Contents

This 1989 school year brings to Madison High School the end of an era. With the new decade approaching, each student has the opportunity to think ahead to the future as well as reflect on the past.

Graduating seniors have much to look forward to. They prepare to accept the challenges of life in college and the real world as adults. At the same time, they remember and recapture the memories they experienced in their last four years. Though only a small part of a lifetime, the high school years are important to each individual. These years represent the growth, maturity, and added responsibilities given to all students.

All who pass through the halls of MHS will hold value to the school and the friendships kindled. The Cauldron captures the values, the friendship, the memories felt by every student. This book, in that respect, holds a value all its own so that each student may pursue the exciting life waiting for him or her unreservedly and still hold on to the memories to be treasured.

Seniors, Friends Learn About Life

Over the past three memorable years, the senior class has learned many things about life. They have devoted their time and energy to sports, academics, friendships and relationships. The seniors have to grow up and remind themselves that after graduation, they're on their own and they may never see the people they grew up with again. He or she has to take the responsibility of knowing what to do after high school years and take the proper steps to make that dream come true. But the senior year shouldn't always be hard to cope with. It should be filled with happiness and good times that will last in their minds forever.

During the years spent at M.H.S., many friendships develop among the students. Friends help one another through miserable days, they patiently listen to problems and give advice. Friends are always there to have the time of a person's life with. Friends are people that can be trusted and talked to about personal matters the most. Friends grow up and share many special times together, times which are good or bad never forgotten.

1. (L to R) Freshmen Wendi Price, Michelle Swanson, Jeannie France, June Sparent, Erica Williams, and Jenny Hupertz enjoy each others company during "C" lunch.
2. (L to R) Seniors Pete Renick, Steve Silveroli, Bob Schiemann, and Tom Sill support the Madison Blue Streaks.
3. Seniors, Mike Ribblet and Steve Will share an intimate moment together.
4. Top Row: (L to R) Freshmen Jim Ridel, Nick Pellegrino, Bottom Row: (L to R) Chris Brown, Brandon Marshall, Tim Steele, Eddie Szabo and Todd Tanner think of each other when it comes to friendship.
5. Seniors Sherri "Bump" Carroll and Ricky Wade have a grip on the situation.
6. Madison Blue Streak Fans show off their friendship and spirit at a Friday Night Football game.
7. Senior Lauren Mauric casually works on her English test.

Madison Mixes Cultures

This year, Madison High School students experienced a bit of a culture mix. Students from Korea and Germany came to share in the exciting life of Madison students. Their names are Tae Kim, Lisa Kim, Johanna Bichler, and Lars Stegelmann.

One way for students to experience life in another country is through a foreign exchange program. To participate in the ten month program, the student must first fill out an application and pass a series of tests and interviews. A few lucky students are chosen from all the applicants based on their knowledge of the language and culture and the amounts of interest. Lars and Johanna were two of the lucky applicants chosen to come to the U.S.A.

Both Lars and Johanna enjoyed playing in the band. When asked about the school, both agreed that Madison students were friendlier than students in Germany. When asked if they would change anything in the school, Johanna replied, "The colors of the walls-they're awful!"

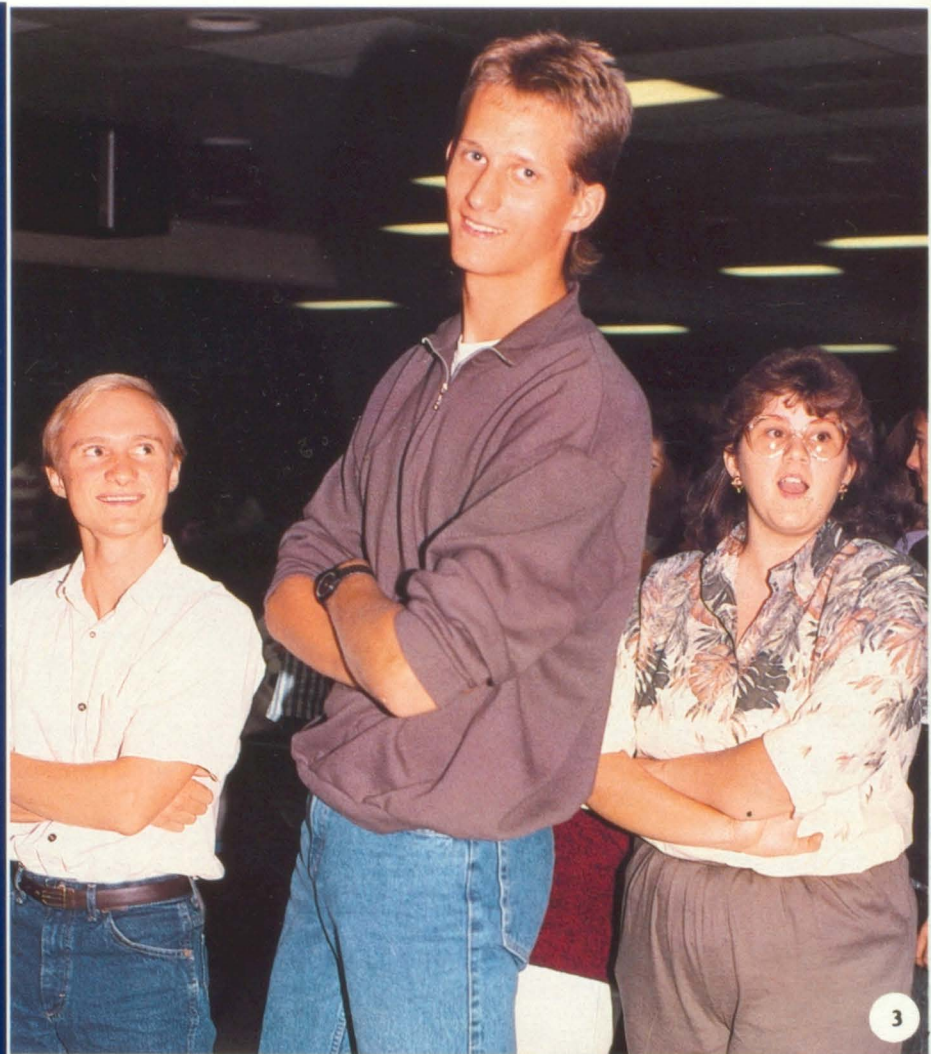

Two new additions to the school this year were Tae and Lisa Kim. Moving to Madison from Korea, this brother and sister team were a permanent addition to our school and our community. While Tae enjoyed a great soccer season, Lisa sang her heart out in the chorus. Both agreed, "Madison is great!"

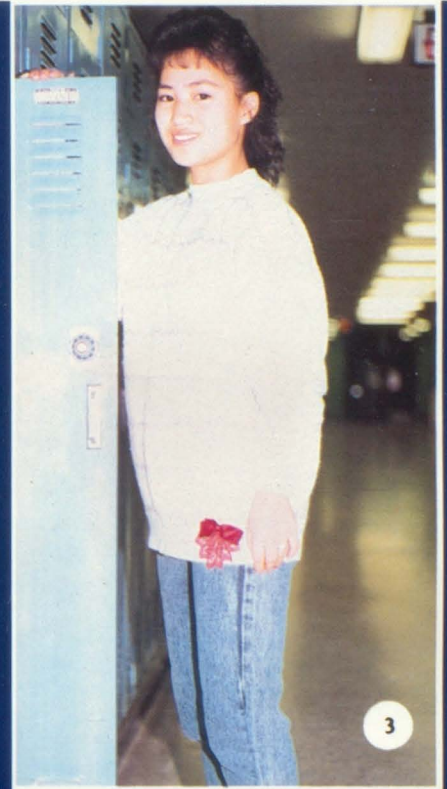

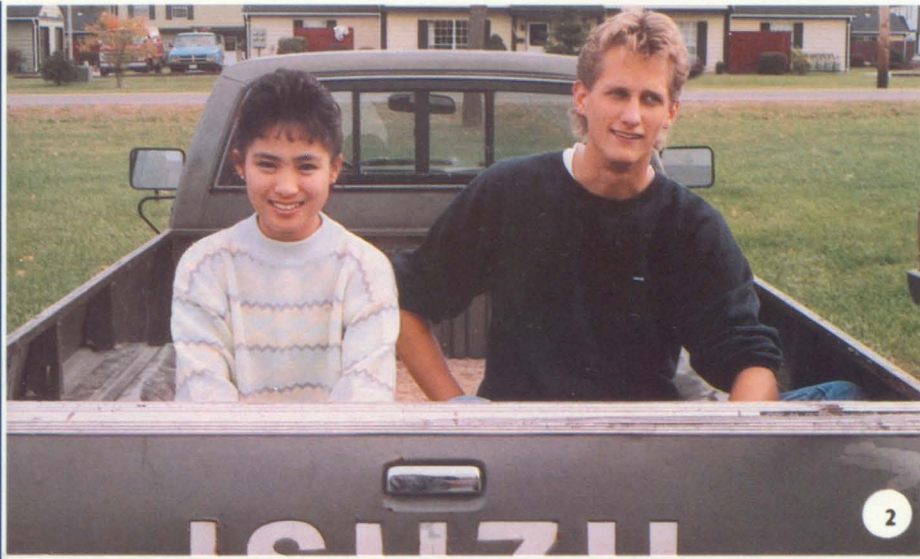

1. Johanna Bichler, a foreign exchange student from Germany, shows her feelings towards another picture.

2. Tae Kim, a new student from Korea, demonstrates his symbol for peace.

3. Lars Stegelmann, a foreign exchange student from Germany, towers over Junior Stewart Reed and Senior Cindy Lanning.

1. Lisa Kim, a new student from Korea, Johanna Bichler, and Lars Stegelmann enjoy the school court yard.
2. Lisa Kim and Lars Stegelmann try out some American transportation.
3. Between classes, Lisa Kim finds time to pose for the camera.
4. Johanna Bichler and Lars Stegelmann ponder the differences between schools in Germany and in Madison.

Spirit Ignites At M.H.S.

In addition to the academics in school was an array of exciting spirited events that had been planned throughout the year. The 1988-1989, school year kicked off with its third annual Meet the Streaks Night on August 23, 1988. This night was an opportunity for family, friends, and the community to meet the fall athletes, cheerleaders, marching band, and majorettes.

Another spirited event was the first home football game against Edgewood at which many students displayed their enthusiasm. They decorated their cars with balloons, streamers, and posters for the BLUESTREAK CARAVAN. They paraded through Madison on the way to the game beeping their horns repeatedly. Some even decorated their faces with paint. The students were seated in a section together so they could chant along with the cheerleaders to support the team. This spirit continued after the game at the VICTORY DANCE held in the high school cafeteria and which all high school students were able to attend.

Our Madison Marching BLUESTREAKS and majorettes contributed their spirit by playing pep songs at the pep assemblies. The band entertained everyone with dancing and musical talent at the half time performances at each Friday night football game.

The Varsity and Junior varsity cheerleaders displayed their spirit at all the games.

1. Senior majorette Michelle Szabo gets the beat.
 2. The 1988 Varsity Football Cheerleaders (L. to R.) Larissa Reichert, Valerie Grover, Danielle Cocherelle, Jenny Cummings, and Glenna Wetzel show their spirit.
 3. Joe "Josephine" Renick takes the pie but, does not reign as the 1988-'89 Homecoming Queen.
 4. Larissa Reichert and Valerie Grover lead the Cheer "Give me an M" to the crowd.
 5. Amy Pohto displays her football she previously caught with (L. to R.) Top Row: Julie Bukky, Sue Markgraf, Amy Pohto, and Kim Caplinger and (L. to R.) Bottom Row: Renee Reihner, and Janine Gain.
 6. The 1988-89 Yearbook staff is weary from all their effort, and they lean on each other for support.
 7. Doug Gerak, Mason Williams, and Dave Hughes are overwhelmed at the 1988 Homecoming Pep Assembly.

Sports Establishes Leadership

Many students over the past year have devoted much of their time and energy to some type of athletic event. The school year is divided into three seasons: Fall, Winter, and Spring, with many athletes participating in more than one season. Participating in sports gives students the values of responsibility, leadership, and dedication. In sports, they can fulfill their goals and dreams through their talents. Sporting events not only benefit athletes, they also give the student body a chance to be a part of school spirit. Students know that the school spirit would not be as lively or enjoyable without competitive sports. Most athletes participate in sports in order to lessen tuition costs for a college education by receiving scholarships for their hard work. All in all, sports in a high school curriculum adds an important part of everyone's high school years.

1. Chris Bernard traps the ball in order to make a successful pass.
2. Rob Miller practices his putting at Erie Shores Golf Course.
3. Donna Miller and Wendy Hughes warm up for a volleyball game against St. John.
4. The Madison Blue Streak defense prepares to stop Harvey on the goal line.

1. Rob Hudson finishes in a strong second place at Wadsworth Invitational.
2. Beth Billington sets the ball to an awaiting teammate.
3. Brian George stands and waits to enter the game.

A Night In Kokomo

Homecoming '88

The spirit of Homecoming was evident Thursday, October 13th at the annual Homecoming pep assembly. This year, students were dressed in female attire to represent the alternate court of Madison High School. The winner was selected by the student body for the "lady" who revealed the greatest talent. Senior Grayson Alexy received this honor.

The next night, the Madison football team kept the spirit alive by topping Harvey, 30-12.

This victory made for an excited crowd on Saturday, October 15th. The theme of the dance this year was Kokomo. Students danced to the music of a video disc jockey, allowing people to watch themselves as they danced or the videos of the songs that were played. The atmosphere was tropical with coconuts and leis for all seniors who attended. Midway through the evening, the court gathered around in the spotlight for the announcement of Homecoming king. The queen, Carla Andrikanich, had been announced the night before. The 1988 Homecoming king was Rob Hudson. It was an evening to remember.

1. Homecoming king Rob Hudson and queen Carla Andrikanich honor their crowning with a traditional dance.
2. "Majorette" Grayson Alexy shows off his talent in front of the student body.
3. 1988 Homecoming queen Carla Andrikanich gets the spotlight.

1. Madison Varsity cheerleaders Danielle Cocherell, Jenny Cummings, Valerie Grover, Glenna Wetzel (kneeling), and Lisa Reichert show their spirit at the Homecoming game against Harvey.

2. Alternate Homecoming Court member Joe Renick sings and plays "Mary Had a Little Lamb" for an eager crowd.

3. Homecoming Court for 1988 (L. to R.): Amy Retsch and Shawn Watson, Mindi Price and Trevor Tagliamonte, Pam Johnson and Tim Square, Julie Bukky and Rob Hudson, and Carla Andrikanich and Ben Huck.

4. Bob Sutyak, Brian Heglund, and Stacey Fuerst share a moment together at Homecoming.

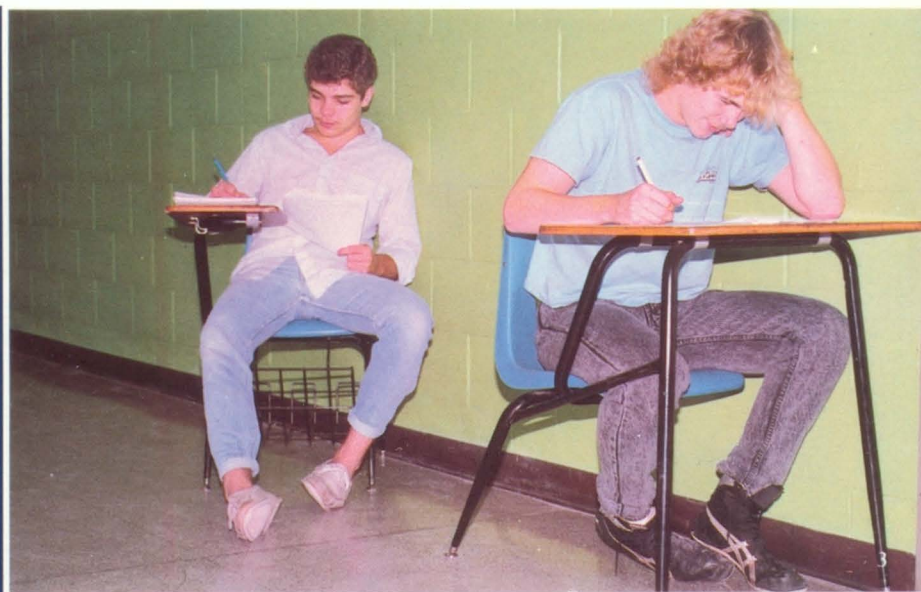

5. Chuck Wiseman and Cheryl Graper join other couples on the floor for a slow dance.

M.H.S. Plans For The Future

Throughout the past year, the Madison Board of Education decided to develop a Strategic Plan. The effort finally came into action with the adoption of the District Mission Statement, Belief Statements, Plan Policies and Objectives. Over one hundred and fifty dedicated staff, students, and community members have made major contributions to improve Madison's educational opportunities. The end goal of the Strategic Plan is to better the future education for all students, and for seniors, this can be a definite plus in the long run.

Of course, all students must set their goals high and push themselves if they want these goals to come through. Certain objectives for the Strategic Plan are to have 100% of Madison High School students graduate from high school and to have 100% of those graduates employed or enrolled in post secondary education within six months of graduation. If the community is willing to help out, then the students should be willing to put in some extra effort to make these objectives possible. To get good grades and a valuable education is so important. Later in life when you have a successful job and you really can not complain about your life, then you will be able to look back upon your teen years and thank good ole' Madison High School for your success.

1. Mrs. Lori Hiers takes a break for a quick smile
2. Don Schley Studies on his way to biology class.
3. Brian Hall and John Bard work diligently on a math quiz
4. Erin Wilson seems to enjoy an easy English test.

1. Skyle Paskett catches up on homework.
2. Rob Miller concentrates on a test
3. Greg Upole, Natalie Strollings, and Terry Taylor anxiously await the bell
4. Mrs. Patti Ashton cheerfully grades papers while on lunch period

Students Work For Future

An important part of a student's holistic growth to prepare him or her for the up and coming future is participating in a working atmosphere after school. These students pursue extra curricular employment for various reasons. Spending money, car insurance, and college tuition are just a small portion of why Madison High School students embark into the job world. Many beneficial lessons are taught from such jobs as responsibility, dedication, team work, and appreciation. These skills will become the foundation for success as a future citizen of the United States. Madison High students have always shown an extraordinary ambition to take hold of their lives and be in charge of their futures.

1. Frank Magda, a stock boy at Big Wheel, gets an item for a waiting customer.
2. Crosby Lundblad cracks a smile while packaging groceries at Giant Eagle.
3. Kelly Prasnikar gives a helping hand at Broadfield Manor Home.

SENIORS

Finally, the time has come after twelve years of hard work and dedication for this year's senior class to make their mark on the "real" world. For seniors, this year, 1989, will be more memorable and meaningful than perhaps any other occasion in their lives. They will remember their laughter, their tears, their friends and their teachers, but the senior year is far from all good times. It is also a time for big decisions about life after high school.

Being voted most athletic by the student body is something to be very proud of. It means that you are seen as a physically fit and healthy person by other people the same age. This year's most athletic boy and girl are extremely active in a variety of activities. Bob Sutyak is seen in every season playing football, basketball, and baseball. When asked how he felt about being chosen, he replied, "I felt quite honored to be thought of for this!" Michelle Schayes, who takes part in volleyball and track, said, "I couldn't believe it- it's really great!"

It was a great privilege to be voted as student with the most school spirit. The two students who were voted to have the most pride and spirit at M.H.S. were Valerie Grover and Joe Renick. When the two were asked how each felt about being chosen for the award, Valerie responded "I was really excited because I love to cheer at all the football games, and I like to get people psyched up for our school!" Joe answered by saying, "I like being rowdy and yelling at all the games, this award really means a lot to me, thanks guys!"

This year, Mindi Price and Tom Sill have been recognized for being the two best dressers in the senior class. When asked how Tom felt about receiving his award, he stated, "I am proud to accept the honor of best dressed. I have been asked many times why I dress this way. I guess it may be a level of self-confidence. I hope most of all that I have left a standard impression upon those who know me."

Being chosen most talkative was an easy decision to make by the Senior Class. The two seniors who were chosen for this category were Stephanie Finch and Grayson Alexy. When Stephanie was asked how she felt about being chosen, she replied, "If I was expecting anything, it would have been class flirt.

On the other hand, Grayson replied, "My ability to B.S. has allowed me to enhance my education to the utmost potential."

A smile is one of those simple gestures that can make a person's day. It spreads warmth and seems to be contagious. This year's class voted for Amy Retsch and Steve Will as having the cutest smiles. Amy wasn't expecting this honor. "I was surprised because a lot of people tell me my eyes close when I smile." Steve has been complimented on his smile before but was also surprised. "I thought it was cool that I was recognized by the Senior class."

This year, two students stood out in the music world. Through many years of hard work and dedication, it has finally paid off. Greg Upole and Dina Sanzobrino were chosen as most musical. Both Dina and Greg were granted the opportunity of performing their musical talent at the State Fair. Greg completed his senior year by leading the Marching Blue Streaks as drum major

Senior Wills And Plans

I, Mike Adler will to the cafeteria ladies edible food to work with and the ability to possibly cook it in time for A-lunch, and to Bill's grandma the ability to tell the difference between t.v. and real life.

English Writes On

The English Department underwent several changes this year. They began in August with the decision to make Senior Honors an Advanced Placement class. Students who had been in the honors program since their sophomore year were given the chance to include new topics such as analyzing compositions, studying World literature, and writing short stories for publication. They were also encouraged to take an advanced placement test which would allow them to enter higher level college courses, thus skipping general freshman classes.

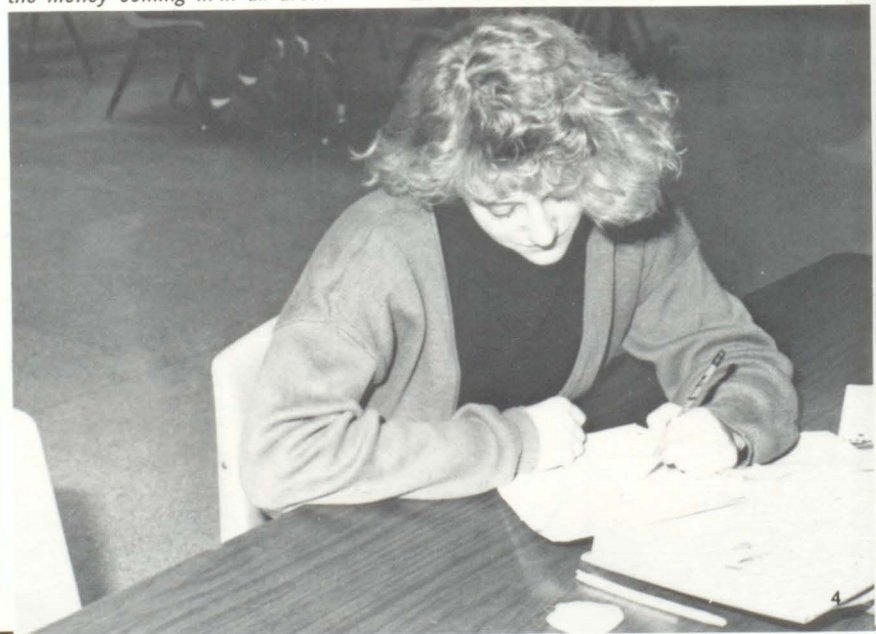

In all grade levels, teachers placed emphasis on writing compositions. The English teachers have been trying to establish a way of improving composition skills. Hopefully, the next few years will see students having easier times writing more advanced papers.

Another change this year was in the teaching staff. Several teachers left Madison High School to continue teaching at other buildings. Returning to

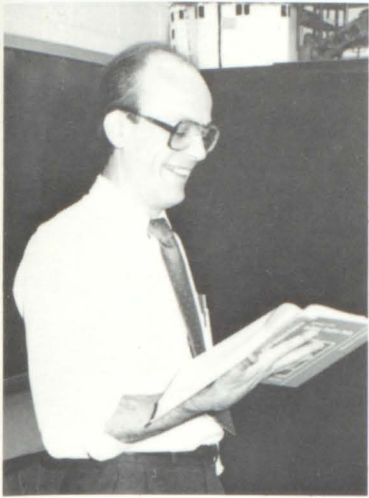

M.H.S. was Mrs. Lori Hiers who had taken a leave of absence after three years of teaching here to work on her Masters. After returning, she became one of the Senior Class Advisors while teaching Junior English classes. Mrs. Hiers tried throughout the year to make her classes fun because, as she said, "Let's face it, nouns and verbs are boring." She made an effort to liven up her lessons. Mrs. Hiers expressed hope for the future at M.H.S. "I see great things happening with all the money coming in-in all areas."

Math Adds Up

The math department at Madison High plays a very important role in most students' lives. Nowadays, a person is not able to get a decent job without some sort of math background. At Madison, you are able to take a wide variety of courses and at least lay a foundation for your future career. Some of the different courses you are able to take are General Math, Algebra I, Geometry, Algebra II, Trigonometry, Calculus, and Probability and Statistics. Of all these choices, most only make it through Algebra II in order to obtain the three credits needed for college. As head of the math department, Mr. McIntyre is leading a qualified group of teachers who will guide many students into college. One of the department's main goals is to give as many students as possible a good mathematics background for their lives ahead.

Students Enhance Knowledge

The science department this year has brought knowledge and broadened new perspectives in the science world. In Physics, students examined the relationship of matter and energy. Chemistry students experimented with matter and its interactions and how various materials react with others. In Earth Science, they learned about the geological development of the environment. Biology students studied biological development of animals by dissection and genetic engineering. Students were also offered additional workshops and seminars to enhance their knowledge. Lakeland offered a science honors program consisting of ten classes, one Friday a month. One-third of the program was physics, during which they experimented with the milliken oil drip. One-third was chemistry, dealing with spectro-analysis and chromatography, and one-third was hematology. Lake Erie College offered an ecology and field research. The goal of this program was to encourage high school students to acquire an appreciation for the complexity and fragility of our environment while learning practical observation and field skills. The students' motivation co-existing with that of the teachers' formed a strong science department which the student body and community can be proud of.

Students Learn About Our Past

The history department taught past and current events to the students of Madison High School. Students were taught the history of America as well as many countries of the world. Some teachers also introduced to students their individual rights and the development of democracy and the unique government of the United States.

The history classes included World Cultures at the freshman level, World History for the sophomores, American history for juniors, and Government for M.H.S. seniors. The history department also offered Social Studies and World Geography to further students' awareness of the world around them. All these classes helped students understand the world and how its people came to be where they are today.

Music Flairs At MHS

Music is an important part of students' lives at Madison High. Talent thrives at MHS, and that is what makes the music department such a sensation. The two men in charge of the music scene are Mr. Joe Acerra, band director, and Mr. Ben Soriano, choir director. This year's fall concert was a spooky success as music students' dressed as ghouls and goblins to perform a Halloween concert for the community. They also helped transform MHS into a haunted house for Madison youngsters. The favorite time of year in the music wing is always Christmas season. This is when the choir and band get into the spirit of giving by volunteering to gift wrap at Carlisle's and caroling at NEO and Madison Place. To finish off this festive time of year, a spectacular concert was put on for both students and citizens of Madison to enjoy.

Marching Streaks Electrify Audience

Throughout the football season, The 1988-89 Marching Blue Streaks put on an electrifying performance. All of the performers exhibited incredible talent either playing an instrument or twirling a baton. The band participated in many activities. They marched in the Old Fashioned Day's parades, the Grape Jamboree, the St. Patrick's Day parade in downtown Cleveland, and they performed at various festivals. The band also provided wonderful entertainment at the Friday night football games, playing such numbers as La Bamba, Make Me Lose Control, Play That Funky Music, and Bleacher Boogie Blues. The music provided by the Marching Blue Streaks inspired spirit in Madison students.

Newspaper Explodes With Creativity

"If you really want a first class newspaper, you can do it." That was the inspiration for the fourth year of the Streak staff. Dedication and a strong sense of responsibility to do one's best have helped to create an excellent newspaper. This year, Mr. Ashton was pleased with the direction of the seventeen-member staff.

Consisting of two main editors, Meridith Rhodes and Matt Hawes, the staff writes articles about student-centered activities and things that affect them. The Save the Streak committee helped the staff overcome a lack of typewriters by donating a word processor. The expenses of producing a newspaper include printing, photography, and mailing. Various businesses in the Madison area help pay for this by purchasing ads. The Streak is unique in that every year it has nine issues while other schools have only six.

All in all, an excellent newspaper and staff is the result of an excellent teacher. Mr. Ashton states, "This is the fourth year that we have had the newspaper. Each year has been a learning experience for the teacher as well as the students, and I believe each year the paper has improved. As a staff, we are proud of it."

Business Prepares For Future

Business is an extremely important part of our society today. Not a single corporation could function without outstanding skills in business management. Here at Madison High School, the Business Department worked diligently in 1988-89 to insure that its students would be prepared to go into the business world with confidence and skills comparable to those of the best private schools. Under the leadership of Mr. Donald Byers, Mrs. Suzanne Grist, Mr. John Miller and Miss Ruth Spiesman, the students learned and developed valuable skills in several business areas.

For students who wanted just a taste of what a business course was like, the department offered personal typing, general business, and exploratory business. These classes taught very basic skills that would come in useful for the college-bound students.

For the more serious business student, typing I, record keeping, business law and accounting were offered. These classes developed the skills students learned in earlier courses and prepared them for even more advanced business classes.

A large part of the business department was our Intense Office Experience program (IOE). This program was for Juniors and Seniors who were seriously planning on going into the professional world in secretarial occupations. Students in the IOE program studied for three of seven periods a day learning how to use various office equipment and studying in a work-like environment. This gave them the feel of working in a real secretarial job.

For anyone with a curiosity in the business world, a course in our department is well worthwhile.

Miss Ruth Spiesman

IOE Aides Futures

The Intense Office Education courses are Madison High School's job-oriented studies. This year, Miss Ruth Spiesman handled all the IOE classes. Typing and salesmanship classes, classes affecting almost every student, were offered for the student's own personal use. The department was helpful in aiding most of the student body because the average student takes at least one of the business classes handled in the IOE department. As Senior Julie Steele stated it, "It's preparing me in the secretarial field and provides experience for getting a good job after graduation."

OWA Furthers Careers

Mr. Dave Sears.

For students planning to attend Auburn Career Center, Madison High School offers its OWA program. This program is geared towards students in their Freshman and Sophomore years and is taught by Mr. Dave Sears. OWA enables students to further their prospects by allowing them to have school classes, work, and at the same time hold a job. This program's strengths are in the offered courses and in the way each are helpful tools to be used in the furthering of each student's education.

The variety of courses offered in the OWA program include subjects ranging from shop to English. All are designed to help further future careers.

Yearbook Remembers

"The End Of The 80's"

This year's Cauldron was a success due to the hard work of its twenty two members. The yearbook staff, under the leadership of Mrs. Jill Bangarter and editor-in-chief Jenni Preston, spent many long hours planning and preparing layouts, writing copy, and taking photos to assemble this year's book. Each member worked very hard, and without the help of every person, it would not have been possible to meet all of the demanding deadlines and to put everything together.

Another year is finally coming to a close. We hope everyone will be able to look back on these memories we have tried to record and remember all the things we shared.

7. Sue Markgraf and Lisa Reichart help Glenna Wetzel select the perfect pictures for the yearbook.
8. The yearbook staff enjoys sponsoring pictures with Santa.

Students Draw For Success

This past year's Art Department has displayed many talents. The students are exposed to many different kinds of media, such as Art Foundations, Beginning Drawing, Commercial Art, Ceramics Print-making, Sculpture, Painting, and Jewelry and Metals. Mr. Frank Ashton and Mrs. Joan Parks share these courses of study. Mr. Ashton also offers a very challenging Senior Art Survey class.

Mrs. Parks feels "Students often excel in one media and find another frustrating. Hopefully, all come away with an appreciation for art, the time, skills and effort involved, plus the joy of completing a unique self-expression. Our program is very successful at this."

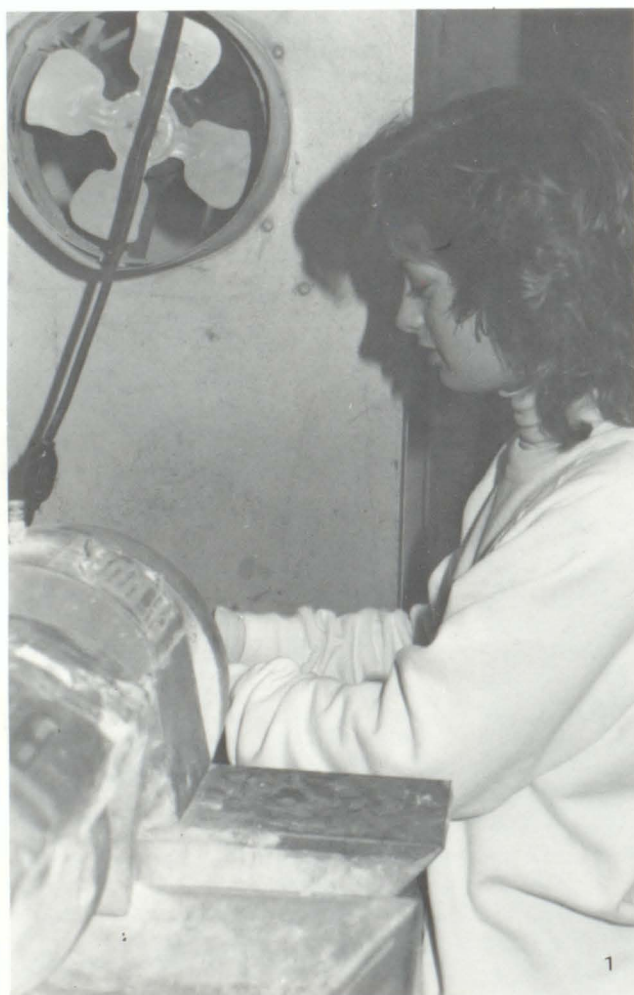

The students worked very hard at their art projects. This has made both Mrs. Parks and Mr. Ashton very pleased. The Art Department at Madison offers the opportunity for students to excel in many branches of art.

Languages Captivate Students

A foreign language is something that will benefit students throughout their lives. Mastering a new language makes people more aware of the world around them and helps them understand new cultures. The instructors, Mrs. Karen Battes in Spanish, Mrs. Ruth Ann Strother and Mrs. Jill Bangerter in French, and Mr. Don Strother in German, take pride in teaching students new languages. The study of languages shows insight to characteristics and lifestyles. Personality will help a student learn about the language he or she chooses. Here at MHS, there is a high enrollment in the language area, and many students consider it a very important part of their schedule. Thanks to an interest in foreign languages and the study of different cultures, there is much hope for communication in the future.

1. Sharon Kozlevcar and Anjie Miller enjoy working on their French assignment.
2. Kevin Remhof, Ed Wadding, and Tiffany Daniels listen to Mr. Strother talk about irregular verbs.
3. Erica Snitcher takes a break from French to smile for the camera.
4. Jim Rosisczewski, Christine Rinehart and Kelli Moran locate Paris.
5. Mrs. Bangerter's French class works diligently to finish their assignment.
6. Mrs. Strother's class brushes up on their French writing skills.
7. Mr. Strother's second period German class listen to his "erlebes."

Home Ec. Learns About Life

This past year's Home Economic Department offered a wide variety of classes. Mrs. Patti Ashton, Mrs. Betty Jean Green, and Mrs. JoAnne McMahon instructed the students in the different departments of Home Ec. 1 and 2, Child Development, Marriage and Family, Foods/Nutrition, Foods/Economy, Clothing and Apartment Living. The students were given a strong foundation in the skills that are used in life. One of the many projects this year's Home Ec. department did was carving the pumpkins for the Halloween Party for the community children. The skills learned by the students will be helpful throughout life.

Shop Class Drafts New Ideas

In the Industrial Arts Department this past year, Mr. Jack Becka, Mr. Fred Morrison, and Mr. Bob Peterson directed the students in the skills of drafting, woods and metals. The students basically did the project on their own with the help of the instructor. In the metal shop, the techniques used were gas welding, arc welding, and sheet metal. The skills that each of the students were taught in all of the Industrial Arts classes can be used for future careers.

Students Shape Up With Gym And Health

Health and Physical Education are both required courses during the freshman year. Each course is a semester long, and a person must pass the classes in order to graduate. Phys. Ed. must also be taken during the sophomore year. Both courses are mandatory. They contribute to students' physical and mental development.

In Health class, taught by Mrs. Linda Pavesich and Mr. Gene Melin, students are taught many aspects concerning their needs which may be either physical or emotional. During the time spent in class, students are also taught to express themselves openly and to be honest when answering questions or discussing ideas. One of the more important things learned in Health class is CPR. Students learn the many techniques to save a person's life.

While in gym class, taught by Mr. Rex Reigert and Mr. Gene Melin, students get involved with energetic and competitive activities. This helps one to release tension and have fun with everyone involved.

1. Scott Ribblett plays the part of Sleeping Beauty
2. Rikki Borovic warms up before a fun game of volleyball.
3. Joe Hedges spikes the ball for a point.
4. Mr. Melin gets his students to discuss their ideas in Health.
5. Emily Kriegmont serves during a game of badminton.
6. The volleyball game intensifies.
7. Physical Education class does their calisthenics.

Administration Strives For Success

This year, Madison High School's principal, Mr. Robert Leitch, and his administration staff, stressed their goals on the newly developed "Strategic Planning". The plan, which is to improve student's educational opportunities, was adopted in October of '87, effort began in December of '87 and culminated in July, 1988. During this time, the District Mission Statement, Belief Statements, Plan Policies and Objectives, and ninety-three action plan objectives for the strategies were adopted.

Joining MHS's administration staff was Athletic Director, Mr. Jim Pinelli. Along with teaching history classes, Mr. Pinelli took on the responsibilities of making athletics better in the Madison School District. When asked how he felt on taking this job, Mr. Pinelli commented, "Being athletic director gives me a chance to test my administration skills and let me put my managerial skills to work. It also gives me a chance to deal with the public and parents in a general school atmosphere."

All in all, the Madison High School Administration staff worked diligently to prepare students for their future, all of which was greatly appreciated by the faculty and students.

JUNIORS

Juniors Find True Friends

Because the third year of High School is plagued by so many choices and decisions, most Juniors find strength through their friendships. Often, the Junior year is fondly looked back upon with memories of Homecoming parties, football games, and the nights that Madison students seemed to dominate the movie theaters, much to the dismay of the ushers. The Junior year is also a time for branching out and getting to know some of the people you've gone to school with all your life. Many students feel it is this year that they learn who their true friends are. While these new friendships are forming, the infamous situation called, "THE GROUP" is created. "THE GROUP" is made up of you and eight to ten of your friends. These groups usually descend upon the members' homes each weekend for ritual Saturday night get-togethers. These friendships and close feelings make the Junior year exciting and set the mood for the Senior year.

Hard Work Pays Off!

As a Junior, many students have the high expectations of making a Varsity team. After being on a Junior Varsity team for two years, juniors want more of a challenge and more competition. Being on a Varsity team requires hard work and dedication that can be rewarding at the end of a season. Juniors have a chance of being on a championship team and going to sectionals, regionals, districts, and even to state competition. Not only do these students get the satisfaction of playing on a higher level of competition, but they receive more acknowledgement of their successes. Along with this, juniors can receive their Varsity letter, which is a feeling of accomplishment.

Student Council Governs

Very important decisions concerning the student's interests are made by student council. This is why being a class officer is such an honor. The 1988-89 class officers were: President-Jason Clark; Vice-President-Jenny Stosel; and Secretary/Treasurer-Lauri Gesdorf. To become an officer, all three had to first have a petition signed by twenty-five of their classmates. After becoming an officer, their main goal was to plan as many exciting extra-curricular activities as they could, such as the Mistletoe Ball. Further, they wish to establish a better student-teacher relationship. All had their goals set high and were extremely successful in accomplishing them.

Juniors' Favorite Entertainment

Many Juniors enjoy listening to music and watching movies. The students do this for entertainment and because the music he or she listens to expresses what type of person he is.

This year, a survey was done, and the Junior class picked some of their favorites.

Favorite Movie: Pink Floyd: The Wall

Favorite Song: "Welcome To The Jungle"

Juniors Worry About College Board Tests

The Junior year of High School is undoubtedly the toughest year academically for students. Not only are they preparing for their last year in high school and for coming years in college, but they need to plan and prepare for the college board tests. These tests, the American College Test and the Scholastic Aptitude Test, help colleges to choose their applicants. One student put it this way: "It's scary to think about it because you know it's coming up soon, and while it's not something you always think about, it's kept in the back of your mind." Juniors are expected to carry a heavier workload than any other year, and they are taking on dozens of new responsibilities. For some, this seems to be the longest and most unpleasant year, but as any Senior can tell you, the pressure helps to make the future much easier.

Almost There

Being a Junior means responsibilities are increased. That is, making adult decisions and acting grown up. The Junior's thoughts move more toward college and career choices, such as what colleges they would like to attend and what field of occupation to study. This choice will affect the rest of their lives. Students are trying harder to achieve high grades with the realization that their grades are costly to a chance for a better future. Junior year grades are the most important because they are the ones that colleges consider when reviewing appli-

Despite all the grown up responsibilities that are being taken on so young, there is still time for fun, such as Junior-Senior Prom. Steady dating also becomes more common during the Junior year.

Juniors Plan Ahead

All people need to take charge of their life, and becoming a junior seems like a very good place to start. Being a junior means no longer being an underclassman. It is also the first step towards maturity and getting on with your life. In your junior year, you will probably want to start looking at colleges and deciding on your future plans. Some basic steps to help you decide might be in taking the Act and Sat tests. These tests are taken, and then the scores are sent to your college choices. Making a decision for college can be very difficult as well as important. Making this decision will be deciding your future, and it is important you know what you are getting into.

MHS Has Roller Coaster Year

This year, the Madison Football Team had an up and down season. From the spectacular Homecoming victory over Harvey, to the upsetting loss to Riverside, Madison showed a great deal of commitment. With only three coaches, Mr. Rex Reigert, Mr. Ken Ankrom, and Mr. Steve Craine, and thirty-eight Varsity and JV players, the team had to overcome a lot of adversity. With an outstanding victory over arch-rival Perry, the school recaptured the "Little Brown Jug."

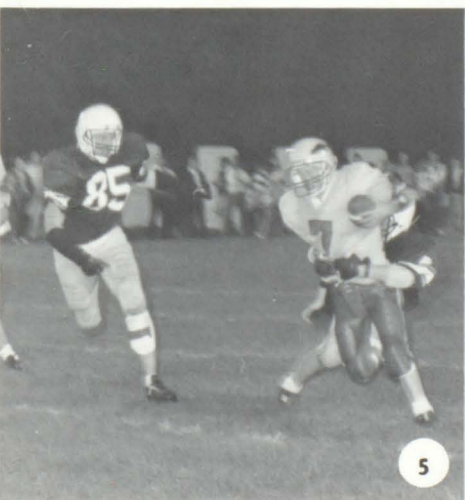

The next game saw the Blue Streaks score a victory over Edgewood, 30-20. The following three games, the Streaks fell a little short and at the midway point of the season were 2-3. The team pulled together and won three out of the last five games to finish with five wins and five losses on the season. The last game of the year saw the seniors bid farewell to Madison with a 46-7 win over Harbor on Parent's night.

The 1988 Blue Streaks were an intense football team and in winning or losing, they never gave up.

The freshman football team had a tough season this year with a record of 2 wins and 4 losses. With few players coming out for the team and many losses to eligibility, the players played with a lot of spirit. The team only had a 6 game season with two of those games against Harbor. Coach Herrick and Coach Kovats knew it was going to be a tough year when it started out with many ineligibilities. The team also had many injuries to players, a fact which made Madison forfeit some of their regular season games. Even though the record didn't show all of the talent that the Freshman Football Team had, this was a learning year for them. MHS is very proud of the team for their spirit and dedication.

"Winners Never Quit And Quitters Never Win"

Blue Streaks Strive For Success

This year, the Madison High School Soccer team had a lot to live up to. The team lost several of last year's starters due to graduation and lacked the depth that was needed. They struggled through much of the early stages of the season, losing several close games. However, toward the end of the season, they really poured it on, winning eight out of their last ten games. The Streaks advanced into the playoffs, beating Geneva in their first contest and losing to Willoughby South in their next game. This year's team was again coached by Mr. Earl Delp, and the team's co-captains were Brian Klein and Dan Powers. The team also had five players receive post season honors. Brian Klein was chosen for the Second Team All-City for AAA schools. Then, he and Dan Powers were selected to the First Team within their conference while Jeff Bartlett and Jack Muzzio were selected for the Second Team with Chris Wirtanen receiving Honorable mention. All things considered, the Varsity Blue Streaks had a great season and are looking for even better success in the coming year.

Volleyball Works Hard

This year's varsity volleyball team ended up with a 14-9 record, a statistic which led them to a 5th place finish in the North Eastern Conference. Another fact was the team only had seven players, two of which were seniors, the other five consisted of three juniors and two sophomores. Overall, the girls had a successful season. They ended up beating their rival Perry in one of the first games and concluded their season with two successful matches at the Euclid tournament.

Those receiving honors on the team were Holly Horvath, First Team N.E.C.; Wendy Hughes, Second Team N.E.C.; and Gretchen Bonner, Donna Miller, Terri Spaulding, Stephanie Baldwin, and Lynn Hrbek, Honorable Mention.

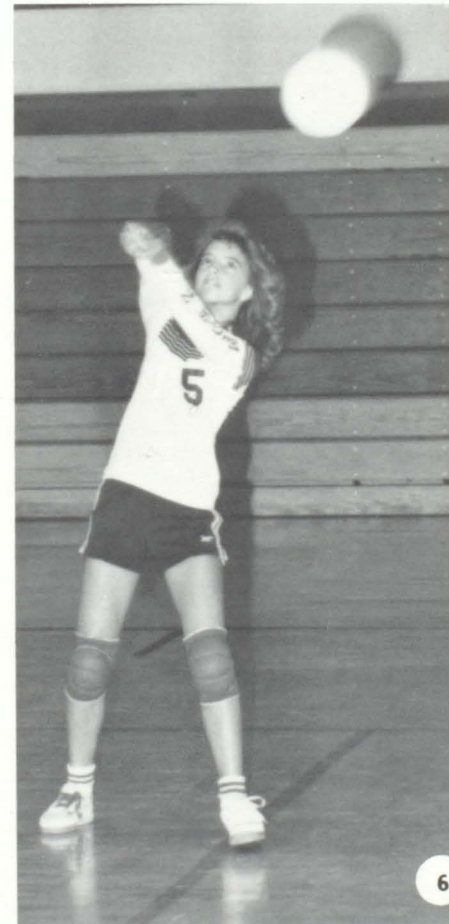

The team worked hard this season, and, despite their low amount of team members, did more than a fine job. It is hard to play good games when you only have one option on the bench, but the girls deserve a pat on the back.

Golf Faces Tough Competition

The varsity Golf team led by the only senior and captain Rob Miller ended up with an eighth place finish in a very competitive North Eastern Conference with an impressive record of eight wins, eight losses, and two ties. With such a young team, Coach Jack Higley was well impressed. The most impressive low was of course Rob Miller's 32 par against Edgewood.

The varsity team this year consisted of Rob Miller, Tom Beans, Chris Whitaker, Mike Sears, and Guy Titler, while the junior varsity consisted of Steve Eland, Mike Shuttleworth, Kevin Messenger, Mark Woodworth, and Davey Tulk. If you ever need a few tips, you will probably be able to catch a few of the guys practicing swings at Erie Shores Golf Course in Madison.

M.H.S. Wrestles With Pride

This year, the Varsity Wrestling Team had an impressive season. The Blue Streak Wrestlers made strong progress on building a fortified Wrestling team. One of the most obvious improvements was acquiring new head coach Gary Fortuna. When asked how he felt coming to Madison, he replied, "The change was good for me, I feel the team showed strong effort all season."

This year's team only had two seniors on the squad, but many of the juniors were returning lettermen.

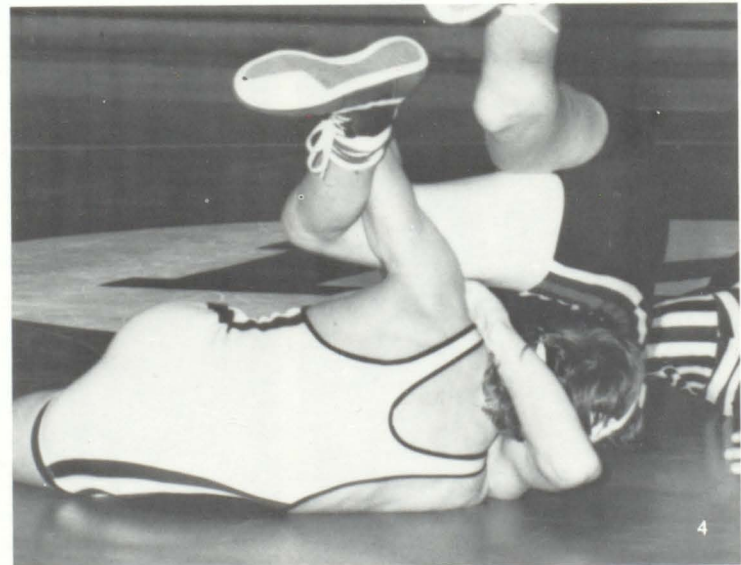

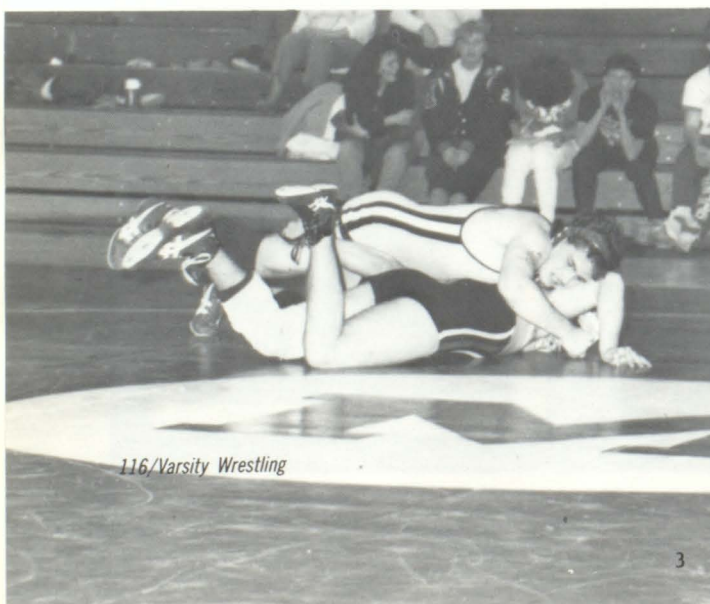

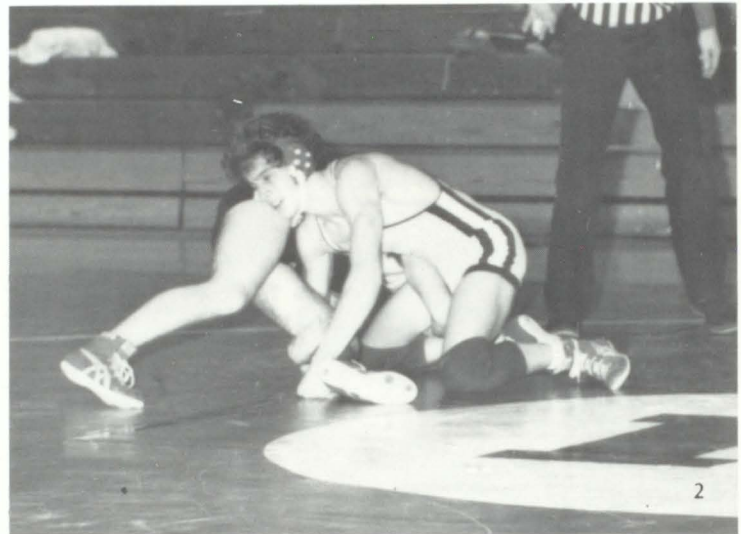

All in all, this year's team showed great improvement this year.

Freshmen Show Enthusiasm!

Winning ten out of their 11 matches, this year's Freshman Wrestling Team, coached by Mr. Jack Becka, had a very successful season. Dedication and hard work proved to be one of the team's greatest assets. All the wrestlers gained a lot of valuable experience which will be very useful to them in their upcoming Junior Varsity and Varsity years.

J.V. Wrestlers Take Charge

This year's Junior Varsity Wrestling Team, coached by Mr. Rex Reigert, had a very successful season. Their record at the end of this year's season was 10-3. In achieving this, many JV's stated that the Senior wrestlers taught them many things, and their hard work really paid off. The members said that they are looking forward to a great Varsity year. Good Luck!

Streaks Set Goals

In order to have a successful varsity team, a coach must first teach the athletes the basics. That is what junior varsity teams are all about, and that is what Mr. Art Young did with his team this year. Being a J.V. player doesn't get a person much recognition, but this team realized they needed the experience for future competitions.

The team wasn't as victorious as they had hoped. They finished the season with 4 wins, 7 loses, and 3 tied games. Fortunately, they are a young team with talent. They will have no trouble improving their record and keeping up the high level of soccer ability at Madison High School.

Spiking To Experience

Scores don't lie, but they don't always tell the whole truth either. This year's J.V. volleyball team would agree to that. They compiled an N.E.C. record of 6 wins and 12 losses, and an overall record of 8 wins and 13 losses, but the knowledge they came away with made them winners.

Most of the team were trying to make the transition from middle school to high school competition, a big change for almost all young athletes. They worked hard and learned a great deal about dedication and cooperation. At the same time, they had fun and enjoyed each other's company, which out-weighed the pain of losing. With the experience they gained under Miss Zook, head coach, they should have no trouble competing at Varsity level next year.

The team this year consisted of 43 hard-working swimmers who brought a winning season for the girls. Chad Smallwood felt that the boys did very well for only having 8 participating team members. "Both the girls' and boys' team showed strong effort and should be recognized for the goals they accomplished," expressed Cara Volgstadt.

Winning Isn't Everything

Madison's Varsity basketball team was faced with many hardships this past season. Playing only one returning Senior, the Blue Streaks finished without a single victory, having a record of 0 wins and 20 losses. The record does not, however, reflect the effort of the team. Each and every game was played with zealous energy. The team also had a welcome addition this season. Lars Stegelmann, one of the German exchange students, fulfilled a life-long dream to play basketball. Even if the team did not have a victorious season, they all enjoyed playing with Lars. The last time Madison had a no-win basketball season was over thirty years ago, but the team gained a great deal of experience and learned a lesson in humility. It took a great deal of pride and courage to go out on the court every game and give it their best fight, but they managed to do it week after week and never lost hope.

Girls Show Inconsistencies

This year's Varsity Girls' Basketball Team finished with an overall record of 10-11 and a 9-9 record in the N.E.C. The Lady Blue Streaks were coached by Mr. Bob Petersen and assisted by Mr. Kevin Snyder. The team consisted of four seniors, three juniors, and three sophomores. Although the team was young, the girls practiced hard to improve every aspect of the game.

At the beginning of the season, Coach Petersen said that he wanted the team to play more consistently and get rid of the high and low momentums. The team's goal this year was to play offense with more control and play defense with more intensity.

One of the highlights this season was winning four consecutive games and beating Harvey. The girls played one of their best defensive games at Madison against Riverside. The girls lost 39-33 but played excellent defense that shut down three of Riverside's high scorers.

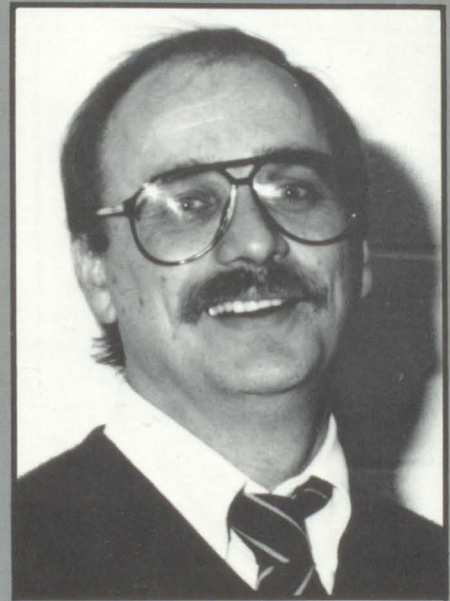

The participation of the younger girls this year will enhance their upcoming years on the Varsity team.

Boy's Cross Country: Stride To Success

This year's boys' Cross Country team, under the direction of Coach Kevin Snyder, finished a very strong season. The team, led by Senior Captain Rob Hudson, ended with a 6-3 record in the NEC. A hard 4th place was had by Madison in the NEC behind three very strong Harvey, Riverside, and Harbor teams. Senior Walter Alley placed 2nd team NEC, and Senior Rob Hudson finished 1st Team NEC. Rob Hudson also went on to regionals after an excellent finish at the district races. The team's season started with a rigorous summer training program. Three strong weeks of practice began the school year, with the team gaining experience at local races. This year, Madison hosted its third U-Wanna-Come-Back Invitational with a very successful turnout and support by the Madison Boosters. The boys' Cross Country team also fared well in other invitational with Rob Hudson leading the way in his best form yet. This year's team included seniors Walt Alley, Rob Hudson, Greg McCrum, Joe Paulin, Jeff Sawdy, and Mike Staffiera. Other members were Jay James, Chris Longstreet, Jason Somppi, Tyler Smith, Jeff Loofboro, Chris Malinowski, Marty Rosciszewski, Chris Brown, Chris McBride, and Brandon Marshall. Overall, the fairly inexperienced team accomplished a fine season and demonstrated a desire to succeed in the spirit of M.H.S.

Lady Streaks Show Strength

Under the coaching of Mr. Jack Pavesich, the 1988 Girl's Cross Country team dominated the conference. With an outstanding record of seven wins, zero losses, it is obvious how determined these girls were this past season. Under the leadership of the three seniors, Marcy Stauffer, April Heck and Melissa Oros, the team went on to win their second consecutive Northeast Conference title.

Outside of conference meets, the team traveled to a variety of highly competitive invitational, including Wadsworth "Grizzly" Invitational, Cloverleaf, North Coast Invitational and NEO Coaches' Classic. The team always had an awesome showing for their competitors. They even hosted Madison's "U Wanna Come Back" Invitational and took a first place team standing.

The end of the 1988 season marked the team's thirty-one wins in a row dating back to 1985. It also marked the team's third NEC victory in the last four years. That means that four-year varsity senior Marcy Stauffer is the only member of the team with a three-out-of-four record of NEC titles.

Mr. Pavesich was extremely pleased with his entire team this past season. Even after the three seniors are gone, Madison will still have a strong team with its underclassmen.

This year's Varsity Football Cheerleaders had a very exciting season. They attended Americheer camp at Hiram College to learn new and traditional pep Cheers.

The Cheerleaders did something extra-special for all the Senior Starters and Coaches to get them psyched for the big homecoming game. They decorated their houses and did a big Cheer. All this pep helped them win an exciting game against Harvey.

The Varsity squad will be losing two seniors this year; Valerie Grover, a two-year Varsity Cheerleader and Larissa Reichert, a three-year Varsity Cheerleader. They wish a fun and exciting season to all of the upcoming Cheerleaders.

Cheerleaders Show Pride

This year's freshman and J.V. Cheerleaders showed great pride and ability. The J.V. cheerleaders, who went to a cheerleading camp this summer at John Carroll, used their ability for two very full seasons. They helped out the Varsity squads several times while also cheering for their own teams.

The freshmen, while cheering only for the basketball season, were kept busy learning more complex cheers and dance routines. The girls were chosen in the fall and had only a few months to learn how to work as a unit. Luckily, the girls learned quickly.

Both of these squads showed spirit and determination this year and will make for talented squads in the years to come.

J.V.s Gain Experience

The J.V. Boys' Basketball team, under the coaching of Mr. Stu Baffer, finished the season with a 3-17 record. Although the team struggled at the beginning, they began to show their talents near the end of the season. The team, mostly sophomores but with several upperclassmen for strength, had a tough time getting control of the boards. In several games, as in the game against Riverside, the boys came out on top. As always, the rivalry with Riverside had the teams and fans excited. It was a close game, but the Streaks pulled ahead in the last minutes of the game, winning the praise of the fans and coaches. The J.V. boys experienced a rough season, but they learned much about dedication.

1. Tom Beans' reverse lay-up is good for two points.
2. Jim Roscizewski goes to the hoop for two.
3. Against Jefferson, Justin Meister tries for the rebound, while Jason Sompil comes to help.

Overall record 16-4

The girls' J.V. team got off to a slow start this season. With a record of 16-4, they ended on a winning "streak" of 14 games, coming back to beat the 4 teams they had already lost to. The team, consisting of six sophomores and seven freshmen, had a positive attitude and was able to work well and learn from the experience of the individual players. Good offensive and defensive skills kept the intensity up in the close games the team encountered. Co-captains Trista Linden and Theresa Pechinko were instrumental in the team's winning attitude and season. With practice and the dedication of the returning players, next year's season should be equally successful.

4. Wendy Palagyi fights her way through the Geneva defense.

5. Becky Bangerter takes to the glass while her teammates and the Geneva defense prepare to grab the rebound.

As a freshman, I learned a lot playing with the sophomores that I hope will help me next year. It was more of a challenge because of the tougher competition."

Freshmen Have Tough Season

The 1988-89 Freshmen Boy's Basketball team gained experience for their next few years on Madison's court. Despite a disappointing record of 1-13, the nine member freshman team came out of the season with many valuable lessons. Under the direction of Coach Steve Baldwin, the team worked to improve their skills in the fundamentals of basketball. Perhaps more importantly, the freshmen learned to establish goals and set an example for other students to follow. Certainly, this past year's experiences developed a basis for the team members' future with the Madison basketball program.

Sophomores Move Up Socially

Michelle Hanson

The Sophomore year is a major turning point in a high school student's life. You are no longer a small nobody of the school, you are a "real person". People no longer consider you a typical immature ninth grader. Fellow students begin to build respect for you, and upperclassmen begin to include you. It is a great step up in your social life. The older students invite you to parties, get-togethers, and eventually they become some of your best friends. More activities are open to you, and becoming recognized starts to happen much easier.

Another great aspect of becoming a Sophomore is the fact that you will be turning sixteen and getting your driver's license. This supplies you with freedom, making you feel and act older. The greatest part of becoming a Sophomore is the fact that you are one step farther from childhood, and one step closer to your future as an independent individual.

Sophomores Join The Workforce

When students turn sixteen, it means getting a job. They can save money for college or a car or spend it. A job requires a great amount of responsibility and time, and sometimes it takes away from their academic performance. Weekends and week nights sometimes have to be given up, too. But when a student receives his or her check, it seems to be all worth it.

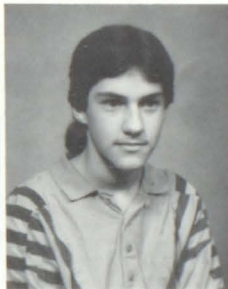

A job prepares a student for life after school.

Sophs. Are Integral Part Of MHS

Ordering a class ring may be one of the most exciting as well as one of the most important events of a sophomore's year. Creating your own ring is sometimes difficult for some sophomores because there are many options to consider. Choosing the size, style, and color can tell many things about a person. Then, after careful consideration of all the styles, the final decision is made and the orders are taken and sent in. After waiting for what seems like an eternity, the rings arrive, and all the sophomores are glad that they finally have a symbol to show that they are a part of MHS.

There's Freedom In A License!

Much more comes with a driver's license than teenagers seem to think. It is not only a permit allowing a person to drive the streets, it is a permit subjecting students to maturity and responsibility, responsibilities like car payments, insurance, car repair and maintenance. With such requirements in driving, a student tends to see what adulthood will be like. It will also prepare them for larger commitments later in life, such as purchasing a home. A new found freedom also comes along with driving. Students can go out more often with friends and experience what life can be like outside of high school. They can meet new people and experience new places, allowing them to grow as a person. Maturity, responsibility, and freedom are all part of receiving a driver's license, which is what makes it an experience most students never forget.

Freshmen Excel In Sports.

The Freshmen this year looked forward to the new varieties of sports that they were offered, They also looked forward to either achieving J.V. or Varsity letter. Competing against older and more experienced athletes caused the Freshmen to work harder in order to receive playing time and recognition. "I love all of the competition that comes when you start playing with more experienced players," expressed by Wendy Palaygi. Jill Volgstadt felt that it was easier to improve when participating with more experienced athletes. With the determination of receiving a Varsity letter and the excitement of participating in a high school sport, the Freshman class will produce Varsity players that the school can be proud of.

Freshmen Look To The Future

Finally, after all the hardships new freshmen have gone through, they feel like they have things under control. They are confident that they can handle the high school. They are beginning to get along better with more people and get involved in school activities. Freshmen should realize that high school is far from over. They have a lot of enjoyable experiences ahead of them. They will make new friends and encounter new challenges during the rest of their high school career. All freshmen can look forward till the day they're at the top.

After being selected by their classmates, Melanie Floyd, President, Dawn Germovsek, Vice-President, and Katie Fedele, Secretary/Treasurer, were chosen to be the leaders of the Freshman class. These three officers were chosen at the end of their eighth grade year. During the fall of their Freshman year, some of these officers, other Student Council officers, and representatives had the opportunity to attend Ashtabula City High School's Student Council Conference. Going from session to session at the conference, they were able to share ideas with other schools. Throughout the year each of them helped plan a variety of events. They contributed their ideas and services to the Council to improve student involvement. Their main task of the year was to assist in planning and decorating for the traditional Christmas Dance, "Mistletoe Ball."

"The Truth Comes Out!"

The upcoming freshmen have many things to look forward to in high school. They have to worry about fitting in with the right crowd or lettering in a Varsity sport to get their Varsity jackets. When Michelle Howell was asked what she looked forward to, she replied "To be able to pick on all the freshmen when I'm a senior."

Many freshmen are scared their first day of high school. They hear terrible rumors about getting whirlies or being sent to the third floor. According to Deana Lilly, "I heard they would put you on top of the candy machine and make you dance, or make you carry their lunch trays."

Freshmen Brave MHS!

Every year a new group of Freshmen comes into the high school with a great deal of insecurities. From the moment they stepped off of the bus and into the doors on the first day of school, most of their fears subsided. Some Freshmen felt odd and out of place while others seemed to fit right in.

As the year seemed to slip right past, the Freshmen became at ease with the upperclassmen and began to become involved with the assemblies and other school activities.

Freshmen Experience Many Changes

The Freshman Academic year brings about many changes. For the first time in their school years, students are permitted to choose classes. The required classes are Gym, Health, World Cultures, English, Math and Science. Instead of the students being pushed into a course, they have several choices. For example, in Math, they could choose General, Consumer, Pre-Algebra, or Algebra I. When the students begin High School, they must choose either a college Prep Course or just the courses required for graduation.

Auburn Prepares Students

Auburn Career Center is a career education center for the students of Madison and ten other school systems. Attending Auburn Career Center can be a very rewarding experience. Throughout the sophomore year, students receive information about Auburn. The next step is a visit to A.C.C. where the pupils are permitted to attend two classes. The student then submits an application and is interviewed by Ms. Leaman. Acceptance at Auburn is based on his/her grades, interests in a particular area, parental approval, and approval of Auburn Career Center. The first year at Auburn consists of a time period for classwork and a time period for lab work. There are two divisions at Auburn, the Office of Educational Association (OEA) and the Vocational Industrial Clubs of America (VICA). The students are free to run for offices in one of the two groups.

When the student enters his/her second year at Auburn, he performs some services for the community. For example, the Cosmetology class offers beauty makeovers from simple manicures to permanents for the community. Attending A.C.C. can also be beneficial for a student who is searching for a job after high school graduation. By working through the community and participating in local and state contests, many outstanding recommendations are available on behalf of everyone attending Auburn Career Center.

1. Kerry Cohagan enjoys doing his work.
2. Fahlee Lyles prepares to work on her patients.
3. Sharon Minor and Geoff Wilson concentrate on their work.

1. Valerie Sladek eagerly types away at her work.
2. Marty Atha begins to put away his tools.
3. Lenny Barclay and Rick Thompson show us their skills.
4. Steve Shreves takes a break from his work to pose for the camera.

Model U.N. Going Strong

Founded in 1983, the Madison High School chapter of Model U.N. expanded and improved with time under supervisor, Mr. Jim Deering. This year was another great success. Members of all grade levels were educated and took part in the procedures of the United Nations. In March, area schools from as far as

West Virginia met at Kent State University's Ashtabula branch college for the annual simulation. Students selected representative countries and researched their policies to present at the conference. The experience gave participants knowledge of world problems and the potential to peacefully solve them through the United Nations, while it also turned out to be a very exciting time. The officers of this year's Model U.N. were president Vaughn Shannon, vice-president Matt Hawes (both four year veterans), Dave Stamm, junior and treasurer, and senior Sue Svigal was the secretary.

Student Council Shares Ideas

This year's Student Council organization committed itself to more involvement in school and community affairs. Madison, along with other area schools, took the step toward progress by attending a student council conference at Ashtabula High School early in the year. Together, local council members shared a diversity of ideas and picked up new techniques and tips in running student government. The conference was a valuable tool for the fifteen Madison members that went.

Bringing these ideas home to our school, the '88-'89 student council, under the leadership of senior President Ben Huck, took a more active role in local events. The traditional Mistletoe Ball was a success once again this year, as was the United Way fundraising drive. A student exchange between schools was implemented this year for the first time. In the morning of every other Tuesday, the organization met to discuss and expand on new ideas. The result was an effective working student government for the past year.

1. Student council officers for the 1988-89 year were (L. to R.): vice-president Anjie Miller, president Ben Huck, and Secretary-treasurer Mindi Price.

2. Madison High School's student council for the 1988-1989 school year.

Students Explore Government

This past summer, seven Madison High School students attended Ohio Buckeye Girls and Boys State. Representing American Legion Post 112 were Valerie Grover, Sheri Janco, Matt Hawes, and Todd Hrbek. Representing American Legion Post 601 were Jacki Gricar, Tom Masterman, and Bob Sutyak.

Buckeye Girls State was held between June 18 thru the 27th. at Ashland College. There, the girls learned about Ohio Government. After the first day, they started to campaign for offices. Once elected to their office, their government began functioning. Jacki Gricar was the Director of Liquor Control in the Governor's Cabinet. Valerie Grover was on the Board of Elections and was the Director of Defense. Sheri Janco was Assistant County Auditor and her city's Coroner.

The highlight of Buckeye Girls' State was when the Governor of Ohio, Richard Celeste, gave a presentation at the Governor's Ball.

Buckeye Boys' State was held between June 11 to the 19th. at Bowling Green State University. The Boys also learned about the Ohio Government and ran for different offices. Matt Hawes was the Minority Leader for the House of Representatives. He was also the City, County, and State Party Chairman. Todd Hrbek was in the House of Representatives along with Tom Masterman. Bob Sutyak was the County Commissioner.

Each student participating at Girls' and Boys' State valued the experience of learning about Ohio Government.

Drama Club Performed Up A Storm

This year, Madison High school's Drama Club added to its musical line-up Li'l Abner. The drama club worked hard on this production, and the play was a foot-stomping success. Featured performers in Li'l Abner were junior Chris Longstreet as Abner, senior Kelly Prasnikar as Daisy May, junior Rob Shindell as Marrying Sam and sophomore Corena Pavetto as Mammy Yocum. The chorus captivated the audience with dazzling musical numbers, and the fantastic character parts added to the wonderful production. The Drama Club worked hard for months on Li'l Abner, perfecting the music, acting, and dancing. With their hard work and determination, the 1988-89 Drama Club made this year's production of Li'l Abner a great success.

1. The Drama Club members concentrate on their scripts.

Teen Institute Strives To Save Lives

Drugs and alcohol are a serious problem in today's society, a problem Teen Institute has come to challenge. The head of this organization is Mr. Frank Haibach, and its members are students concerned about the dangerous effects drug abuse can have on a young person's life. This year, T.I. attended many camps and workshops such as Camp Burton, where students spend two days at classes about drug abuse. Parties are also planned at Camp Burton to help students get to know other T.I. students from other schools.

Teen Institute also sponsors school dances and sells carnations on Valentine's Day. In the fall, the Coca Cola Company and Burger King brought to M.H.S. a stunning anti-drug program that decorated three large screens. The film had a soundtrack featuring today's hottest musicians. The movie was narrated by actor Charlie Sheen. Teen Institute members feel the most important and rewarding activities T.I. performs is visiting students at Madison Middle School and Madison elementary schools. They talk to students about the dangerous reality of drugs and let them know that it is okay to say no. That is something even high school students should listen to. Teen Institute also serves as a support group for teens with problems with school, family or friends. All MHS students are encouraged to come to Mr. Haibach or T.I. students if they feel overwhelmed by problems that are facing their lives. Everyone has the drive to make his or her dreams come true, but sometimes that drive is destroyed by drug and alcohol abuse. It may even destroy lives. So many young people are killed in drunk driving accidents or drug overdoses that they never get to see their dreams come true. There is so much in this world a young person can achieve, it is a shame to waste all that opportunity on a one-hour high. Teen Institute wants to see the young people of MHS succeed in this world and have the happiest and healthiest lives they possibly can. Look toward the future, a future without drugs.

Stats Keep Score

This year, the library, office, and gym aides did a fantastic job by making everything run smoothly. They were assigned many odd tasks such as running messages, checking out books, or just helping out. Without these helpers, Madison would not function as efficiently as in past years. All in all, the aides assist the faculty in many ways.

Being a statistition is a very tiresome and tedious job. They give their time to Madison by going to all the home games and taking the bus to all the away games. Without much praise, they do their jobs efficently. Thanks to all the stats this year for making the sports of M.H.S. a little bit better.

Running For The Victory!

Olympic runner, Florence Griffith Joyner, dazzled the 1988 Summer Olympics in Seoul, South Korea. With lightening speeds, she broke the world record by .27 of a second, making the new record 10.49. Her flashy track outfits and long painted fingernails grabbed everyone's attention. She designed her own track outfits but said she didn't do this with any special theory in mind. She just liked it the way it looked and called it the one-legger. In addition, she will also always be remembered for winning three gold medals and one silver.

Her Dream Comes True!

We all have big dreams that someday we hope will come true. A seventeen-year-old senior high school student from Placentia, Cal., made her dream come true by setting a world record in the 400-meter freestyle. The teenager, eager to go home with a souvenir from the 1988 Summer Olympics in Seoul, South Korea, got not only one but three gold medals. Janet Evans has shown us that if you put your mind to it, you can make your dreams reality.

Democrats Lose Presidential Race

This past November, the race for the presidency by Democratic nominee Michael Dukakis came to a bitter end. The present governor of Massachusetts lost the electoral battle with Republican opponent, Vice-President George Bush, 426 to 112. Governor Dukakis, at age 55, and his running mate, Senator Lloyd Bentsen, became the fifth out of the last six democratic tickets to lose the presidential election. Across the nation, Dukakis claimed victory in Washington D.C. and ten states, including his home state of Massachusetts. All the rest, including Ohio, went to George Bush. Dukakis also lost the popular vote in the country 54% to 46%. With the loss, running mate Bentsen returned to Texas to serve another term as Senator, and Michael Dukakis resumed his task as Governor of Massachusetts with that term to be challenged in 1990.

This defeat contradicted the lead in the polls Dukakis held over Bush in July. The lead was lost due to Bush's winning over of the American Electorate.

Bush Reigns Supreme

The big debate for 1988 was the Presidential election of Bush vs. Dukakis. The choice was made on November 8, 1988. After running the dirtiest campaign in history, George Bush and Dan Quayle were the victors. Unlike most Vice-Presidents running for the office of President, Bush defeated his opponent Michael Dukakis, Mass. Governor, with 54% of the votes. Bush is the first Vice President to succeed the Presidency since Martin Van Buren in 1836. Most of the Vice Presidents are defeated due to the burden they have carried from the previous President. Bush created a lot of controversy when he chose the young Indiana Senator, Dan Quayle, as his running mate. Criticisms ranged from Quayle's college grade point average to his allegedly avoiding the service in Vietnam by joining the Indiana National Guard. Bush had many positive aspects to his campaign. The main two were "Peace and Prosperity". Peace examples were the INF treaty with the Soviet Union dealing with arm controls, and better Soviet relations. The people felt better knowing that the country was at peace. During the Reagan Administration, the country had the lowest unemployment rate in 14 years. Peace and Prosperity", two pluses to Bush's campaign, were tough to beat, and George Bush won the 1988 Presidential election as a result.

U2 Earns Awards

The Irish rock group U2 wallows in the applause during the Grammy Awards ceremony in March at New York City's Radio City Music Hall. The group was honored with Album of the Year for "The Joshua Tree." The album sold 12 million copies. The group was also awarded a Grammy for the best rock performance by a duo or group with vocal. U2 has often been called the most inspirational band of the 80's because of their support for world peace and prosperity. This veteran band has long deserved this prestigious award!

Top Of The Class

This year's Valedictorian and Salutatorian have worked hard for this achievement, and their grade point averages certainly prove this. Valedictorian Steve Sears, throughout his high school years, has been involved in golf, model U.N. and NHS. After graduation, Steve plans on attending Miami University and majoring in business administration. Salutatorian Todd Hrbek has been actively involved in football, basketball, NHS, and was selected to attend Buckeye Boy's State. Todd also kept his GPA at a high, while busy with after-school activities. He plans on attending Hiram College and majoring in biology. Academically, these two young men are the spotlight of the class of 1989, and we wish them the best of luck!

1. Valedictorian, Steve Sears
2. Salutatorian, Todd Hrbek
3. Steve Sears and Todd Hrbek

High G.P.A.

Many students fit the category of having a high G.P.A. These students are unique not only because of their grades, but also because of the other activities they are involved in. These students have maintained their good grades throughout their entire high school career, and have put a lot of work in to their effort.

1. (L. to R.) Gretchen Bonner, April Heck, Steven Sears, Todd Hrbek.
2. (L. to R.) Linda Bowers, Terry Taylor, Shawn Watson
3. (L. to R.) Pamela Johnson, Suzanne Svigel, Sheri Janco, Amy Retsch, Vaughn Shannon, Amy Grist
4. (L. to R.) Thomas Masterman, Mary Hein, Mike Staffiera
5. (L. to R.) Timothy Wilson, Sonja Latin, Robert Sutyak
6. (L. to R.) Jeffrey Sawdy, Angela Clark.

Students Achieve Academic Excellence

Good grades are an essential part of a student's achievements during the high school year. These students who worked so hard to achieve academic excellence deserve recognition for their hard work. These young adults maintained a 3.5 or above grade point average for three consecutive semesters. Their hard work and dedication will eventually pay off when the time comes to decide on colleges and their future. Granted that maintaining a 3.5 or above GPA is hard work, but it could earn respect from teachers and fellow students. When senior year comes, these students will have a sense of pride and achievement at the grades they have received.

1. Freshmen earning a 3.5 and above grade point average.
2. Juniors earning a 3.5 and above GPA.
3. Sophomores earning a 3.5 and above GPA.

NHS Members Stay Active

In addition to having good grades, the members of Madison's National Honor Society also excel in other areas. Many of them are in several clubs and organizations, but if they aren't, the NHS offers them many chances to participate and help the community. This year, the Society continued with projects that have been successful in the past-projects such as K.I.D.S. which is peer tutoring, and TEACH which allowed the members to teach elementary classes for a day. They worked with other school organizations to put on a community Halloween party, and they honored the high school teachers on May 9, teacher recognition day.

The Society also tried to honor hard working students with their Apple Orchard Project by choosing a student of the week for the first semester. Also in May they chose the twenty-eight juniors who will be the 1989-90 NHS members.

1. The NHS officers, Butch Begalke, vice president; Gretchen Bonner, president; Tim Wilson, secretary; Julie Naughton, treasurer, prepare to welcome the new members.

2. Butch Begalke congratulates junior Dan Wilson on his acceptance into the Society.

Students Shine In The Art Show

The 1988-89 Lake-Geauga Art Show was held at Lakeland Community College this year. The students won awards in drawing, printmaking, pottery, watercolor, commercial art, and jewelry. Sue Barski, Jeff Sawdy, Michelle Mooney, John Bard, and Jenni Moberg won Blue Ribbons. The following students won gold merit awards: Dan Andelin, Julie Naughton, Sue Barski, Jenny Cook, Tricia Cleversy, and Jenni Moberg.

Honorable mentions went to: Shawn Weston, Mindi Price, Anjie Miller, John Gishnock, Chassidy Lanham, Matt Hietanen, Jim Gerger, Carrie Stoneman, Michelle Suttman, Joe Renick, Jenni Moberg, Danielle Fidanza, and Jeff Sawdy. The highest award, the Sponsor's Awards, were given to: Kevin Bond, Todd Horne, Meridith Rhodes, and Terry Taylor.

Mr. Ashton stated, "I am very pleased with the results. Considering the size of our art department compared to the other schools, Madison students have done exceptionally well. We have received many compliments from other art teachers in the area about our students' work."

Mrs. Parks also commented about the art show. "I'm very pleased by the number of acceptance. The quality of the work was outstanding. I'd like to see more competitions and more exposure for students to have their art work seen and appreciated."

1. Terry Taylor poses with her woodcut print.
2. John Gishnock shows his "Cubistic Wrestlers".
3. Jeff Sawdy displays his stoneware pot.
4. Matt Hietanen won for his pottery.

Excitement Explodes In Dogpatch, USA

This year, the Madison High School Drama Club put on another great performance, Lil' Abner. Approximately fifty students performed in the play itself, while many others helped with making scenery and props and working backstage with lights and sound effects. Many felt that they wouldn't be able to pull it off, but on opening night, the play just seemed to come together. Everyone that saw the play could see all the hard work and dedication that went into making the play a success. The play was directed by Mrs. Gloria Benz, who also directed last year's smash, Bye-Bye Birdie. This year's stage manager was Matt Hawes.

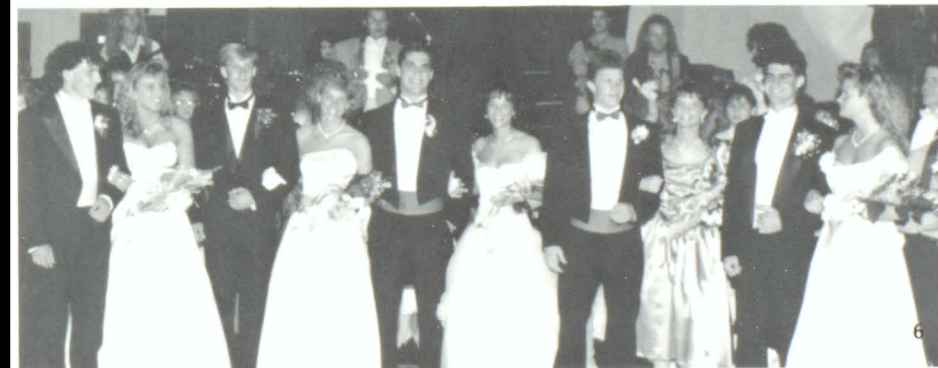

1. Lil' Abner (Chris Longstreet) flexes to show the government officials how necessary the Yokumberry tonic really is.
2. The 1989 Drama Club practices for opening night.
3. Marrying Sam (Rob Shindell) shares his views on a two-dollar wedding.
4. Daisy Mae (Kelly Prasnikar) finally gets Abner (Chris Longstreet) to admit his true feelings.
5. The government official (Rob Zuzek) samples the hep big fire water.

Just You And I

After months of preparation by the Junior class, the 1988-89 Junior/Senior Prom finally arrived. This year, the theme was "Just You and I", and the music was performed live by the band Champion. During the prom, Shawn Watson and Julie Bukky were crowned King and Queen respectively. By the reactions of all who were in attendance, this year's prom was a huge success.

1. Mike Staffiera and Gayle Taylor take a break from the dance floor and pose for a picture.
2. Andy Leitert and Julie Naughton take their walk to royalty as they await the announcement of this year's King and Queen.
3. Members of the Senior and Junior class dance to the band, Champion.

1. Prom Queen, Julie Bukky and Prom King, Shawn Watson traditionally dance in the "Spotlight Dance."
2. Senior, Mike Ribblett, and his date, Tonia Glanzer, take a break from boogying.
3. Seniors, Cindy Malkovsky and Stephanie Baker, enjoy each other's company at their Senior Prom.
4. Grayson Alexy and Gretchen Bonner, both of Prom Court, make their big entrance.
5. Ben Huck escorts Mindi Price while trying not to step on her dress.
6. The 1989 Prom Court awaits the final decision.

Boys' Track Shows Strength

1989 boy's track team had a banner season with their new head coach Ken Ankrom. There were nine seniors on the team which provided strength and confidence. The seniors were Tim Square, Andy Leitert, Joe Paulin, Rob Hudson, Bob Sutyak, Mike Luggelle, Todd Hrbek, Shawn Weston, Walt Alley.

The captains of the team were Shawn Watson, Tim Square, Walt Alley, and Rob Hudson. They have all participated in track for their four years of high school and were an incredible asset to the team. They finished the season with an 8 and 2 record and are looking very strong for next year. Senior Mike Luggelle comments, "The team unity was very strong. They held together and because of that, we were very successful throughout the season."

MHS Girls Carry On Tradition

The 1989 Girl's Track Team enjoyed a very successful season this year. With eight seniors returning to compete, the girls finished the season with a 12-5 record overall, 8-1 in the N.E.C., losing only to Painsville Riverside. Over the last four years, Riverside has been the only team to defeat the Madison girls in conference. The Madison girls' track team has always had a tradition of pride and success, and this year, they carried this pride all the way through the districts to reach the Regional track championships. Competing in this meet were Holly Horvath, Michelle Schayes, Lynn Hrbek, Valerie Grover and Wendy Hughes in the 1600m run, 100m dash and the 4x400 and 4x200m relays, respectively. Although the early season was chaotic at times due to bad weather, the team came together at the end to finish second in the N.E.C. track meet, behind only to Riverside. Great job, girls!!

1. Senior captain, Valerie Grover, takes her set position for the 200 meter dash.
  2. Deanna Leber finishes strong in the shuttle hurdles at Rebelette Relays.

Softball Wins N.E.C.!

The Varsity Softball team, coached by Mr. Bill Hance, came out victorious this season. The team captured the North Eastern Conference Championship with a record of 15-4. Overall, the team finished with a record of twenty wins and nine losses. In tournament play, they went all the way to the District Finals in Champion. There, they lost to Howland 7-5 in a hard-fought game.

Known as the "Wallyballers", the team started off offensively strong but got into a hitting slump. With the offense lacking, the defense improved dramatically with each game. By the middle of the season, the team managed to put the offense and defense together to be one of the area's better teams.

One could say that 1989 was a rebuilding year for the "Wallyballers". After seven seniors graduated last year, many positions needed to be filled. The record that the team finished with shows that each position was filled with the most capable person. Each player showed enormous skill and improvement which they carried out onto the field each game.

Blue Streaks Spark On The Field

The 1989 Baseball Season was demanding on our young Blue Streaks team. The season started off on a bad note with three losses in a row, but a victory over Ashtabula City proved that our team could be competitive. The success of the baseball team was on the shoulders of three returning lettermen. With no depth in the field, our Blue Streaks did a good job with what they had, not once giving up when things weren't going as they wanted.

NICE JOB BLUE STREAKS, WE'RE PROUD OF YOU!!!

J.V.'s Strive For Success

This year's Junior Varsity baseball and softball teams gained valuable experience over the course of their respective seasons. The J.V. baseball team "made great improvements in their fielding and hitting skills, with the team batting average well over .300", according to Coach George Herrick. Asked how the year went for J.V. softball, Coach Sally Phillips replied, "Very well. I had an excellent group of hard-working girls".

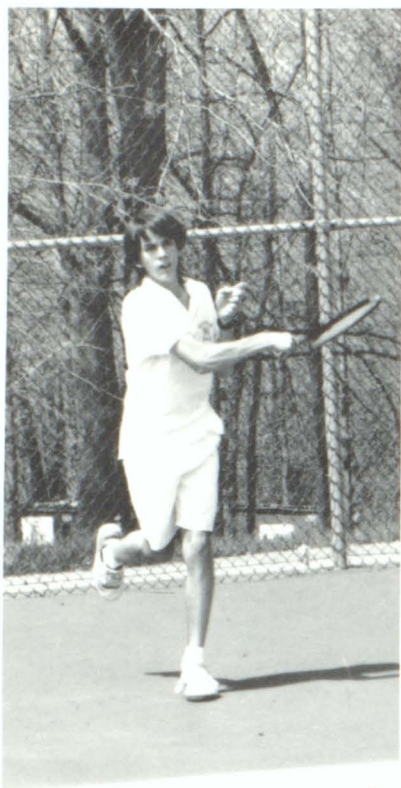

1. Jason Somppi leads off first base.
2. Ed Szabo strikes out his opponent.
3. Kevin Cocca gets a base hit.
4. Mason Williams scores another run for Madison.
5. Josh Cichello runs home.

Tennis Team Grows 1989 Tennis

The 1989 Tennis team, coached by Mr. Jack Higley, began the season with only two returning varsity lettermen, seniors Butch Begalke and Chris Cummings. Because there were so few returning veterans, the team lacked the experience to pull through a winning season. Despite the team's losses, the season was a breakthrough in another way. Tennis, being a co-educational sport, saw many more girls playing at the varsity level of a predominantly male sport. Through challenges, many girls had the chance to play with the seven-member varsity team.

The fifteen member team experienced many setbacks as a result of the unrelenting spring rains. Between many canceled practices, rescheduled matches, and lack of experience, it was difficult for the team to keep their season together, but spirits always remained high. The weather conditions also made it difficult for those who were not among the seven varsity members to have the opportunity to excel, challenge, and become a varsity member. Hopefully, with this year's experiences, next year's team will have the potential to pull through with a winning season.

*Through all these years, you brought us
joy;
Your friendships worth more than gold.
The best of times and memories
We will forever hold.
So dear to us are each of you,
Your smiles never to be forgotten,
For each of you instilled in us
A very special thing-
Tony, Bill, Scott, Jeanette-
You gave us a part of you
That we will cherish forever;
And though as we move on in life
Without you by our sides,
We have your friendships, no regrets.
The memories we have of you
Will last a lifetime and more.
There is just no other way to describe the way we feel-
We, the Seniors of Madison High School, love you.*

Lives Progress

Graduation- the most awaited day in a student's career. This year, the commencement ceremonies were held on June 11. They brought an end to four years of hard work. It was a time of sorrow, knowing that many friendships will become memories as everyone moves on in their lives. It was also a time of joy, knowing that a new life is waiting. Best of luck to the 1988-89 Seniors to achieve the most they can from their lives.
