OUR MEMORIES WILL SURVIVE A LIFETIME

It has been a year to remember and one that will live on in our memories as we look back from the future. This was the year when Lech Walesa won the Nobel Peace Prize, and Marshall law was eased up in Poland. Americans showed their pride by becoming outraged when Russians shot down a commercial airliner with American passengers on board, and in Lebanon, a terrorist-suicide truck carrying a ton of TNT drove into an American barracks and killed approximately 225 United States soldiers. The threat of war loomed large as the Americans invaded Granada. In sports, the Washington Redskins won the Super Bowl, and the Phillies took the World Series. While it wasn't exactly a "banner" year for the Indians and the Browns, there's always next year. It was the year when James Watt denounced the Beach Boys and then several months later resigned from office. Sally Ride brought women into space as she became the first female astronaut. Death brought its dark hand into our lives by depriving us of Lillian Carter, Jessica Savitch, Frank Reynolds, and Marty Feldman. The Who gave their final concert, Simon and Garfunkel reunited for a tour, and MTV videos were all the rage. Gandhi, Return of the Jedi, Flashdance, and Risky Business became the movies to see this year. However you look back on this year from the future, we hope that you'll remember it for the special memories at Madison High that are captured on the following pages.

2. Jim Coca deviously sneaks into the picture between Dana Sadler and Jackie DeShance.

5. Finally, our Bleacher Creatures are back.

6. Bleacher Creatures raid the stands.

7. Football players crash through the banner before defeating Conneaut.

8. The yearbook staff of 1984 presents the Cauldron.

9. Mr. Sater and Tom Potti "bearly" ever miss a chance to get their pictures taken.

FRIENDSHIP MAKES THE WORLD GO 'ROUND

There are many things that make up a special friend. A big part of friendship is sharing secrets. Friends usually spend most of their time together going out and having fun. Knowing that someone's shoulder is always there is very important to a relationship. Friends also have to trust one another in order to keep their friendship alive. Friendships create many lasting memories.

1. Dancing the night away at the 1983 Junior-Senior prom are Dave Rowan and Steve Paratto.

2. Friends do many crazy things at German Camp . . . . including the Bunny Hop!

3. Posing for the camera after the Language Fair, Cheryl Wainio and Marcy Schmidt show us their matching dresses.

4. Getting ready for the pep assembly are Chris Frisbee, Keith Marius, Julie Ransom, Rose Bohinc, and Connie Manypenny.

5. Amused at their own appearance, Cindy Gauntner and Sally Ditchcreek give us a smile.

6. Exchanging quick glances at a Friday night football game are Glenn Reichenbach and Todd Braunlich.

7. A Friend is always there for a person to lean on.

8. Smiling brightly because of their long- lasting friendship are Brenda Fahey and Robin Decker.

9. Two new Girls' Club members for 1983, Michele Chandler and Debbie Travis, pose for the camera.

SUNNY SPORTS SHINE AT MADISON HIGH

You have just flunked a chemistry exam, your locker wouldn't open, the boss yelled at you, the person whom you thought you had a date with didn't work out, and now you bumped into the wall that has just been painted and ruined your new shirt. Suddenly, you stop and smile. You have just seen one of the many bright, warm, and sunny visions of people scattered throughout Madison High. Whether it is a pep assembly where the football players are dressed up as cheerleaders or in class where someone has just made a funny joke or even when someone has flashed a stunning mouthful of pearly whites your way, you can always count on being picked up when you're bummed out.

1. Charging across the gym floor during the Geneva Pep Assembly are Chris Carabotta and Mike Mills as Bleacher Creatures.

2. Showing Dave Kahley what's wrong on the computer screen is Lisa Becker.

3. Colorful artwork on the high school walls brings life to Madison High School.

4. Waiting to be announced at parents' night are three of our outgoing majorettes with their parents.

5. Wondering what to do, Craig Utt, a cheerleader at the Geneva Pep Assembly, consults Mr. Greenwald.

6. Posing for a picture on hat night for seniors is Doug Fraley with his cowboy hat and cane.

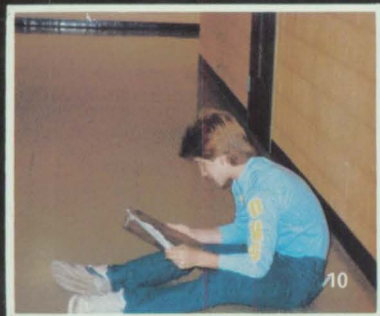

7. Taking a break from Drama Club practices are Dana Hudec, Dave Hubbard, Mark Swanson, and Doug Brown.

8. Laughing, Walt Spaulding sits on the bench before the game while awaiting a victory.

9. Waiting for her piece of pizza is Lori Baker at the Girls' Cross Country party.

10. Bob Garbark snatches a quiet moment to study outside of science class.

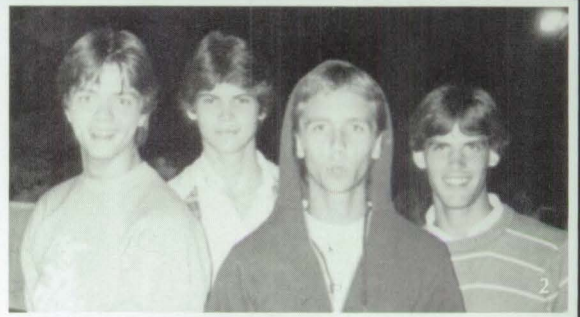

11. Mr. Delp's A.P. History class takes a break to smile for the camera.

PHOTOGRAPHER CATCHES EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

Everyone has an embarrassing moment in his life, but some students at Madison High get caught in the wierdest positions. The photographer catches everyone, including the teachers, during some of the most embarrassing times of their lives at M.H.S. Whether it's a pie in the face, a movie that the projector didn't like, or a tweaked nose, the camera sees all and makes everyone blush.

1. At the Madison Yankee Doodle Days, Bob Baker is caught looking at something he shouldn't be looking at!

2. Taking a break while watching a football game, Mark Swanson, Glenn Orris, Rick English and Mark Paquin make some obscene faces to some spectators.

3. Helping out at the Madison Marching Band Booth at Yankee Doodle Days, Tammy Chaffee eagerly awaits the arrival of a water-soaked sponge.

4. Benji Kriegmont is embarrassed when he finds out that his girlfriend's lipstick is still on his face.

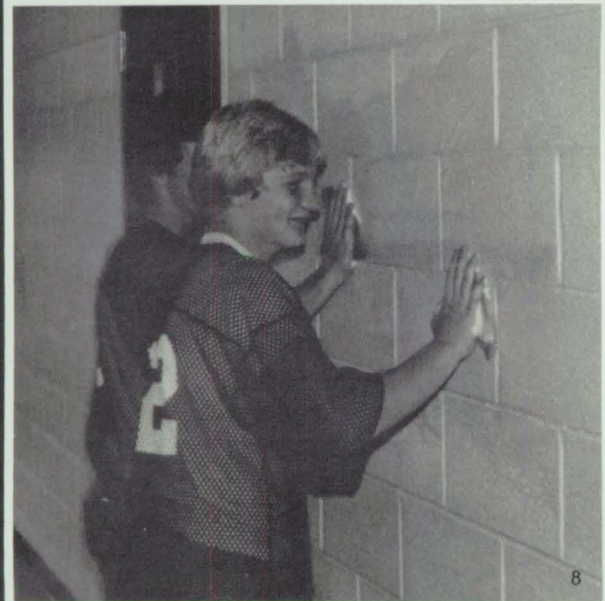

5. Dominic Venturo is caught playing in the A.V. Room by Larry Clevenger, a loyal A.V. worker.

6. Ignoring his editor's urging to beat the bell, Tony Ciammaichella points out to Julie Ransom his rights, as stated in the U.S. Constitution, to do what he wants, including being tardy to Yearbook.

7. An unknown lover admires Bob Julius's baby face.

8. Mike Lackner and Ed Grafton shine the walls in the English department.

9. Mr. Pelich and Mr. Hance enjoy the pies which they received during the Perry Pep Assembly.

HOW DO YOU SPEND YOUR WEEKENDS?

Whether it is a football or a basketball game, a wild and rowdy party, a night at the movies, or just an evening at Longo's and Game Trek, Madison High School students have busy and exciting weekends. At sporting events, students have the chance to get crazy and scream out their frustrations about school and work. Another place to get wild, usually at someone else's expense, is a party at a house where the parents have left for the weekend. Most houses are left demolished, and many people vow never to have a party again. On the quieter side is a date at the movies. Sometimes the chemistry is right and a good time is had by both, but there are always the times when a miserable evening ends in a fight. Most underclassmen and a few seniors spend their evenings after a game at Longo's and Game Trek. Whatever students do on their weekends, there is always something to come back and talk about on Monday morning. "Say, did you hear about what happened this weekend . . ."

1. Denise Cochrell sure is hungry!
2. Enjoying each other's company at the game are Jennifer Harrison, Taylor Lindon, Heather Smith, and Jackie Tyler.
3. Enjoying a break from Marching Band are Janet Fulton and Michelle Rainery.
4. Having a little fun before the soccer game are Tony Martorana, Kevin Coleman, Dave Dick, Chris Green, Eric Delp, Becky Martorana, and Dan Dame.
5. Mike Sobe puckers up.
6. John Bohinc sneaks a snooze much to Sharon Dissauer's surprise.
7. Jamie Sponaugle, Lynn Jacobs, and Gail Buchan share the night at Longo's.
8. A bunch of friends have some fun at halftime.
9. Dressed up as a construction worker for the Girl's Club initiation, Cindy Gauntner concentrates on her studying in English class.

EXTRA-CURRICULARS MOLD US FOR THE FUTURE

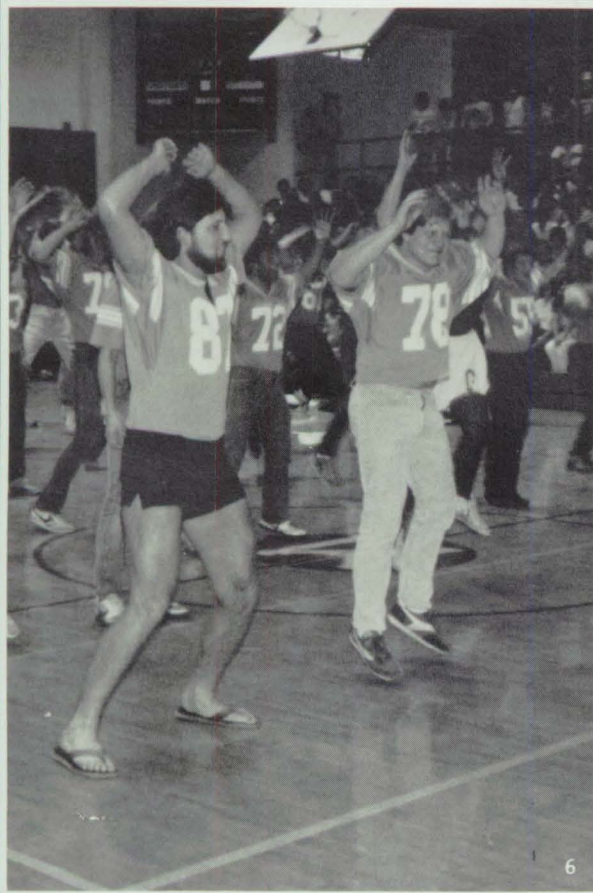

Extra-curricular activities which allow students to be themselves abound at Madison High School, sustaining students' interest in their academic life. Sports, band, assemblies and cultural activities all promote a comraderie among the student body that builds self-esteem, talents and a sense of belonging. Without these extra-curriculars, school life would be dreary and uneventful, stifling a vital part of student growth.

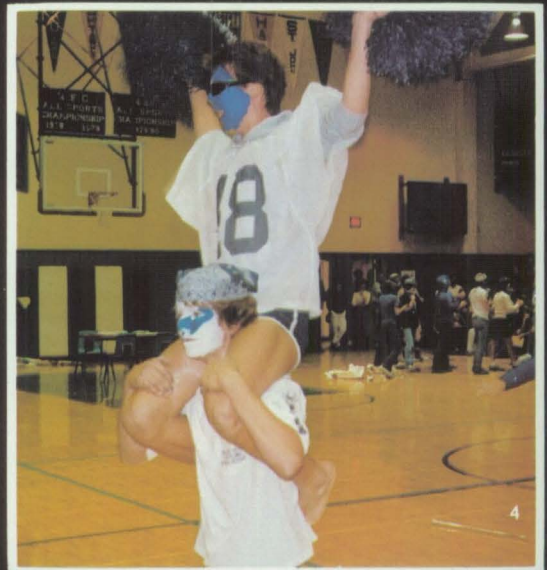

1. Waiting for the start of the pep assembly, Mark Paquin, Mr. Delp, Mr. Strother, Dave Manypenny, and Ted Ransom listen to the music of the band.
2. Chris Kerby and Adam Stevens work diligently in the A.V. room.
3. Members of the boys' track team show their best side.
4. Catching a pie in the face, Mr. Pelich gets ready to grab Larry Hall.
5. Memories begin in our outdoor freshman gym class.
6. The football players prove what good cheerleaders they really are.
7. German campers perform a line dance.
8. Gina Boyer demonstrates her best archery to Diane.
9. The band feels the beat.

WE'RE ALL TOGETHER UNDER THE RAINBOW

In our years spent at Madison High, the enthusiasm has been the key to memories and good times. The pep assemblies, football games, and other exciting events play an important part in our lives. Frustrations and anxieties about school, work, friends, and love are released on Friday. At 2:40, when the last bell rings, a roar of freedom flows through the halls. At last, the weekend . . . .

1. During the summer, seniors show their spirit at band camp.

2. Enthusiastically holding a Blue Streak banner are Kelly Cartwright, Cindy Delgros, Melissa Jevack, and Kelly Yoe.

3. Party Time!! Brian Rowe, Mike Mills, and Rob Hayes use their energy to blow up balloons for the pep assembly during school.

4. These two Bleacher Creatures show off their talents at one of our exciting pep assemblies.

5. Greeting the auditorium, Tony Ciammaichella creates a bit of laughter and excitement for the students and faculty.

6. Cindy Delgros cheers on the football team at a friday night game.

7. M.H.S. students sit patiently waiting for some excitement at a pep assembly.

8. John Sandru, Jay Davis, and John Josza display the medals they won for their individual events.

SENIORS

"I BELIEVE IN YESTERDAY"

Most seniors couldn't believe the time had come. Graduation had sneaked up on them. Where had four years gone? It seemed as if it was just yesterday when they were freshmen and afraid to even cross Mr. Sater's path. It seemed as if it was just yesterday when students from Memorial and Red Bird had to integrate and learn how to be friends. It seemed as if it was just yesterday when turning sixteen and driving was an eternity away. It seemed as if it was just yesterday when the class of 1981 marched out of the gym to the strains of "Pomp and Circumstance" and today's seniors were just freshmen trying to envision themselves in four years marching out of the gym. It seemed as if it was yesterday that seniors had to struggle through Algebra 1 and ISCS Science and thought that they'd "never make it through high school". It seemed as if it was just yesterday when today's seniors were underclassmen, and with each passing year, they were one rung higher on the high school ladder. Sometimes yesterday can be an eternity away.

It seems like just yesterday when the class of 1984 were just freshmen, and everything was new and different. Now that they're seniors, Walt Spaulding, Tony Ciammaichella, and Dawn Custer, senior class officers, look at the past, the present and the future of the class of '84.

"Our class has changed from our freshman year," agree Walt, Tony, and Dawn. Walt notices that, "We've gone from our Red Bird-Memorial group to several different groups with both schools mixed more," while Tony said, "You can't put it into words-it just happens naturally," and Dawn added, "Change is inevitable. It's fun to watch."

Comparing the class of '84 to other senior classes only shows us how unique the senior class is. "It doesn't seem like we're mature enough to be seniors. We don't look old enough to graduate," Walt said, which echoes the feeling of many other seniors. Tony thinks the class of '84 is "a more close-knit bunch. We intermix and mingle together quite well." "We don't mistreat underclassmen. We're more down-to-earth, and friendlier." Dawn stated.

When asked to summarize the senior class in one word, Walt said, "Outstanding," Tony said, "Extraordinary," and Dawn said, "Unpredictable."

According to these three, the class of '84 has a rosy future. Walt sees "good times" in the future, of the class, while Tony said, "Prosperity" and Dawn said, "success."

Whatever the class of 1984 does with their lifetime, Madison High will always be proud of them.

Success can happen to anyone, but the two students that the seniors thought would have the easiest time of it are Kelli Anderson and Mark Paquin. Mark's plan for being successful after high school is to "make lots of money in a respectable way. It's my only concern," he joked. Kelli's plans after high school are to go to college and major in business administration. Kelli stated, "I consider being successful being happy with what I'm doing and doing it to the best of my ability."

Athletics are taken very seriously by students at Madison High, and the two seniors judged to be the most athletic are Tracy Petti and Larry Hall. Tracy plays basketball and softball and enjoys athletics very much. When asked how she felt about her honor, Tracy said with a big smile, "I'm happy. I feel like I do after I slam-dunk the basketball!" Larry attributes his winning to the fact that he's in football, basketball, and baseball. "I'm very serious about athletics. I'd like to play professional baseball after high school." We can clearly see who's been eating their "wheaties" throughout their lives, and let's hope they continue to hit homeruns in the future.

The two students picked by the senior class to be the most artistic are John Valerio and Julie Ransom. John said that he doesn't want to pursue a career in art. He stated, "Art is easy; it's just for fun. It's all proportions." Julie owes her interest in an artistic career to Mr. Strothers. "He convinced me to go to the Pittsburgh Art Institute." Let's wish both of them the best of luck.

Many first impressions of people are based on their hair, and the two seniors who would probably make the best impression on others, as judged by the senior class, are Tammy Booth and Tom Pottl. They were voted as having the prettiest hair. Tammy said that she was flattered that other people think she has pretty hair. "I don't think blondes are airheads, and I'd like to get it across that I don't dye my hair. It's bleached blonde by the sun." Tom also has blonde hair and believes that blondes have more fun. "I don't really think I have pretty hair, though. I have plans to grow it down to my knees!"

Being musical, as Lisa Reed and Chris Green are, takes a lot of time and talent. Lisa has been in four years of Marching/Symphonic band and has even journeyed to Columbus to participate in the State Fair band. Chris has also been in four years of Marching/Symphonic band on trombone, is in Stage Band, and takes a theory class. Lisa plans to pursue a career in music. "When I play my flute, my hands get all sweaty and my knees shake." Unlike Lisa, Chris doesn't plan a career in music. He just believes that music makes him a "well-rounded person." "In case I fall on my face in life, I can always go back to a musical existence."

The two seniors who seem to be the most comfortable in the spotlight and on stage are Joe Wills and Molly Tascone. Being avid members of drama club throughout high school, acting comes easy to these two. Joe has been in a variety of plays such as The Crucible, Androcles and the Lion, Once Upon a Mattress, and the Cap and the Anthem. Joe said, "Acting is easy if you're a good liar." Molly likes to act. She has been involved in every aspect of putting on a play, from playing a little boy, to playing the lead and working the lights. Who knows, Hollywood could be in their futures!

Belinda Tiller and Walt Spaulding were voted by the senior class as having the best all-around personality. Having a good personality isn't easy. Walt credits his winning by saying, "I listen to everyone and don't take sides." Belinda was surprised at hearing of her achievement, and her first reaction was, "I don't deserve this." Belinda is usually nice to everyone and has many friends, so it's clear to see that she does indeed deserve this honor.

Everyone likes to laugh, and the two seniors who are best at it are Rose Bohinc and Butch Dodson. They have been making others laugh for four years now. "I think they're laughing at me more than my jokes because I laugh at my own jokes," Rose said while giggling. She said that I said that she'd like to be like her idol, Richard Pryor, but there are two major obstacles in her way. "He's male and he's black," said Rose, "but I'm not letting those stop me." Butch said that he wouldn't want to be a stand-up comedian. "I'll probably just end up like John Belushi. I do think it will help me in the future, either as a famous actor or a priest!"

There are certain people who are just naturally good flirterers. They know how to tease without going too far. As voted by the senior class, Robin Decker and Rick English were voted most flirtatious of all. Robin doesn't think she's a flirt. She said that she just likes to talk to people and be nice. "My boyfriend is gonna kill me when he finds out!" Rick enjoys flirting and likes people in general. "I think people will like me if I'm friendly. Flirting is a sense of security— some people have blankets; I have flirting."

Everyone knows them. They're the ones who are repeatedly kicked out of class for talking. Doug Brown and Carol Sisson were chosen as most talkative by their senior class. Carol confided, "Ever since the third grade, the teachers have been complaining about my talking too much." "I enjoy it." Doug stated, "I don't think I talk a lot. I just always have a lot on my mind, and I like to share my ideas."

Trying to get remarks from Amy Jacobson and Dan Quirk, voted by their senior class as quietest, was no easy task. When asking Dan of his feeling of winning, he responded, "I'm speechless!" Then after a few minutes, he admitted, "I'm only quiet around people I don't know." Amy doesn't think she's quiet at all. "Anybody who knows me, knows I'm not quiet. I'm a little shy, and I wish I was more open. It hasn't hurt me at all."

Enthusiasm is contagious, and the two seniors who spread it around the most are Larry Hall and Cindy Delgros. Larry confided that the reason he's so peppy is because he likes school, and he likes his friends. "I'm enthusiastic in sports; I like to get crazy!" he said, "I like to cheer up people." Cindy, a cheerleader, agrees with Larry. "I like to see others in good moods and get them that way." Whatever the reasons, let's be thankful for these two people who affect so many other people's attitudes.

In every high school, there's always a certain group of students who have no worries, no cares, and don't appear to be bothered by what students and teachers think of them. These students are labeled carefree, and by the senior class, Mary Fay and Dave Rabe were chosen as the most carefree of all. When asked of her feelings regarding this honor, Mary was speechless and laughingly stated, "Gee, I don't know. I've never had an interview before." Dave, always the joker, summed up his attitude best by saying, "I don't know either. I guess I never really thought to care about it!"

Dressing up can be a once-a-week thing, but with Wendy Kaib and Chris Frisbee, it's almost every day. "I don't think I dress nice," Wendy said, "I just wear comfortable clothes, and I'm more comfortable in dressy clothes than jeans." Chris, wearing a tie as usual, said that he likes to dress casual. "I like to look nice and feel comfortable."

Eyes can be a helpful asset to many people, and the two seniors chosen to have the prettiest eyes are Bryan Frania and Gina Julianna. Bryan credits his eyes with helping him see throughout his entire life. He also claims to have a set in the back of his head! Gina also agrees that her eyes have helped her. "I think I can see clearly how some people act." She's been complimented on them before and said that she wouldn't be unhappy if she turned blind tomorrow. "I've already seen so much, and, of course, I'd have the memories."

Smiles can brighten up someone's day, and Debbie Travis and Randy Hyrne have obviously brightened up many days of their fellow students at Madison High. Flashing a dazzling smile, Debbie said that she always takes great pride in her appearance, and that she feels terrific after she's cheered up someone's day. "There's always something to smile about," Randy stated with a wide grin. "Whenever I get down, I just remember all that I have to be thankful for, and it makes me smile." Whatever the reason for smiling, these two have many smiles to spread around.

You've seen them. They're the ones whom you always joke with. They've heard them all before: "Hey, when you bought those shoes, did you get a set of oars, too?" Kevin Coleman and Peggy Coffman have heard them all countless times. Peggy, wearing a size 8 in boy's, remarked, "Large feet have come in handy at some times, especially in sports." Kevin was a little embarrassed, but then admitted that it was "all in good humor." Kevin wears a size 15 and says that his biggest competition was Dave Schuck, with a size 13.

Some people have 'em, and some people don't, but the two seniors picked as having the most freckles are Butch Dodson and Melissa Smart. Melissa states that she was born with them and hopes that they will go away before she's twenty-five. "Freckles aren't cute after nineteen." Butch agrees that freckles have helped him get ridiculed all his life. He also says that he's lost a lot of them in the past three to four years.

STUDENTS EXCEL ACADEMICALLY

Academics plays a very important role throughout a student's life. In fact, academics are the very backbone of the American school system. Grades are stressed from the first day of one's freshman year up until the time comes to apply to colleges. Madison High offers a college preparatory curriculum and encourages freshmen and sophomores to take the NEDT. In the junior and senior year, the school has representatives from area colleges come in and speak to aid the student in making this difficult decision. High achievers are recognized through National Honor Society, and honors classes are offered in the history and English departments. At the end of the junior year and at the beginning of the senior year, many students take either the ACT or the SAT. These are very important tests as they could decide what college one will attend. Kelli Anderson, a senior at Madison High, says that academics are very important to her because "there are many things I'd like to accomplish and the more you learn, the more opportunities are open to you." Michelle Incorvati, known for her academic skills, believes that "to fully live your life and fulfill your dreams, you must learn as much as possible." Mark Tremayne sums up all the reasons for getting a good education by saying, "You only have one chance, and if you blow it, it could ruin the rest of your life."

Janeane Wirfil and Mark Paquin were the top achievers in the class of '84, both earning 3.9 accums.

1. Seniors attaining a 3.8 average were (seated l. to r. ) Mark Paquin, Kelli Anderson and Roz Ruland, and (standing) Michelle Incorvati and Alisa Heflin.

2. Seniors attaining a 3.7 accum were (seated) Melissa Jevack, Scott Mabe, and Lisa Reed, and (standing) Deb Travis, Sally Horton and Marlene Repko. Diana Donch was not pictured.

3. Seniors earning a 3.6 average were (standing) Lisa Becker, Amy Jacobson, Keith Marius, Kim Loucek and Missy Kuntz; seated are Rose Bohinc, Jim Bittner, and Dana Sadler.

4. Seniors attaining a 3.5 average were (standing) Lisa McGill, Lisa Amos, and (seated) Kris Hudec and Mike Czernek.

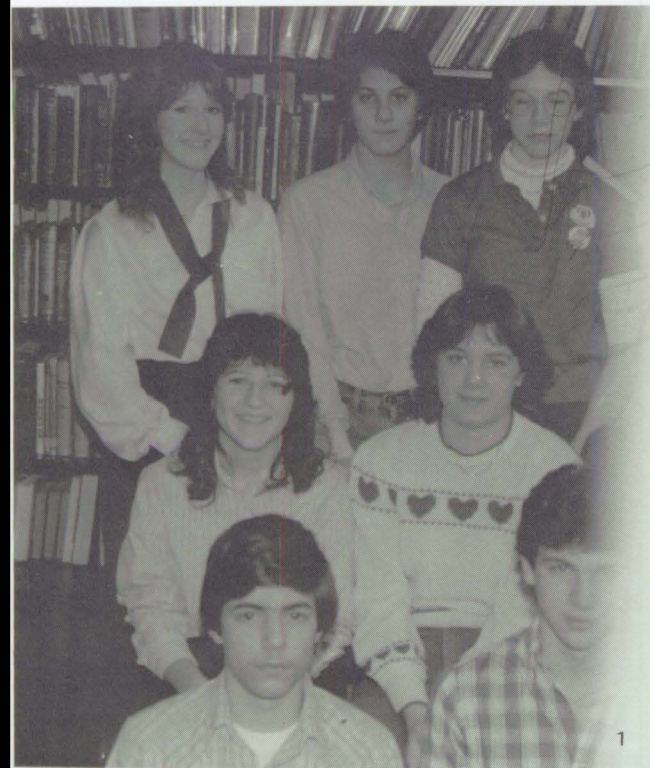

1. Juniors Val Lasko and Marjana Zupscan had earned a 4. average as of printing time.
2. Walt Spaulding, Tony Ciammaichella and Mark Paquin were the seniors chosen to attend Boys' State at Bowling Green University last summer to learn about state government.
3. Juniors Connie Proud, Antoinette Zimcosky, and John Kurila had earned a 3.9 average by printing time.
4. Juniors Kendra McLaughlin and Jim Gum had attained a 3.8 average by printing time.
5. Juniors earning a 3.7 average by printing time were: (standing) Glenn Butler, Liesa Stollings, and Dawn Kahley, and (seated) Chris Boles, Theresa Baker and Christina Sistek.

1. Sophomores who had attained a 4.0 average by printing time were (top) Sherry Donch, Becky Tarone and Jenny Cross; (middle) Suzie Barto and Colleen Wilson; and (bottom) Tony Gentile and Duff Taylor. Not pictured are Jackie Bell, Joe Acerra, Mary Mitchell, Dana Smith, Robin Stauffer, and Michele Sykora.

WE BEQUEATH . . .

June, 1984

- I, Mike Leitch, leave to all the freshmen who like KISS, John Turkenburg's black magic marker to write KISS on the bathroom wall.
- I, Lisa Leggett, leave to Kim Bower my friendship; to Troy Livingston a punk haircut; and to all the underclassmen the best of luck; and to Danny Stewart thanks for walking me to history.
- I, Suellen Legg, leave to Scott Morgan, all the lonely away football games, especially the bus rides; to Mike Buser and Kym Peck I leave all of my notes, and to Adam and Ann all the fun of high school. Good luck!
- I, Walter Laymen, leave to Madison High School all my troubles, and to my parents an extra room.
- I, Missy Kuntz leave to anyone who wants my job at MacDonald's, my alarm clock to all my first and second period teachers over the years. I also give any two students "Charles" (our dead pig whose liver I ruptured.)
- I, James A. Kleps, leave to my brother, Alex, all the stuff left in my locker for the past four years of school. This includes gym clothes from my freshman year and the homework never turned in.
- I, Wendy Kaib, leave to Gina Matthews my typing skills and patience to work as Mr. Greenwald's secretary. It's a tough job and I wish you lots of luck.
- I, Jennifer Koski, leave to someone on the volleyball team my volleyball sneakers. Seeing that they're practically brand-new, they should get some use.
- I, Sheri Kingery, leave to my brother all my grades, the ability to be a good teacher's pet, and hopes that he will have an excellent junior and senior year.
- I, Robbie Johnson, leave to Jeff Neely all my redneck actions, all my horticultural endeavors, and my secret ways of dealing with life in school.
- I, Ron Kirk, leave to Mrs. Helles a quiet first period class so she can hear the morning announcements, and to any freshman who needs it, a locker that doesn't open.
- I, Melissa Jevack, leave to Kelly Yoe, all the good times cheering for "Ms. T." and "Weiner." Good luck! Watch those eyes!
- I, Bridget Keller, leave to Kim Smith all demerits if any; Barbara Pettit my ability to be peppy, and to Pat Miller all my love.
- I, Bob Julius, leave to my brother Mark, all of my early dismissals from English; My ability to walk around in the hall to Keith Laird, and my dissected fetal pig to Mr. Deel's next pig roast.
- I, Amy Jacobson, leave to all upcoming physics students the mental capacity to handle such things as physics, and to Mr. Delp more interesting film strips.
- I, Melissa Isaac, leave to Amy Otterman the ability and courage to survive one more grueling year of Madison High School.
- I, Jim Irwin, leave to Mr. Higley, my hair when I go to the service.
- I, Michelle Marie Incorvati, leave to Mark Swanson, my ability to be a scrounge; to Lisa Incorvati, a year's supply of recipes and the ability to wash melons; to my cousin Schmikey Santarelli, all my leftover earnings, and to Mr. Robert Leitch, a 99¢ K-Mart coupon to buy a new tie.
- I, Kris Hudec, leave to Dana, my grades and all of the good times that I had at Madison High, and to Mr. Acerro, many thanks for all the help he has given me.
- I, Jim Hennessey, leave to Bill Fedele, my slinky eyeballs, and to Miss Phillips all my demerits.
- I, Robert Hawkins, leave to Mr. Mallick, my shreaded permanent logbook, and to any freshman that wants it, what is left of my locker.
- I, Lora Havrilla, leave to Miss Phillips, the hassles of teaching plays to the upcoming basketball team; My thanks to all the teachers who put up with me and still managed to teach me something.
- I, Larry Hall, leave to Mr. Opron, the fact that he's one of the best coaches I've ever had; My nephew and nieces nothing; let them figure out everything on their own.
- I, Mona Haley, leave to Carrie Rowan anything that she wishes, for she deserves nothing less than best. Also I leave her my locker and folders and the ability to B.S. her way out of any trouble!
- I, James A. Haase, leave to Tim Pivonka the power to forget the past, and to Chris Gesdorf my locker and love.
- I, Tom Grist, leave to Scott Morgan the ability to stop being a jerk and grow up; and to Mike Loxterman, a few good grades so that he can graduate before his little sister does.
- I, Angela Griggs, leave to Cathy Chackarells, all my humor at the wild parties we attend, and to Jamie Paternick, all my Harley Davidson woman memorabilia.
- I, Christopher G. Green, leave to Mr. A. my ability to whine at ear-piercing decibels; Mrs. Sampson, a one-way ticket to Barbados; Joe Acerro, some of my funky ties and my sarcastic humor; to Mr. Kovats, my ability to fluctuate my voice, and to Mr. Delp, my talent at operating audio-visual equipment.
- I, Pamela S. Wright, leave to Steve Bauer all my cheat-sheets and the luck I've had during my high school career, and to Mr. Delp, all new A-V equipment.
- I, Sam Woods, leave to Mark Julius my five study halls, and I leave Steve Laird a little bit of common sense. I also leave all my partying troubles to the underclassmen.
- I, Janeone Wurfel, leave to Mr. Pelich, the ability to get along without me.
- I, Joseph Michael Wills, leave to anybody who wears a size medium T-shirt, my Lyar T-shirt, so that there is still publicity in the school after I'm gone! Love Joey!!
- I, Kim Whipple, leave to Carrie Rowan, my ability to type for Mrs. Pavesich and still get some of her work done.
- I, Jim Wallace, leave to Madison High the memory of what was and what will be.
- I, Kenneth Walker, leave to Mrs. Bangerter all the people that will give her a hard time, and to all the underclassmen who receive my books. I hope you have better luck with them than I did.
- I, Eric Walker, leave to Michelle Solits all my love, and all the notes I ever wrote to her, and the whole locker all to herself.
- I, Cheryl Wainio, leave to Mr. Hanes, my patience because he has one more year of Wendy and Mindy!
- I, John Turkenburg, leave to Duke Dipofi all the crazy things I never had a chance to do, and to Lisa B., the chance to be the biggest flirt.
- I, Mark Tremayne, leave to the people who will be here next year, a box of Extra-Strength Tylenal.
- I, Kim Tramite, leave to you my best wishes, and to Mr. Snyder, thanks.

Kim Grapes- to get a job at Perry Power Plant as a secretary, and also go to night classes at Lakeland.

Roy Adams - to attend OSU's ATI Campus in Wooster, to become a Greenskeeper like Bill Murry in Caddyshack, and also to copy his style: Party, party, party.

Lisa Marie Amos - to attend Kent State and major in communications. But don't worry, after I am on television I will still remember the "little people" of Madson.

Kelli Anderson - to attend Bowling Green State University and major in Business Administration.

Erik Appell - to go West and find women.

Chuck Bailey - to attend a Tech School and to drag race.

Cammy Barclay - to be married to Kris Hein in July.

Kelly J. Barnes - to meet Miss Jackson for lunch on alternating Sundays.

Anne Bassler - to attend Bowling Green University and major in Animal Science.

Lisa Marie Becker - to attend a four year college and major in Dance, then move to New York to look for work.

Sue Bending - to get married and take care of my daughter. I might go to Lakeland for a few classes in Business.

James Birtner - to attend University of Cincinnati, graduate and get a good job, then to make money and enjoy life.

Stacy Bobo - to attend the Pittsburgh Institute of Art, to study Visual Communications, and to find me a RICH man!

Rose Bohinc - to attend college, possibly O.S.U. of Cincinnati and become a millionaire. I would also love to roam the continent and meet a lot of exciting men!

Keith Bolin - to possibly attend college after I decide what I'd like to do.

Chef Bonner - to attend college, party, make megatons of money, and buy Florida, and maybe get a job at MacDonald's.

Tammy Booth- to attend a four year college at the University of Toledo.

Don Brake - to start college for two years in the Forestry Field. After college I want to get a job in the mountains, preferably the Rocky Mountains.

Doug Brown - To go to California and surf.

Todd Brown - To party and enjoy life.

Warren Brown - to get a job, probably go to college somewhere.

Dawn Brozak - to possibly go to a secretarial field; I have plans for Law Enforcement.

Gail Buchan - to go to college.

Timothy Burnheimer - to made up for credits lost and go to college in Cleveland.

Frank Cajhen - to go to the Army and blow up Lebanon.

Scott Lee Calvert - to lie around awhile, then sell Shaklee.

Dave Capel - to find a lot of money and go south for a long vacation.

Ralf William Caswell - to go to college and get an education, to be the best electric engineer I can, to get married, have six children, to get out of Madson and become twice as smart in Math as Mr. MacYntire, and to become the best human being possible, and also a good Christian.

Kathy Catanese - I'm going to an art college, than get married right after.

Tony Ciannaichella - to go to Naval Academy or attend a four year college on ROTC and study Pre-Med and eventually become a pilot.

Lori Cienas - to attend Youngstown State University and become a successful Medical Technician, to also find a cure for "Basketball Knees" and "MD" disease.

Deb Clark - to further schooling and be SUCCESSFUL AND RICH!

Larry Clevenger - to go to the Airforce for six years and College for six years.

FALL SPORTS

A SPARK FOR THE FUTURE

The 1983 fall sports season was highlighted by Jenny Cross's phenomenal accomplishment of becoming a girls' cross country state qualifier as a sophomore! Jenny went to the state meet following an outstanding season and placed 41st. Other noticeable feats accomplished during the season were Dan Dame's record scoring 25 goals and Eric Delp's nomination to second team All State on the soccer field. Overall, the fall sports program was a total success with the fall teams finishing very high in N.E.C. competition.

STREAKS BREAK EVEN

The Madison Blue Streak football team finished the 1983 season with a disappointing 5-5 record. The Streaks began the season very impressively with a victory over their rival, Perry, 28-27. Although the Streaks lost their next game to Lake Catholic 28-6, they won their next three games against Eastlake North, Ashtabula Edgewood, and Ashtabula Harbor. Then the Streaks battled their homecoming game against the Conneaut Spartans and lost a heartbreaking game, 22-15. After the loss to Conneaut, the Blue Streaks' hopes for the rest of the season went downhill, and their only victory came against Riverside. The football team lost the following games against Geneva, Ashtabula St. John and Ashtabula City. Even though the team finished the season with a 5-5 record, they did manage to raise the team's pride and give the underclassmen an optimistic outlook for the 1984 football campaign.

The 1983-84 Blue Streaks from left to right- Row 1- Jim Clark, Walt Spaulding, Joe Cooper, Tom Patti, Tony Ciammaichella, Jay Davis, Greg Zilke, Ralf Caswell, Vince Padavick, Jim Wallace, Carl Hollister, Larry Hall, Randy Hyrne, and Craig Utt. Row 2- Clifton Clark, Dennis Culliton, Danny Snyder, Chip McClintock, Mike Martin, Tim Palinsky, Jeff Whitehair, Frank Mayer, Dan Stewart, Todd Palinsky, John Kurila, Mike Jevack, and Todd Klein. Row 3- Mark Williams, Todd Kingery, Pat Dixon, Bill Eaton, John Grafton, Shaun Sill, John Lackner, John Cales, Jim Fortney, Bob Baker, and Mike Santarelli. Row 4- Joe Ostrowski, Carmen Pelegrino, Scott Stewart, Jim Swanson, Chuck Hanusoski, Jim Cohagan, John Sandru, Tony Martorana, Kevin Heglund, and John Josza. Row 5- Phil Smith, Paul Dickenson, Chris Capel, Jeff Fisher, Keith Smith, Andy Spaulding, Alex Kleps, and Lyle Airwyke.

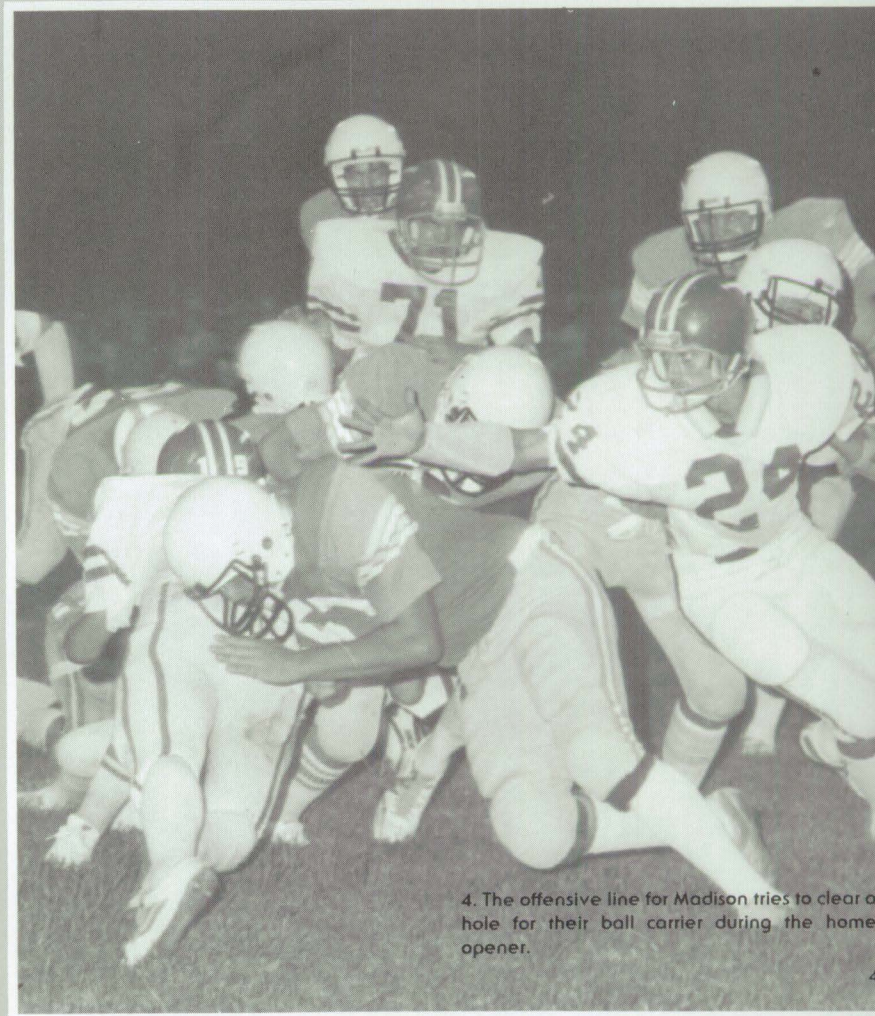

1. Bryan Frania is tackled by a defensive player from Perry as Joe Cooper tries to throw a downfield block during the Streaks' home opener against the Perry Pirates.

2. Jay Davis shows his moves during the Madison vs. Perry game.

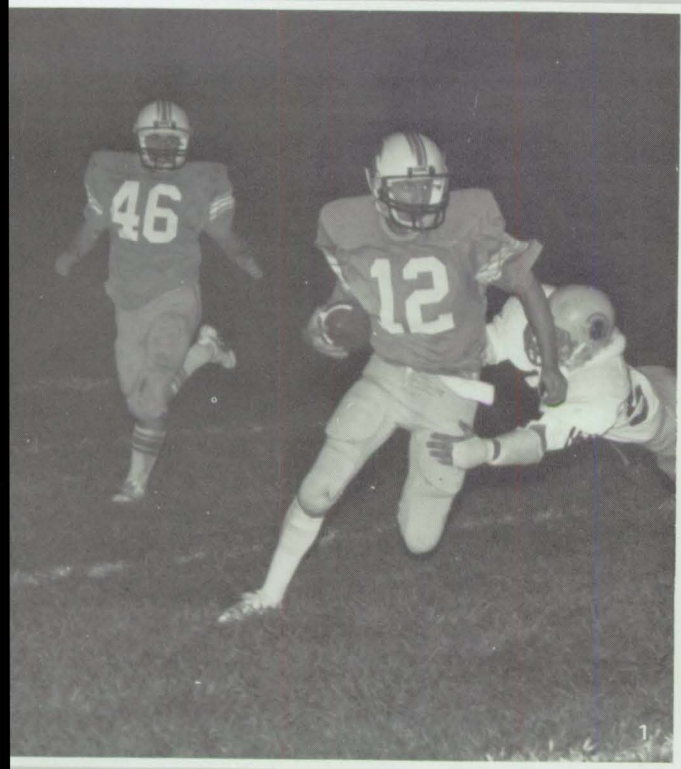

3. Todd Palinsky and Dan Stewart defend against the Pirates' "air attack."

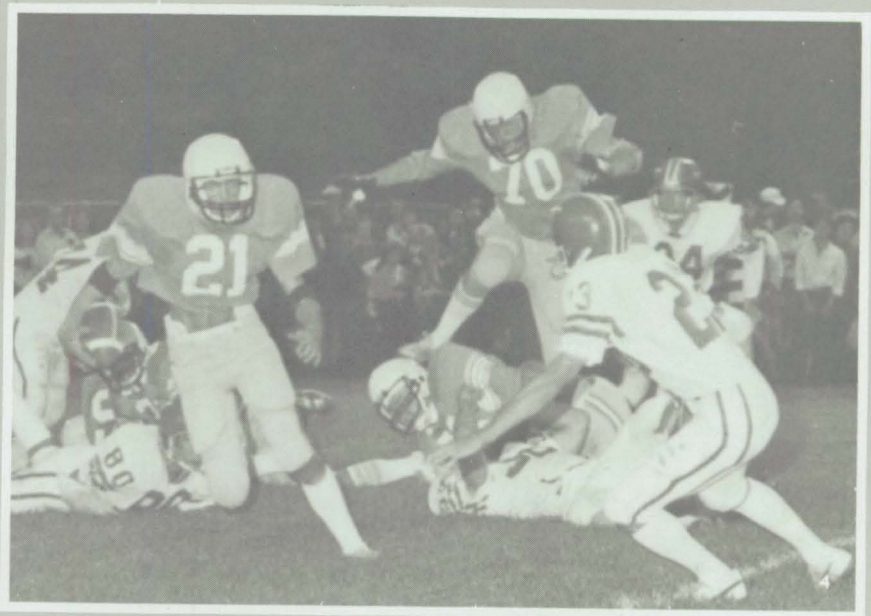

4. The offensive line for Madison tries to clear a hole for their ball carrier during the home opener.

1. Searching for daylight, Tony Ciammaichella breaks loose from a Conneaut defender during Madison's Homecoming game.

2. Madison's defense closes in on Conneaut's running back.

3. Running to daylight, Frank Mayer gains some yardage during the homecoming game.

4. The streaks' offensive line opens a hole for Jay Davis during the home opener.

CHEERLEADERS "SPARK THAT SPIRIT"

Whether it is freezing, raining, or scorching outside, the football cheerleaders do their best cheering the Blue-streaks to victory. The basketball cheerleaders are at their peppiest even in the stuffy, hot gym, and they all keep energetic throughout the entire game. The cheerleaders do a fine job of supporting their team!

Much of a cheerleader's time is dedicated to practice to be the best that she possibly can. Aside from after-school practices, she also attends cheerleading camp in the summer, where the work is extra hard, but everyone has a good time. This year both varsity squads went to Mal-lon College, while the J.V.'s went to Lake Erie College Learning the many cheers, chants, and routines isn't all fun and games, and as the cheerleaders soon find out, it is a very hard job.

Miss Leslie Trbovich, the cheerleading advisor, is very proud of her girls this year. She feels that they have done a fine job this season, and is looking forward to another year.

1. Looking downfield, Mike Martin prepares to throw the ball to his intended receiver during the J.V. action against Riverside.

2. The offensive line struggles as they try to block Riverside's defense.

3. The Streaks' offense gets set to run the play against the Beaver defense.

CHEERLEADERS SPICE UP ACTIVITIES

The J.V. and Varsity cheerleaders, along with band members, helped create an enthusiastic atmosphere throughout the season. Cheerleaders help out on game days by posting locker stickers throughout the school or by preparing exciting "pep assemblies". Band members do their job during half-times on game nights by performing interesting shows.

1. Kelly Rose and Michelle Sykora post up locker stickers during school on game day.

FOREVER'S GONNA START TONIGHT

On October 8, 1983, in the minds of many M.H.S. students, forever did start tonight, in accordance to the theme "Forever's Gonna Start Tonight" from Total Eclipse of the Heart. The band, Pegasus, provided the musical entertainment for the evening. The climax of the night was the crowning of the queen, Belinda Tiller. Her court consisted of Tammy Booth, Michelle Chandler, Gina Julianna, Debbie Travis and their escorts. The decorating committee did an excellent job of transforming the cafeteria into a city at night. A good time was had by all, and the evening was capped off by students going to dinner or a party.

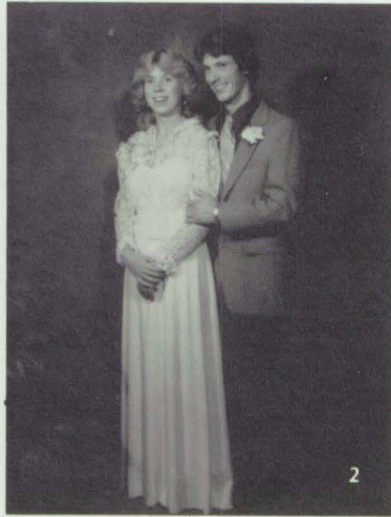

3. Sharing an important minute in their daughter's life are Mr. and Mrs. Tiller as they watch Walt Spaulding give Belinda flowers after she was announced the 1983-84 Homecoming Queen.

3. Celebrating a great night at the 1983-84 Homecoming are JoEllen Davis, Kelly Barnes, Robin Decker, Marcy Schmidt, Janeane Wirfel and Patti Perdue.

FRESHMEN FARE WELL

The freshman football team finished with an excellent 4-1-1 season. The team's only blemishes on their record came to a loss to Braden and a hard-fought and heart-breaking tie with the tough Conneaut Spartans. The freshmen combined a hard-hitting defense with a well-rounded offense to lead the league. Outstanding performances were put in by running backs Pete Repko, Derek Judd, Mike Lackner and Bob Garbark. Good performances were also shown by Paul Palagyi and Tim Wilson.

1) Bobby Garbark struggles to break loose from the grasp of the opposing defender.

2. Marsha Adams eyes the ball after she returns a volley.
3. Defending the opponents' shot are Jackie Bell and Stacy Pisor.
4. Preparing to spike the ball is Kelly Barnes.

GIRLS' VOLLEYBALL SHOWS PROMISE

The girls' volleyball team experienced much more success this season than they have over previous ones. The Streaks finished seventh last year, but moved to fourth place this year. The team struggled through the season with a 4-3 record; however, they managed to place third at the NEC tournament! The team played under a new coaching staff comprised of coaches Gail Haase and Loreen McPherson. The new coaches had difficulties this season leading the team to a disappointing 7-9 overall record. The Streaks competed poorly in several matches, a fact which resulted in having only four girls named to N.E.C. honors. Co-captains Val Lasko and Jackie Bell were placed on second team, while Co-captains Kelly Barnes and Stacy Pisor were given Special Mention honors.

The girls will be backed with a lot of experience in the upcoming season, losing only three players. The coaches are looking forward to some outstanding play from all underclassmen in the 1984 season.

1) Waiting for the game to start, Dana Smith concentrates on her strategy for the game.

2) Jennifer Schmidt runs to hit the ball.
3) After hitting the ball, Stacy Pisor wonders if it made it over the net.

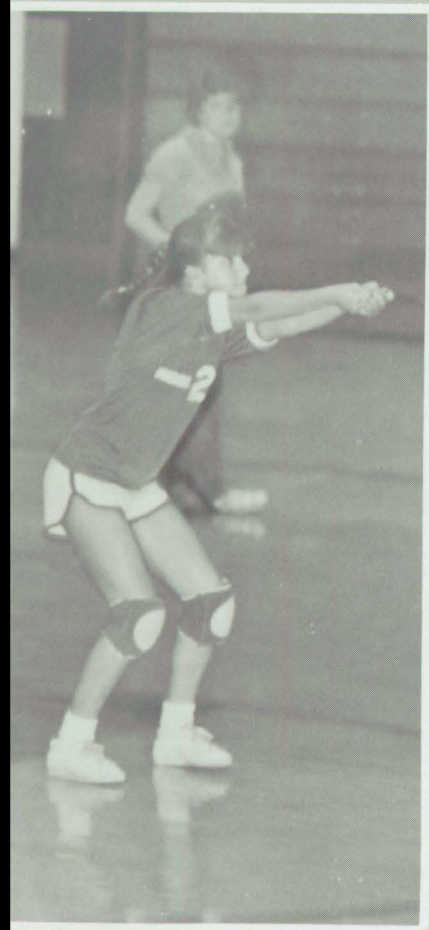

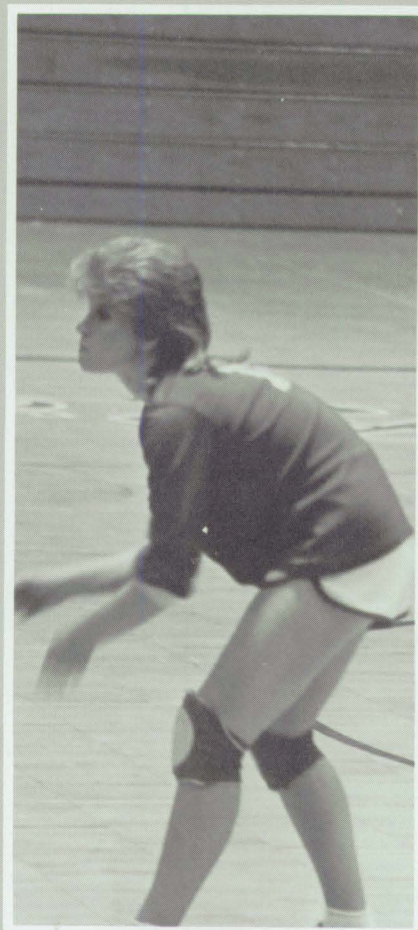

1) Amy Hull and Tracy Stempel await the start of the game.

2) Waiting for the ball is Kim Pisor.

3) Kim Pisor shows the other team her technique.

4) Waiting for the serve is Tracy Stempel.

BOYS' CROSS COUNTRY KEEPS PACE WITH 2ND PLACE

The 1983 Boys' Cross Country team finished the season by placing second in the N.E.C. The overall record was 6-1. The only losses came to teams who later became conference champs, including Kenston who became state champions. The streaks had a sixteen-meet season including invitational tournaments; the highest finish was a fourth at the annual Perry Invitational. Outstanding individuals included Mike Wilson, who set the course record and was also a district qualifier, and Brent Rupinski, who managed to qualify for the district meet following a disappointing season. Pete Conklin was chosen by the coaches as the outstanding Freshman in the league, while Bob Varsek was selected as the outstanding sophomore in the league. The Streaks are losing only two runners and returning 25 for the 1984 season, so hopes are high as the runners prepare for the promising season.

1) Striving to beat his opponent, Chris Carlson runs to the finish line.

2) The 1983-1984 Cross Country team: (Bottom Row) Tom Roth, Buddy Ransom, Joe Acerra, Dave Wojtaszek, Ted Ransom (Middle Row) Chris Aruta, Bob Varsek, Mike Wilson, Brent Rupinski, Scott Francis, Chris Sprague, Pete Conklin (Top Row) Marc Koski, Mike Davis, Mark Strother, Mike Mills, Chris Carlson, Todd Braunlich, Duke DiPofi, Tom Heckman, Nick Giordana, Coach Don Strother

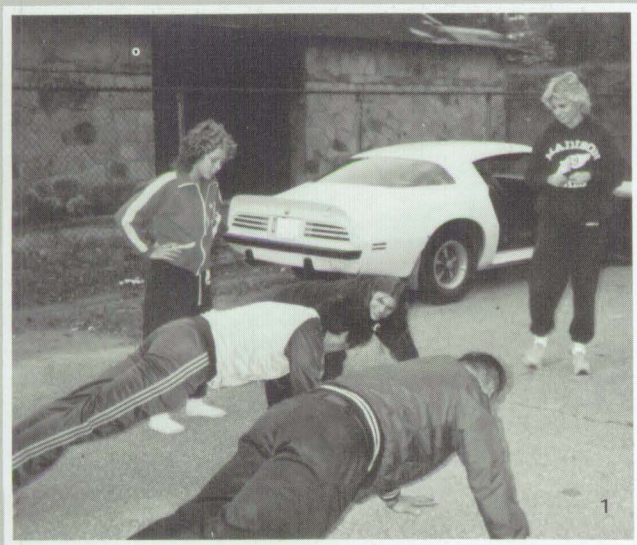

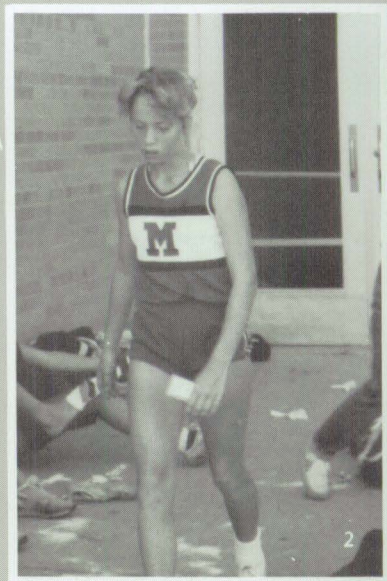

1. Keeping his stride, Scott Francis races on
2. Almost there, Mike Wilson pours all his energy into making it to the finish.
3. Awaiting the beginning of the race, Chris Carlson, Todd Braunlich, Brent Rupinski and Mike Wilson figure out their strategy.

GIRLS' CROSS COUNTRY MEETS SUCCESS

The 1983 Girls' Cross Country team had a very successful season that was highlighted with a victory over cross-town rival, Perry (37-20), and by the sophomore runner Jenny Cross who qualified for the state meets and placed 41st with a time of 20:08. Although there is no official Girls' Cross Country league in the N. E. C., the girls held an unofficial meet, and the Streaks won it! The girls returning for the 1984 season are very optimistic because they are only losing two runners from this year's squad. The girls have put in many hours of hard work preparing for their goals next year. They will have the opportunity to capture an official N.E.C. championship due to the formation of a Girls' Cross Country League in the N.E.C.

1. Before the races, Missy Kaib shows her concentration.
2. Punished for a slip of the tongue, Mr. Pavesich and Mr. Chaffee are doing push-ups, supervised by Missy Kaib and Lori Baker.

 3. Picking up her pace, Deanna Anderson starts her last mile.
 4. Jenny Cross keeps her concentration on her running while the finish line gets closer.

STREAKS KEEP GOALS IN SIGHT

The Madison Blue Streak Varsity soccer team had a pretty good season, but, "could have done better", in Coach Earl Delp's opinion, if they hadn't been plagued with injuries. The loss of their would-be goalie, Ben Kriegmont, before the season even started hampered the team a bit. This sent Kevin Coleman to the rescue, and though inexperienced, he did a fine job. Other various injuries sent players to the bench and forced the coach to bring up some of the J.V. players. Despite all the problems, the team had a great season and even went to sectionals. Soccer has finally been recognized as an N.E.C. sport. The team finished 11 - 6- 1 and had an excellent pre-season record, too.

STREAKS KEEP ON BALL

The Junior Varsity Soccer team had a fine season finishing 9 - 4 - 2. The team saw many new players this year, all of whom were much improved. All of the players put out a great deal of effort and did the best that they could. Though the J.V. team did do quite well, they could have done better if they had not been held back by the loss of several key players to the Varsity team. The J.V. team was much inspired by the hard work of their Coach, Geof Gates, and they hope he will be back next year.

JUNIORS WORK HARD

CLASS OF 1985

Work, work, work. It seems like all juniors ever do is work. The junior year is usually when one goes out into the work world and starts earning a little spending money. The junior year is also when the homework really starts to pile on. Teachers feel it is their "duty" to prepare the junior for college. He is faced with a variety of questions such as: Should I take the ACT or the SAT? Will I have enough credits to graduate? Should I splurge and go to prom? And probably the most important one is: What am I gonna' do this weekend?

STREAKS' SEASON ENDS WITH A BANG

WINTER SPORTS

The 1983-84 Winter Sports season was highlighted by the Varsity Wrestling team winning the NEC Championship and by the Boys' Basketball team also winning the NEC Championship! All of the teams, including the J.V.'s, earned respect from league opponents as well as non-league adversaries.

Individual Highlights belong to Scott Ferra, who was chosen as the county's Most Outstanding Basketball Player, and David Rowan, who became four-time NEC Champion, two-time Kenston Tournament Champion, and finished the season with an undefeated record.

The total winter sports program deserves praise and acknowledgment. The athletes and coaches worked hard and accomplished many goals.

BLUE STREAKS HAVE SPECTACULAR SEASON!

The season started out on a very high note with a resounding win over Willoughby South, 84-65. As is normal for the season, four players scored in double figures. Six seniors were the starters all year long; four-year letter winner Craig Utt, three-year letter winner Scott Ferra, and two-year letter winners, Jim Illig, Charlie Russell, and Butch Dodson. Senior Ralph Caswell came off the bench at the center position. Todd Braunlich, the only junior, came off the bench at the forward position.

One of the highlights of the season was the complete dominance of the Greater Cleveland Conference teams. The Streaks defeated South, Mentor, Euclid, North, and Lake Catholic. The Streaks were clearly the champs in league county areas. The regional press also ranked the Streaks as the number-one team in the tri-county Fabulous Fifteen.

Our leading scorer for the third straight year was Scott Ferra with a 17.5 points-per-game average. Scott also was selected the outstanding player in Lake County by coaches of the county. The improved play of Kevin Coleman at the center position averaging almost ten rebounds a game and twelve points per game was an important factor. The improved defensive play and the leadership given by Craig Utt made the team the most cohesive in many years. His strong rebounding in key games was vital. Illig, Russell and Dodson gave Madison the best guard play in the area. Their ball handling and passing excited the large crowd support the Streaks enjoyed all year. Charlie Russell led the team in assists with 97, followed closely by Jim Illig's 95. Illig led in steals with 39 followed by Russell with 37 and Ferra 35. Coleman led in rebounding with 130, followed closely by Craig Utt with 120 and Scott Ferra, 122. Our foul shooter leader was Scott Ferra with 73% average, and he also led in field goal percentages with an amazing 60% total.

The ultimate peak of the season, however, was the astounding and hard-fought defeat of Ashtabula City ( 44-36) played in front of a record, standing-room-only crowd, a defeat which led to an outright win by the Streaks of the NEC Championship. It turned out to be everything the crowd expected it to be. Following the game, Scott Ferra was named the Most Valuable Player by the radio station WQLS. Coach Jim Dolan ecstatically proclaimed it one of the happiest days of his life, summing up the feelings of the Streaks' fans. Congratulations to an outstanding team for an outstanding year!

1. Coach Dolan watches intently as the Blue Streaks warm up for a big game.

3. Looking for his teammates, Butch Dodson keeps an eye on the eager opponent behind him.

GIRLS HAVE A 50/50 SEASON

The girls' Varsity Basketball team finished in a three-way tie for fifth place in the NEC with a 5-9 record. Seniors Lora Havrilla led the team with 50 assists, and Lori Cicenias, 56 offensive rebounds and 120 total rebounds, highest foul shooting percentage .67, most points scored with 136. Tracy Petti scored the second highest number of points with 127 and led the team with a field goal percentage of .42. Sophomore Jackie Bell led the team in defensive rebounds with 67 and was fourth in team scoring.

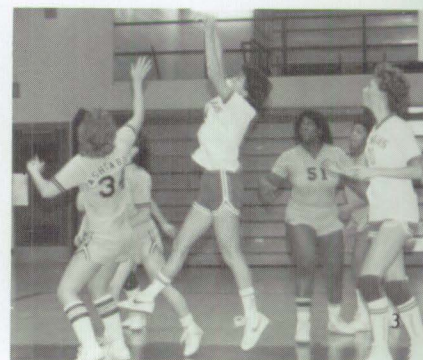

Junior Marsha Adams started at guard, played excellent defense, and was counted on to bring the ball down the court, second in team assists, Junior Marcia Wallace improved as the year progressed, finishing third in scoring, third in rebounding and set a new school record with nine blocked shots against Conneaut. Juniors Amy Otterman, Val Lasko, Stacy Pisor, and Lori Baker provided excellent support from the bench to aid in every ball game. Senior Michele Robinson suffered a knee injury in the City game and was lost for the rest of the season.

Highlights of the season were a double over-time victory over Harvey, a victory over AA-ranked Chardon, and a season-ending over-time victory over Ashtabula City. Girls' overall record was 7-13.

J.V.'S SHOW PROMISE FOR THE FUTURE

Fundamentals and team play were stressed throughout the season. All players had the opportunity to start or receive much playing time every game. This was essential due to the fact that these young men must fill the top seven void on next years' varsity team.

Many people don't realize the important role the J.V. team had in the success of the varsity. Many hours on their own practice time were sacrificed to "being the opponent" in order to prepare the varsity for each upcoming game. This involved much hard work and concentration because new offenses, defenses, and plays had to be learned every week.

Leading scorers were Ben Kreigmont, 9.4 points per game, and Scott Cline, 8.7 points per game. John Josza was strong on the boards, pulling down 8 rebounds per game. Mike Warren showed good team play dishing out 4.2 assists per game. Other steady performers were Mike Martin, John Sandru, Duke Dipofi, and Mike Hiteman. Congratulations on a fine season.

GIRLS' JV DOES WELL

The Girls' J.V. Basketball Team finished the year with a 17 and 1 record. Their only loss came in the second game of the year against Mentor-Lake Catholic. In N.E.C. League play, they posted a perfect 14 wins and no loss record. The team had three sophomores and eight freshmen. Sophomore, Chrissy Sutyak was the team leader and had an excellent year on the floor and in the statistics department. Carla Pyle, sophomore, played a very important part in rebounding and in holding the opposing teams in check defensively, blocking 18 shots. Sophomore Pam Leitch also was an influential player on defense and had 14 blocked shots for the year. Eight freshmen made up the remainder of the team: Tammy Thomas, Jane Brown, Heather Anderson, Lorna Dilley, and Darlene Evans, all of whom saw plenty of action and should make up an excellent Junior Varsity team again next year.

FRESHMEN SCORE

The 1983-1984 Freshman team finished the season with an 11 and 1 record. The team averaged 39 points per game while allowing 28 points per game. The hallmark of this team was its defensive play and hustle. All boys on the team started and scored at some time during the season. Outstanding prospects for future Madison teams are playmaker Jason Warholic, assist leader Derek Judd, defensive standout Tim Wilson, scoring and rebound leader Dave Fletcher and hot shooting Phil Platz.

STREAKS CAPTURE NEC TITLE!

The varsity wrestling team struggled through a difficult schedule to finish the season with an 8-5-1 record. The Streaks competed once again in the Kenston Wrestling Tournament. 112 pounder Dave Rowan breezed through the tournament to place first while 185 pounder Larry Skoch and heavyweight Vince Padavick placed second. Finishing in third for the team was 105 pounder Jake Reihner and 132 pounder Jeff Whitehair. Although the Streaks had only five wrestlers place at the tournament, the team finished in fifth place overall out of sixteen teams.

In NEC competition, the team finished with a 5-0-1 record. The only disappointment came when the Streaks tied Conneaut in a hard-fought dual match. The Streaks were able to reverse that tie, however, by successfully defending the NEC championship for the fifth consecutive year. Tournament champions for the Streaks were 98 pounder Jake Reihner, 112 pounder Dave Rowan, 119 pounder Scott Francis, 126 pounder Jeff Whitehair, 138 pounder Chet Bonner, and heavyweight Vince Padavick. Placing third for the Streaks were 132 pounder Jason Reihner, 145 pounder Tony Ciammaichella, 155 pounder Todd Sadler and 175 pounder Randy Hyrne. Larry Skoch managed to place fourth. Other wrestlers at the tournament were Buddy Ransom at 105 pounds, and John Lackner at 167 pounds. Although they did not place, the two gave very valiant efforts.

Overall, the Streaks accomplished everything they had set out to do. Leading the team this year was 112 pounder Dave Rowan who placed fifth at the state tournaments in 1983. Dave became the fourth wrestler in NEC history to win the NEC tournament four years in a row. He was also named this year's Most Outstanding Wrestler at the tournament as well as winning the same award at the Kenston Tournament. Dave has wrestled varsity for four years and has accumulated a record of 113-6-1. Other outstanding efforts were put in by heavyweight Vince Padavick who had 10 pins and Jeff Whitehair who had a dual meet record of 11-0-1 before he suffered a knee injury and was not able to compete further.

The team had a very successful year and is looking forward to the 1984-85 season. The team will lose five starters due to graduation: four-year letter winner Dave Rowan and three-year letter winners Chet Bonner, Tony Ciammaichella, Randy Hyrne and Vince Padavick.

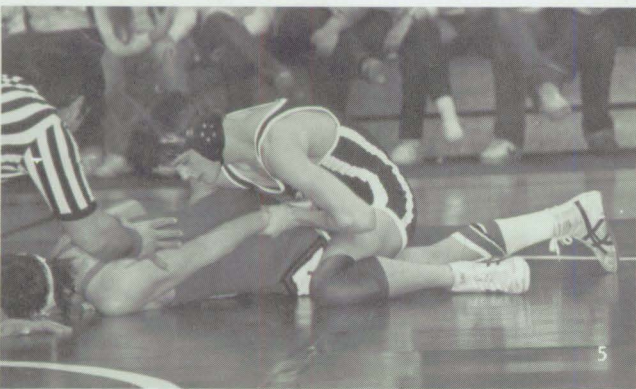

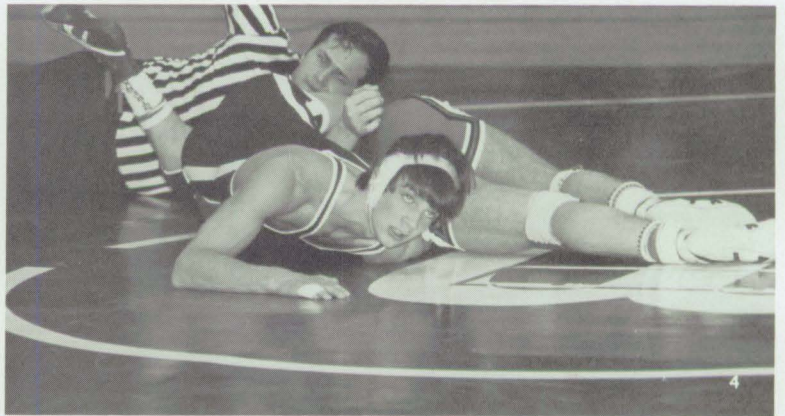

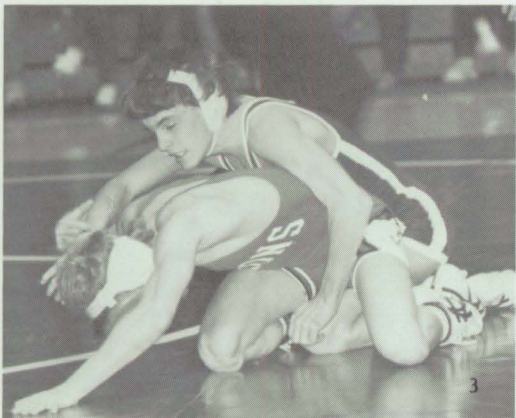

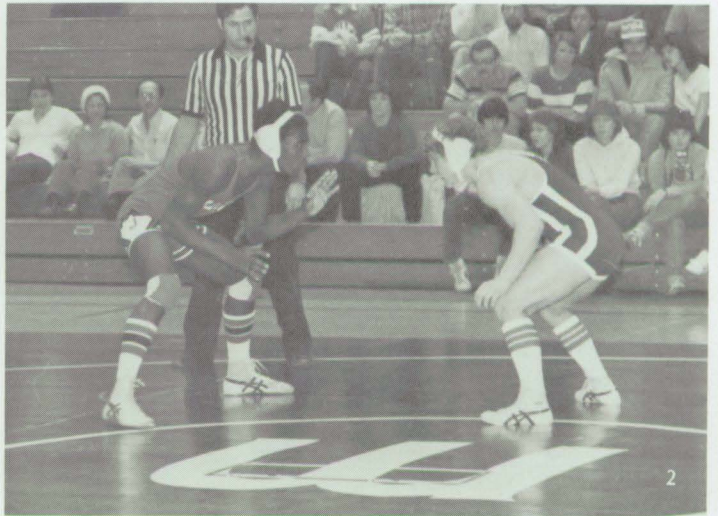

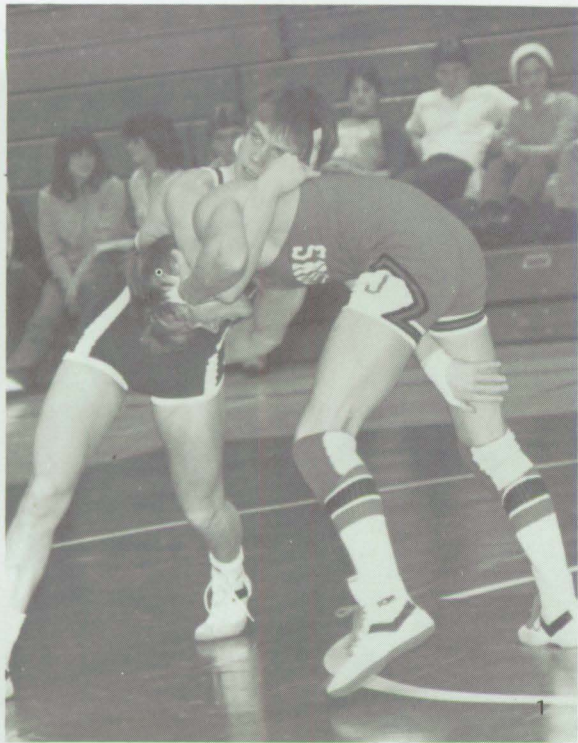

1. Coach Gene Melin has led the Streaks to five consecutive N.E.C. championships

2. Four-time N.E.C. champion and fifth place finisher at State Tournament in 1983, Dave Rowan, the Streaks' 112 pounder, pins his opponent.

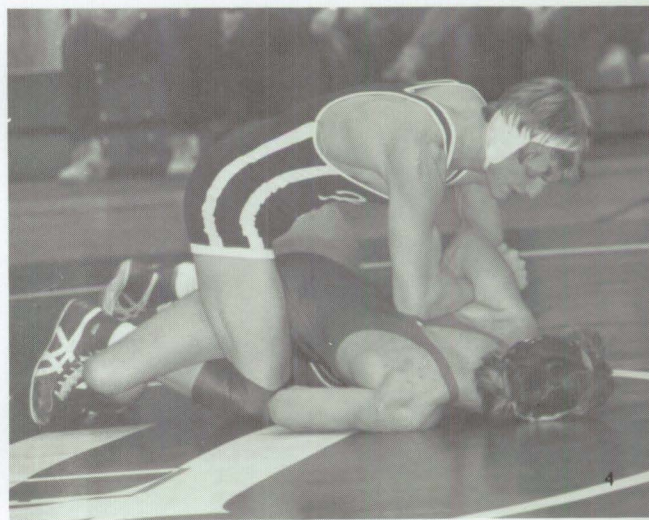

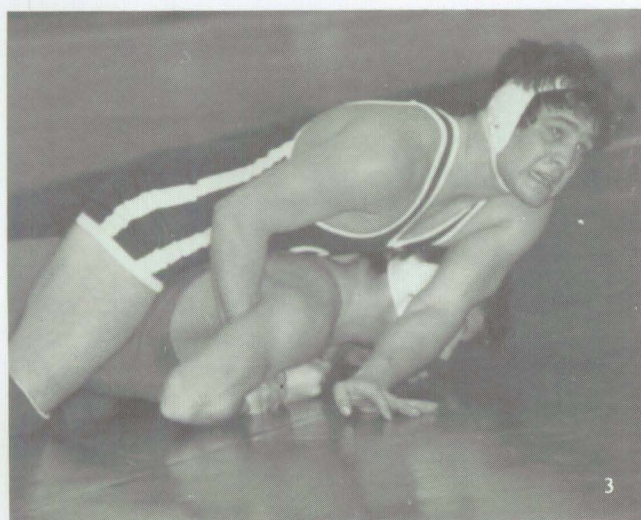

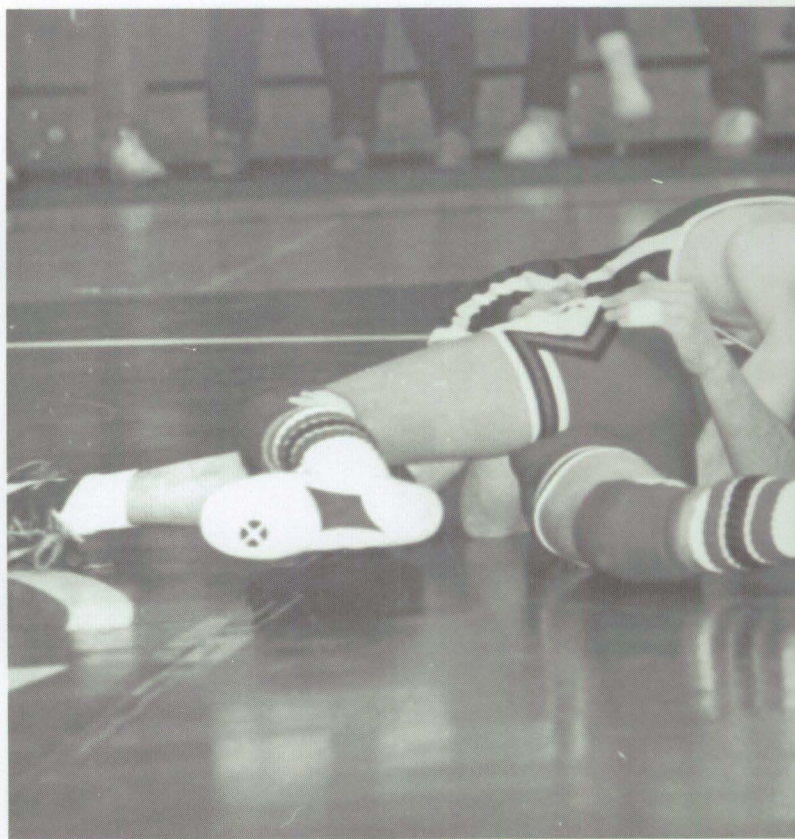

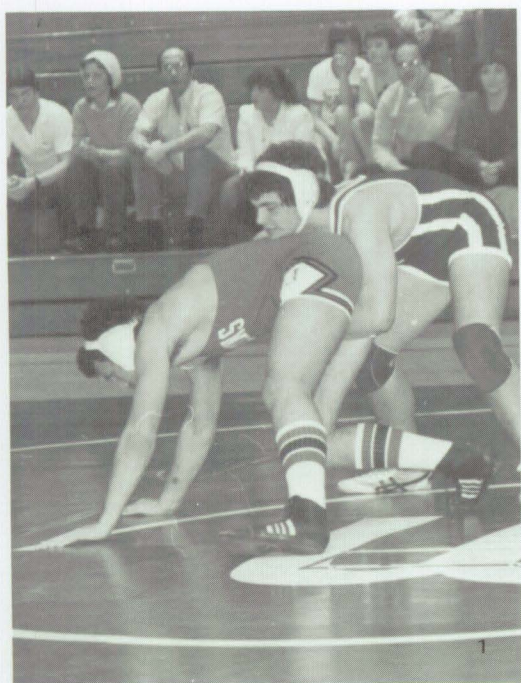

3. The 1983-84 Varsity Wrestling Team: Bottom row: Dave Osborne, Buddy Ransom, Jake Reihner, Rod Congrove, Jason Reihner, Capt. 1. 126 pounder Jeff Whitehair prepares to set his opponent up for a takedown.
2. John Lackner squares off to face his adversary in 167 lb. action.
3. Jake Reihner the Streaks' 98 pounder, rides his opponent roughly while trying to work for a pinning combination.
4. Creating discomfort for his opponent, 138 lb. wrestler Chet Bonner arches his way to a pin.
5. Scott Francis prepares to slip in an arm bar during 119 lb. action.

1. Frank Mayer, 185 pounder, successfully uses the "Jefferson ride" to control his opponent.
2. Dave Rowan puts on the pressure while attempting to pin his opponent.
3. 175 lb. wrestler Randy Hyrne grimaces while trying to work in a "power-half".
4. 145 lb. wrestler, Tony Ciammaichella, controls his opponent while working in an "arm bar."

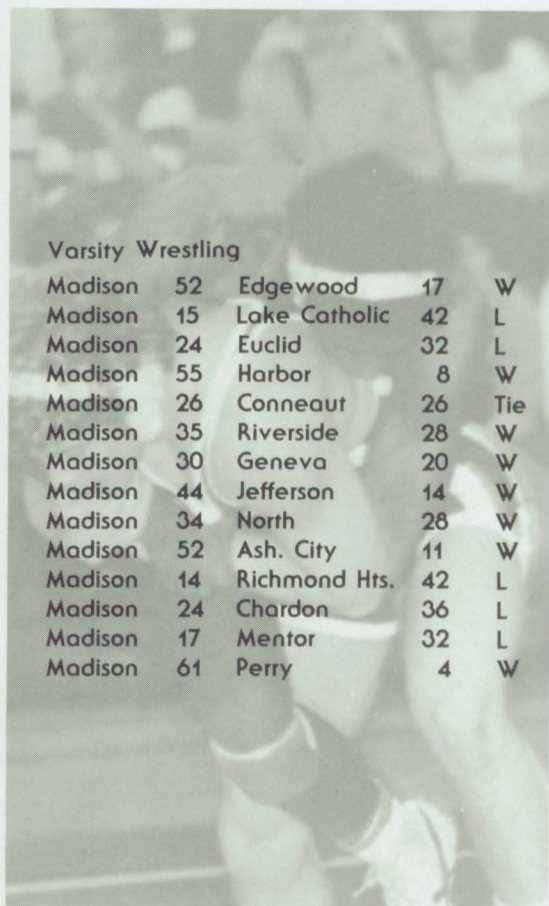

1. Trying to break loose from his opponent for an escape is Mike Mills during 126lb. action.

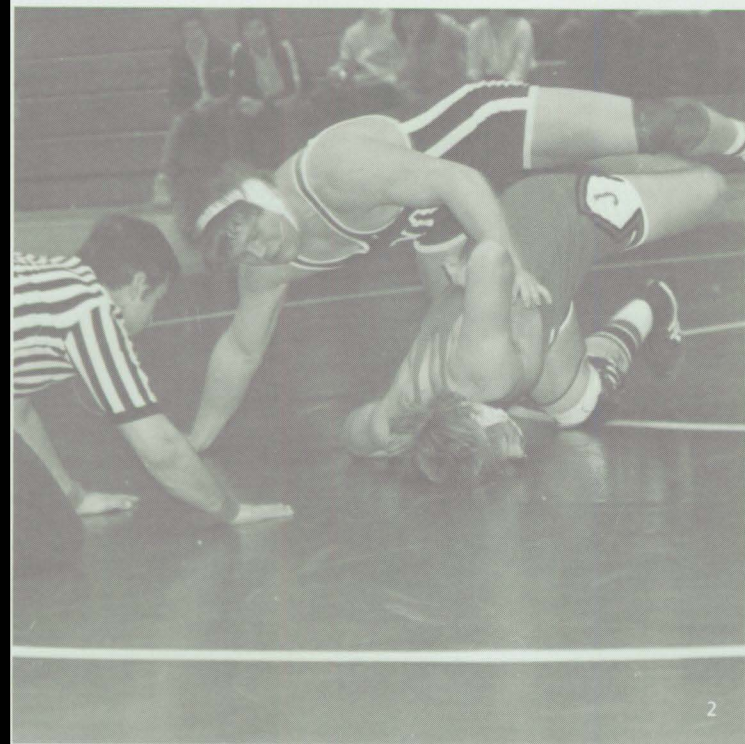

2. Heavyweight Vince Padavick manhandles his opponent as he creates pressure to work in a pinning combination.

3. Caught in an uncomfortable position is 132 pounder Jason Reihner while using the "cross body ride."

Three Best of Luck in the future of Sater

FRESHMEN AND J.V.'S HAVE WINNING SEASON

The JV wrestlers had an overall successful season. The team finished with a 10-4 record, and Coach Bob Sater was pleased and proud of his team. "The JV kids work just as hard as the varsity, but they usually receive less credit," said Mr. Sater. He went on to say that the JV program is designed to prepare the wrestlers for eventual varsity action. The wrestlers also participated in the Lake Catholic JV Invitational, the Ledgesmont Invitational, and hosted the Madison JV Invitational.

The 1983-84 Freshman Wrestlers finished the season with a respectful 5-3 overall record and a 3-1 NEC record. The freshmen began their competition by hosting a quadrangular match with Austintown Fitch, Valley Forge and Lake Catholic. The Streaks finished the match by defeating Austintown Fitch (41-25) and Lake Catholic (45-36) but losing to Valley Forge (17-59). Another non-conference opponent was Mentor Shore. The freshmen were totally devastated by the tough Shore wrestling team. In the NEC, the Streaks only wrestled John R. Williams and Auburn. The Streaks wrestled each team twice, losing only to Auburn. (39-42)

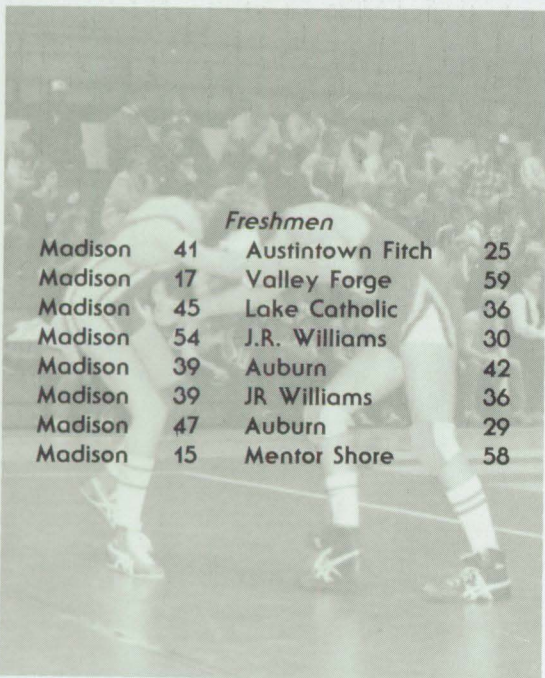

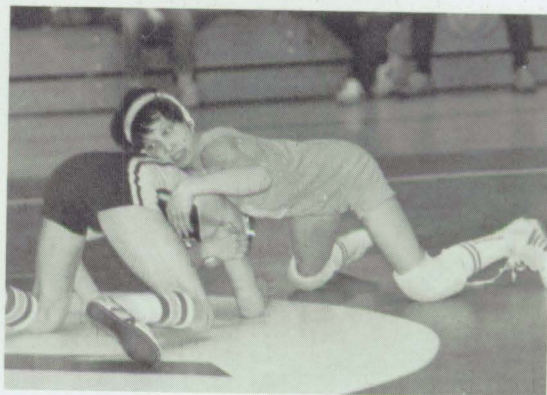

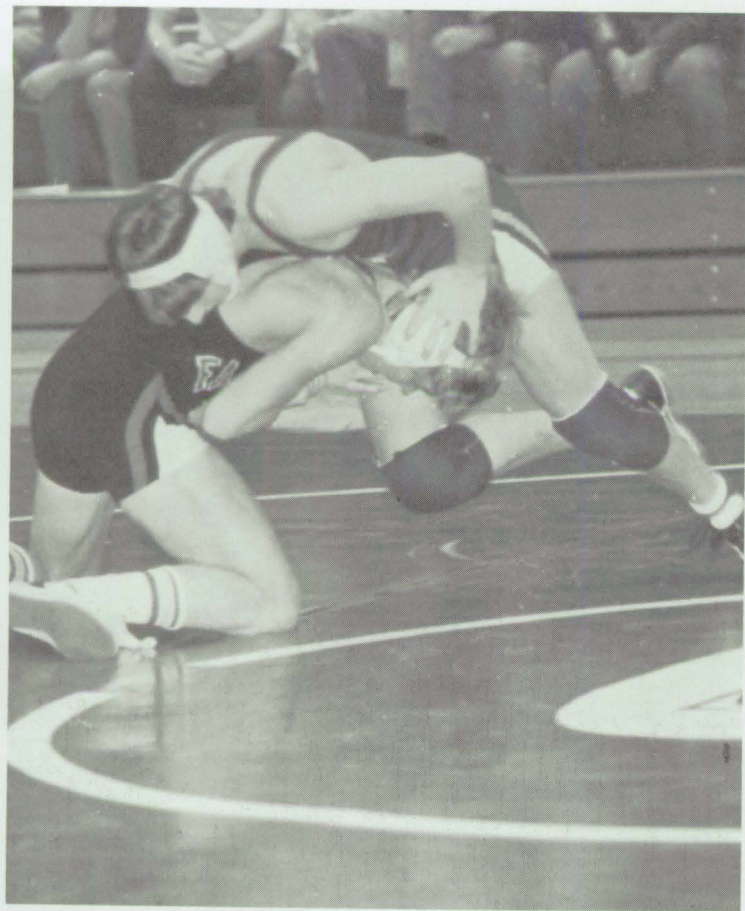

The freshmen competed in several tournaments which included the following: St. Edwards Christmas Tournament, (5th place) Auburn Quadrangular Tournament, (third) Mentor Shore Tournament, (5th) and The Streetsboro Tournament, (8th). Tournament champions were Jared Brichford, Ted Ransom, and Mike Lackner.

The freshman team competed very well all season long. Four freshman wrestlers were moved up to J.V. competition: Ted Ransom, (15-2), Craig Rowan (12-6), Ed Grafton (12-5), and Mike Lackner (16-1).

SOPHOMORE YEAR ROLLS

CLASS OF 1986

A sophomore's life is full of waiting. Even though you've been through it all before, it's still an exciting year. After what seems like an eternity, your sixteenth birthday rolls around and with that comes the joy of viewing the movies full of car wrecks and disasters in Drivers' Ed. And then comes the unexplainable joy of cruising Madison on a Saturday night. An average sophomore year is full of math finals, class rings, getting your license, hanging out at Game Trek, going to the drive-in, and just plain having a good time.

SPRING SPORTS

GIRLS' SOFTBALL HIGHLIGHTS SPRING

The 1983 spring sports program was highlighted by the girls' softball team capturing a sectional crown, and then finishing runner-up at the district tournament. Jay Davis also shined brightly in the eyes of all spectators by becoming Madison's first state-track meet qualifier in the 110-meter high hurdles. Overall, the entire spring sports made some very outstanding improvements in both junior high and high school programs. The athletes and coaches have worked hard for their success and hope that they can continue to perform well in the 1984 season.

STREAKS TOUCH ALL BASES

Spring 1983 was marked by promise and disappointment as the boys' baseball team struggled to a 9-14 mark, 6-8 in the N.E.C. "Pitching and defense are the backbone of a successful ball club," said Coach Opron. Our Blue Streaks lacked consistency in these areas and fell to several opponents despite scoring numerous runs.

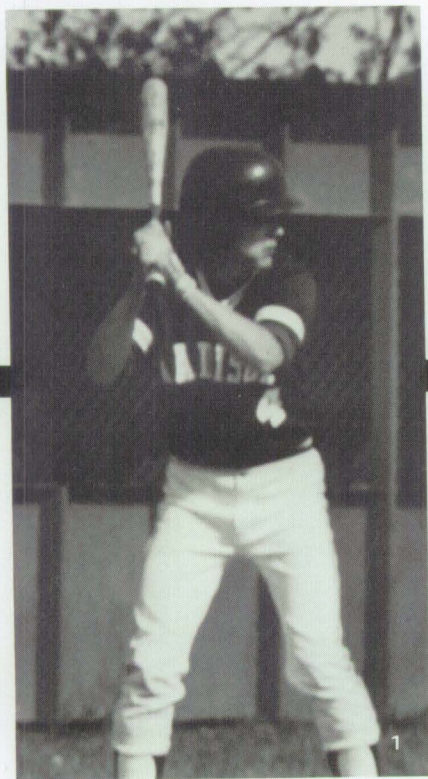

Bright spots on the team bode well for the future as hurler Larry Hall made the all-conference team for his mound excellence. Brian Raico led the Streaks' hit parade with his consistent performance all season long at the plate.

1. The team congratulates Rick Persinger on a home run.
2. Larry Hall prepares to hit the ball out of the park.
3. Jim Illig is ready to make the play.
4. Kevin Coleman makes the catch.

League opponents will be wary of our hardballers as they return ten lettermen to this spring's squad. With Larry Hall return Jerry Hites, Tim Palinski, Mark Paquin, Jim Illig, Ray Adams, Ben Orris, Tom Potti, Mike Leitch, and Dave Capel. "With preparation and dedication, success is attainable," Bear Bryant once said. Baseball this spring will surely follow this formula as the Streaks vie for the N.E.C. crown.

1. Eyeing the pitcher, Jim Illig prepares to bat in a fellow Blue Streak.

2. Mark Fletcher positions himself to prevent a St. John's opponent from scoring with a base hit.

3. Tim Palinski, backed up by Larry Hall, traps a St. John opponent and makes the final out of the inning.

GIRLS REACH FOR THE TOP

The 1983 Girls' Varsity Softball team had an excellent season. They went to the N.E.C. districts and came away with the runners-up trophy. They had a 16 and 5 record. This can be accredited to Janeane Wirfel's terrific pitching and a superb defensive effort by the rest of the team. Returning lettermen for the 1984 season are: Tracy Petti, Marsha Adams, Kelly Barnes, Janeane Wirfel, Mary Fay, Amy Otterman, Val Lasko, and Stacy Pisor. Some of the outstanding players were: Kelly Barnes with 27 runs batted in, Tracy Petti with 5 triples and a 933% fielding average, Marsha Adams with 25 walks and 25 stolen bases, and Amy Otterman with two homeruns. Another outstanding player was Jackie Bell, who, as a freshman, played both varsity and J.V. and had a fielding average of 1000. The pitchers were Janeane Wirfel (16-5), Stacy Pisor (0-0), and Jackie Bell 0-0. The team plans to have an even better season next year.

3. Tammy Reese, Julie Cornell, and Joan Gasper proudly exhibit the N.E.C. district runner's-up trophy.

1. Tracy Petti eagerly waits for her perfect pitch.
2. The team always gets really nervous before a big game.
3. Tracy Petti speeds to third base, giving her another triple.
4. Amy Otterman glances at Mr. Hance for the signal to steal.

BOYS' TRACK IMPRESSES ALL

The Blue Streak Boys' Track team members have travelled, worked, and impressed many. They schooled junior high athletes, ran two field-event camps over Easter, and developed a significant depth not seen at Madison for a very long time. We have produced three NEC champions and four NEC runners-up. We saw Madison's first AAA District champion and a District runner-up. We qualified four individuals in five events for regional competition, and now we have Madison's first state qualifier, Jay Davis. This was indeed a significant accomplishment for a team of fifty with only two senior lettermen.

1. Tim Palinski runs his leg of the relay.
2. John Lackner rounds the corner and heads for the finish line.
3. Dave Jackson takes a breather after a tough race.

3. Bob Julius soars into action.
 4. Jim Wallace puts great effort into throwing the discus.
 5. Jay Davis just barely clears the bar as he sets a new school record.

BLUE STREAKS KEEP PACE

Leading the girl's track team to an exemplary 6-3 season was Mr. Jack Pavesich, a tough but well-liked coach. The team also did very well in the NEC tournament, placing 5th with a 5-2 record.

Becky Martorana, Julie Ransom, and Connie Manypenny, the three captains on the team, all played outstanding seasons. Becky Martorana, an NEC champion for the discus throwing, set school records and qualified for the regional meet in that area. Julie Ransom played an excellent season as the team's best high jumper, and Connie Manypenny was the team's best hurdler.

Perhaps the most exciting game of the season was when Madison beat Lake Catholic, their long time rivals. It was a win that everyone worked hard for.

The whole team is returning, including 14 letter winners. Although, since it is a relatively young team, the girls need to put some effort into improving their attitude and team spirit. Coach Pavesich expects only Geneva and Riverside to be trouble spots for the team. Other than that, the 1984 team should run a strong, winning season.

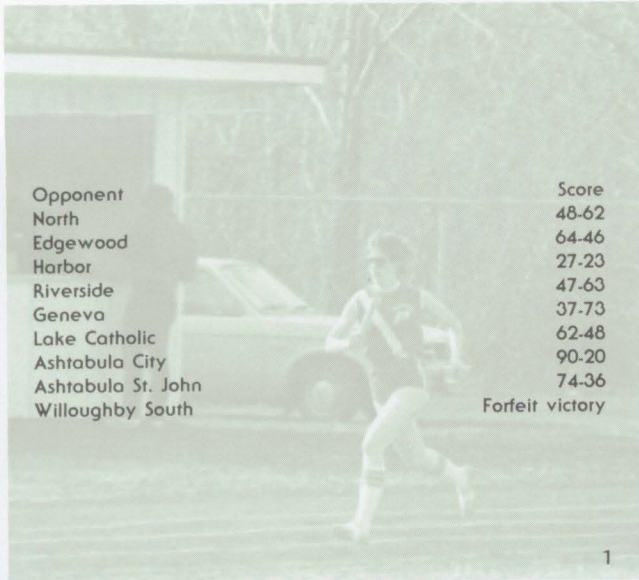

1. Cathy Pivonka comes in for the stretch.
2. The 1983 girls' track team with coach Jack Pavesich!

GIRLS' JV SHOWS REAL TALENT

With a 5-3 record, the 1983 Girls' J.V. Softball team wasn't up to par, but the record doesn't show the real talent the team contained. The pitchers, Jackie Bell, who also played varsity and was 3-0, Carla Pyle and Kelly Fletcher, contributed to the team's talent. Some of the outstanding freshmen on the team were Julie Chandler with a .419 batting average and 17 RBI's, Jackie Bell with a .536 batting average and 18 RBI's, and Becky Crawford with 14 RBI's and a .471 batting average.

Jodi Pirc, a sophomore, did an excellent job in the outfield but broke her nose and didn't play much of the season. Sharon Swartzwelder led the team in stolen bases with 17, and Lisa Travis was the team's best defensive player. Returning lettermen for the 1984 season are Colleen Wilson, Kelly Fletcher, Carla Pyle, Kris Marshall, Jackie Rutkowski, Julie Chandler, and Becky Crawford. Members of the team who will move up to Varsity are Jackie Bell, Jodi Pirc, Sharon Swartzwelder, Debbie Gerred, Theresa Sency, and Lisa Travis. With this talent, the team expects to have a better season next year.

TENNIS TEAM WORKS HARD

The Madison High School Tennis Team had a "fairly good season", said coach Jack Higley. The Blue Streak Tennis Team is a third year team, and they made their mark by placing third last season in the North Eastern Conference. But, Mr. Higley says, their most rewarding match was when they participated in the Lake County Classic where they took first place. The most outstanding player was Eric Delp and Larry Clemente most improved.

WE'VE ONLY JUST BEGUN

The promise of a whole new future for the graduating Seniors was stressed in the theme song "We've Only Just Begun", which was also the theme of the Prom. This year's Prom was held at Thunderhill Country Club on May 14, 1983. The Junior Class did a fantastic job of planning and decorating. "P.F. Flyer" supplied the music, keeping the couples dancing until eleven o'clock. The special event of the evening was the crowning of Gina Gauntner and Ken Malinowski. The honored couple was delighted to be chosen King and Queen. The Queen's court consisted of the following girls: Jeanne Hart, Helen Conrad, Mary Jo Incorvati, and Jenny Rowe. The King's court consisted of Steve Frania, Mike Hudik, Frank Valerio, and John Worthy. Prom is the last high school social event for the Seniors and is cherished and remembered for a lifetime.

1. The event of the evening was when Ken Malinowski and Gina Gauntner were crowned King and Queen.
2. Posing with the couples, John Worthy jumps into the picture.
3. A wild moment arises as the band, "P.F. Flyer", plays through the evening.

5. The theme for the 1983 prom, "We've Only Just Begun", is symbolized here by the rainbow.
6. Dreamily moving to the music, Dave Rowan glances over his date's shoulder for a quick glance at the disruptive photographer.

FRESHMEN PLOD ALONG

CLASS OF 1987

Being a freshman is like starting a marathon. The gun goes off and you try to get your bearings together while you also try and get a head start on everyone else. Who could forget the first day of school when no one could find any of their classes, and how did they expect you to find them anyway when there were no room numbers on half of the rooms? And who could forget trying to get used to eating C lunch when you always were used to eating at 11:30, but try telling that to your stomach when it's rumbling and snarling in the middle of fourth period? One's freshman year is rough, but it's always exciting, never boring, and full of great memories.

ORGANIZATIONS CONTRIBUTE

OPPORTUNITIES ABOUND

Organizations play a vital role in the livelihood of Madison High. Organizations give a student the chance to become more involved with some activities in the school, to enjoy the friendships cultivated through an organization's events, and the ability to build skills such as openness and leadership. Anyway, without organizations, how would you have an excuse to get out of chemistry class once a week?

VO-ED STUDENTS LEARN TRADE

Auburn Career Center provides a valuable service to some of the students of Madison High by allowing them to attend vocational education classes. To get into Auburn, a student needs good grades, good attendance and must be interested in some of the classes. Then, he or she talks to a counselor, and a select few are picked to attend. But, as one student put it, "if you think it's free, forget it."

At Auburn, the students are divided into two groups, OEA and VICA. OEA stand for Office Education Association. The goal of the group is to promote leadership. OEA has sold toys and candles, they had a talent show, they went to local and state contests, and they helped the handicapped at the Special Olympics.

VICA stands for Vocational Industrial clubs of America, and a student from Madison is their president, John Durant. The club sponsors movies, has spaghetti dinners, and puts on car and motorcycle shows. With the money they earn, the members of VICA go to state and local contests, buy new equipment, and give some money to charity. The club even has a special VICA cheer and a VICA hug.

The school has a lot to be proud of. Every year, a senior brunch is held, and all the classes and teachers share a morning together. Auburn even has their own newspaper, the Voedition, with the editor being another student, Andrea Schmidt. At the end of the year, a senior banquet is held and pins are awarded.

LEADING THEIR CLASS TO SUCCESS

Collecting toys and money for Christmas-for-Every-Child, selling posters, helping set up Monday night bingo, and keeping a 3.0 grade average all make up the busy life of a National Honor Society member. To get into this elite organization, one must have a cumulative average of at least 3.0 and be selected by teachers. Then, at an assembly for juniors and seniors, the new members are tapped by the old members. Later that evening, the new members are inducted at a formal initiation. Members of N.H.S. hope to go to Cedar Point at the end of the year with the money they've earned.

Representing the student body is a big responsibility for the Student Council, but they handle it well. With the help of Mr. Leitch, their advisor, they co-sponsored the Christmas rock concert, and they also collected for United Way. The Student Council, under the leadership of president Walter Spaulding, organized a canned food drive for needy families during the Christmas season. For each can of food brought in, the student entered his name for a drawing on a radio/cassette tape player. It is obvious to see that the Student Council does indeed represent the students and the school.

Student Council: Top row- Walt Spaulding, Tony Ciammaichella, John Kurila, Duff Taylor. Middle row- Becky Bodnar, Erin Lindsey, Lori Raines, Denise D'Abate, Joe Christopher, Dana Smith, Colleen Penayer. Bottom row- Debbie Travis, Doug Brown, Dawn Custer.

1. Mark Paquin helps set up for Monday night Bingo.
2. Two N.H.S. members cheer on their team.
3. Roz Ruland dives in to the bingo cards.
4. Mark Paquin, Belinda Tiller, and Roz Ruland take a break from working.
5. The new N.H.S. members stand up to take oath.

TALENTED STUDENTS DEMONONSTRATE EXPERTISE

The Future Homemakers of America is a class club with Mrs. Ashton, Mrs. Lee, and Mrs. McMahon as their advisors. F.H.A. has been extremely busy this year. They volunteered during the blood drive, sold baked goods on voting day, and babysat for people taking the G.E.D. (high school equivalency test) among other accomplishments. With the money they earned, the club donated a sewing machine to the school, and with the leftover money, they hope to go to Geauga Lake again this year.

Taking care of business is what the Business Club does best. Miss Spiesman and Mr. Byers are advisors, and the club is mainly composed of junior and senior IOE. There are thirty-seven members, and they take on such projects as typing for the Madison Garden Club, the Old Fashioned Days Committee, and various cookbooks. They do work for teachers, type play programs and the freshmen orientation booklet. They've sold candy to raise money and helped out the school and public libraries.

The G.I.R.L.S. Club, a service organization, has done many things for the school and the community. Under the leadership of president, Janeane Wirfil, they auctioned off box lunches at Old Fashioned Days, sold homecoming mums, held a canned food drive at all the schools in November, are ushers at commencement ceremonies, and give a percentage of the slave day profit to the American Cancer Society. Initiations are held every spring where the old members douse the new members with loads of perfume, baby powder, lipstick and other things too disgusting to mention. That evening, there is a formal candlelight ceremony where the old members light the new members' candles.

After being inactive for three years, the Key club is rebuilding itself and organizing. The first step was inducting twenty-five new members from seniors through freshmen. Dr. McHugh, an area dentist, acts as their advisor and explains that Key club is an offshoot of the Kiwanas and has three levels, with the first level being in high school, the second, college, and the third, in the community. Key Club's goal is to promote leadership and do community service projects. It's easy to see that after three years of lying dormant, Key Club is up and kicking.

1. Sally Ditchcreek feels that G.I.R.L.S. Club initiation wasn't worth getting up for.
2. G.I.R.L.S.' Club members look their best at all times.
3. I.O.E. takes a coffee break without the coffee.
4. Mrs. Lee and Girls' Club members supervise a nursery school.
5. Bennie Orris is for sale on the auction block on Key Club's Slave Day as a fund raiser for the group.

STUDENT STUDY OTHER CULTURES

A German club meeting is a different experience. Once a month, the club gets together to talk German, eat German food, and play German games. They also plan other events such as skiing and Christmas caroling. With the help of Glenn Orris, president; Jim Gumm, vice-president; Lisa Travis, secretary; Mike Mills, treasurer; and representatives, Mark Swanson and Dana Smith, German heritage and culture live on.

A biannual event held every other spring at Madison High School's cafeteria is the Language Fair. Where else can one see bumba and can-can dancers, be treated to the jazzy sounds of the stage band, hear a yodeling contest, and sample every kind of foreign food imaginable from tacos to French pastries? One of the highlights of the fair is the soccer game between the German, French, and Spanish teams. The Germans emerged victorious. All in all, it was an exciting and enlightening evening where all the languages could get along.

The 1984 German Club

- 1.) Many interesting people are drawn to the Language fair.
- 2.) Kim Loucek, Rose Bohinc, and Rick English combine their talents to please the audience.
- 3.) Hungry people flock to the Hofbräuhaus for Kartoffel Puffers and desserts.
- 4.) La Bomba dance anyone? Dancing form (L to R) Michelle Gerred, Amy Zoldak, Mrs. Battes, Lisa Amos, Belinda Tiller, Kathy Acerra, Marcy Schmidt, Lisa Reed.
- 5.) Ring-around-the-rosey, as performed by the German Club is a good way to get to hold someone's hand.

DRAMA RECEIVES RAVE REVIEWS

Mortimer Brewster snuggles up to his fiancée, Elaine Harper.

In an attempt to usher his aunts to go to bed for sinister reasons, Jonathan Brewster bids the ladies good-night while Dr. Einstein surveys the wine which, unbeknownst to him, has been poisoned by the aunts.

Uncle Teddy carries another "Yellow Fever Victim", played by Ron Franzese, to the "Panama Canal" located in the basement of his home where he has buried his aunts' other eleven victims.

The Madison High Drama Club presented their fall play, Arsenic and Old Lace on November 18 and 19. The lead roles were held by Moe Stephan, Tracy Cashen, and Joe Wills. It was Miss Kathy Jackson's first effort at directing, and despite many hardships and crisis situations, she persevered to produce an outstanding play. Stating that at times she did not think anything was going to work, everything did on opening night. The professional production, which included wine at intermission time, played to sold-out audiences both evenings and were well-received by the people viewing the play.

Grabbing his ship from the officer's hand, Uncle Teddy refuses to turn his toy over to charity, claiming that he "gave his word to Fighting Bob Evans that The Oregon goes to Australia."

Coming to Mortimer Brewster's rescue is Police Officer O'Hara.

In an effort to convince the aunts of the reputation of Happydale, Mr. Wither-spoon emphasizes the happy life-style observed by the patients who reside at the asylum.

"We Did It All Ourselves!"

The yearbook staff had a busy year. Starting with an $1800 deficit, the staff mounted a massive ad campaign. All their efforts worked as they paid off the deficit and managed to keep the price within 50¢ of last year's book.

Julie Ransom, editor of the yearbook, said, "I'm really proud of this year's staff. They're all hard workers, each and every one of them."

Many evenings, week-ends and occasionally even holidays were spent putting together layouts, finding needed pictures, and writing last-minute emergency copy. Community members, faculty, and students were all called in to help a staff member identify an unnamed person in a photo or to supply necessary information inadvertently omitted from copy, and many people donated pictures when one of ours failed to turn out. Without all this cooperation, the yearbook never would have been produced.

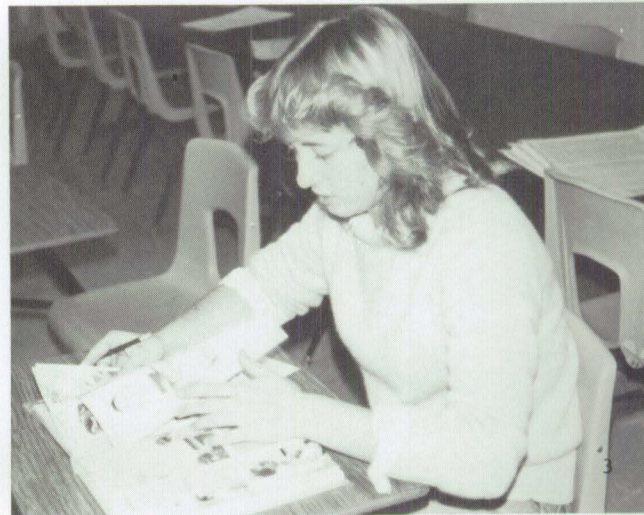

The inexperienced staff members soon became pros at completing two-page spreads before a deadline, and many staff members were amazed at the incorrect perception on the part of other students that yearbook is a "cake course". Staff members, if they did not know otherwise, quickly learned the truth.

Not only did the staff work closely together, but they gained a great deal of practical knowledge, including budgeting, marketing analysis, advertising, design and layout, writing, and most of all, responsibility. Each staff member completed the year richer in knowledge of all these areas.

1. Doug Brown, Tony Ciammaichella, and Julie Ransom keep the school up-to-date with the December calendar.

2. Rae Laufenburger works intently on layouts.

3. Lora Havrilla thumbs through old yearbooks to find ideas for different creative layouts.

1. The 1984 Cauldron staff: (Top row from left) Joy Parcell, Jim Bradbury, Tony Ciammaichella, Doug Brown, Tom Grist; (Bottom row from left): Cindy Holroyd, Rae Laufenburger, Kim Bower, Lora Havrilla, Connie Manypenny, Terri Hatton, Theresa Bohinc, Julie Bavetz, Julie Ransom, Editor

2. Editor Julie Ransom kept the staff members working hard and together through thick and thin.

3. Yearbook staff members put in many long hours to meet a deadling, including week-ends and holidays away from school.

4. Mindy Baxter completes copy for one of the yearbook deadlines.

STUDENTS LEND A HELPING HAND

There are about twenty-five students who spend their study halls getting other students in trouble. Actually, they just call them down to the office so Mr. Leitch, Mr. Sater, or Mrs. Delong can give them demerits and ask them probing questions, like, "Where were you third period yesterday?" Being an office aid is a busy job. Aside from calling students to the office, they run errands, do duplicating for teachers, and smile to make visitors feel welcome. It's a dirty job, but someone has to do it.

Library aids are pretty important people. They help by checking out books, file information, type, and process new books. Library aids don't just sit around and read the magazines. Mr. Haines personally picks them and appreciates the help of the thirty-five aids.

Being an A.V. aid requires knowledge of the equipment, organization, and the ability to calm frantic teachers who suddenly need a T.V. to show "The Mating Habits of Groundhogs and their Effects on the Plutonium Industry." There are about thirty-five aids, and all of them have their hands full. They have to organize sign-outs, take the equipment to the rooms, set it up for the teachers, clean and equipment, and pick up at the end of the day. They even have to tape all the sports events. The big test comes at the end of the year when commencement activities are taped and shown live on channel 6. Even under the watchful eyes of Mr. Linhart, A.V. aids sometimes still mess up, and a teacher doesn't get the right equipment. But who wanted to watch "The Mating Habits of Groundhogs and their Effects on the Plutonium Industry" anyway?

Oftentimes when a teacher has too much work and not enough time, he usually drafts a few teachers' aids. Without teachers' aids, there would be no one to clean equipment, run errands, organize information, put experiments together, help with inventory, help clean and put papers together. Without these helpful people, teachers would really be lost.

2. Delivering the A.V. equipment are Patti PerDue and Melissa Smart.
3. Office aides Melissa Jevack, Jay Davis, and Danny Stewart look as if they're on official business.
4. Mark Czernek keeps things under control in the A.V. department.

MUSIC MAKES THE WORLD GO 'ROUND!

Making the transition from marching band to symphonic band is a little rough, but the members of these bands handle it well. The first major step was seating the different sections in order of musical talent. Each young musician had to play a tryout for a person who has some knowledge of music and isn't associated with the band. After this was accomplished, many students in the band psyched themselves for solo and ensemble contests in Kirtland, in February. A spring concert is held, and the band takes part in the National Honor Society tapping ceremony. The band also plays at commencement. All in all, it was a very busy year for these two bands.

Under the advisorship of Mrs. Sally Rogus, the ten Majorettes had a short but busy season. Practices start early in the summer and try-outs are held. After carefully selecting ten girls, routines are made up and learned. The majorettes work the hardest during the grueling week of band camp. At the football games, the girls act as flag girls and dance girls instead of having many different groups. The girls finish up the year by accompanying the band to Cleveland for the annual St. Patrick's Day parade in March.

4. The Symphonic Band shows their styles for the camera.

THE HALLS ARE ALIVE WITH THE SOUND OF MUSIC

The Choir, under the direction of Mr. Joseph Acerra, once again performed the annual Christmas concert. They also performed at the Lake County Choral Festival held at Wickliffe High School on February 26th and Commencement. In addition, the members of our choir participated in the Omega Solo and Ensemble Concert held at Kirtland High School.

1. Mr. Joe Acerra is an excellent director for both bands and the choir.
2. 1983-84 Choir

1. The 1983-84 Concert Band
2. Concert band members hit many highs and lows when they improve their music.
3. The Choir rehearses for the Spring Concert.

THERE'S MUSIC IN THE AIR

The pep band really lives up to their name. With only thirty-two members, the band performs at home basketball games, the Special Olympics, and they played Christmas music at the Monday night Bingo games during the holiday season. This is a band bursting out of their pep band t-shirts with pride.

"Doing everything by the book," is the motto and the philosophy that the stage band lives and plays by. The "book," in their case, is a collection of jazz, rock latin, swing, and various other types of pop music. They spend the first semester organizing and rehearsing the "book." The band performs at concerts within the school and also at the Lakeland Jazz Festival, which is rated number one in the nation for high school stage band festivals. This year, the band was also invited to perform at Youngstown State University with some local college bands.

 5. Band Council: first row: Vicki Reed second row: Susie Barto and Joe Acerra third row: Laura Korn and Tina Sistek fourth row: Keith Bolin and Chris Green
 6. Tim Pyles plays the drums for the Pep band at one of the Streaks' big basketball games.

SPECIAL INTEREST GROUPS PROGRESS

COMPUTER CLUB

JUNIOR ACHIEVEMENT

For only its first year in existence, computer club is booming. With Mr. Pelich and Mr. Winfield as advisors, the club helped teach teachers in the high school and students in the elementary schools how to use computers, and they sold jewelry to raise money. The money will be used to improve computer facilities and acquire software, which some of the students previewed. And in their spare time, the members of this club invent and program games. So if you happen to see an alien invader coming out of the computer room, don't say I didn't warn you.

Underneath everyone's noses, a small group has grown and really learned how to make money. They call themselves the "Animal Rackers" after their product, but are better know as Junior Achievement. Junior Achievement is a national organization that teaches business skills and covers every aspect of business from management on down. Under the guidance and advice of Mrs. Morgan, Mrs. Anderson, Ed Jurrus at Auburn, and Herdy Christian of Fisher's Big Wheel, they have made a practical and attractive product. An "animal rack" is shaped like any kind of animal the purchaser wants, and some of the students at Auburn cut out the shapes. From here, the process is supervised by the president, Brent Carrick; vice-president, in charge of production, Jim Snyder; vice-president in charge of finances, Vicky Trussell; vice-president in charge of marketing, Shelly Naylor; and vice-president personal corporate secretary, Wilma Grant. The racks are sanded, varnished, and hooks are screwed in by the group. They then can be personalized and are sold for five to six dollars. The group sells stock in the company, and they hope to have a party or a field trip at the end of the year.

- (Row 1) Keith Marius, Mark Paquin, Janeane, Wifef, Melissa Jevack, Tammy Both, Lisa Becker (Row 2) Julie Ransom, Maureen Stephan, Rose Bohinc, Chet Bonner, Ralf Caswell, Joe Logan, Frank Souky (Row 3) Diana Donch, Steve Michelson, Randy Hyrrne Carl Hollister, Rick English, (row 4) Mike Czerneck, Dave Kaley, Jim Bitter, Jim Illig, Roz Ruland, Nancy Howes
- (Row 1) David McDonald, Celeste Pollocd, John Henry, Melinda Hall, Judy Anderson, (row2) Charles McElroy, John Raneis Starla Layman, Wilma Grant, Dale Clutter, Micki Bach, Michelle Ramsey (Row 3) Les Graves, Rob Smith, Jim Snyder, Bob Gluvna Don Battes.

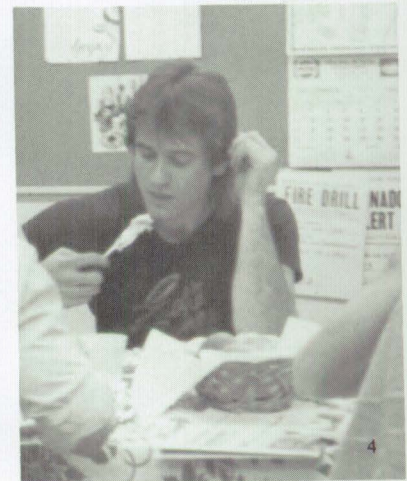

Putting the finishing touches on their Animal Racks are Jim Snyder and president Brent Carrick. Dave Kahley displays technology at its best. Using the knowledge he learned in computer class, Keith Marius erases his police record. Celeste Pollock and Kathy Hunter enjoy a friendly chat while working on their Animal Racks. Mr. Christian, the Junior Achievement sponsor, stops for a visit.

AND YOU THOUGHT STUDYHALL WAS LOUD!

From Quiet Riot's "Cum on Feel The Noize" to "You Got Another Thing Coming" by Judas Priest, Madison High School really had their socks rocked off by Broken English, a rock band. Originally from California, the band, which consists of Jay Markovitch, drummer; Al Collins, bass; Russ Lawyer, guitar; Paul Noble, guitar; and Paul Nevro, lead vocalist, has only been together a scant four months. Jay said that he knew the guitar player in California, and they got together over the phone. Most of the other players were from other bands. The name of the bands has no significance. They saw the name in a Los Angeles newspaper and "just went for it," which seems to be part of the band's philosophy. The members of the band see recording success in the future of Broken English and give this advice to struggling young bands in high school: "Keep practicing and stick with it. Most of all, don't give up."

EDUCATORS MOLD

Dedicating their lives to instruct students to be better prepared for life's challenges, teachers help students reach their goals and plan for their futures. Teachers inspire and motivate students to search for contributions they could make to society which might improve our world. New inventions, cures for disease, and hopes for a peaceful world are instilled in young minds. Teaching is responsible for man's progress. Teachers are shaping the minds of students who will change society with their contributions.

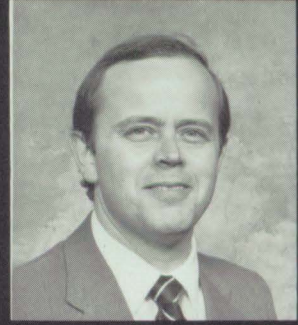

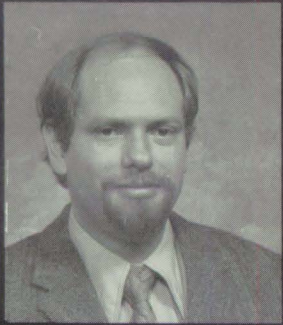

Operating the school smoothly is the job of the administration. Helping students choose the proper courses so future goals are achieved and handling various problems to the benefit of all concerned are a small fraction of their total responsibility.

Best of Luck

ADVERTISEMENTS

Ads

Advertisers in the Cauldron play a crucial part in sustaining publishing costs, which run close to $13,000. In order to keep the yearbook affordable for students, advertisers, patrons and sponsors are sought to support the yearbook.

According to surveys completed by marketing analysis companies, approximately six people read each yearbook, a number which totals close to 4,000 people. Because the yearbook staff has laid out an interesting ad section, readers will be viewing the ad section, and companies will therefore have more publicity, a fact which should in turn generate more business. Yearbook advertising is therefore a lucrative and fairly inexpensive source of advertising.

The Cauldron staff thanks all those groups, businesses and individuals who utilized this book for their advertising.

Mrs. Jill Bangerter

Brian Grantz
"84"

Class of "84"

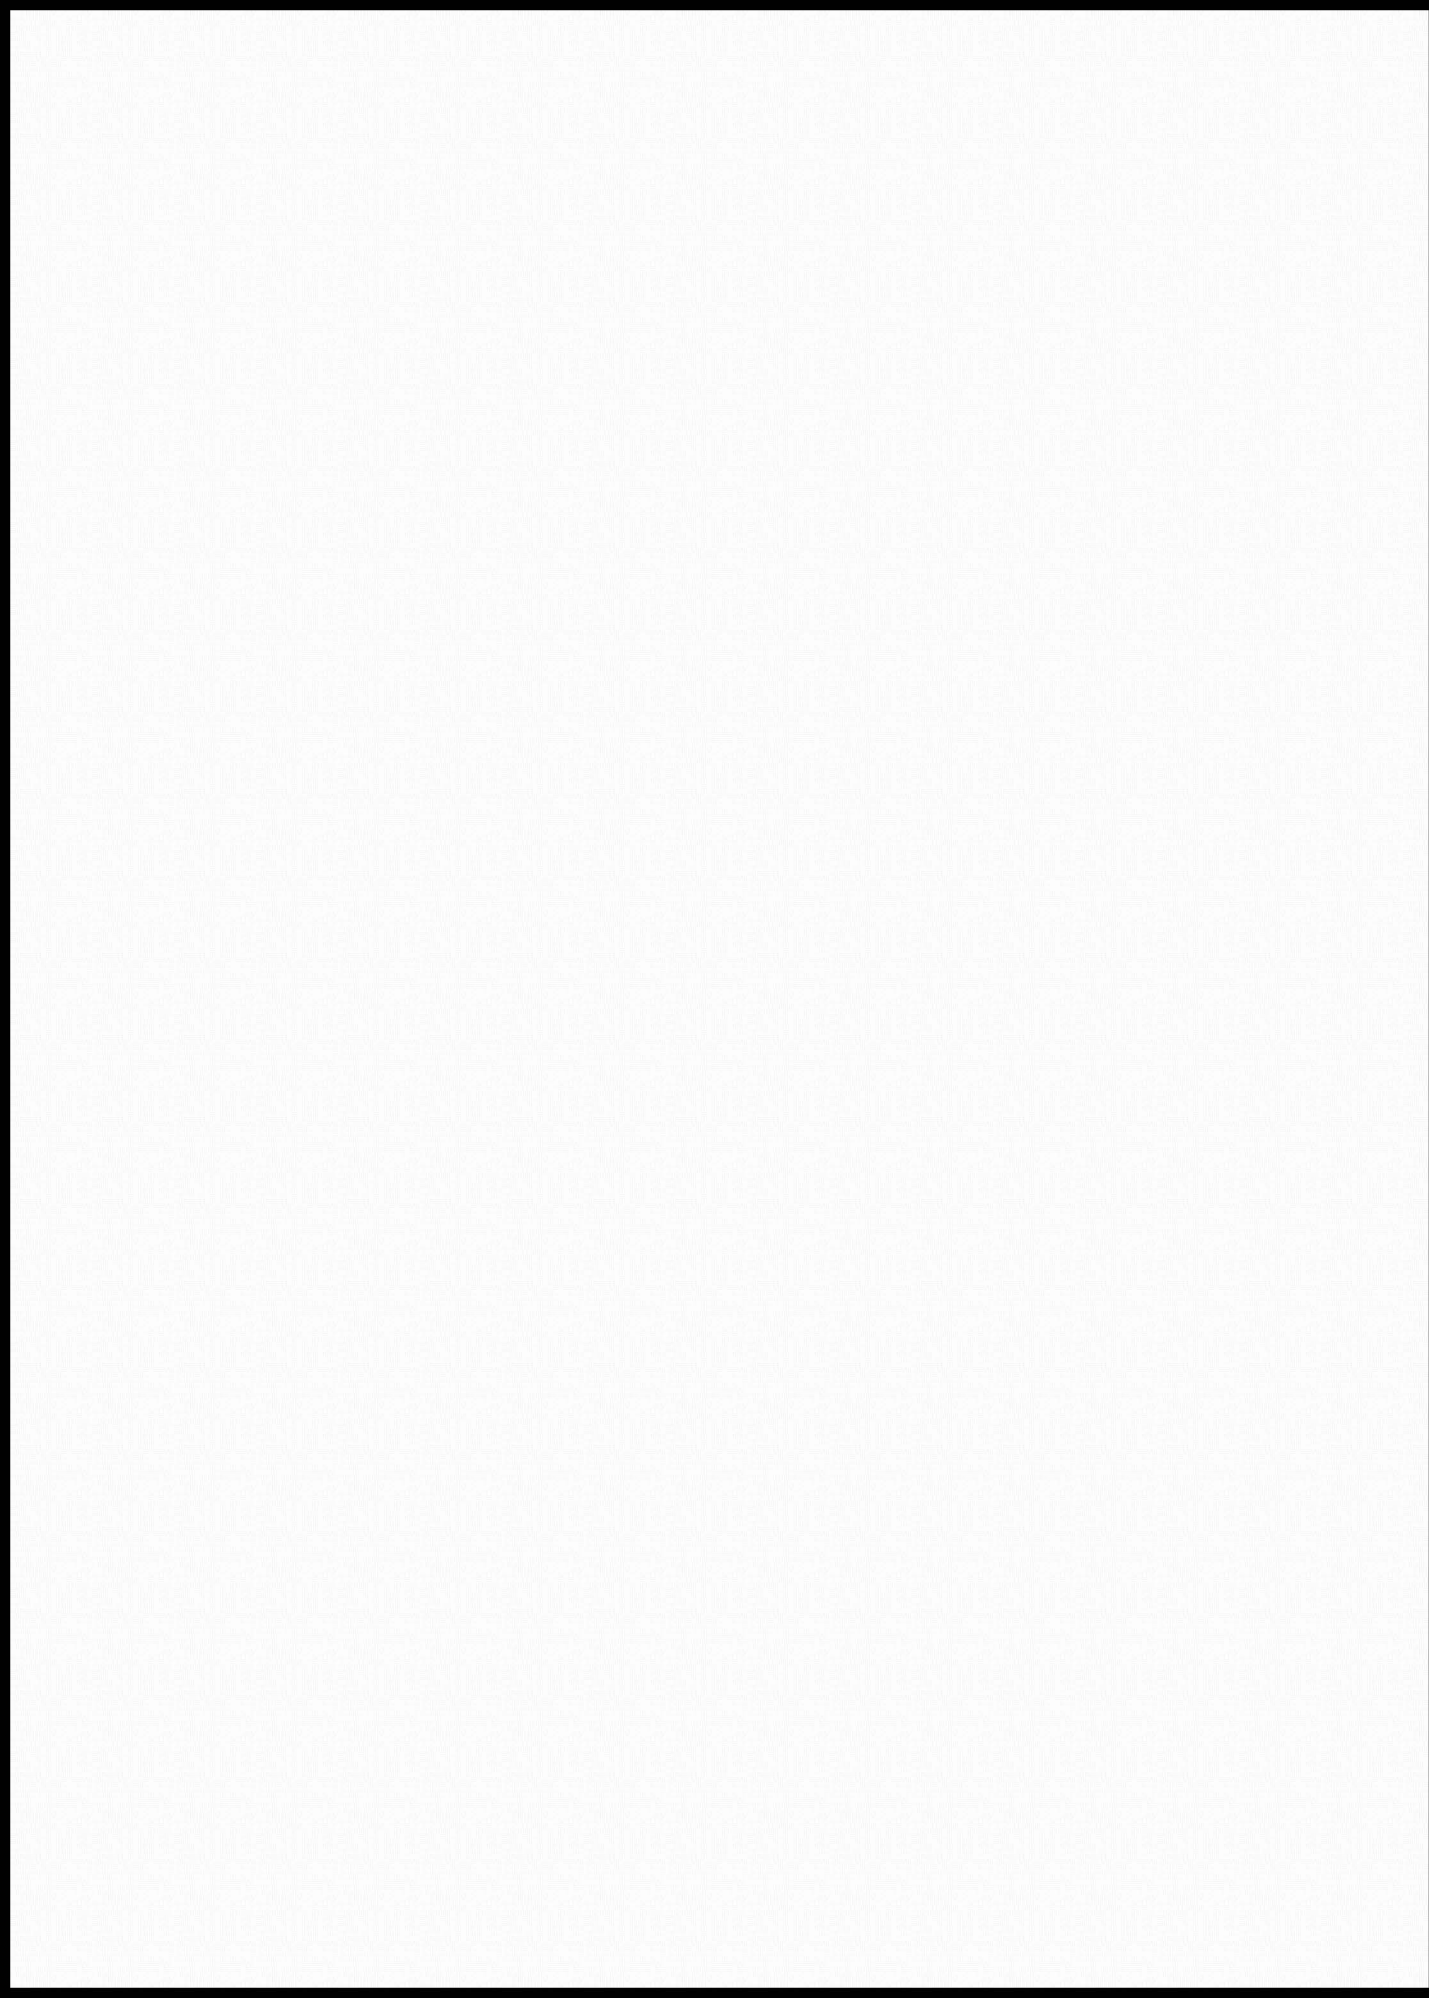

I sit and think how it began
Way back in nursery school.
We met new friends and new teachers,
Some friendly, some seemed cruel
Then time went on, we grew strong,
And knowledge was our friend.
We realize now that time has passed
And our High School life will end.
Our friends become acquaintances,
Acquaintances become our foes;
But now we have more friends to meet,
More places we must go.
We leave this school with memories
That live forever more,
And that is because we are special,
We are the class of "84".
