MEMORIES TO KEEP

THE SCHOOL YEARBOOK IS FILLED WITH "MEMORIES TO KEEP." SCATTERED THROUGHOUT THE MEMORIES ARE THOUGHTS OF GOOD FRIENDS, GREAT DAYS, TRYING DAYS, FAVORITE TEACHERS, FAVORITE CLASSES, NOT SO FAVORITE CLASSES, EXCITING ACTIVITIES, AND THE KNOWLEDGE GAINED DURING SCHOOL.

THE STRONGEST OF THESE MEMORIES IS THE MEMORY OF FRIENDSHIPS AND THE FELLOWSHIP OF OTHER STUDENTS AND STAFF MEMBERS IN THE SCHOOL. EXPERIENCES WITH OTHER PEOPLE AT MADISON HIGH SCHOOL HAVE HELPED SHAPE THE ATTITUDES AND VALUES THAT WILL GUIDE THE INDIVIDUAL THE REST OF HIS OR HER LIFE. IT IS HOPED THAT THESE VALUES ARE THE SAME TAUGHT IN THE HOME.

IN A YEAR WHEN FAMILY VALUES IS ONE OF THE BIGGEST ISSUES IN A PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION, IT IS COMFORTING TO CONSIDER THAT FAMILY VALUES AND STRONG RELATIONSHIPS CAN EXTEND INTO ORGANIZATIONS SUCH AS MADISON HIGH SCHOOL.

GOOD TIMES, GOOD FRIENDS, CHALLENGING TIMES THAT DEVELOP MATURITY, ADULT ROLE MODELS IN THE BUILDING, AND DEVELOPMENT INTO ADULTHOOD — THESE ARE THE "MEMORIES TO KEEP."

On Top of It All

... missing these days already. It is hard to believe that this is the class of 1993's final year together. Some are happy to leave here, while others dread it. On commencement day they are going to walk on the stage to receive a diploma. It is up to those seniors to choose where they want that diploma to take them. Students may decide to go to the college of their choice or to find a job right away. Seniors who graduated in previous years either say they miss high school tremendously or they are excited to be moving on with their lives. Randomly asking some seniors what they would miss or not miss about high school was quite interesting. "I see the same faces every day, now those faces will only be seen once or twice a year," replied Ben Szczepkowski. Justin Cichello stated, "I will miss all of my friends, but not the school itself." Carla Ransom added, "I feel safe in high school; but when I go to college, I have to take on all the responsibilities myself." It was their last time to do all of those crazy things together that high school students do. "Everyone had rushed to be together, feeling graduation day coming on," commented Heather Hoffman. The graduating class had proved to stay on top of it all. Remember all the special moments you have shared with your fellow classmates.

"I had a great year, and I am looking forward to my senior year in Student Council. I want to make it the best for my class, 1994."

Ryan Fults
Secretary-Treasurer
"Student Council was a lot of fun this year. I enjoyed seeing our accomplishments."

Memorable Moments

Although it seems like we were just freshmen entering a new school, only one more year remains before our graduation! Some juniors we interviewed found this thought scary, while others saw it as exciting. Either way, we all agreed that high school so far had been a lot of work . . . and fun!

This time, also known as the best years of our lives, has given us many memories. "My best memory was when I was running in the dark at a party and I ran into three electrical fences. One broke and got wrapped around me," said Jen Kolar. Amy Hill and Angela Cowdery replied, "Wild times with the 'C Sisters' and Sauerkraut (John Krause)," when asked of their favorite memory of high school.

"My best memory is just sitting back at lunch being entertained by the biggest loonies that ever walked the face of the earth, otherwise known as my friends."

— Jeanelle Swank

Between attending college fairs, raising money for prom, participating in sports, doing homework, joining clubs, and having jobs, we all as individuals spent the year creating memories which we will look back on for the rest of our lives.

Sophomores Keep Moving Up

This year's sophomore class expressed their excitement about moving up in the ranks of the school. As freshmen, they struggled to fit in socially and academically. But that year is now a fading memory since the class of '95 has had plenty of time to adjust to the routines of high school. Jason Schmidt was relieved to say, "It seems better this year because I know more people, and I'm not as nervous about trying to fit in. I just try to be myself."

Along with feeling more comfortable in school, sophomores also excelled outside of the classroom in varsity sports and extracurricular clubs. Some students may have chosen to work at a part-time job after school. Getting a driver's license often came with getting a job. This often had a big effect on a student's life. Debbie Bangerter felt, "It's better than my freshman year because everybody's getting their licenses." A license allows one much more freedom and also makes it easier to get to the many activities that students become involved in.

The more involved in school life students became, the more memories they made to look back on. By joining in activities, the sophomores contributed to their own memory-making. At the same time, they proved to the rest of the school that they have what it takes to become the future leaders of M.H.S.

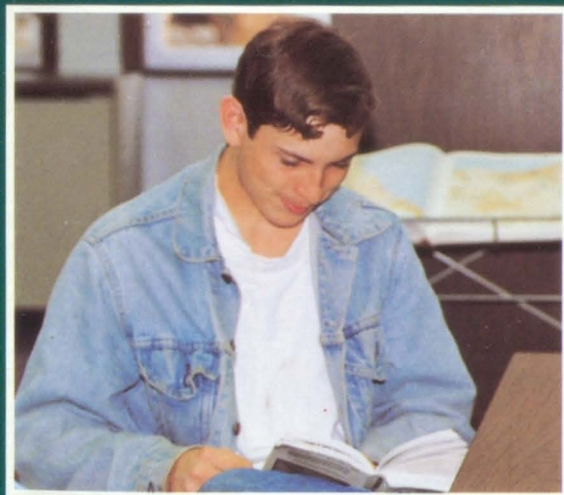

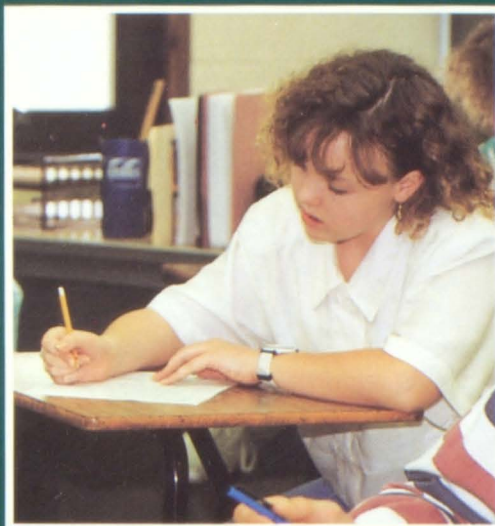

The sophomores enjoy getting out of class to attend the first assembly of the year.

"I enjoyed working with such a spirited class. They show pride in their school and community and are well represented in all school activities." — Sue Evatz, President

"I really liked representing our class. I think we have the most spirit and everyone seems to like getting involved in everything." — Summer Underhill, Vice-President

"It's fun representing the class of '95 because we have a lot of spirit." — Aubrey Lunceford, Secretary/Treasurer

Freshmen Fit In

Unsharpened pencils, mixed-up schedules, people who actually got up in time to do their hair . . . The first day of school was even more of a first for freshmen, who had to deal with a two-story building, three sets of upperclassmen, and a wide choice of extracurricular activities that were never offered in the middle school.

For most freshmen, this overwhelming beginning held many strong, and often, embarrassing, memories. Lorna Mallick sadly recalls tripping over a chair in study hall and going to English when she should have been in Biology. Erica Williams identified her most lasting memory as "when I slipped and got my books knocked out of my hands, and Mike Gramoy kicked them down the hall." Brandy Drzazga remembers when she "sat in a big wet spot in English class," and almost all of the freshmen admitted to tripping on the stairs.

The Class of 1996 proved to be pretty smooth; however, it wasn't long before they had ditched their colossal bookbags and stiff new outfits and were really enjoying the high school experience. Most freshmen especially seemed to enjoy the chance to meet new people. Putting this idea bluntly, Brynn Knight exclaimed, "I'm lovin' it! I like meeting new guys." Casey Berry added, "I like getting to know different people, and I like all the clubs they have here." Summing it all up, Jessica Johnson commented, "The people in high school are nicer and much more mature than they were in middle school. I'm not afraid to be myself anymore." With such a positive attitude, the Freshman Class has found plenty of opportunities to make some great memories to keep.

"Representing the Freshman Class was fun. We're a really unique class. We're still not as outgoing as the other classes but, hopefully, that will change."

— Travis Lindahl, Class President

"The class still has to stop trying to fit in so much, but I enjoyed representing them. There are a lot of nice kids in the class who are really fun to be around."

— Mike Crowell, Class Vice-President

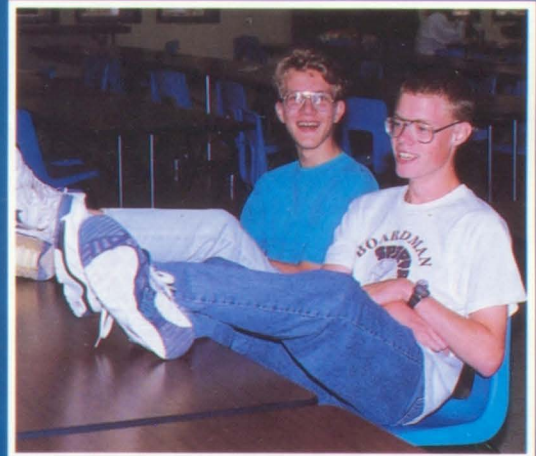

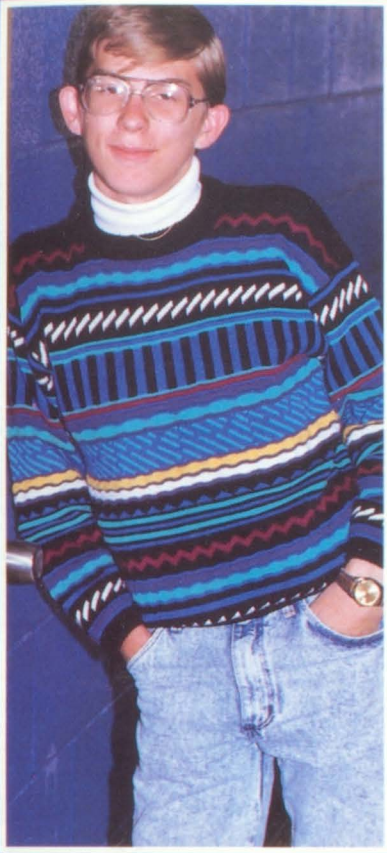

"The bad reputation that we had in the middle school seemed to change. Our class has adjusted and learned to fit in quite well."

— Jennifer Janka, Class Secretary-Treasurer

Freshmen Beth Swank, Chrissy Marthey, Jessica Glasser, Holly Adams, and Tim Zundel seem only slightly amused by their first High School pep assembly.

"I'm calm, cool, and collected . . ." Larry Bede looks suave.

Chris Brandt and John Cartwright aren't going to let their new school shoes go unnoticed.

Memories Kept Forever

Walking into the school on the morning of October 16, Homecoming excitement filled the air. The eventful weekend began with the delivery of Homecoming mums. Then, after attendance was taken first period, the school proceeded to the gym for the traditional Homecoming assembly. As they entered the gym, the lights dimmed and the theme song, "TOTAL ECLIPSE OF THE HEART," played softly in the background. After the presentation of the Homecoming court, consisting of Dawn Piros, Mandy Lewis, Rachel Webster, Rachael Gates, Heather Marshall, Kyle Jackson, Keith Blalock, John Pasquarelli, Matt Pietzak, and Zubin Meshginpoosh, the Homecoming skit went into play. All the students joined each other in intense laughter at perhaps the most humorous skit ever presented. Later that evening, the entire community gathered together at the Hamblin Field to spectate the crowning of the teary eyed Queen, Dawn Piros, and to cheer the Blue Streak football team on to their 14-0 victory over Harvey. After the game, the Homecoming committee met in the school cafeteria with Mr. and Mrs. Reigert to transform the lunch room into a gallery of black, gold, and silver decor. Working until approximately 4:30 A.M., they truly succeeded in their plan.

"The dance was well attended and it was a 'Total Eclipse of the Mind'." — Mr. McIntyre.

On Saturday, October 17, 1992, after all the preparation and money was spent to make the night perfect, over 400 students entered the "maze" not knowing what was beyond. Walking past the ticket table, they came across a park scene with a plaster fountain slowly trickling blue tinted water and into a night of Homecoming memories and romance. The evening's highlight was the crowning of Homecoming King and Queen, Kyle Jackson and Dawn Piros. Finally, after four hours of dancing to D.J. Craig Emmet's music and socializing with their friends, the Madison High School students parted to go their separate ways. The Seniors left with memories of their last Homecoming, to be remembered always.

ACADEMICS

Feeding Parents To Growing Hair

This year the teachers in the English Department tried out some new ways to help their students get the most out of their education. The English 1 teachers worked hard to prepare the freshmen for their next three years of high school.

The sophomores and juniors had a chance to be in a tutoring group started by Ms. Wilson and Mrs. Moskowitz. It was designed for students who wanted to be successful in class and were willing to get help to accomplish that. Between five and ten people were involved each semester. Ms. Wilson was excited and hopeful that it would expand in the future.

Juniors in Mrs. Sampson's classes got to do individual projects that related to the literature they read in class. She hoped this would give students an opportunity to do something they liked and to express themselves in a different way.

The English 4 teachers had a big task to accomplish. They had to make sure the seniors were ready for college or the work force. Mr. Pavesich's classes went over grammar and British literature. Mrs. Bangerter's classes covered composition and British literature. Also, her Honors English class put together a madrigal dinner for their parents, applying what they had learned in school.

Some of the teachers also responded to her new name. Ms. Jackson taught freshmen composition at Kent Ashtabula Branch which was a unique and exciting experience for her. Probably the newest and biggest change though was Mr. Loeffel's hair. For all the students who had had him this was a shock because they had always just accepted the fact he would never have hair on top of his head!

"I really admire Mr. Loeffel because one day he came to school with hair. It showed a lot of integrity to come on a weekday and not wait for a weekend. He's so cool!" — Rachel Webster

Keeping Students First

The math department was working to improve some skills while challenging others.

A tutoring class was created to help students pass the proficiency test. Under the supervision of Mrs. Ellen Carr first semester and Mr. Jack Becca second, approximately ten students were tutored in general areas of math during fourth period.

Math abilities were tested in the third annual American High School Mathematics Exam Competition (AHSME) given by Mr. Kevin Morgan. The purpose of the competition was to improve math skills and prepare students for the official AHSME given at the end of the year for scholarship money.

Mr. Wagner was a new face to the math department. He entered Madison with four years of experience and a degree from Miami University.

Classes taught ranged from General and Consumer Math to Pre-Calculus and Calculus. Analytical Trigonometry/Geometry had seen its last days as a course offered. Pre-Calculus, a class similar in structure, replaced the class in technology. Students were issued graphing calculators to take the class.

MEMORABLE EXPERIMENTS

The Science Department advanced this year with the new wave of technology. The math and science computer lab was part of this advancement. Five computers mounted on wheels moved the lab into the classrooms. There was also an overhead system wired to all of the science rooms and two of the math rooms. Teachers could use this system to send notes stored in the computer to the overhead screens in their classrooms. Most of the programs in the computers were self-directed this year. This helped individual students learn at their own pace.

Another addition to the Science Department was the Advanced Placement Chemistry class. This is a second year college level chemistry class. The students came in at 6:45 a.m. two days a week so that they would be able to complete the course in time for the test. If they did well on it, they could receive college credits.

This year the students became more environmentally aware. On October 2nd, the Biology 1 and Ecology classes took part in Coastweeks Great Lakes Beach Sweep. It was coordinated by the Center for Marine Conservation.

Overall, the students in the Science Department experienced many new and exciting things. Those planning to go into the science field have many more entertaining experiences ahead of them, but they also have the wonderful memories from Madison High School.

Watch carefully! Mr. Mallick's 5th period chemistry class watches while he demonstrates the lab they're about to do.

Don't cut that! Senior Carli Stefancic and Junior Matt Igyarto carefully dissect a mink in Anatomy class.

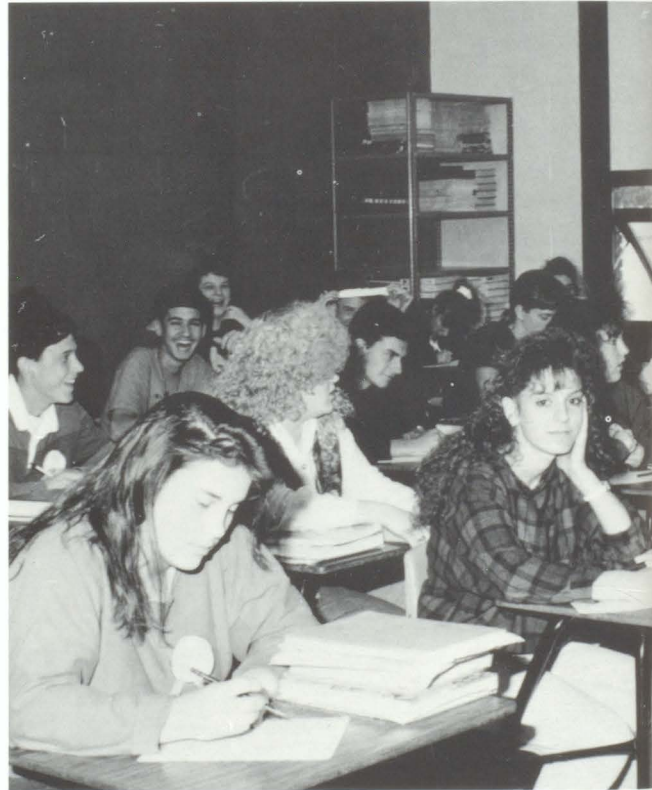

Danger! Scientist at work! Senior Mike Hawes heats up the liquid on his microslide with the famous bunsen burner.

Hey what's going on? Seniors Nick Woodruff, Abby Seufer, Amy Skiba, Jessica Lemin, and Chris Csepegi work diligently on their homework assignment.

Mr. Dipofi's sixth period class participates in a game of jeopardy.

Oh, man . . . I wish this class would end! Seniors Sharon Whaley and Laura Engelis listen intently during their sixth period government class.

Keeping History Alive

The start of the 1992-1993 school year brought a few changes to the History Department. There was a new yet not so new face to the juniors who had U.S. History. Many were surprised to see Mr. Wallace. Mr. Wallace had been a substitute teacher for two years prior to his job here at Madison.

Mr. Herrholtz, in his second year at Madison, had only three senior government classes. The seniors in his classes surveyed approximately two hundred students on a variety of topics. A few of the topics of the surveys were racism, drug testing in our school, the election of '92, AIDS, and abortion. They all had different reasons for trying to prove their topics. Senior Julie Bowler surveyed fellow classmates on their thoughts about AIDS. "I discovered that there is a common fear among Madison students about AIDS." The seniors experienced many more educational projects throughout the year.

"I discovered that there is a common fear among Madison students about AIDS." Julie Bowler

Mr. Deering was in his third year teaching American Politics. When Wendy Warren was asked what she liked about it, she answered, "I like it because it is more of a one-on-one type of class.

There's a lot of open discussion. It's not a textbook learning class. I think it's a great class!"

Mr. Delp was again teaching AP History to a select group of juniors. This was a class which required special permission to take. The juniors must take a test in order to be allowed in the class.

As another year approaches, there will be more changes, such as new teachers, new classes, and many more memories of history. Whether the memories are good or bad, they will always be memories of high school years at Madison.

See, I told you I did my homework! Junior Howard Rhodes shows off his homework assignment.

Keeping Ties With Other Nations

The Language Department consists of German, Spanish, and French classes taught by Mr. Donald Strother, Mrs. Karen Battes, and Mrs. Ruth Ann Strother. Although these classes are not required, most college bound students find it helpful to have a foreign language listed on their college applications.

German classes participated in several activities during the year. One of Mr. Strother's goals was to take his classes to Amish country where they sang and spoke German and ate German food. Over the past eight years, over one hundred Madison students have visited Germany as part of the language program, and ten more went this year. A fourth year German class, titled "Independent Study," became available this year, and a few students took advantage of the opportunity to advance their language skills while earning additional credits and grades.

Known for enjoyable games in her classes, Mrs. Strother managed to create a few more with the assistance of her students. Classes competed in French versions of Jeopardy and Around the World. During after school hours, about fifty students participated in monthly activities of the French Club. The group scheduled a variety of programs including a language workshop, a Mardi Gras party, Christmas caroling, and a trip to a French restaurant. The students raised funds for the activities by sponsoring a school dance and holding a candy sale. Sophomore Crystal Sparks commented, "The most enjoyable thing we do in class is the projects. I just finished an alphabet book in French."

"No lemo!"

Students enrolled in Spanish classes celebrated several fiestas, or parties, at which they enjoyed learning about and eating Mexican foods. They also practiced using the language in songs and Christmas carols. All classes enjoyed the music of Jon Secada, a songwriter and singer who has made the hit record charts in both

Spanish and English. For holidays such as Valentine's Day, students illustrated cards and wrote Spanish greetings in them. The third year class immersed themselves in a study of Spanish artists and then visited the art museum in Cleveland to culminate their studies. Many of these students commented on how fluently they could speak Spanish after three years of study. Senior Jeff Cooper remarked, "No problema!"

Memories To Grow On

Our school has a variety of vocational classes led by Mrs. Green, Ms. Ashton, and Mrs. McMahan. These include: Marriage and Family, Life Skills, Independent Living, Child Development, Clothing, Foods, and Quest. These classes offer an alternative to academic classes. There is a one on one contact between the teacher and the students. Students learn how to value themselves and how to care about other people.

This year Quest class brought in many supplies to help the hurricane victims in Florida. They also made collages to be shared with the class. The students learned about everyone's personality from these collages. Students studied other areas of life including feelings, self concept, friendship, family finances, opposite sex, life planning, and the meaning of life. Senior Jason Hedges stated what he got out of Quest class, "I have a better understanding of everyone in the class. I would advise others to take the course. Many people are narrow minded, and it would open up people's minds. There isn't one person that doesn't participate in the class."

"There are a lot of people on the threshold of adulthood, and I would like to help prepare the young people for that."

Mrs. McMahan

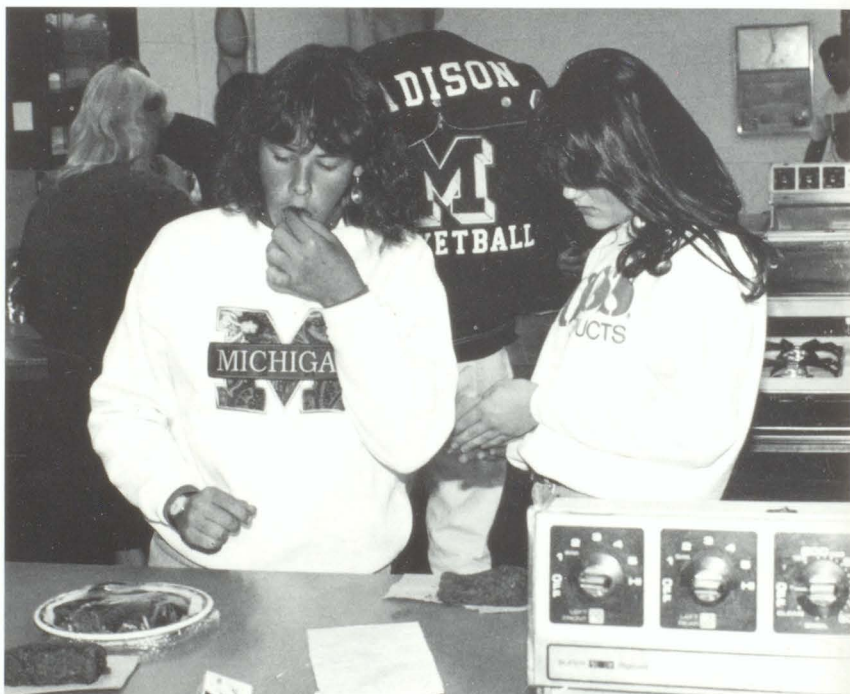

In Marriage and Family, students took on a role of being a parent. They carried around dolls for a week. They learned responsibility that will be needed in later life.

The foods classes made many tasty foods, and, better yet, they got to eat the finished product. They learned different cooking techniques and better table manners.

Many great experiences came about in these classes. The Home Ec classes expanded the learning of responsibility. They also reinforced the skills for living, so the students can survive in the real world of today and tomorrow.

Making More Than Memories

The 1992-'93 school year kicked off with a considerable increase of students enrolled in Industrial Arts. These classes, headed by Mr. Becka, Mr. Petersen, and Mr. Morrison, taught practical and useful skills in the fields of metals, drafting, and woods. Metals included activities in gas welding, art welding, sheet metal work, and metal machining. The metals class was responsible for the casting work done on the fountain in the courtyard. Drafting included isometric drawings, machine drawing, and house drawings. The school recently purchased a new CAD system (Computer Aided Drafting) for the drafting students to use. Finally, woods had students learning skills in carpentry. In recent years picnic tables and children's building blocks have been made by woods classes and donated to the community. Former students remarked how useful they feel the skills they learned have been. Seniors Duke Gustincic and Ronnie Queen both reached Level Seven Woods, the highest level obtainable. Ronnie made the comment, "Woods was very educational and will help a lot in my future as a carpenter." Duke added, "I'm glad I took woods because I learned a lot of cool stuff. I would suggest that anyone thinking about taking the course does."

"Madison High School is one of the few schools that offer all three of the Industrial Arts courses as separate courses."
— Mr. Morrison

Students Shape Their Future

Though they were few in number, the students who participated in the business classes will be a step ahead of everyone else in getting a job. The Business Department lies in a section of the school where many students ventured only to stop at their lockers.

On any morning a passer-by could have found the ladies of the junior Intensive Office Education program working to type up the morning announcements. I.O.E. is a vocational program where students focus on the skills needed to land a job in the business world. During the two year course, the students completed a variety of tasks for the school. They typed the Northeastern Conference wrestling tournament programs, Honor Society programs, and other such jobs. They often donated their time to work on these chores during free periods.

Across the hall is the Occupational Work Adjustment class. Designed for students with problems, the O.W.A. course aided them in finding part-time jobs, prepared them for future job interviews, and showed them how to fill out applications. The students went to class for five periods then went to their respective jobs. They received a grade based on their working habits. In sixteen years, over sixty percent of the students enrolled in the program have graduated or received a G.E.D.

Other courses offered through the Business Department were Business Law, Accounting, Personal Typing, Typing I, and General Business. The enrollment of the personal typing class has increased due to the fact that it is now a pass/fail course. Possibly, this is one step closer to making the future generation more keyboard literate.

Learning Gets Personal

Did you ever try to find room number two hundred and get lost? That room and other learning centers, although somewhat hidden, are just as much a part of our school as any other room. Students in these rooms have the same curriculum as the rest of the school. For example, in English they read and study authors such as William Shakespeare, John Steinbeck, and Jack London. Also, they learn algebra and geometry. With only six to ten students per class, these students have the opportunity to go at a pace that is fit for them and to get personalized help when it is needed.

“I like to get to know the students as individuals!”
— Mrs. Rihaly.

Although teachers of these classes enjoy their job, it is not an easy task. They have to be able to teach one subject as well as another. Mrs. Morgan, who is afraid of crowds, finds her small classes to be of comfort. Miss Rihaly stated that she likes to get to know the students as individuals. As a tutor to all Madison schools, Mrs. McCue enjoys working with students who have a different outlook on life. Students and teachers in this program have the chance to make some very personal memories.

Rapper Ice-T ignited a furor with his song "Cop Killer." Ice-T said the controversial song was a warning to the Los Angeles police, whom he accused of brutality, specifically he was referring to the video taped police beating of Rodney King and its aftermath of riots. However, the singer later removed the song from his Body Count album after law enforcement officials and others criticized Time T for allowing the song to be distributed on the company's record label.

SURANCE

Unemployment was one of the major issues during the 1992 presidential campaign. The unemployment rate had risen from 5.2 percent, when President Bush took office in 1988, to over 7 percent on election day, 1992. That meant 9.7 million Americans were out of work. Also, according to Labor Department projections, there will be 30 percent more college graduates than college-level jobs from now until the year 2005.

George Bush and his running mate, Dan Quayle, were the incumbents. The challengers were Arkansas Governor Bill Clinton and Tennessee Sen. Al Gore as his running mate. And then there was Ross Perot, the on-again, off-again independent candidate, who dropped out. Then, about five weeks before election day, he dropped back in. The Blue Streaks counted down the days until their first game. After sacrificing many mornings of summer for practice, satisfaction was achieved. The team stuck with their hard work and by the end of the season were in better shape than ever.

All the coaches directed excellent performances from both returning lettermen and some new faces. They taught really hard work and dedication. The Streaks' talent showed with the win over Harvey at the Homecoming game. Crowds were on edge wait-

The Streaks had a tough time in the beginning of the season but held on strong throughout. The team adjusted to having many junior varsity players participate in varsity games. They all worked together to become a great varsity team, proving that all their hard practice hours really paid off!

Keeping the Streak Going

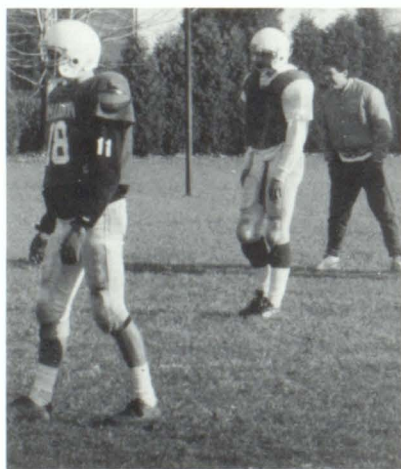

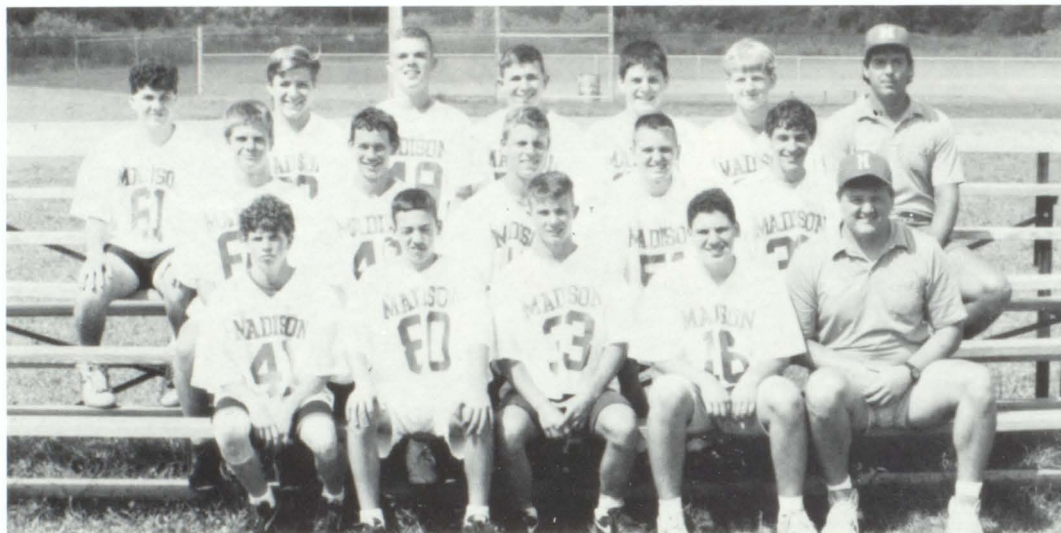

Another great season of football passed by, but not without the excitement of the game. The funny feeling that you have all day thinking of the exhibition you are about to encounter, walking into the great smell of the field right before the tenseness of the kickoff — that's what the game is all about.

There was another part of the game . . . winning. That's what athletes work for every day at practice. For the third year in a row, that's what the freshman team did. Once again, the freshman team took home the N.E.C. championship.

Next, the junior varsity team started off on the wrong foot, but picked up the pace near the end of their season. The j.v. team consisted of mostly juniors but had a couple of sophomores. The j.v. team is sometimes called the "experimental team." They practiced against the varsity team to learn what they had to expect next year. They'll be used to the system and be ready for the excitement of next year's season.

Revealing Strength and Depth

The Madison Boys Cross Country Team finished the season with an overall record of 9-2 (NEC 7-2). Matt Martin and Matt Igyarto earned positions on the NEC first team, while Dave Sidewand and Bob Chaffee made the NEC second team. The team placed third in the NEC Championships with 74 points. In the NE Championships, Madison placed sixth with 150 points.

This year's twenty-six runners made the team very strong. Matt Martin was the top senior runner, Matt Igyarto, the top junior runner; Tom Connett, the top sophomore runner; and Chris Brandt, the top freshman runner. "I felt we had a very strong year with a lot of depth. Even though we are losing four great seniors, we are gaining a lot of youth," quoted Andy Rowley.

The World's Sports Exchange invited various runners from eighteen different states to be part of the U.S. team for an international competition. Matt Igyarto was one of the few qualifiers from the state of Ohio. Most of his Christmas vacation was spent in Europe training for the international competition.

Keep Running . . .

Girls Cross Country Team lost runners but kept its pace

It's a warm summer day. You can go to the mall with your friends, you can relax at the beach, or you can run three to six miles with the Cross Country Team. This year, fourteen dedicated athletes chose to run, giving the 1992 Girls Cross Country Team a successful season.

As soon as school let out last year, the team started practicing three nights a week, and they began running five days a week in August. They continued to practice every day during the season, and they competed in seven meets, five invitationals, and the NEC and District meets.

The girls' 5-3 record displayed admirable success, especially since the team was very young this year. Coach Jack Pavesich dubbed the 1992 season "a rebuilding year;" three sophomores and two freshmen ran varsity. This young team proved that they could work hard and accomplish their goals. Sophomore Debbie Bangerter commented, "One of our goals as a team was to beat Riverside, and we did that, which was good."

"The team was like a family"

Robin Ryan also noted that "many individual goals were met," such as Debbie Bangerter's progression to the Regional meet in Youngstown after Districts. Debbie would have been joined by Senior Julie Heck, but Julie got sick with mono towards the end of the season. Coach Pavesich identified Julie's illness as "the only real negative point of the season," adding, "I felt really bad for Julie because she worked very hard to go to State."

Although Julie was disappointed in her personal season, she still enjoyed watching her team improve, which is indicative of the spirit of the Girls Cross Country Team. Coach Pavesich called them "a pleasure to work with," and Freshmen Nicole Biasotti felt they "were like a family."

Lady Streaks Crush Competition

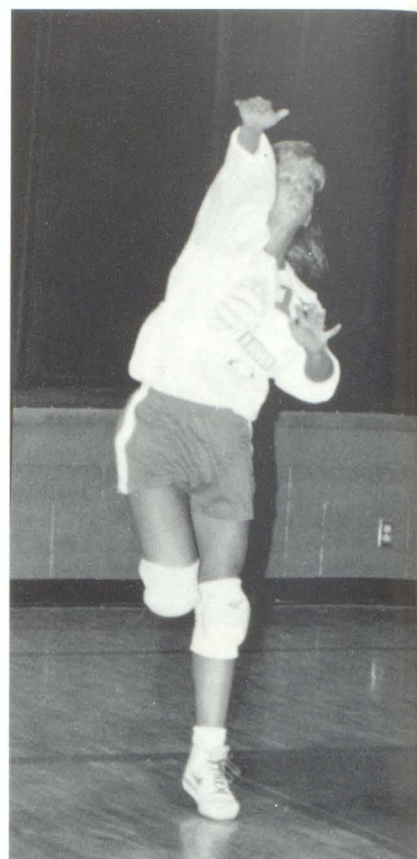

As the 1992 season began, the varsity volleyball team had a lot of excitement and enthusiasm toward the upcoming season. Much of the excitement was geared toward the new head coach, Duke Dipofi. He brought a new perspective to the sport and gave the team the confidence to build on to their talents. The season started as well as expected, as the team took first place in a tough tournament by defeating Lake Catholic and Euclid. Throughout the course of the season, the Streaks put a scare to a lot of top teams by taking them to three games and almost pulling off

“With all the new goals and expectations, we achieved some high accomplishments.” — Sr. Mandy Lewis some upsets. Even though their record was 8-13, individual accomplishments were high. Receiving All-league awards were: Leslie Solden, First Team; Mandy Lewis and Jamie McIntyre, Special Mention; Carla Ransom and Carisa Lindsay, Honorable Mention. Coach Dipofi summed up the season by stating, “The season had a lot of positive outcomes and there were some highlights. The transition was a lot smoother than I had expected; I learned a lot about coaching girls. Overall I had a fun time coaching this season.”

Boys JV soccer ended season with an impressive 8-2-5 record.

The boys JV soccer team ended their season with a record of eight wins, two losses, and five ties. The head coach for the boys, Gregg Klein, remarked that there were several talented young players who would contribute significantly to the varsity team in upcoming years. When sophomore Stephen Hart was asked what he felt the most challenging aspect of soccer was, he said, "I'd have to say the coach's drills were the most challenging. There was a lot of running involved." Another sophomore, John Hatch, felt that the coach himself was the most challenging because he was new. Paul Sisk, a freshman, added, "Trying to get past the fenders that were bigger than me was the toughest." Both the coach and the players seemed very pleased with the team's success.

"Everything was hard for me ... I was the goalie!" — Freshman Chris Jaskela.

VARSITY SOCCER TURNS UP THE HEAT

Boys clinch a piece of the title

This year the Boys Varsity Soccer team turned out an excellent season. With thirteen returning lettermen, the team had high expectations and a positive attitude. Second year coach Andy Marson put his soccer experience to work once again and led the guys to be co-champs in the Greater Cleveland Conference. They finished with a record of 11-2-3, the best Madison had seen in years. Out of sixteen games this season, Madison scored 82 goals, while allowing their opponents only 20!

“The team had potential to go a long way. We had a great year.” — Mike Woodworth

The co-captains this year were Joel Delp and Dave Staffiera. Joel set a new school record with 33 goals and 12 assists. Preston Wolk had an outstanding season as goalkeeper with a total of 5 shutouts. Not only did several individuals stand out during an incredible season, they were a product of a remarkable team. The whole group worked together to show strength, intensity, and support for each other. These qualities helped the team to excel and to reach their goals.

A job well done! Senior John Prokop gives his teammate, Joel Delp, a hand after some intense playing.

Keeping Goals

"Fun, exciting, and successful" are three words that sophomore Beth Zelenak used to describe the season in girls' varsity soccer. The girls started conditioning at the end of July and continued to work diligently until the end of the season. When asked which game she would remember and why, Senior Goalkeeper Niki Hutcheson replied, "I think I will remember the home game against Kenston. The way we played as a team made me feel that we could beat anybody."

When sophomore Chrissy Mills was asked what she looks forward to for next year, she said that she hopes they will be able to play well together as a team even though they lost quite a few seniors.

Coach Sharon Naso said that the girls worked very hard since August and all their work became evident in their games. She also commented that the girls had a very successful season.

Lisa Payne described what she would like to be able to go back and change about the season, "I would make all the ties wins, and I would wish for a healthier team." The girls ended the season with a 9-6-3 record. In the first round of sectional games, they beat their opponent, Hawken, with a two to one score. From there, they advanced to the second round against Mentor, one of the team's biggest rivals. Their season ended with a four to one loss to Mentor. Many of the team's losses were only by one or two goals. The team looks forward to an even more successful season next year.

"I hope we can still play well next year even though we lost a lot of seniors." Chrissy Mills.

Keeping Up With School Spirit

The tradition of high school spirit generated by the MHS cheerleaders has been kept another year. Like any other team, the cheerleaders worked hard at practices starting from the beginning of the summer. The varsity football and basketball squads combined to form one twelve member team while attending the Americheer cheerleading camp held at Baldwin-Wallace College. In the three short days there, they obtained many ribbons and a superior plaque, as well as a spirit stick.

The J.V. squad went separately to the N.C.A. cheerleading camp, also at Baldwin-Wallace College. They brought back a spirit stick certificate and various ribbons. The J.V. squad not only cheered for football, but pulled through for another long season of basketball.

Cheerleading is team building ... Coming together is a beginning; keeping together is a progress; working together is success.

"Cheerleading is fun because we work well together as a squad and as friends," says Captain Meredith Dorr.

The night before the homecoming game, the varsity football squad put together boxes of good luck junk food and personally delivered them to the seniors of the varsity football team at their homes. The guys were both surprised and grateful.

Together, the J.V. and varsity football cheerleaders had fun during the season. It was a good experience for them all, and it created many memories. "Cheerleading is a lot of fun, and it has given us a lot of great memories," said Stacy Messina.

Let's hear it! The J.V. cheerleaders are spirited ... and cold!

Driving To Be The Best . . .

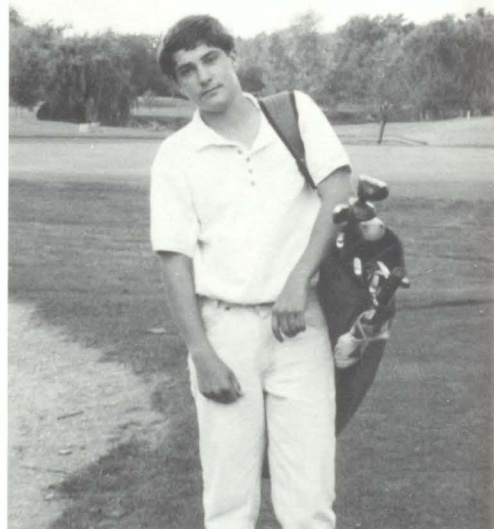

As the leaves began to change color and the air got cooler, the '92-'93 Golf Team was out there on the green. As people passed by Erie Shores Golf Course, they could have seen the Golf Team hard at work practicing. All their hard work and dedication was rewarded. Their over-all record was 13-5, and they won second place in the NEC. Senior Jamie Miller and Sophomore Bob Dame were on the All-NEC Team with Bob coming in second place.

"We were aiming for first in the NEC, but second was pleasing." — Coach, Mr. A. J. Pierce

Throughout the season, the team individually improved to the point where, as one player commented, "They could beat their coach at his own game." Since the team was rather young, they are looking forward to a successful season next year. The blending of the more experienced players with the younger ones gave the team confidence and a winning style. The unity and determination of the team contributed to a season of success.

SOPHOMORES

Country Music's Friends in Low Places

Garth Brooks, whose introspective songs and rousing concerts lifted country music to new heights, was voted top entertainer by his peers for the second year in a row in 1992. The 30 year old superstar managed to top both the country and the pop charts with his 9-million-selling album Ropin' the Wind. The soft-spoken singer from Oklahoma says he spent more time in his youth listening to Elton John and James Taylor than emulating Hank Williams and Merle Haggard.

1992 Summer Olympics

Barcelona, Spain, hosted the Summer Olympics in 1992, and it proved to be a bonanza for the U.S. — a total of 108 medals. A record 10,000 athletes, professional and amateurs, from 183 countries gathered in this rapidly modernized metropolis nestled near the Mediterranean Sea. Carl Lewis may not make it to the next Olympics — he'll be 35 by then — but he won two gold medals this time, one in the long jump and one in the 400-meter relay.

Civil war spread across Yugoslavia, a nation of six republics and two provinces that had been plagued for centuries by historic, ethnic, religious, and economic differences. Nationalist, anti-Communist parties won elections in 1991 in all republics except Serbia, the largest, and Montenegro, the smallest. Then Croatia and its neighbor Slovenia declared their independence. Traditional rivalries were strongest between the 9 million Serbs, who belonged to the Orthodox church, and the 5 million Croats, who are Roman Catholic. Tens of thousands of people became refugees and the killing continued.

Juniors and Seniors Can Now Take Gym

Waiting anxiously for class to end is Mr. Willis's fifth period class.

This year Mr. Reigert, Mrs. Mullan and Mr. Willis tried to instill in their students the importance of health and exercise.

Some people may have noticed a new face among the health and gym teachers. This was

Mrs. Mullan. Before coming to Madison she was a gym teacher at Lake Catholic and then substituted for three years. She said it was good to get back into a routine of knowing the students and being here on a regular basis. Some of the activities she taught in gym class were badminton, team handball, and weight training. The big thing she pushed was participation.

There was also a fairly new gym class. Mr. Reigert taught honors gym for the second year in a row. Honors gym is a physical education elective for juniors and seniors. This class was a little less formal than other gym classes, but a little more demanding in how the students played and participated. There were eighteen students, and they got to do some activities normal gym classes wouldn't do like going bowling and golfing. Mr. Reigert commented that he enjoyed teaching this class and that it was a good way to get going in the morning.

Health classes covered the nutritional unit, mental health, and sex education. "Mr. Willis is an awesome teacher because he talks about interesting things," said Pam Beech.

The big thing ... was participation.

Cover me, Travis Lindall looks for an open receiver as John Cartwright and Jeremy Savchuk cover him in a game of flag football.

"It's pretty cool, the guys joke with me a lot," comments Melissa Zundel on being the only girl in honors gym.

Keeping Cultured

"Individuals with art ability are visually oriented and possess a unique intelligence that is forceful, enormously important, and absolutely essential to an artist's way of life."

This year brought a few changes to the Art Department. The curriculum expanded to include Photography class and Senior Studio Art. The talent that came up also added to the change. Many individuals who never thought they had art in them learned of their expanded capabilities. Heather March stated, "Art was never important to me, but now that I see I can do it, the subject has become something I look forward to every day."

Mr. Ashton's Photography students studied functions of cameras and the process of film developing, along with the actual taking of pictures as an art and a profession. Working hard every day in the old greenhouse, these photographers enjoyed the art of light's contrast.

The Senior Studio Art class, instructed by Mrs. Parks, is a class where college bound art students work one semester on their portfolios. A small class of fourteen, many of these students were also involved in individual art study, a carry-over for more art time. Mrs. Parks said, "Constantly expanding and growing is always a goal I want to achieve. The future looks bright indeed." The talents of these students proved enormous, and with enough motivation and inspiration, Mrs. Parks hoped they could go on to become a part of art history.

The other classes could not be forgotten either. Students involved in Art Foundations, Commercial Art, Painting, Sculpture, Ceramics, Beginning Drawing, Printmaking, and Jewelry made quite an impression. Their talents expanded those of previous years, and all the art shows and contests added to the success the teachers pushed them towards.

Finally, this year Wendy Warren went to Mrs. Parks and she was given the "go-ahead" to finish it. Along with the help of Heather March, working hours after-school, the mural was finally finished. With this work, Madison High School has something new to be proud of.

WORKING THEIR WAY TO A CAREER

Instead of taking classes all day at the high school, students may choose to go to Auburn Career Center for half of the day or for a full day to pursue a vocational education. Students can choose the trade that they wish to study from a variety of fields including administrative office services, auto body, auto technology, building remodeling and repair, community and home service, cosmetology, culinary arts, diversified health occupations, early childhood education, electronics, graphic communications, horticulture science, industrial technologies, information processing, transitional employment, diversified co-op training, marketing education, and occupational work experience. They get to participate in hands-on-training throughout the course of their choice.

Many of the students go to Auburn Career Center for the experience that they need in order to go straight to work after completing high school. Approximately 72 MHS students attended ACC during 1992-'93.

Auburn Career Center held elections for offices in their Vocational Industrial Clubs of America and Business Professionals of America. They were: Renee Lyons, Treasurer: V.I.C.A.; Candy Ely, President: B.P.A.; Ryan Knight, Vice-President: V.I.C.A.; Amanda Stedronsky, Vice-President: B.P.A.; and Theresa Francis, Secretary: B.P.A.

LET THE GOOD TIMES ROLL

Keeping the Memories Alive

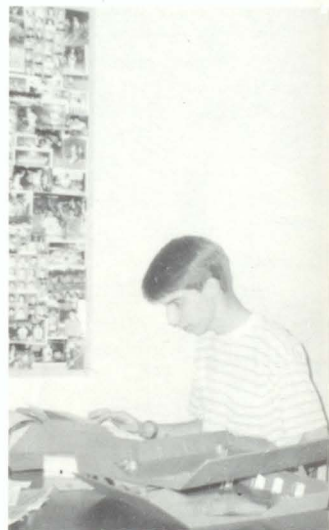

Yearbook opened with many new beginnings. With a few exceptions of Editor, Lynn Auld, and Section Editors Beth Hupertz, Nellie Adams, and Leslie Solden, the staff was new and enthusiastic about getting the yearbook rolling. Ms. Wilson took on the position as the advisor. Facing a young staff, she had a lot of unexpected work ahead of her.

Through the hectic deadlines and rough schedules, the staff remained on top of things at all times. Selling business ads to meet expenses, completing layouts, and getting pictures taken were all very important responsibilities the staff had. Junior Andy Rowley and Senior Wendy Warren took on positions as head photographers, which meant giving up their own time to be wherever the camera was needed.

"I enjoy capturing the moments." — Andy Rowley

Many of the first year staff members entered yearbook with the expectation of an easy "A", but as Senior Julie Bowler states, "I expected it to be easier than it turned out to be." Yearbook is full of many frustrating moments, but with the help of each other the staff members made the 1992-'93 Cauldron a roaring success.

Newspaper Expands Expectations

"We need ads," was a common reminder heard every day by The Streak staff. Everyone knows it costs a lot to produce the award winning paper. Six years in a row, The Streak has been rated number one in the Great Lakes Interscholastic Press Association.

This year's editors were Matthew Schley and Tracy Arcaro. The staff was a record size with twenty students. N'namdi Miles, although not one of the staff, drew the cartoons for the paper. "Wolf Gang" was the name of his comic strip.

Along with the enlarged staff came expanded expectations. The paper developed new features such as news briefs and creative ads.

"This is not something that just happens, it must constantly be worked on. We emphasize quality, quality, quality," explained Frank Ashton, Advisor.

Many students took newspaper to prepare themselves for a career in journalism. Chelsea Miller, a senior first year student, said, "I took newspaper to prepare myself for majoring in journalism at Ohio University. The class teaches students different aspects of layout and newspaper design." Other students took it because they enjoyed the class. "I like the class and I especially enjoy designing ads," responded senior second year student Diane Spence.

"The class teaches students different aspects of layout and newspaper design . . . We emphasize quality, quality, quality."

With a lot of hard work by Mr. Ashton and some of the students, the staff sent out a special edition paper in addition to their eight normal issues. The purpose of this paper was to inform parents of the benefits of the bond issue which was passed in November.

The symphonic band performs most of its concerts on the home stage and was involved in the Lake County Music Educators' Symphonic Band Festival, which was held at Riverside High School. The money raised from the concert went into a scholarship fund for a student who wants to pursue a career in music. With Mr. Soriano's help, the dedicated band moved up to the next level of difficulty in music. Scott Piker commented, "Band is a good way to relieve the stress of academic classes."

The choir department participated in local concerts and in the Lake County Vocal Festival in Mentor. Choir members had a fund raiser for purchasing new robes in the future. Fewer students enrolled in choir this year, but they exhibited a strong desire to perform well. Mr. Perez's goals for the choir were to improve sight reading skills and intonation and to be acknowledged by other students. He felt confident that the members knew exactly what they wanted to do . . . sing correctly! "I think the guys' section has improved, and we're more dedicated this year," said Andy Zupcsan.

Streaks Keep Up Intensity

Spirit, Pride, Desire, Commitment . . . These four words echoed through the halls of the music wing, helping to keep the marching band performing at its best.

The band began behind-the-scenes practices before school started, with two intense weeks of band camp at the high school. They spent the first week preparing for their first appearance of the year in the Old Fashioned Days Parade. With that behind them, the band pushed on, spending the second week on the practice field memorizing endless drills. Their hard work and practice paid off as the crowd cheered them on to such songs as, "The Theme from Beverly Hills 90210," "All 4 Love," and "Black or White."

Aside from performing normal half-time shows, the ninety-seven members traveled to both the Lake County and Wickliffe Band Festivals. They took another exciting trip to Dick Goddard's Woollybear Parade in Vermillion. This was a first time appearance in this parade.

After the fall season was over, activities for the marching band slowed down but did not stop. They sponsored a dance for the school in January. Next, they marched in the St. Patrick's Day Parade in downtown Cleveland, then the Memorial Day Parade in Madison. They went to Cedar Point to play a few songs and enjoy the day at the park.

The spirit, pride, desire and commitment of the members kept up throughout the year and created a band to be proud of.

As the year was coming to an end, we looked back to see what our leaders had accomplished. These things included adding more intervention for the proficiency tests and lowering the prices on our parking permits, both of which pleased the students. Another big step in our administration was the admittance of our two new assistant principals, Mr. Gary Contini and Mrs. Heather Chambers.

Mrs. Chambers, coming from Freemont, said our students were "most polite and mature and very easy going." Mr. Contini arrived here from Mentor and Pain-ville town-ship. He said, "Each school develops its own character. Madison High is a school with a location and enrollment ideal for great accomplish-ments. The school and community are on a progressive path."

Last but not least is the head of our administra-tion, Mr. Keener. View-ing the school year, he said, "All in all the year went fairly smoothly."

The Environmental Protection Agency issued rules aimed at curbing industrial air pollution. The new rules outlined when businesses must obtain state pollution control permits under the Clean Air Act. Environmental groups, such as the Sierra Club, led the charge against polluters. The Clean Air Act requires businesses to meet new clean air requirements by reducing toxic emissions that contribute to smog. Under the rule, states issue pollution control permits, and the EPA monitors state programs to make certain they comply with federal rules.

Saddam Hussein is alive and well and living in Baghdad — at least by most accounts. The Mideast War ended in February, 1991. Since that day, President Bush has urged the downfall of the 55-year-old leader. But within Iraq, Saddam Hussein appears to have grown only stronger since his troops were forced out of Kuwait. However, he lives under a constant threat of death by Iraqi opposition leaders and a host of other enemies. It was because of this fear of assassination that he reorganized his personal bodyguard corps and appointed his youngest son, Qusai, as chief of the presidential security.

An unforgettable individual, Ross Perot shook up the 1992 presidential campaign.

Ross Perot made his first billion when the computer company he founded started selling stock. His presidential candidacy came to a stop when he abruptly quit the race in July. Then he got back into the race with about five weeks to go until Election Day. As his running mate, he chose James Stockdale, 68, a highly decorated former Navy fighter pilot and POW. Spending millions of dollars of his own money and relying on an army of "volunteers," the Perot campaign was off and running. It included a spot in the presidential debates that were held in October.

With sales of millions of albums, the hard-driving rock band Guns 'n Roses was a heavy-metal phenomenon. But the group had a tendency to get a little rowdy during its concerts. At one such event in St. Louis, 40 concertgoers and 25 police officers were injured in a melee that erupted after the singer Axl Rose leaped from the stage to take a camera from a fan and then angrily stormed off, abruptly ending the show. He was arrested in July, 1992, and charged with four misdemeanor assault counts. The group's latest single, "November Rain," was at the top of the charts in September.

WINTER SPORTS

CHEERLEADERS . . . Keeping Spirits High

Let's hear it! This year's '92 and '93 basketball season was a success to cheer for. "The crowd involvement was better than it ever has been in the previous years," Captain Heather Hoffman stated. Cheerleading isn't just yelling and jumping around; it takes a lot of extra skills. Dance and gymnastics play an important role for the performance of a cheerleader. People always ask, "What are cheerleaders for? Are they really needed?"

Cheerleaders do not only keep up the spirit, but they also compete against other cheerleaders. Cheerleading competitions are intensely competitive. The varsity football and basketball squads won many awards from the Americheer summer camp at Baldwin Wallace. Sara Horowski and Mandy Lewis traveled to Columbus for an individual competition at Ohio State. Mandy Lewis received third place honors. She is now qualified to work for the Americheer company this summer.

The most important task for a cheerleader to take on is Keeping Spirits High. That is exactly what the freshman and varsity basketball squads accomplished.

2. Wow! — Sara Horowski explodes a jump for a Bluestreak basket.
3. Check Us Out — Varsity Basketball Cheerleaders take a break at summer camp.
4. Basket, Basket — Mandy Lewis, Heather Hoffman, Corey Robishaw, and Kristen Thomas chant the team on against Riverside.

Starting To Come Alive

This was like a new beginning. The 1993 basketball season was not a total disaster such as the few years past. The basketball team won more games this year than in the last three years combined. Although it is still not a winning team, it is getting better. The 1993 basketball team consisted of Zubin Meshginpoosh, Justin Cichello, Dave Noch, Dan Knight, Brian Messenger, Brian Wirfel, Andy Williams, Scott Sidoti, and Corey Jackson. The team will only lose three players and hopefully do even better in 1994. The basketball team, led by Coach Mike Smith, did have some bad times this year, but they were looking for revenge at tournament time. Their 58-47 victory over Mentor clinched the Blues-treaks' first Sectional Championship since 1983-'84.

J.V. and Freshman BB Never Give Up

As the clock struck six, five players dressed in blue and white stepped onto the court with the energy and desire to win another tough game. This was the attitude of the boys' JV team before each game. Being prepared both physically and mentally was important to the team. Under the direction of a new coach, Mr. Mike Cutler, the boys adjusted well. Their season was fun, yet difficult. Losing a majority of their games by only two points was very disappointing for the team. Hoping for a win and falling short by such a small amount was a hardship the players could have done without. The team as a whole tried hard though and never gave up.

"The new kids" on the court, the Freshman Team, proved that they could take the heat. They also proved to be more than just the inexperienced players everyone believed them to be. The team was very energetic and worked well together. They had a lot of raw talent that will be a true asset for the next few years. The coaching staff of Mr. Steve Baldwin and Mr. Dave Albert made these players work hard and be the best they could be. They had a large group to work with and mold for the years to come. The Freshmen proved that they had what it took and next year will be even better. Both teams displayed conscientious attitudes towards the game and were also very positive throughout the season.

"All in all, the season went well and the team never gave up."

— Coach Cutler

"It's been a long season, but recently the team has really come together." — Joe Dose

"This year was different from last year because the competition got tougher." — Kevin Albert

Lady Streaks Capture NEC, Sectional Titles

When the 1992-'93 basketball season officially started, the girls' varsity basketball team was already a step above the rest. During the summer, the Lady Blues-treaks made their minds up that this season was going to be their "dream season." The Streaks had a lot of preparation by going to open gyms and attending various camps. One particular camp the whole team attended was a competition camp at Oberlin College. That proved to be the turning point of the summer. Head coach Kevin Snyder commented about the camp,

"The 1992-'93 Lady Streaks were first and foremost a team made up of individuals who cared enough about themselves and the game to play an exciting and enthusiastic brand of basketball." Kevin Snyder

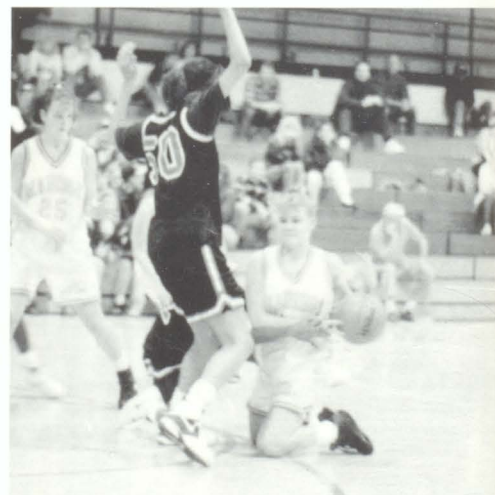

"The girls faced some tremendous competition, and there were some points early in the week. They were shaken by the caliber of play." When things got tough for the Lady Blues-treaks, their level of play increased because of their tenacious defense and balanced offense. Even though Madison dominated opponents on the court, it was their hard work and determination off the court that made them the championship team they truly are.

Shooting Towards High Goals

The year the girls' J.V. team set goals for the team and themselves. By working hard at practices, giving support to each other, and pulling together when they needed it most, the girls had a great season. The only losses they had in the NEC were to Edgewood, both home and away. This gives the team another goal to set, to beat Edgewood in the '93-'94 season. The reason for their success is they did not stop at the end of last season. During the off-season the girls went to open gyms, camps, and played on various leagues.

The Freshman team also had an outstanding season this year. All of the girls on the team put forth huge efforts both at practice and during games. Their hard work paid off; the team finished their season with a record of 12-3. Since there aren't many teams in the Northeastern Conference with freshman teams, the girls had to travel to schools that did.

"The season was a blast, 'Go bench buds!' Hopefully we will be just as successful next year. N.E.C. IN '93!"

The Freshman program was started just three years ago, and is paying off greatly. The J.V. and Freshman teams are the backbone of the varsity team.

"We did well, and practiced hard to get where we got. Congratulations Varsity, we'll miss you grads!"

Swimmers Keep Splashing!

This year, the swim team was made up of forty-one swimmers and was captained by seniors Dawn McNaughton, Rachel Webster, Matt Bosworth, and Mike Hawes. Mr. Jerry McIntyre and Mrs. Tricia Mullan coached the team. Although it was her first year at Madison and her debut as a swim coach, Mullan caught on quickly and gradually assumed total responsibility for the girls' team.

The swimmers practiced every day at the YMCA and endured a two and one-half hour practice every Wednesday, which freshman Michelle Coe identified as "the only part I didn't like." Matt Bosworth commented, "Every Wednesday I felt like it would be impossible to swim that much in one day. After practice, I was so tired I felt like I had given birth to Eric Girdler."

Mr. McIntyre was aware of the torturous nature of his practices. He said, "I tried to diversify the workouts because swimming is really boring. It's difficult to keep the practices different." McIntyre and Mullan kept the workouts as different as possible, though, by making the swimmers work on their specialty strokes, build muscles with rubber bands, and drag buckets through the water.

The swim team survived the Wednesday practices and competed in ten meets and districts at Cleveland State. The boys' record was the best it had been in years at 6-5, and the girls' record was 3-9. "Although our record doesn't look too healthy," Coach

Mullan commented, "we did see many individual times improve."

"Overall, we improved more than any other swim team I've coached because we've had some real surprises and the seniors worked harder than I've ever seen them work," McIntyre added.

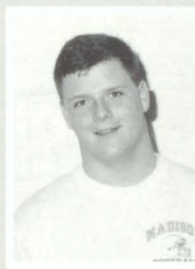

Often, swimmers focus on individual achievement, and, this year, many accomplished their goals. Senior Mike Hawes set a new school record in the 200 Individual Medley (Butterfly, Backstroke, Breaststroke, Freestyle), 50 Free, and 100 Free. Kelley Frye set new records in the 200 Free and the 500 Free. The relay team of Scott Hallam, Eric Girdler, Matt Bosworth, and Mike Hawes set new school records in the 200 and 400 Free Relays. All of the swimmers improved their times, and ten girls and thirteen boys progressed to Districts which were held on February 19th and 20th.

After the meets, the team's hard work was usually paid off with a pizza party, and the swimmers even had a spaghetti dinner and a tattoo party before Districts. Reflecting on his last year as the swim coach, Mr. McIntyre said, "I'll miss a lot of the things that we've done — the pizza parties, the goofing around. I think we all had fun."

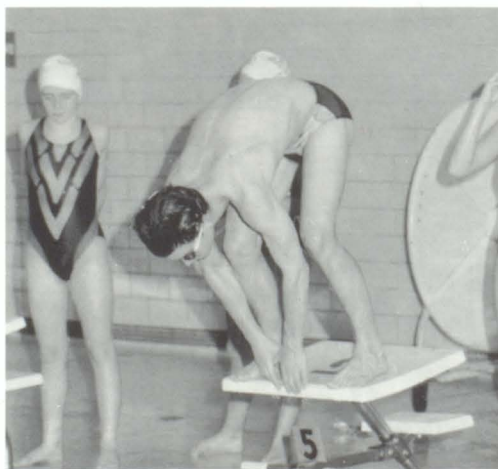

"I think we all had fun."

"The swim season was fun because everyone on the team was really close and supportive of each other. Although I'll miss the seniors, I can't wait for next season." — Sophomore Michele Henn

"The season was a real learning experience for me because I couldn't expect to win every time I swam. It was also hard because Coach almost killed us every day in practice. Even though our workouts were short, they were really tough — unless you practice like Matt Bosworth." — Freshman Eric Girdler Reversal — Two Points! Freshman Dave Erbacher steps up from J.V. to compete on a varsity level.

The talent, dedication, hard work, and discipline of the varsity wrestling team led them to a very successful season. The outstanding reputation that our wrestling team has acquired and kept in the past years still remains. Known for being very competitive, the team has been recognized and feared by opponents league-wide. The respect that people have for the wrestling program was not easily achieved. Practice schedules consisted of many long hours of hard work six days per week.

Many personal goals were met this year, also. Bill Connett and Jack Whaley both finished fourth in the Kenston tournament held in December. Finishing third in the NEC tournament, we had many placers. Coming in third place were Keith Blalock, Matt Pietzak, Jack Whaley, and Jeremy Dular. Second place finishers included Bill Connett and Alex Hynd. Championships were received by Adam Nichols and Clint Starke.

All in all the wrestling team has had many accomplishments to be proud of. The season came to a close, leaving behind many memories.

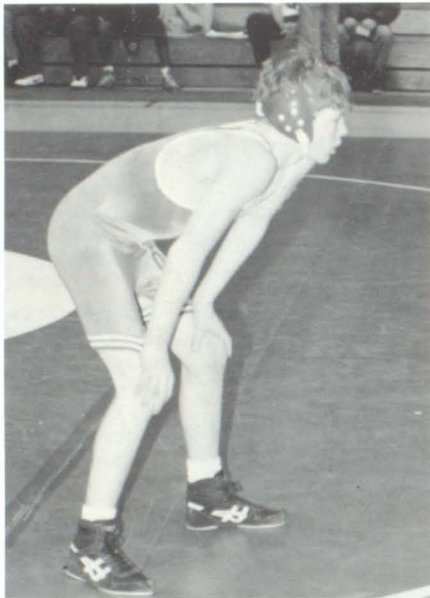

Pinning Their Way to Fame

Takedown — 2! These were the favorite words heard by the Junior Varsity, or Varsity B, team members. Since most N.E.C. teams have no JV's, our team spent their weekends traveling to wild and exotic places. Among these locations were Cleveland Heights, Geneva, Madison, Mentor, Newbury, and Edgewood. They amassed an admirable record of 6-3. Also, they contributed new hardware to the trophy case by taking a runner-up trophy at the Geneva Dual Team JV Tournament. The squad also stood fourth among the 16 teams at the Cleveland Heights JV Invitational. Giving a strong performance this year were Jim Welker, Bob Darby, Wayne Blalock, and Travis Nichols. Next year these young men will be looking forward to making the step to varsity.

Looking toward the future?!

Frosh Dreams of Varsity Burn Bright.

The dream freshman wrestlers cherish the most is the chance to wrestle on the varsity mat. For Marc Steele, Rusty Shafer, Dave Erbacher, Brandon Smith, and a few others, this dream was already a reality.

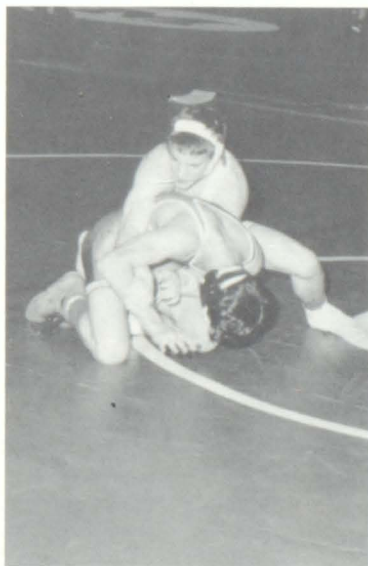

With a slightly poor record, the members have proven themselves as outstanding individuals in practice and during meets. Their coach, Mr. Jack Becka, is proud of all of them and their accomplishments. They also spent a lot of time on the Junior Varsity mat filling gaps in the line up. Those fine young men gave a performance they can be proud of.

The team brought home a seventh place at the St. Edwards Holiday Tournament, a fourth place at the Geneva Freshman Dual Tournament, and with the Junior Varsity, a third at the Cleveland Heights Freshman and Sophomore Invitational Tournament.

Giving a strong performance . . .

Students Get Involved

This year's Key Club consisted of six different officers and an advisor: Michelle Woodworth, President; Nick Woodruff, Vice President; K a t h y Ashton, Secretary; JoAnn Miller, Treasurer; Karen Townsend, Bookstore Manager; Dawn Piro, Recycling Chairperson; and Mrs. Parks, Advisor.

Every Friday morning at 7:10 there were meetings in the lecture hall. At these meetings the members discussed activities and any new business that needed to be talked about. The 120 members accomplished a lot that helped the community.

"It's been a great group to represent. Members put forth a lot of effort to accomplish several things." Michelle Woodworth, Key Club President

Some of these activities were Habitat for Humanity, Project 2000, Madison Education Foundation auction, Christmas canned food drive, Homecoming, and the CROP walk. Most of these the Key Club does every year, but they had a chance to do a special project because of Hurricane Andrew. They adopted Mr. Perez's family and sent them food and clothes. Another new project was recycling. Paper bins and aluminum can barrels were placed around the school in various places so everyone could help in recycling.

Mrs. Parks considers Key Club the heart of the school. She feels it's important that we care about others, and she feels this group does that.

LEADING US INTO THE FUTURE

In a year filled with changes, the role of the Student Council changed frequently. It served time as a fund raiser, dance organizer, spirit week helper, junior aide for prom, and a disciplinarian. All these activities combined to make a great year.

To start the year off, the Council engaged in the annual United Way fund raising campaign. After a regional meeting, the plan was set. The first week of the drive, students participated in a canned food collection and contest. Mr. Pavesich's first period English class came out the winner.

The next week a new tradition began: the penny war. With silver change counting as negative points and pennies counting as positive, the battle was intense, and the sophomore class walked away with the victory. The effort exerted by Madison High students captured another Gold Award from the United Way.

Although it didn't make an appearance, the Student Council members spent many hours building a homecoming float for the game against Harvey. Also, a new committee regarding the cafeteria arose to try and make lunch more enjoyable. Around Christmas time the group sponsored a Christmas/New Year's dance after decorating the lunchroom.

For more council oriented matters, members erected a new bulletin board outside Mr. Smith's room to keep members informed of meetings. This year the Council became more strict in that it exercised its right to exclude members who failed to meet certain requirements.

The council also proved to be an assistance body by helping the juniors raise money to pay for prom. During Spirit Week the members ran a hallway decoration competition to illustrate class and school spirit. Members even participated in a member exchange with another school.

THE NEXT PRESIDENT MAYBE?

The events of today's world don't go unnoticed. Every Tuesday in a small room in the school these events are hotly debated by the Model United Nations. The real U.N. oversees the actions of the world and decides how to fix its problems.

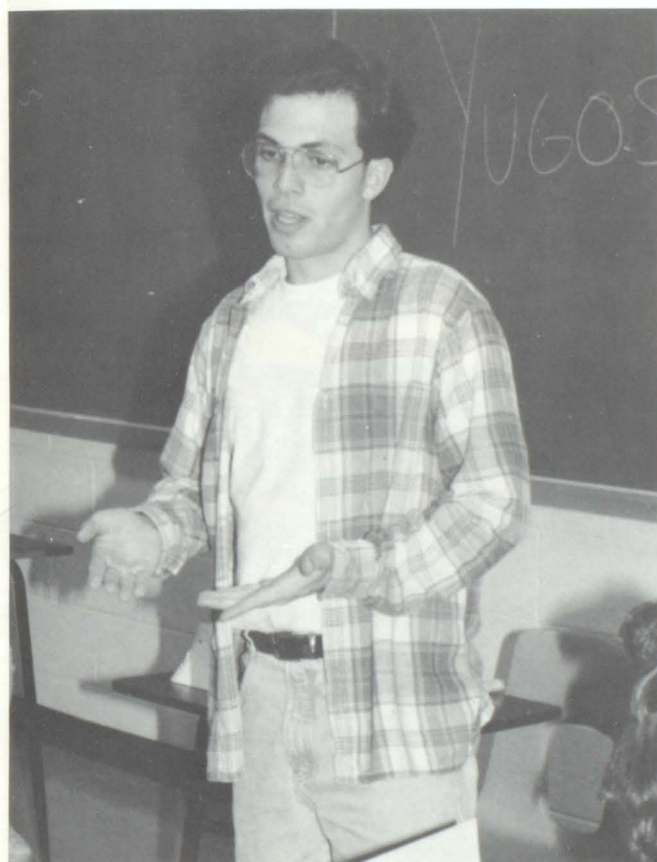

The Model U.N. also debates these problems, only in a more simplified form in that members don't really represent countries. The members chose which countries they would like to represent and then learned about the foreign policies of that country.

The group also competes against others of its type to see which one best represents its countries and how each handles the world problems that arise and affect their constituents.

At one of these conferences the group is judged on how well its members speak, how well they know their countries' policies, how well they act in hypothetical crisis situations, and how believable they are. Then awards are given on those criteria to the persons representing the specific country.

This year the assembly attended conferences at Kent State-Ashtabula, Jefferson, Niagara Falls, New York, and The Cleveland Council on World Affairs. The group thoroughly enjoyed themselves and liked seeing the sights of New York, for example Macy's and the interesting restaurants of the town.

They Lead The Future

This summer the delegates to the 1992 Boys' and Girls' State met at Bowling Green and Ashland Universities. The Boys' State delegates met for nine days on the BGSU campus. They fared well and held a variety of offices. Dave Sidewand was an Assistant to the Attorney General, Jeff Cooper presided over a Common Pleas Court, Matt Schley held a Mayor's Clerk position, and Sean Crawford was on the Legislative Service Commission. The boys set up and ran a state government from the governor to the city dog catchers.

At Girls' State on the Ashland campus Lynn Auld argued in the Senate, along with Tracy Arcaro holding an appointed office. The girls, like the boys, conducted elections, campaigns, and simulated parts of the government. Over 1,400 boys and 900 girls attended Boys' and Girls' State. The girls also set up and ran their own businesses. Lynn managed an explosives shopp and did not foresee the problems with attaining the license to carry TNT. Remembering her experience at Buckeye Girls' State, she commented, "It was really fun to be around so many people with a real ambition to succeed. I've never had so much fun learning!"

At Boys' State forty-four boys were a city and four cities was a county. Sean replied that his fondest memory of BBS will be "when the city next to ours kidnapped our Mayor and we went to save him with our pillows." All delegates jointly agreed that the saddest part was the closing ceremonies because they were leaving their friends.

Guilty! Konold County Court of Common Pleas Judge, Jeff Cooper, relaxes after a hard trial.

Ecology Club Stays Environmentally Aware

Danger grips our environment, and last year the Ecology Club appeared to inform students of problems and also to offer solutions. The club originated from the minds of the Ecology students during the second semester of last year. The class, taught by Mr. Mike Hanes, felt a need to do something positive for our environment, so they took the initiative and started the ball rolling.

Over the summer the club opened itself to all students who wished to enter.

With the new members the group completed two clean ups of all the beaches. Afterwards they had a picnic at Township Park. Next, for a fundraiser, they held a garage sale that grossed about $200.

The first school meeting took place on Wednesday, September 16. At the meeting the charter and future projects were discussed. The club received assistance with its charter from Perry High School. The club completed several new projects. They taped environmental commercials with the help of the A.V. department for Channel 44 to inform viewers of the effects some products have on the environment. Also, in the mornings, members would give P.A. tips on commercial products and disposal of household goods. Fundraisers were also done to raise money for a trip to the Florida Keys.

The club hoped to further their own education primarily by teaching others about their environment. They participated in the Envirothon and went to the elementary schools to teach the future generations how to be safe and aware of their world. The group served the school and the community by picking up trash and completing other clean up projects like Beach Week. All the members believed that the club will continue to play an important role in the future.

Listening to the Girls

The Madison High School Show Choir consisted of fifteen girls. They met every Tuesday night to practice dance and music. Wendy Bittner quoted, "It's a lot of hard work, but it lets you be who you are."

The girls practiced hard to put on their shows. They presented Broadway tunes and show tunes for many events. Some of the songs that they learned this year included "Bye, Bye Birdie Showcase," "New York, New York," "There's No Business Like Show Business," and "We Give Thanks to Thee." "The best thing I like is you tend to get together as a family. I also enjoy seeing all the new places we go," quoted Dawn Hawes. Show Choir performed for "Power of the Pen" at the Middle School; they also performed for a Senior Citizens' lunch and a Community Ecumenical service. "We have a lot of fun working together, but it's a lot of hard work, too," quoted Sommer Underhill.

Broadcasting, Dubbing, and Much More

A.V. is more than just pushing televisions around all day. The students in A.V. have many jobs they have to do. Some of the students order films or movies for teachers; others videotape assemblies. A.V. produces around thirty tapes a month. "You learn how to broadcast, dub tapes, fix the light in the overhead projector, work the microphones, and much more," quoted Nicole Kurilko.

Some people have special jobs in A.V. Dave Sidewand is the executive producer for broadcasting. Brian Sidoti is the assistant to Dave; he does all the graphic work and sound effects. Nick Woodruff is the community producer. They have to know how to do all this in order to successfully have air time to Channel MTV 44. All of the high school sporting events air on MTV 44.

This is the second year that A.V. is offered for a credit. Students don't just get an "A" automatically; they have to work and learn just like in any other class.

"You learn how to broadcast, dub tapes, fix the light in the overhead projector, work the microphones, and much more," quoted Nicole Kurilko.

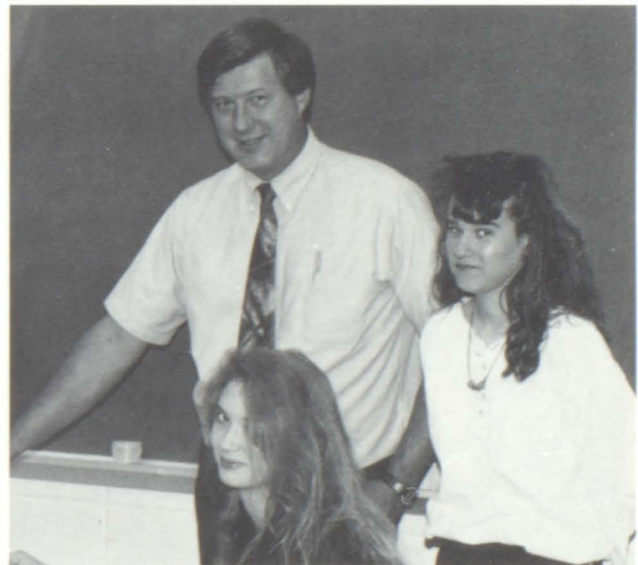

"I think it's neat that the students videotape other students, and then they get to watch themselves on Channel MTV 44." Amy Hill

Drug and Alcohol Awareness . . . Teen Institute (T.I.)

Teen Institute is a drug and alcohol awareness, education, and prevention program. T.I. had approximately 15 to 25 club members. Meeting every other Wednesday after school, they organized activities such as dances after football and basketball games, Red Ribbon Week, and the carnation sale for Valentine's Day. The club also traveled to the elementary schools and the middle school to help with "Just Say No" and "D.A.R.E." (Drug Abuse Resistance Education) programs. Teen Institute participated in leadership training at Camp Burton and Andrew's School. They also engaged in "Lean On Me" training that was sponsored by Windsor Hospital and a week long training session at Kenyon College. Two members, Joe Farmer and Kara Davis, attended the PRIDE convention in Cincinnati in April.

Mr. Haibach and Ms. Rihaly acted as the advisors of Teen Institute. Although there were no officers elected, the club did appoint various seniors to be committee chairmen. That way, each activity had a different leader. This helped the members of the organization learn the leadership skills necessary to carry on each of the specific programs that they sponsored. Teen Institute advisor, Ms. Rihaly, commented, "I really enjoy working with T.I. and all the students. I have learned a lot in our county trainings; and, what is really nice is being able to work with the students on a non-academic level."

Keeping Friends Alive

The SADD acronym actually stands for three important concepts: Students Against Drunk Driving, Student Athletes Detest Drugs, and Students Against Deadly Decisions. This year, SADD worked on many projects to promote these concepts, especially the one that drinking and driving just don't mix. The projects included the following: Leadership Conference, Red Ribbon Campaign, dances after football and basketball games, Prom Promise, SADD workshop at Front Row, Lean-On-Me workshop, National SADD Awareness Week, and the Grim Reaper.

In charge of SADD was Mrs. Sue Curkendall. The four elected SADD Coordinators for 1992-1993 were Jessica Conant, Jenny Ellis, Niki Hutcheson, and Kerrie Reynolds. When the club first began three years ago, it had ten members but began growing quickly. This year's club consisted of fifty members who all worked very hard at trying to educate students on the dangers of drinking and driving. Mrs. Curkendall quoted, "I became involved with SADD because I am very concerned about the alcohol problem of our teenagers today. I am proud of the SADD members at MHS for the work they have done to inform and educate our students about the dangers of drinking and driving. If we have kept one person from drinking and driving, or riding with someone who has been drinking, then I feel we have been successful."

"If you're going out drinking, stay put or have a designated driver. Drinking and driving kills, and death is too sad." — Sandy Hejduk

The club members met after or before school monthly, but more often if necessary. Their focus was "Friends don't let friends drive drunk." The royal blue T-shirts they sported this year helped carry this message throughout the school and the community.

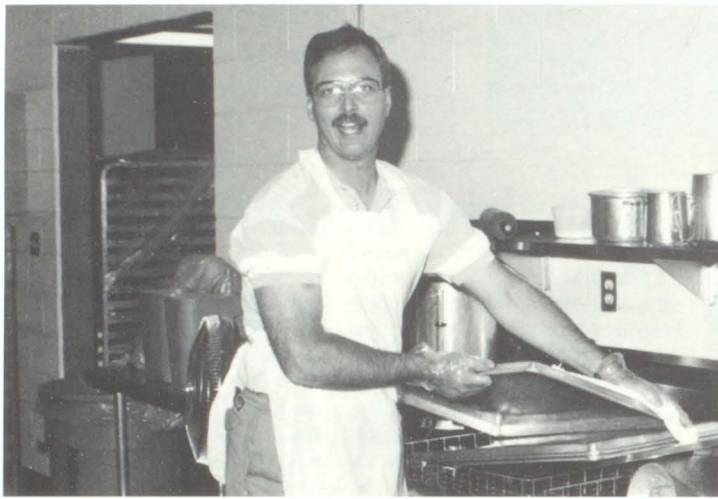

Say it with candy . . . Karen Townsend prepares candy canes for the student body.

When Rodney King was stopped by police on a Los Angeles freeway, police say he resisted them and was beaten. Someone videotaped the melee and released the tape to local television stations. It received national attention, and four white officers were charged in the beating of King, who was black. But when a jury found them innocent of any wrongdoing, three days of rioting hits Los Angeles. When it ended, 52 people were dead, 2,383 were injured, 18,807 were arrested, and the amount of property damage was estimated at $785 million.

Hurricane Andrew carved its way through the Bahamas and hit South Florida with a powerhouse intensity before moving into Louisiana. The hurricane's 54-hour rampage, the most expensive natural disaster ever to hit this country, left an estimated 180,000 homeless in Florida alone. It was a harrowing time, as tens of thousands of people tried to evacuate the Miami area and thousands more rode out the storm in shelters and boarded-up homes. At least 51 deaths were directly attributed to the storm. Estimated losses were $20 billion in Florida and nearly $2 billion in Louisiana.

Pope John Paul II underwent colon surgery in the summer of 1992 to remove a benign tumor. The 72-year-old Pontiff was hospitalized for about 10 days. The Pope has aggressively wielded the Vatican's influence in the secular world — from assisting in peace efforts to helping topple communism in his native Poland and across eastern Europe. In 1978 he became the first non-Italian pope in 455 years.

Hurricane Andrew carved its way through the Bahamas and hit south Florida with a powerhouse intensity before moving into Louisiana. The hurricane's 54-hour rampage, the most expensive natural disaster ever to hit this country, left an estimated 180,000 homeless in Florida alone. It was harrowing time, as tens of thousands of people tried to evacuate the Miami area and thousands more rode out the storm in shelters and boarded-up homes. At least 51 deaths were directly attributed to the storm — 41 in Florida and 10 in Louisiana. The amount of damage was estimated at $20 billion in Florida and nearly $2 billion in Louisiana.

America needs to recycle and to use recycled products. Recycling has produced vast supplies of paper, glass, and other reusable trash, but not enough demand. A business alliance for the National Recycling Coalition is campaigning to encourage small and large business to commit themselves to buying recycled products.

"The Red Hot Chili Peppers have no preconceived notions; we just do whatever comes out," says drummer Chad Smith. What has come out lately is a new album, "Blood Sugar Sex Magik," which hit the top of the charts as soon as it was released. The album is the second with the current band members, who formed six months after the 1988 death of founding guitarist Hillel Slovak and the subsequent departure of drummer Jack Irons. The album features a quieter, more thoughtful side of the Chili Peppers, but there is still plenty of sonic funk.

Hurricane Iniki dealt a direct blow to part of the Hawaiian Islands in September. Winds gusting up to 160 mph and torrential rain hit Kauai Island, causing enormous damage. It was the most powerful hurricane to hit the Hawaiian Islands this century. Twenty-foot waves crashed over coastal highways and the island lost all power and telephone service even before the worst of the storm hit. Oahu, the state's most populated island with 800,000 people, is separated from Kauai by an 80-mile channel and was spared the brunt of the storm.

George Bush was born on June 12, 1924. After service in the Navy during World War II, Mr. Bush first went into the oil business and then went into politics. He was elected a congressman from Texas in 1967. He also served stints as CIA director, Ambassador to the United Nations, and then U.S. Ambassador to China. He became Vice President under Ronald Reagan in 1980. After eight years in that job, he ran for president in 1988 and won. He completed one term in office and was then defeated in the 1992 election by Bill Clinton.

Memories to Keep

We've been through much these past four years.

We've shared laughter, sorrow, joy, and tears.

We've made memories to last a lifetime, memories to keep; Through good times and bad times the friendships burned so deep.

As we climbed to new heights to fulfill our goals and dreams,

We have these years to remember, that ended so quickly, it seems.

In June, when it's all over and we each go on our way, These memories we will cherish and in our hearts they'll forever stay.

Now we start on a new journey in life, and it's time to say goodbye.

But friends, teachers, and classmates will together remember the memories they made at Madison High.

So to the Senior Class of '93:

Goodbye, good luck, and happiness to each and every one.

May everyone's dreams come true, but along the way have lots of fun!

— Lori Dye '93

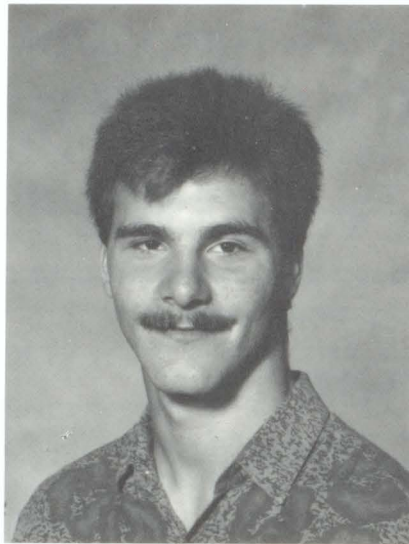

In Loving Memory

Looking back in loving memory, our hearts are drawn to three individuals: Jeremy Swank and John Adler, who were both in the graduating class of 1993, and Scott Gockerell, who was a 1992 Madison graduate. As the years go on and our lives expand creating many new memories, we will always remember them and the friendship and inspiration they gave to many of us.

Meeting the Challenge

This year's Academic Challenge team contended in four competitions. At Perry, they placed first out of nine teams. Then they competed in the regional tournament at Youngstown University where they also had a successful outcome and came in first out of seventeen schools. From there the team traveled to the state competition in Columbus. They then advanced to Academic Challenge on Channel 5, where they again came in first.

The team has competed for two years and vied in twelve matches. Of these, they have only lost two. Chrissy Higgins stated, "This was our best year, and I am really proud of how far we have come." The advisors were Mr. Ashton, Mrs. Carr, Mr. Morgan, and Ms. Jackson.

A Few Good Men & Women Battled It Out In Court

No, it wasn't Tom Cruise or The Peoples' Court; it was Madison's very own Mock Trial Team advised by Mrs. Coleen Moskowitz and Mr. Mike Whipple.

The Mock Trial team traveled to the Painesville Municipal Courthouse in a drastic snowstorm to compete against fourteen other schools in the Lake District Mock Trial Competition.

The group placed fifth overall, and individual award winners were Wendy Bittner as Outstanding Witness, and Dave Sidewand and Andy Ogrin as Outstanding Attorneys.

The prosecution team of Matt Schley and Dave Sidewand as lawyers and Vicki Wagner and Wendy Bittner as witnesses first battled North, while the defense team of Andy Ogrin and Missy Holder as lawyers and Stacie Heston and Julie Heck as witnesses clashed wits with the team from Akron Hoban. Jennifer Baltus as a bailiff and Crystal Sparks as the alternate rounded out the team.

This year's case involved a Fourth Amendment question of search and seizure. The case was named "State of Ohio versus Rodney Rexline," and the squad did a magnificent job in their second year of competition.

Mr. Keener and the students are thankful to Mrs. Moskowitz and Attorney Whipple for providing the opportunity to give students an understanding of how our justice system works.

Honors to Keep

This year, eighteen members returned to National Honor Society and twenty-five new members were inducted into the group. The group participated in a tutoring program, a recognition luncheon for Teacher Appreciation Week, and T.A.P. (a Rex Reigert acronym), a teacher assistant program in which N.H.S. members spend a day student teaching at the elementary and middle schools. This year's group spruced up their Christmas party with an unprecedented N.H.S. activity. They collected toys from fellow classmates, wrapped them, and anonymously delivered them to a needy family. March, however, marked the most important day for the National Honor Society. A morning assembly showcased the "tap in" ceremony, and, that evening, a formal induction of the new members took place in the lecture hall. Both ceremonies featured speeches written by senior N.H.S. members on the four pillars of the organization: scholarship, leadership, character, and service.

National Honor Society was led by President Webster, Vice President Rachael Gates, and Secretary-Treasurer Brian Sidoti. According to Rachel Webster, "N.H.S. was a really great club to be 'in charge' of because the members are all very conscientious and fun to be with."

The students admitted into National Honor Society are already very involved in school activities, so the organization primarily honors their achievements and provides them with a group in which they can relax. Members realized this and felt honored by the recognition they received. As senior member Kathy Ashton said, "This year, people understood more of what N.H.S. was really about."

National Honor Society's advisor, Mr. Rex Reigert, commented, "Being a member myself, I can identify with how active this group is, not only in N.H.S. but in all school activities."

Mr. Reigert proved to be a very understanding advisor. He kept the group relaxed and fun and, as Jeff Cooper said, "He's great because he understands the students in N.H.S. and helps them get involved." This was Mr. Reigert's last year as N.H.S. advisor, which he described as his favorite activity. "It was very enjoyable," he said. "I especially liked working with the officers."

"I most enjoyed going to the elementary school and working with the kids."

Advisor Rex Reigert

Congratulations to the 1993 members of National Honor Society!

"Test tubes never did excite me." Stephanie Addis is only slightly amused by her stint as a science teacher.

Gymnast Laura Engelis competes on behalf of Madison High School and has been involved in the sport for about ten years. She works with head coach Joe Corrigan and the Lake Erie Gymnastics School. Laura loves gymnastics, which has become a large part of her life. She says that she would not know what to do without it. She practices four to five times a week for three hours. During the summer, practices last four hours.

Laura's favorite event is the bars. She has won approximately two hundred ribbons, twenty-one trophies, and fifteen medals in events all over the United States including those held in Ohio, North Carolina, Nevada, Missouri, and Illinois. Laura plans to attend Kent State and to major in physical fitness training.

(above) "Here, let me tell you the meaning of life." Andy Ogrin demonstrates his amazing skills of endless oration.

What a Wonderful Night!

May I have this dance . . .

On the spring night of May 22, students began to arrive at the LaMalfa Party Center for the 1993 Prom. Everyone was excited, even though penniless, especially the Seniors who knew this was the last dance dedicated to them. The night was filled with plenty of dancing, conversing with friends, and eating delicious food. The night began to heat up as the Prom Court was introduced. Those chosen by the Senior Class were: Nellie Adams and Duke Gustincic; Rachael Gates and Zubin Meshginpoosh; Mandy Lewis and John Pasquarelli; Leslie Solden and Matt Pietzak; and Carli Stefancic and Rob Vujaklija. The Seniors honorably elected Nellie Adams and Duke Gustincic to wear the crowns for the evening. As the King and Queen lit up the dance floor to the theme song "Wonderful Tonight" by Eric Clapton, the rest of the Court followed. Everyone seemed to have had a wonderful night, and this was a memorable dance for all who attended.

"It was truly a wonderful night!"

In just three years after middle school teacher Mark Vidmar came to high school coaching, the tennis team's record has improved from 4-16 to an astounding 13-8 (11-7 NEC). How did he do it? He has never cut a freshman player. In fact, he has held tennis clinics for his students at the middle school, encouraging them to pick up a racket.

Marc Titler is an example of Vidmar's coaching. He has played the sport for only two years and is already Madison's sensational singles player. Darin Bilek is another asset who moved over from doubles, proving he was more than adequate for second singles. Third singles was played by either Jon Cummings, Brad Boyer, or Jason Meiers.

The doubles players were the stronghold of the tennis team. At first doubles Matt Schley and Jeff Hutton went an astounding 12-4. Second doubles was just as strong and was played by any combination of the following: Jason Meiers, Brad Boyer, Bruce Mullen, and Jason Begalke.

JV players included Jason Miles, Stacey Hoover, and Joe Hoover. These players traveled with the team and got a lot of experience during the season.

The team also competed in the Lake County Tennis Classic Tournament and came away with second place. Individual winners were Jeff Hutton and Matt Schley who took first place at first doubles.

Cleared for Take Off

Coming into the 1993 season, the boys' and girls' track teams knew that anything was possible. Combining hard work, dedication, and plenty of talent, the Bluestreaks pulled together for a successful season. Individual efforts were high with two girls advancing to regionals. After breaking the school record for the event earlier in the season, Senior Carla Ransom qualified for the regional tournament in the 300 intermediate hurdles. Sophomore Chrissy Mills participated in the 100 meter dash.

Both the boys and girls fared well in the NEC meet, taking three second places and a first place finish. Junior Matt Igyarto took second in the mile, and Senior Matt Martin took second in the two-mile. The girls made their mark at the NEC meet with Lynn Auld taking second place in the long jump and the 4X100 meter relay team, Chrissy Mills, Meredith Dorr, Jenny Collins, and Lynn Auld, placing first. Carla Ransom summed up the season stating, "Considering our youth, it was a good season overall."

TAKE ME OUT TO THE BALL GAME!!

This year was a challenge for the Softball and Baseball teams. The season began with all competition scheduled on "foreign" fields. Without any home games, these teams had to keep up courage and desire. It was a very tough season also because the teams were made up primarily of younger players. After a lot of hard work this year, the coaches are hoping to have a successful season next year and in the years to come.

Coach Hance remembers the highlight of the girls' softball season, "A huge victory over Riverside. Twice the Streaks took league champ, Geneva, to the bitter end." Leslie Solden finished the season with first team All Conference, first team All District, All State honorable mention, and first team All Lake County. The Girls' Softball team also placed Tammy Anthony, Sue Evatz, and Chris Ford on second team All N.E.C.

The Boys' Baseball Team faced a hard season too, but the outcome and future look bright and hopeful. Led by Coach Dipofi, they spent the season working hard and breaking in the newcomers and prospective leaders for next year.

"The future looks bright for '94 as the JV team will provide many additional ball players to fill the loss of our seniors." Coach Hance

Drama Goes Varsity

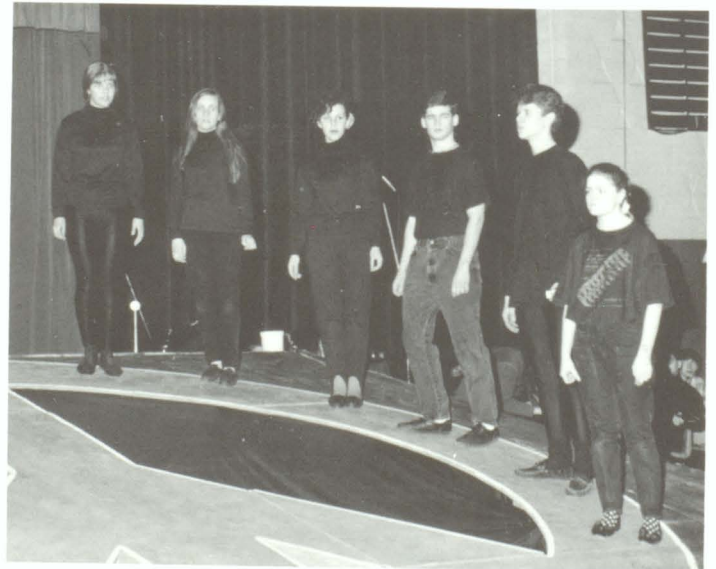

During the 1992-'93 school year, we have had many changes; one of those occurred in the drama department. Those students who participate in at least three or more plays now receive a letter for their varsity jackets. During this year, the group performed its annual fall and spring plays, Up the Down Staircase in the fall and Godspell in the spring. Both productions were directed by Mr. Scott Spohler.

Up the Down Staircase was about a teacher trying to get through to her students, who range from the class clown to the genius. All had their own special needs. By the end of the play, the teacher figured out everyone's problems.

Godspell, a musical based on the Book of Matthew, was about a leader/philosopher who led different people into telling the stories of their lives. This ambitious production required not only acting ability, but also musical talent.

Both performances earned rave reviews from school and community members.

Keeping the Beat

When stepping into a particular classroom in a far corner of the school, you feel as if you are stepping back in time. But this is just the stage band practicing some of its tunes such as "Taking Care of Business" and "I Feel Good." Nathan Stewart said, "It was fun learning a new style of music that isn't commonly heard today."

Stage band is a regular class for which students receive a full credit. During class they practice for jobs that they sometimes get. These jobs do pay every now and then. This year the group went to Geneva Memorial Hospital to perform for the Health Fair. The class is taught by Mr. Ben Soriano, and the students receive a band letter or a pin. When Brian Bushnell was asked about the class, he replied, "It was a fun experience, but it will be a lot better next year!"
