ( well . . . Maybe just once.)

I . . . Diana Tamborski leave Chris Oros all my good times in high school and a summer even better than last to kick off her Senior year.

I . . . Todd Teeter leave to M.H.S., my locker and all my books and the pride of knowing they knew a man who was determined and willing to try his best at grades, sports and everything else in between.

I . . . John C. Teleha leave to Mr. Loeffel and Co. the Blue Prints to a lead-lined bomb shelter (May they pass their remaining years in Paranoidic peace). To Mr. Acerra I leave a Collection of Marching Band Music from my freshman, sophomore and senior years (Junior year music is still buried somewhere in my bed room); to Eric Winfield I leave my Silver - Chrome tel-toms and the ability to take his way through any routine. Last and not least, I leave to my sister the Academic reputation I have achieved; may her teachers expect from her all they received from me.

I . . . Marie Townsend leave to the future seniors the ability to set their goals high and strive to accomplish them. Reach for a star, Seniors!

I . . . Sandy Cooke leave all my fun in Marching/Symphonic band to the following people: Peggy Coffman, Becky Upole, Lisa Palagy, Tina Sisteck, Connie Proud, Margaret Layman, Michelle Gerred, Chris Kovats, and Robin Stauffer. I also leave my caved-in locker to some unfortunate freshman who will have to put up with it.

I . . . Dale VERNYI leave to Toni Zimcosky the task of keeping our insignia alive and noticed, my locker, and my love. To my brother Mark, I leave the care of my goldfish and Ricky.

I . . . Paul B. Vrtacnik leave to Frank Mayer my wit, charm, and all around sex appeal.

I . . . Deedee Ward leave to Miss Phillips the patience to put up with her upcoming squads.

I . . . Denise Warner leave to my little sister, Dawn, the lunch in the bottom of my locker that has been there since my freshman year.

I . . . Dave Weber leave the knowledge to out-manuever Mr. Sater when the time arises.

I . . . Toni Williams leave to my brother, Ric, my iron-on copy of Mom's signature and my all-occasion collection of excuses.

I . . . Alicia Wyatt leave to Mrs. Delong my commercial, and to others the will to go on.

I . . . Teresa Ann Wyatt leave to everyone my brains and sense of humor. I leave Miss Phillips lots of luck breaking in a new manager for the softball team. To all her students I leave Mr. Leitch and Miss Jackson. Good Luck, everyone!

I . . . Dennis Yard leave all my love to Mary Jo Incorvati.

I . . . Doug Yard leave Dennis to Mary Jo, and a piece of mind to Jeff Sladek.

I . . . Tracy Yoe leave Michael Mills all my notes, homework, and tests, and lots of love; to Kelly and Steve Yoe, lots of luck in finishing their remaining years here; to Kevin Coleman, my friendship; to Mary Boles, my bells from band.

"Get To Work, You Turkeys!"

LETTER FROM THE EDITOR:

I'd like to thank my staff for putting out 110 percent when necessary. I would also like to thank many teachers, coaches, and janitors, as well those in the office who have gone out of their way to make our job easier. As you have noticed, many things about the yearbook have changed after all the problems and complaints last year. Now, before anyone complains this year, I would like to explain some of the limitations of yearbook so no one wastes his time complaining about what cannot be changed.

Madison has a spring book, and as such we have to send the last of our materials to the printer the last of February. Since this is the case, of course we cannot get anything in the book about this year's spring sports or prom, so these items will go in next year's book. The only way to avoid this is to get the yearbooks back in September.

Another big problem the yearbook has is that the staff cannot cover activities it doesn't know are taking place, and being told by someone the day before doesn't help either. With a little patience and help from everyone, Madison will soon have one of the best yearbooks in the state, especially after seeing the enormous progress which was made this year.

In closing, I would like to thank a few people: Mr. Martin, for the new room and all the other favors; Mrs. Bangerter, for being our adviser even if she didn't have to; Steve and Pat for taking care of finances; Julie, for the enthusiasm and drive; Neva and Jeannette for typing most of the book; Mel and Kathy for the goofy pictures; Beth, Rae, Jackie, Teresa and Jeff for picking up the odds and ends; Nancy and Cheryl for the cartoons; Debbie, Doug, Kelli, Sheri, Alisa, Carry and Lisa for the great copy; and of course our photographer, Mr. Smith, for the extra help. A special thanks goes to Tony Ciammaichella, who wrote emergency copy for us.

Well, I hope I remembered everybody because without them there wouldn't have been a book this year. By the way, there are no limitations on making yearbooks except for cost and imagination. In twenty years, when you pull out this book, I hope you like it because that is its whole purpose. Good-bye and good luck!
Earl Nicholas
