Field of Dreams

Students Reach for Goals

The 1994-1995 school year began with a bang on a field of dreams and set itself off from any other. Along with the construction of the new stadium came a similar building of friendships and a strengthening of old ones. The football team burst on the field for the first time, the victory bell rang, and for the senior class, students heard all of their voices come together for one last time before they all began reaching for their dreams.

The End is Finally Here... Seniors Celebrate!

The class of 1995 finally did it! The moment they waited 12 long years for at last arrived. Graduation soon will only be a past memory. The very involved class who kept winning spirit week over and over has excelled inside and outside of the classroom. This very unified group of students has been together for many years and has built many unforgettable friendships together. As Jessica Barski put it, "The class of 1995 is a very trendsetting team." Amy Owen was quoted as saying, "The class of 1995 is the best class this school has ever seen." Patrick Haywood also added that he thinks it's about time we got out of here. Many changes also took place this year on the Madison High School campus. Seniors were the first to play on the new sports complex and use the new classrooms. When the seniors look back on their high school experience, hopefully the memories and friendships will stand out most in their minds, and the good times of their senior year will live on forever.

1. Enthusiastically, senior Tom Frisbee makes a trip to his locker.
2. Just like the old days... senior Mike Ashton flings his girlfriend over his back.
3. Momentarily taking a break, seniors Scott Sidoti, Brad McDonald, Michelle Henn, Jamie McIntyre, and Bob Dame say cheese for the camera.

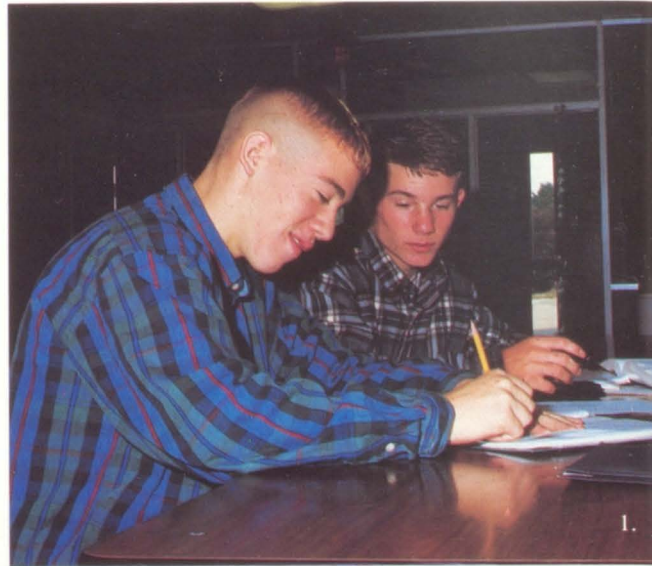

1. Wayne Blalock, Julie Retsch, and Kim Crnjak try to concentrate on their math.
2. Don't look so happy!...seniors Tony Boyd and Amy Owen wait earnestly for the bell to ring.

Moving up in the Ranks....

Juniors Show School Spirit

The juniors found it hard to believe that only 3 years ago, they had just entered the high school with nervous expectations. Now only one more year remains before their graduation. "Graduation is the best gift the school could ever give me," jokes Mike Parsons. Nadine Walker also added, "Becoming a junior gives you many more choices to make, like going to Auburn, attending college fairs, participating in sports, and getting a job."

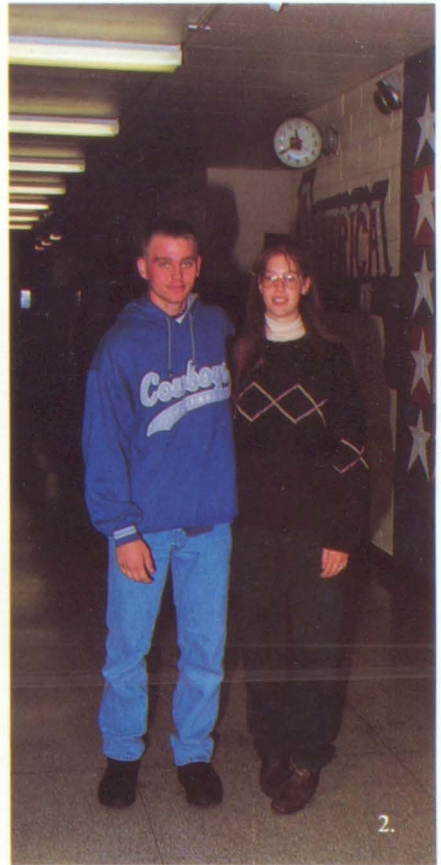

This year's juniors expressed their excitement about moving up in the ranks as upperclassmen. Along with feeling more secure in school, juniors excelled outside of the classroom in varsity sports and extracurricular activities. "The junior class was an energetic and spirited group that possessed lots of school spirit and pride," said Mrs. Battes, and they did indeed show this through all of their accomplishments both in the classroom and outside of it. By joining in as they did, they created their own memories and dreams.

1. Dave Kurilko and Dave Erbacher finish their homework.
2. While at lunch, members of the junior class spend time socializing.
3. Tammie McLeod prepares for class.

1. During lunch, Rob Walford and Jeremy Pawelkiewicz enjoy playing hacky-sack.
2. Larry Crouch takes time to walk Renee Arietta to class.

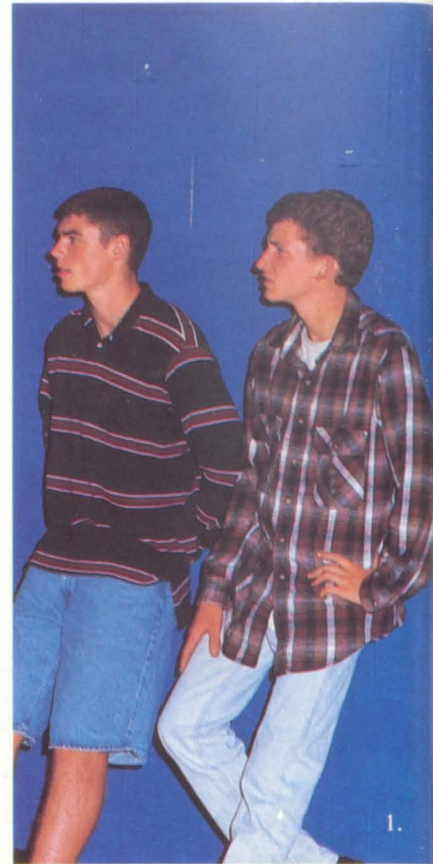

Brandon Smith and Tracy Arendas take a break during gym to relax.

Sophomores Join in Fun . . .

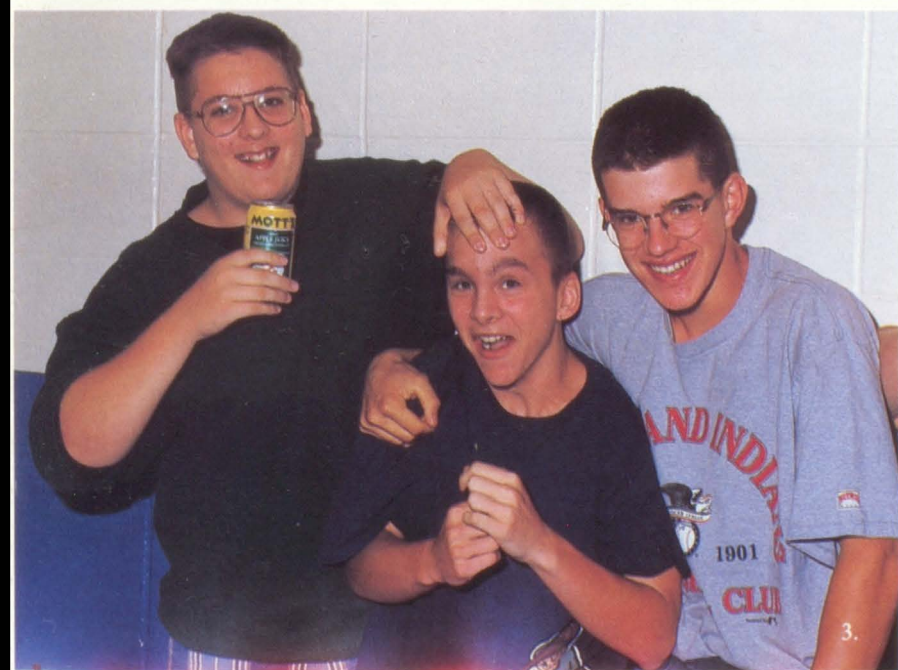

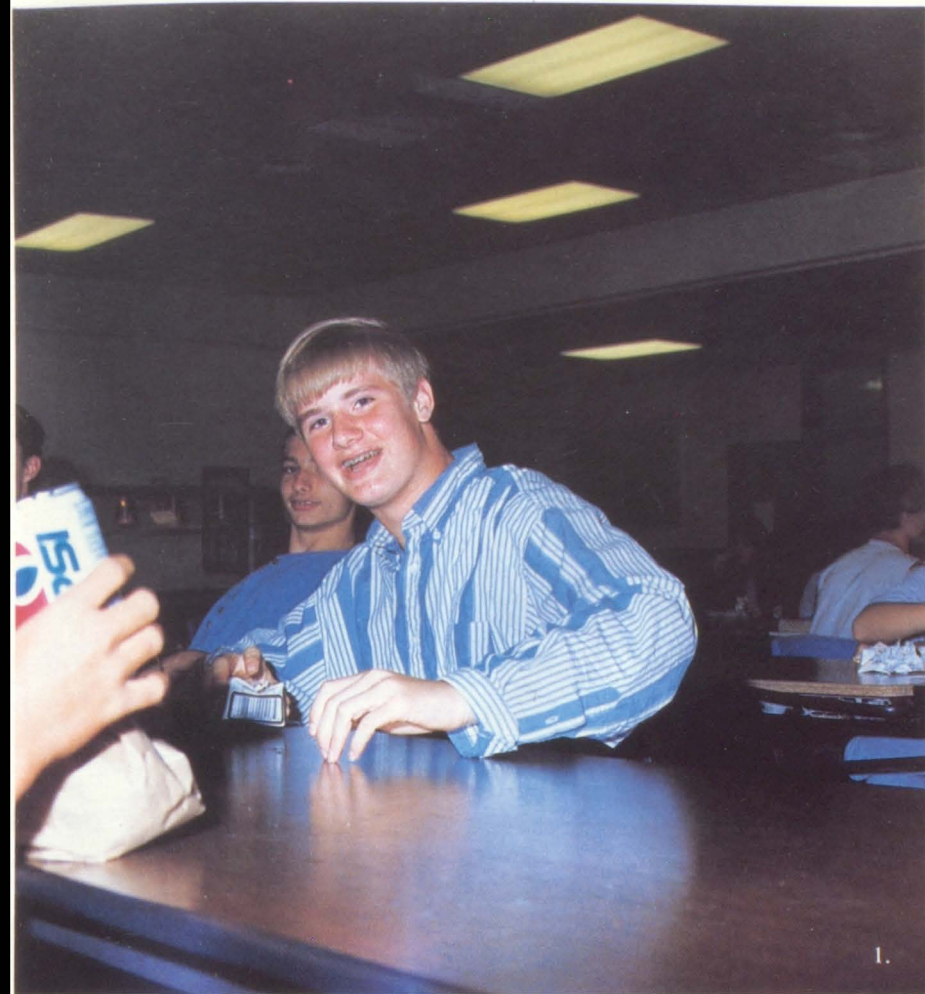

Discover New Dreams

Vivacious, as defined by Webster's dictionary, is the quality of being full of life and spirit. The only word similar to this to be found in Webster's was the term sophomore. This group became more spirited and active as the year went on, supporting and participating in all school activities. Mike Parson explains, "When I found out I had made the boys' varsity soccer team, I flipped!" As freshmen, they struggled to fit in socially and academically. But as the school year continued, many sophomores became more aware and relaxed in their surroundings.

Along with feeling more comfortable in school, the vivacious sophomores found new freedoms by getting their drivers' licenses or by choosing to work at part-time jobs after school. The more involved the students became, the more memories they made to look back on. By joining in activities, the sophomores contributed to their own memory-making that they can claim in their future years. They will be able to look back at their sophomore year with good memories. Their spirit certainly proved them to be an important part of student life.

1. Looking cool, Jordan Kelsey and Jim Fallon take a break.
2. Mike Rose marches with his baton.
3. April Tankeisly socializes with her friends.

1. David Janka enjoys his lunch break.
2. Amy Zackey stops to take a break in the hallway.
3. Mark Bushnell, Tom Sigley, and Jason Rogers show their spirit.

Freshmen Encounter New Things...

As They See New Dreams

The freshmen went through many changes in their first year of high school. There were new principals, new faces, a totally new two-story building, and they faced a wide spread of various classes. For the freshmen, being the youngest was a frightening situation. As eighth graders, they had been the oldest and felt in control. "I was afraid of getting lost on my first day," said freshman Kelly Foster. However, once they learned the floor plan, it became very familiar to them. There were a variety of emotions felt on the first day of school. Some freshmen were scared, nervous, worried, and confused, while others were excited and anxious and anticipated their first day. "I just wanted to meet new people, make new friends, and encounter new experiences," said Becky Moniot.

Unlike the middle school, there were many extra-curricular activities offered for the freshmen. "The best part of my freshman year was the Homecoming dance," commented Andria Booth. Once they made it through their first month, they knew they were going to survive all the years of high school, somehow. . .

1. Mr. Murray's English class shows enthusiasm.

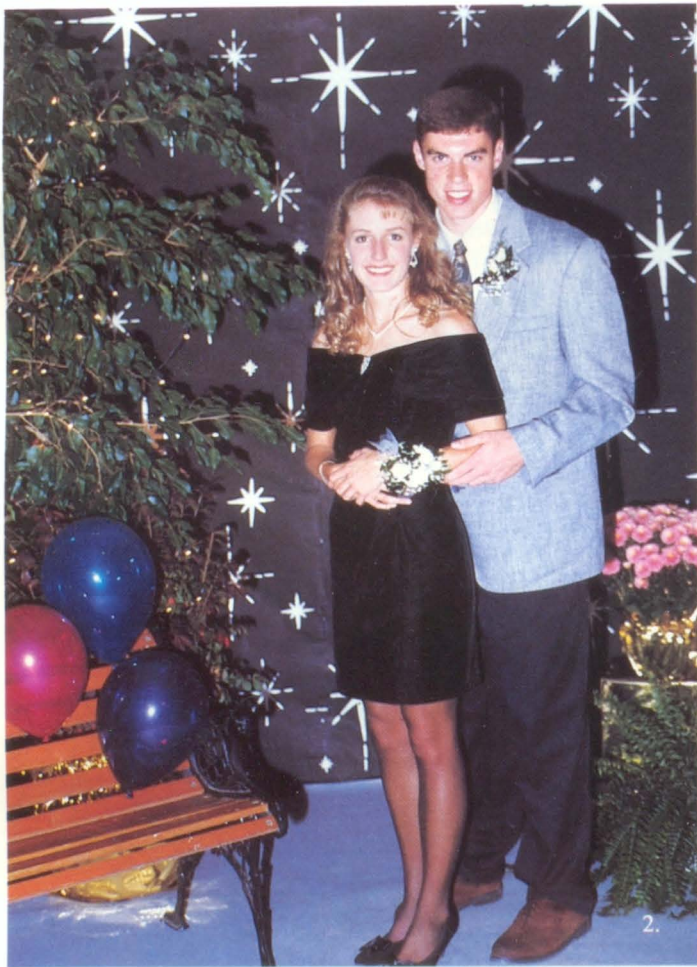

2. The freshmen enjoy their lunch period.

3. Chris Shears and Bill Whaley stop to take a break.

Kids Dance to Night of Dreams

Many changes occurred during this year's Homecoming activities. Instead of the traditional five couples, there were six. The sixth couple was an Auburn Career Center representative, Melodie Clark and Clinton Stark. The most shocking news was presented on Friday evening, October 14, 1994, during pre-game when Miss Denean Greer (senior class president), crowned both Miss Sonja Brainard and Miss Meredith Dorr because of a tie. That evening, the Blue Streaks shut out the Jefferson Falcons 49 to 0. At the dance, everyone anticipated the announcement of the King. The cafeteria was beautifully decorated with streamers and star balloons to the theme "We've Got Tonight" by Bob Seger. As the song played, King Brad McDonald danced with both Queens Meredith Dorr and Sonja Brainard. The night was a complete success for all MHS students that attended.

1. Kristen Dempsey and date Terry Gabor dance to the theme, "We've Got Tonight."
2. Debbie Bangerter and date Jordan Kelsey glide across the dance floor.
3. 1994 Royalty: Queens Sonja Brainard and Meredith Dorr along with King Brad McDonald.
4. 1994 Homecoming Court: (Top L. to R.) Melodie Clark, Sonja Brainard, Jaimie McIntyre, Brad McDonald, Beth Izzarelli, Meredith Dorr, Katie White (Bottom L. to R.) Seth Deering, John Hedges, Corey Jackson, Clinton Starke, and Jeremy Darby.

1. (From Left): Rich DeSanglau, Joe Tice and Heidi Adams listen to the "We've got Tonite" theme song for Homecoming.
2. Jessica Cole and her date share a close moment together.
3. Marie Nakajima dances the Electric Slide.

1. Putting herself between the ball and the opponent, Jessica Barski allows time for the teammates to get downfield and help ease the ball into the net.
2. Preparing to block the opponents' spike, Amy Rogers blocks the height she receives on her vertical jump.

Get Psyched! The cheerleaders create an obstacle with their encouraging signs as the rushing football team bursts through and gets the fans as well as themselves ready for the game.

Strength, Endurance, and Determination:

Athletes Strive For Perfection!

Students that were tired of the monotonous school tone felt the need to get involved, and many did just that. More than half of the student body participated in one or more of the many athletic teams that Madison High School offered. Whether their preference was participating or watching and supporting, students always found something to do. Madison athletes will not forget the spirit that the fans brought to them. No matter if the enthusiasm was cheering on swimming or football, athletes enjoyed hearing the support the fans offered.

Support or participation: it was a tough choice, but the student body did it all. Madison athletes did more than just participate. With many students that received high honors, and some even traveling to regional and state competitions, athletes took their sport seriously and devoted their time and energy to it.

1. Watch out for flying sand! Senior Bob Dame struggles with getting his ball out of the sand pit.

2. Patrick Haywood catches a lateral pass from the quarterback for a Blue Streak first down.

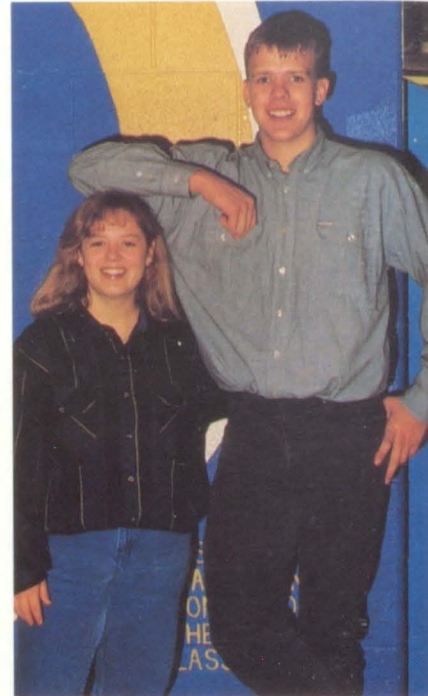

3. Madison's Cross Country team eagerly waits to hear the sound of the gun.

Admin. Dreams of Their Success

"Some days make us feel as if a semi ran over us and backed up to make sure we were hit." This described a rough day in the office according to secretaries Mrs. Cindy McKibben and Mrs. Sue Quayle. Along with Mrs. Brenda Ersek and Mrs. Carol Gibbon in the student center, they were the ones responsible for making the day run smoothly. This is Mrs. Gibbon's 25th year here. Her job not only includes handling secretarial tasks, but she works closely with Jim Pinelli, our athletic director, and our guidance counselors, Mr. Gary Himes and Ms. JoEllen Fellows. The main office is usually a busy place, but behind the activity up front lurk offices of our principals. Our head principal, Mr. Clinton Keener, and his assistants, Mr. Gary Contini and Mrs. Heather Chambers, were continually trying to make our school "the best that it can be." It was a unanimous opinion held by the entire office staff that working with the students was a fun and learning experience that was full of surprises. As Mrs. McKibben put it, she "wouldn't trade her job for anything... except maybe winning the lottery."

1. Student center secretaries Mrs. Carol Gibbon and Mrs. Brenda Ersek.
2. Main office secretaries Mrs. Sue Quayle and Mrs. Cindy McKibben.
3. Guidance counselors Mr. Gary Himes and Mrs. JoEllen Fellows.

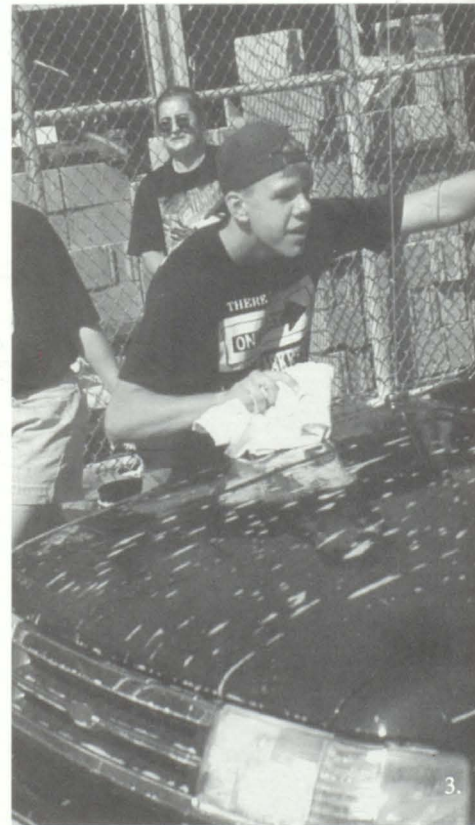

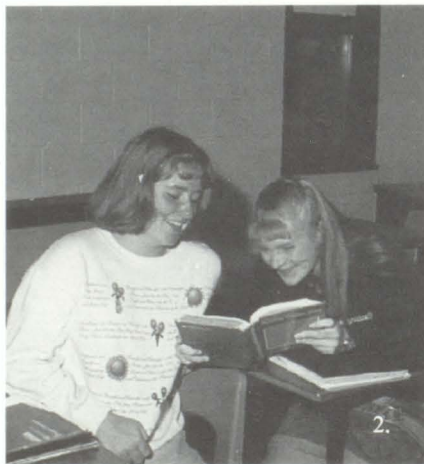

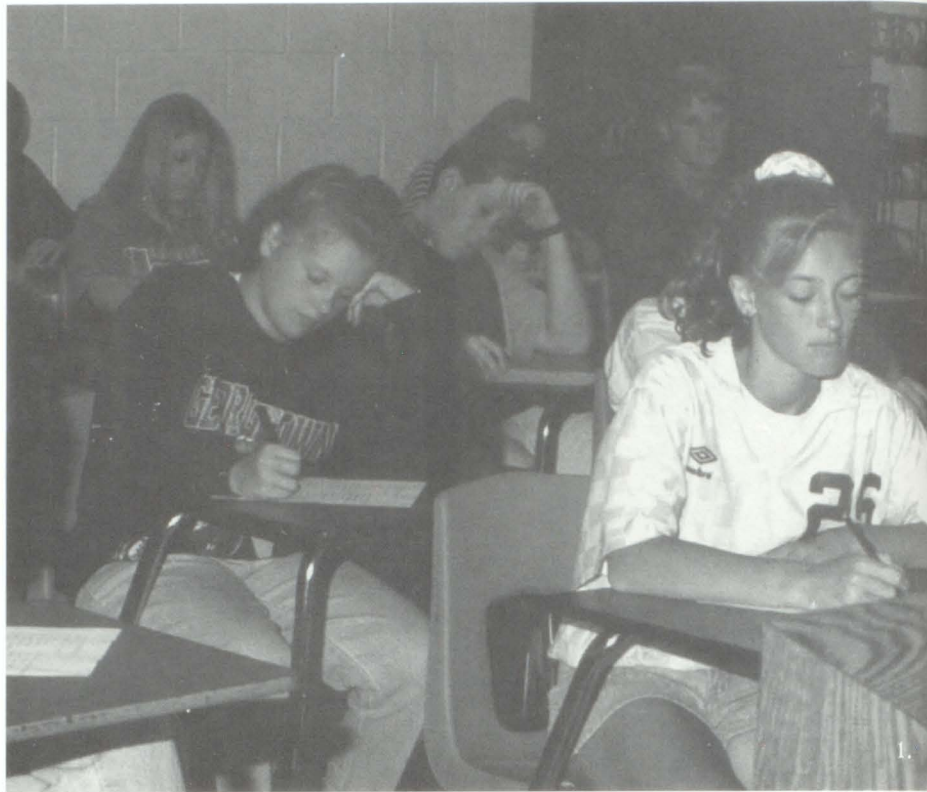

1. Principal Mr. Clint Keener.
2. Assistant principals Mrs. Heather Chambers and Mr. Gary Contini.
3. Athletic director Mr. Jim Pinelli.

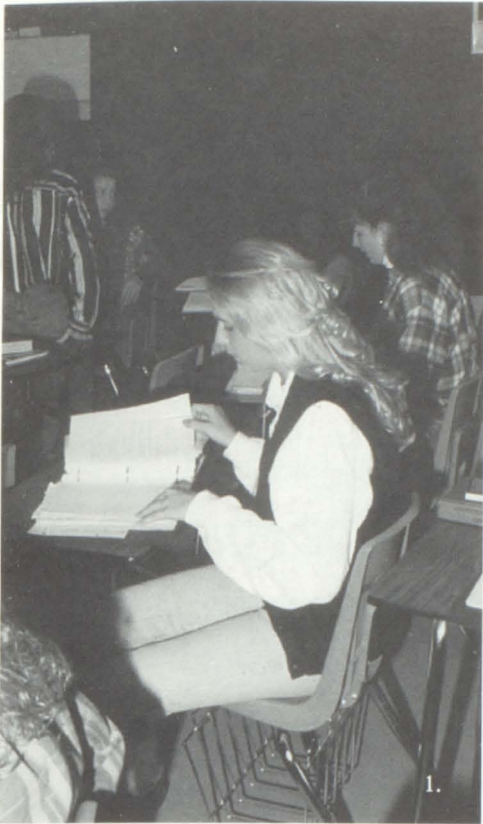

Students Aspire to Reach Dreams. . .

Book reports, essays, and grammar, oh my! These are just a few of the components of today's English classes. Madison offers various levels of English, each suited to a student's aspirations. Aside from general English, students can take college prep which consists of more writing, less grammar, and an in-depth study of Literature. For those who like more of a challenge, the AP class takes the student beyond the text and into outside novels.

Reading and writing are not all that went on behind the doors of Madison High's English classes this year. Many Freshmen took on the new and challenging task of reading and interpreting Shakespeare's Romeo and Juliet. Mrs. Peg Wilson's Sophomore class reenacted a court case from the story "Chee's Daughter." In its fourth year, Mrs. Jill Bangerter took her Senior AP class on a trip back to medieval times by holding the Madrigal dinner, a reenactment of the Middle Ages. For this festive feast, the students prepared food, played music, and dressed up as if they were back in the days of "Dungeons and Dragons." As Debbie Bangerter stated, "I think we learned a lot more than just doing a research paper because it was more of a hands-on experience." So whether you've finally finished the four-year requirement or you've made it one year closer, you've hopefully discovered Madison High's English department had a lot more to offer than just book reports, essays, and grammar.

1. Making the grade, Freshmen Heidi Globig and Heather Grisdale, finish up an English quiz.
2. Mr. Loeffel's Honor students Jamie Sutter and Amy Swackhammer find humor in gerunds, verbs, and participles.
3. Senior Corey Jackson lends a helping hand in raising money for the madrigal dinner.

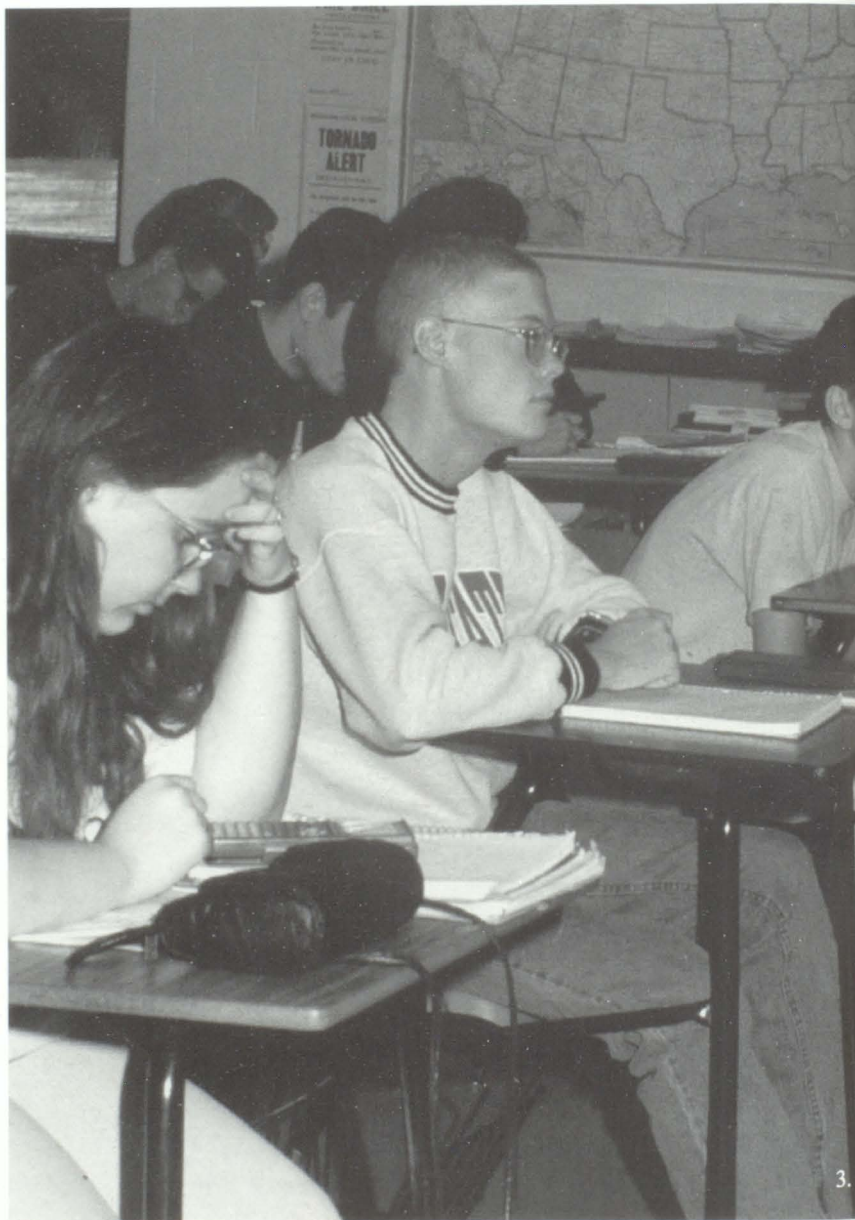

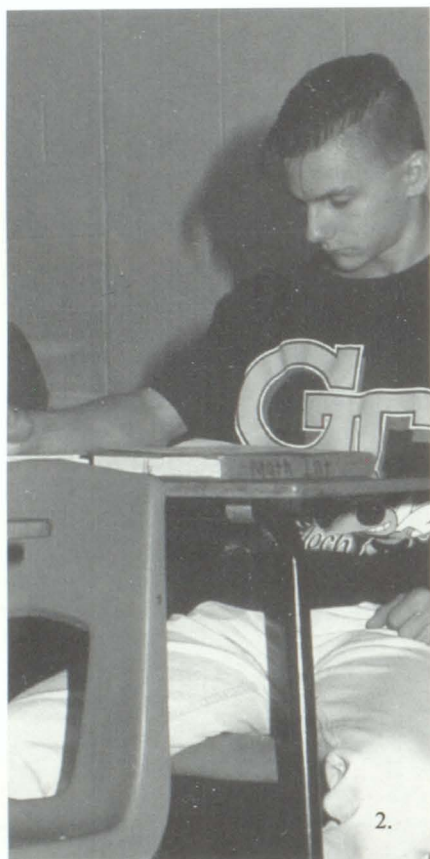

1. Preparing for a test, Junior Jessica Glasser takes one last look at her notes.
2. Top Row (L.to R.) Mrs. Peg Wilson, Mrs. Jill Bangerter, Mrs. Darlene Sampson, Ms. Kathy Jackson, Mrs. Colleen Moskowitz, Mr. Pat Murray, Mr. Jack Pavesich, Mr. Mike Smith. Bottom Row- Mr. John Loeffel.
3. Freshman Josh Ellis takes a break from his grammar in Mrs. Moskowitz's first period English.

Math Divides Students...

"It's challenging," said Patrick Eaton in his Algebra II class. In order to graduate, students needed two credits in any of these math classes: Math Intervention, Probability and Statistics, Algebra I, Geometry, Algebra II, Pre-Calculus, and Calculus. In the Math Department, there were two new teachers. Mr. Robert Peterlin was already familiar to our district since he previously taught at the middle school. He commented, "It's nice to teach older kids." The other new teacher to Madison was Mr. Tom Hernan. This was his first year teaching. He previously was a wrestling coach. They replaced Mrs. Sue Curkendall and Mr. Bert Kovalchik. This year, the Fundamentals classes purchased their own workbooks to study from, and they played various games. The main goal of the Intervention classes was to help the students pass the proficiency test.

1. Freshman Jake Butler and sophomore Virginia Corbin ponder a question that Mr. Hernan has just asked.

2. "I know I can finish it!" Sophomore Brian Baver hurries to complete his homework in his sixth period Intervention class.

3. Using various techniques to get the answer, Juniors Carrie Kilty and Chris Brandt utilize their graphing calculators and mental ability while sophomore George Aquilla dreams of the answer in Mrs. Carr's Algebra II class.

1. "What the . . .," appears to be Senior Sue Evatz's reaction to her Calculus exam while seniors Kevin Kuklinski and Jessica Seuffer look over their own tests.

2. Mr. Peterlin helps a student calculate an answer in his Algebra I class.

3. Shuffling through his papers, Senior Seth Deering checks his Calculus while Seniors Corey Jackson and Jason Meiers compare answers.

4. (L. to R.) Mr. Art Bortnick, Mr. Robert Peterlin, Mr. Tedd Wagner, Mr. Jack Becka, Mrs. Ellen Carr, Mr. Kevin Morgan, Mr. Jerry McIntyre, and Mr. Tom Hernan.

Science Brings Dreams to Life...

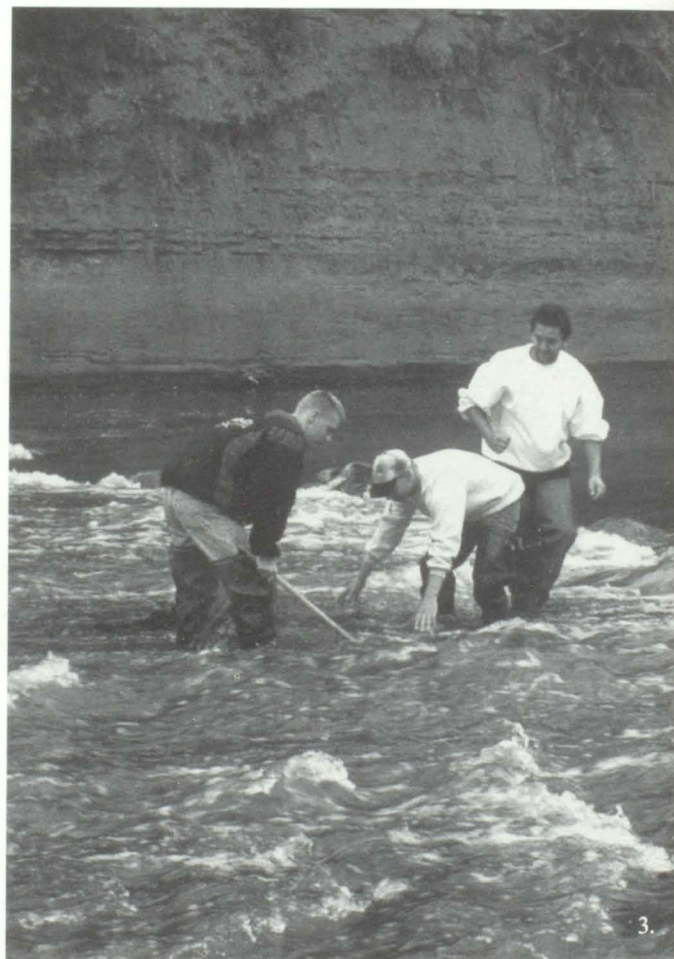

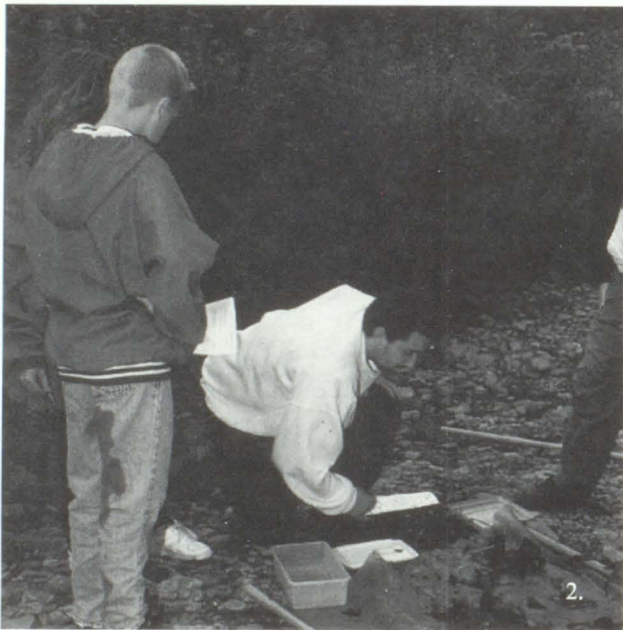

Classes Help Plan Future Careers

The science department this year opened many doors to the future. Among the usual science courses, the department brought back Advanced Placement Chemistry and expanded general chemistry. Many teachers hoped to cover more material and get through more labs. Among the many lab problems that Mr. Mallick's chemistry classes did was finding out how acidic chemicals were by using a light bulb and figuring out unknown chemicals in test tubes. The average enrollment of the science classes was 22-24 students. In order to graduate, a student had to take two credit classes, but three science credits were recommended for college bound students.

Many students feel that science classes at M.H.S. will help them in the future. Senior Stacy Henry explained about her biology class: "Dissecting is cool. It will prepare me for the human body in college."

Science is an important element for planning the future, and Madison High School meets this need through the variety of course offerings in the science department.

1. Julie Paine works diligently on her chemistry experiment.
2. Jesse Cahill and Jim Rand inspect their findings from the Grand River.
3. Jim Rand, Jesse Rascan, and Ryan Stone work on kicking things up during Mr. Deel's field trip to Hidden Valley.

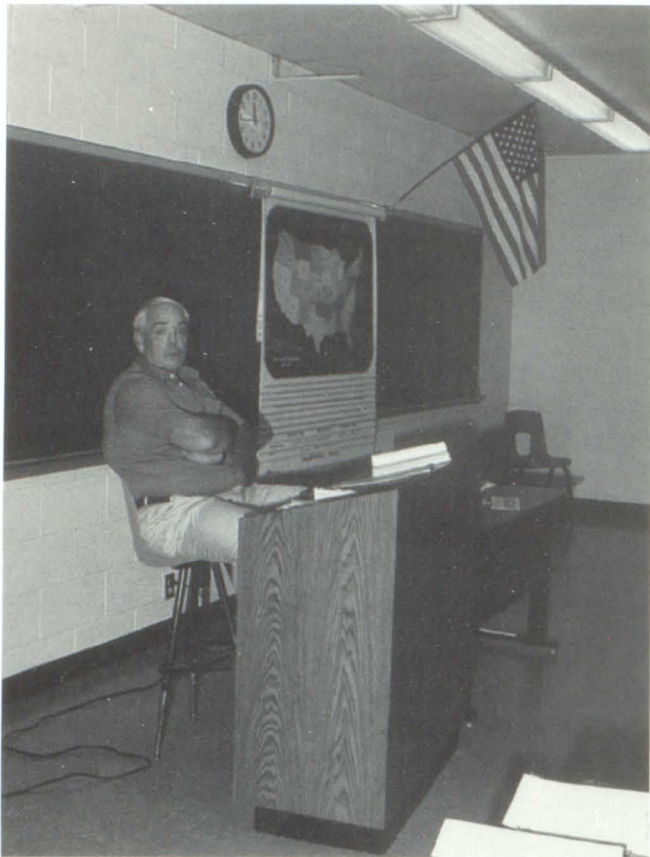

1.

1. Freshmen Stacy Collins and Sara Spears perform their lab in Mrs. Chaffee's general science class.

2. MHS Science Teachers (from Left): Ms. Eileen Kilduff, Mr. Larry Daly, Ms. Kelly Chaffee, Mr. Jim Pelich, Mr. Steve Mallick, Mr. Jerry Deel, and Mr. Gary Piker

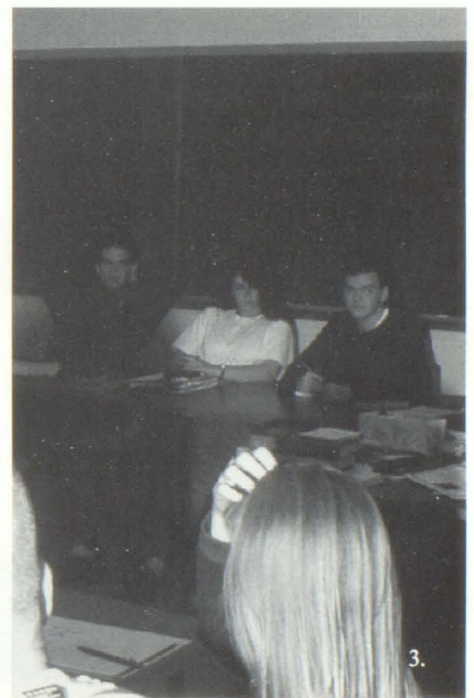

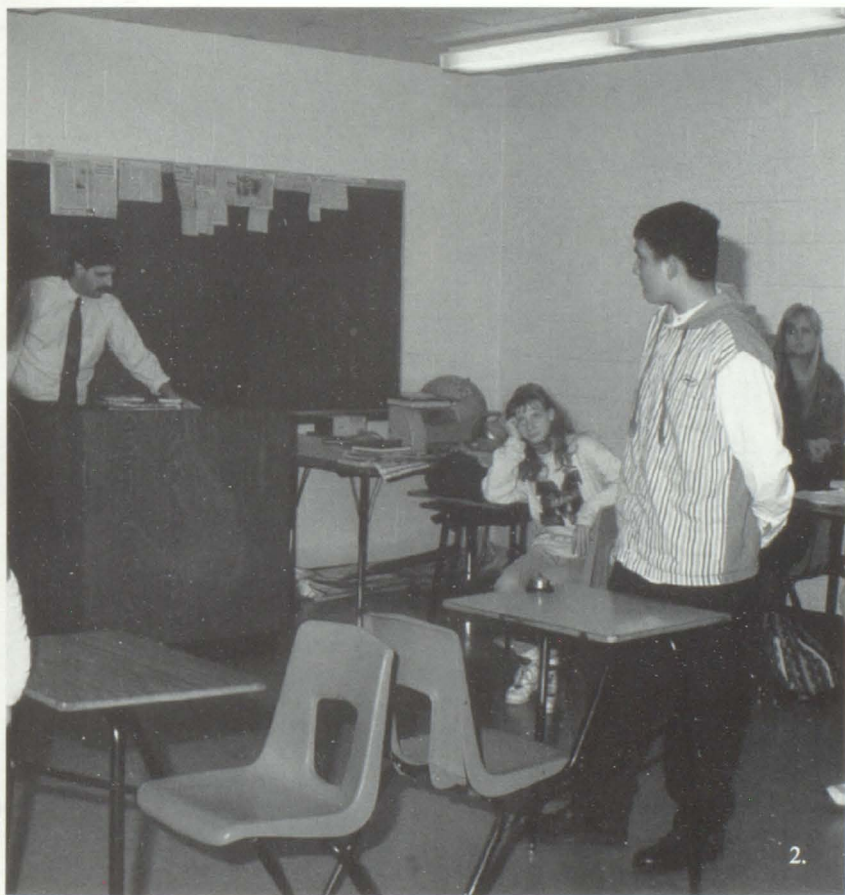

History Records Dreams

This year's Social Studies Department was exciting for all involved. Mr. Jim Deering took his Politics classes off the beaten path by using Newsweek Magazine as a text book for the course. Mr. Jim Herrholtz and his AP Government class continued to create and distribute their class newspaper, The Blue Streak Reader. When asked to outline the goals of the paper, Mr. Herrholtz said that it was meant to "elevate discussions from something beyond what you're doing Friday night." Mr. Duke Dipofi also flavored his Economics classes by having them play the stock market in class. By simulating what occurs everyday on Wall Street, Mr. Dipofi's students gained a whole new perspective on the basic economics of the stock exchange. The students who took a Social Studies course this year learned a lot of great information but also had a lot of fun.

1. Mr. Hance anxiously waits to begin one of his history classes.
2. Meredith Dorr, Jen Janka, Lisa Mileusnich and Holly Adams create surveys for their AP Government class.
3. The Social Studies Teachers: (From left) Mr. Jim Pinelli, Mr. Earl Delp, Mr. Jim Herrholz, Mr. Duke Dipofi, Mrs. Gayle Ostrander, Mr. Jim Deering, and Mr. Bill Hance

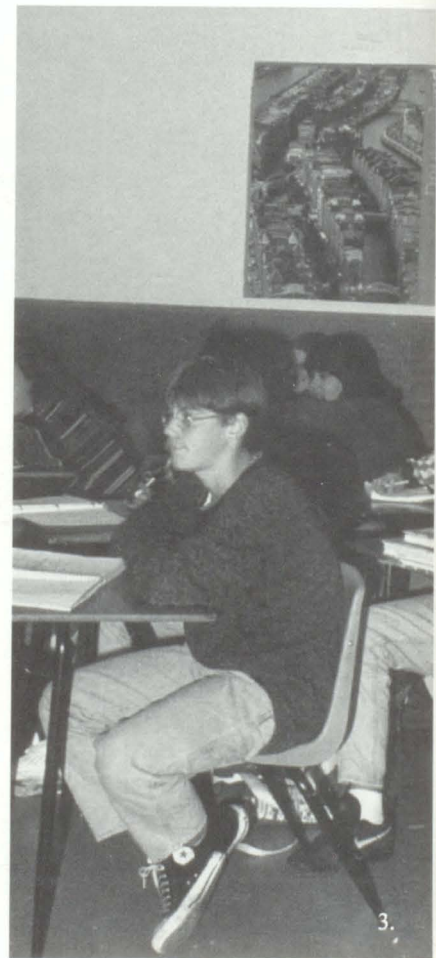

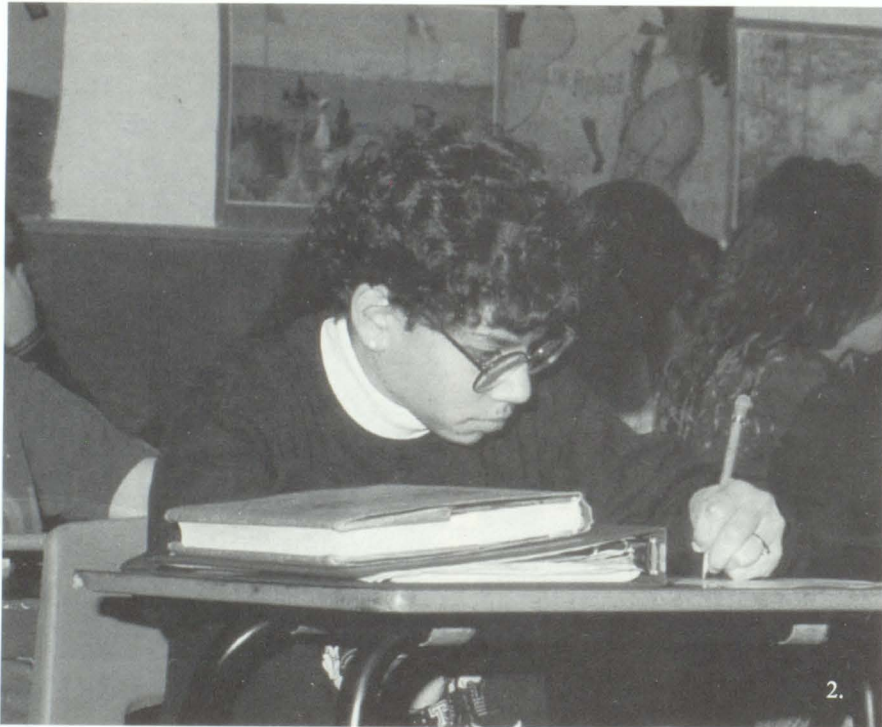

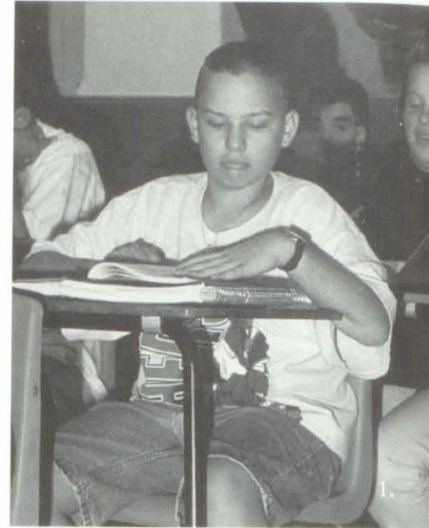

1. Students in Mr. Herrholtz's seventh period government class take a break from their hard work to look at the camera.
 2. Jason Brockway is the next contestant in Mr. Dipofi's economics review.
 3. Travis Lindahl, Betsy Kuhlman and Cory Rawlings listen to a class discussion in Mr. Deering's fifth period Politics class.

Daring Sword Fights and Far Away Places...

Students Dream of Foreign Lands

The foreign Language department was busy once again this year. The three languages (German, French, and Spanish) helped to add culture to students' lives. Mr. Don Strother stated that, "Languages should be fun. Students learn more by enjoying what they are doing." German I classes learned vocabulary to build on during second year German. German III classes increased their vocabulary through studies of German philosophy, art, and history and a trip to Amish country. The Spanish classes learned about the culture and language of Mexican culture. Second year Spanish built on their vocabulary from first year while the third year class studied more controversial issues involving Hispanic Americans and Spanish art. The French classes worked hard this year learning basic vocabulary along with the traditional Christmas Carols. The French III class got into more in depth studies of French culture along with French art. The year was a true success for all classes. Katrina Gambol stated it best in saying that, "Learning German is exciting!"

1. Sophomore Brad Stoneman works hard on his French I assignment.
2. Sophomore Karen Miller works hard to finish her French Assignment.
3. Christoph Donovan pays close attention to one of Herr Strother's lectures.

1. Mrs. Strother's first period French I class listens to a lecture on verbs.

2.

2. Heather Globig, Amy Swackhammer, and Mindy Flanagan enthusiastically discuss their German II assignment.

3. Foreign Language Teachers: Mrs. Ruthann Strother, Mr. Don Strother, and Ms. Karen Battes.

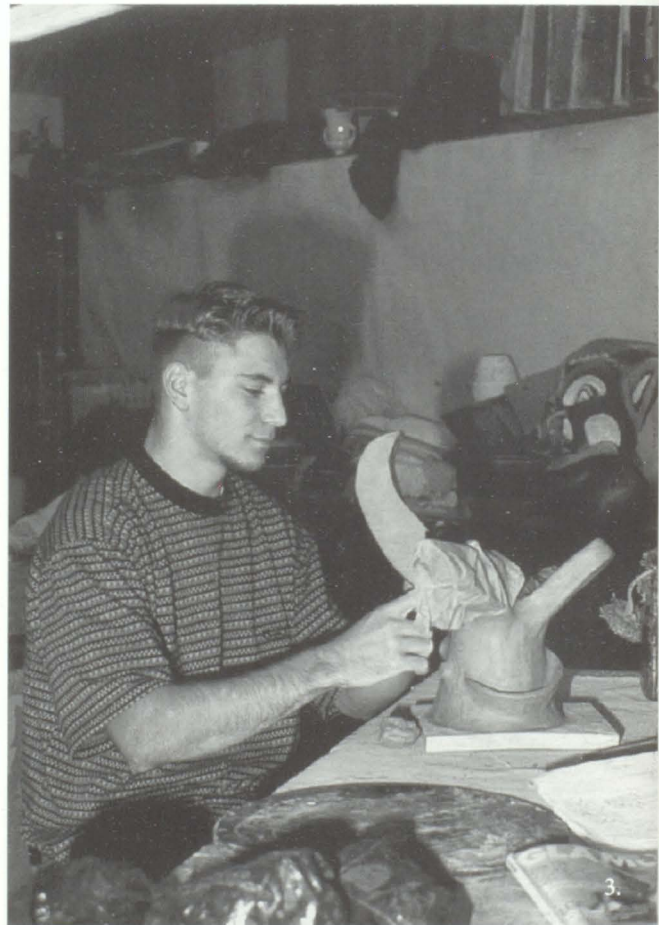

Students Learn Variety of Artistic Mediums. . . Many Proud to Win Art Awards!

Offering a wide variety of classes for the artistic-minded was the Madison art department, taught by Mrs. Joan Parks and Mr. Frank Ashton. Mrs. Parks taught Art Foundations, Commercial Art, Painting and Studio Art while Mr. Ashton taught Beginning Drawing, Ceramics, Sculpture, Jewelry, Metals and Photography. In order for MHS students to take any art classes, they are first required to take Art Foundations. Both art teachers expressed excitement about the new art wing which had not yet opened at printing time. Mrs. Parks commented, "Right now we're very limited in space and equipment. But hopefully by the end of October, we'll be getting settled into our new 'home'". Mrs. Parks announced that a new course, computer-aided graphic design, will be added sometime in the near future. The new addition will surely create new dreams!

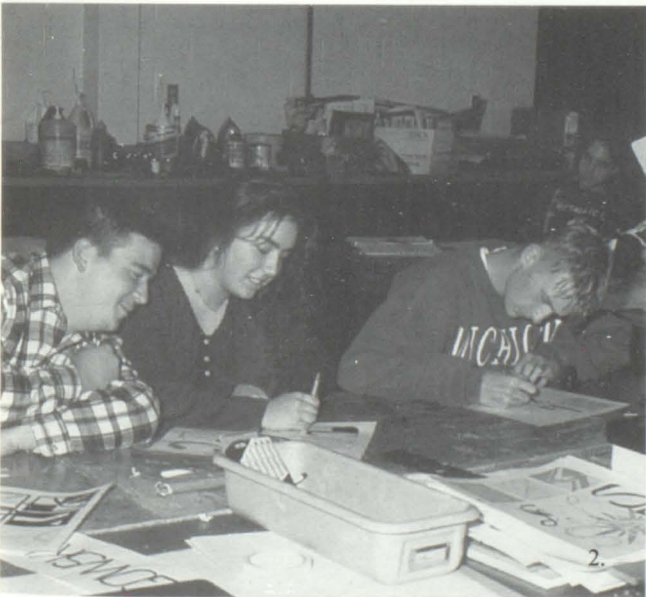

1. Freshman Katrina Mahr quietly works on her art foundations project.
2. Adding the final touches to her jewelry piece is sophomore Moira Crawford.
3. Who ever said art wasn't serious? Senior Jerome Darby concentrates on smoothing out his sculpture.

1.

3.

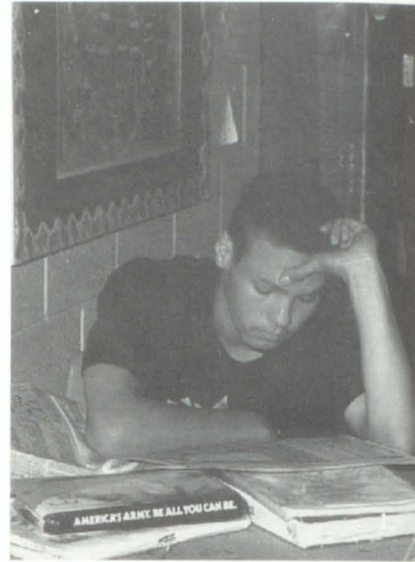

1. Fifth period beginning drawing students Leah Fike, Tom Frisbee, Meredith Dorr, and Jeremy Buckholtz compile pictures for their collages.
2. Taking his art seriously is Junior Brandon Smith. Senior Phil Young gives a few suggestions to Chrippy Marthey.
3. MHS art instructors Mrs. Joan Parks and Mr. Frank Ashton

Striving Toward Dreams....

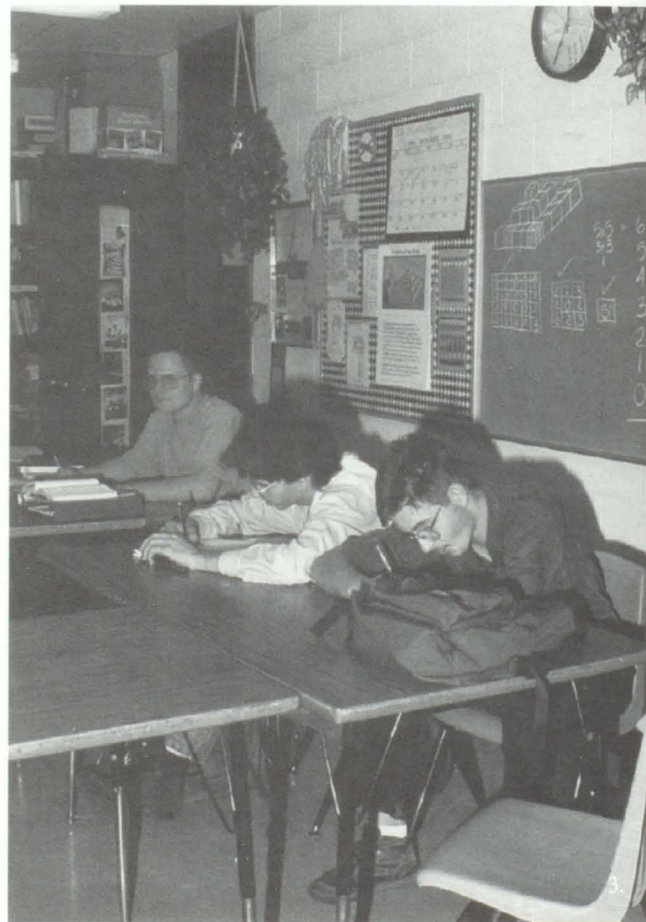

Education is Key to Success For Students

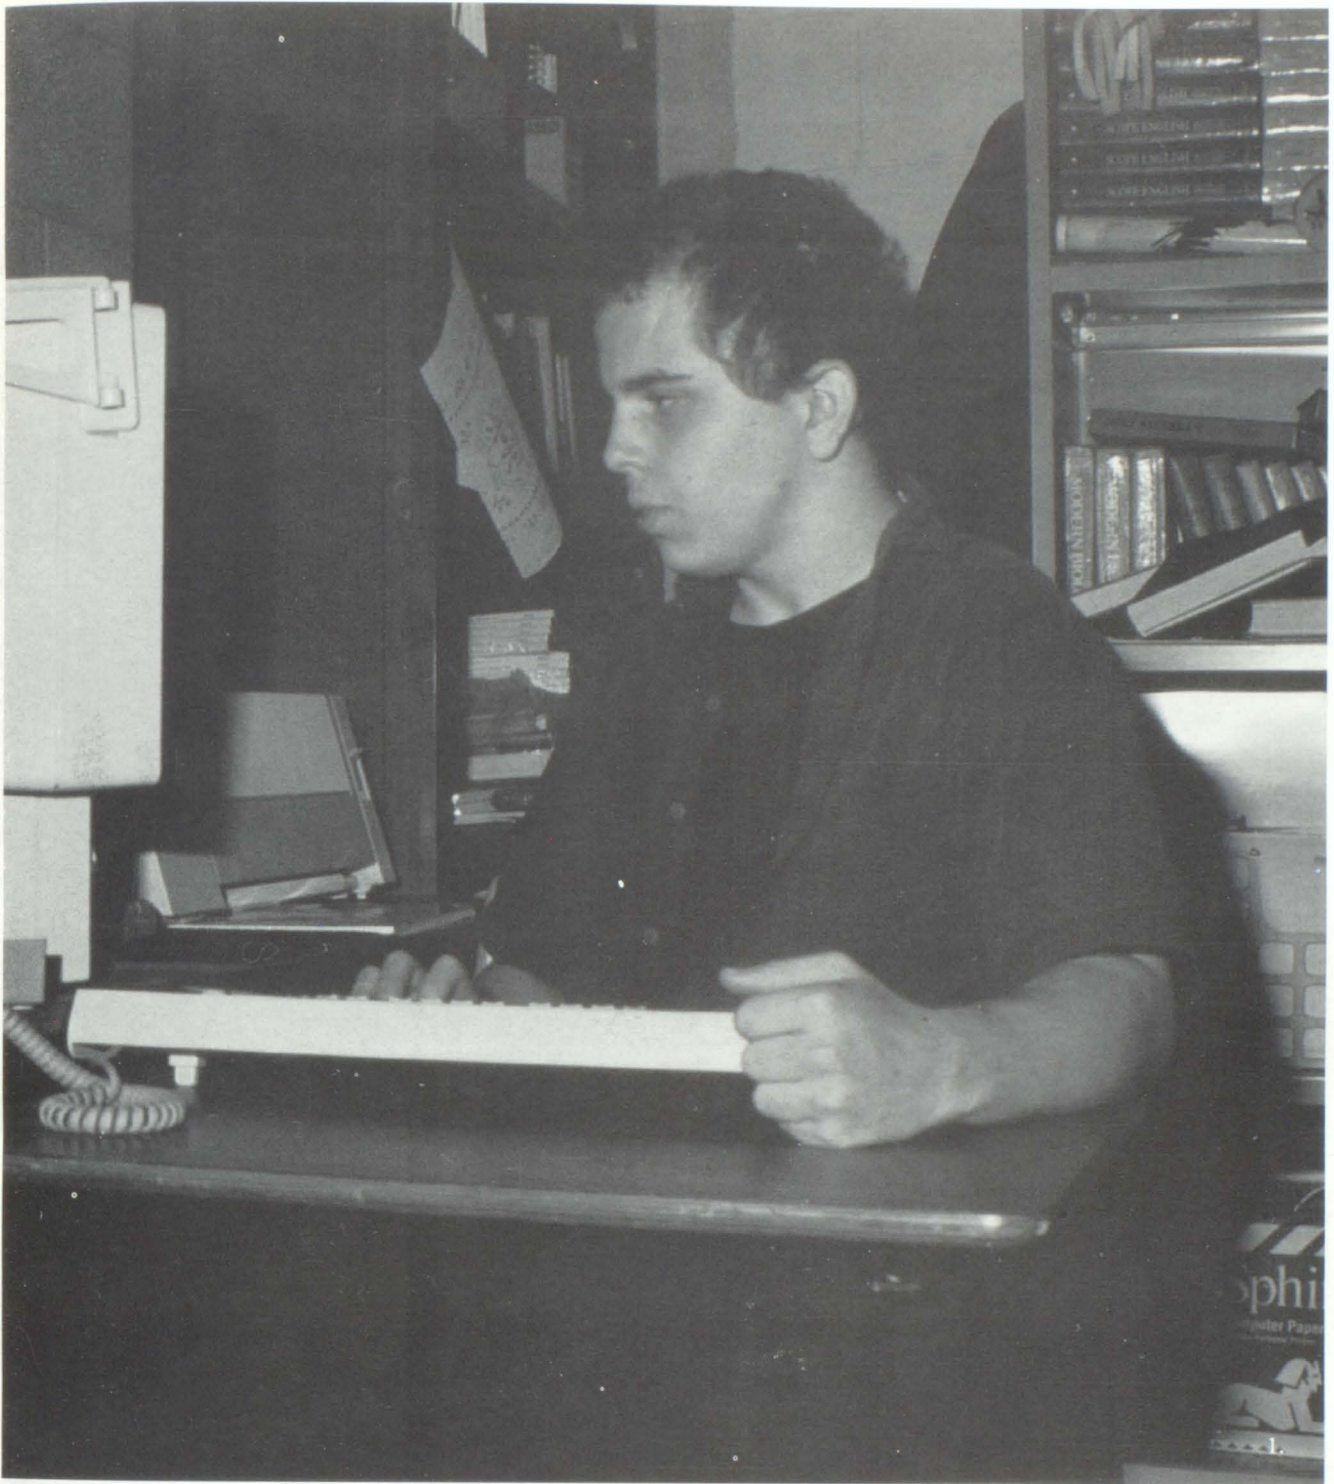

When asked what she liked best about teaching, Mrs. Debbie Morgan explained that she liked working with the smaller groups which gave her the opportunity to know her students more personally than most teachers with their students. In class, students participated in different activities to get to know each other and themselves. They had group discussions along with their teacher, talked about their personal lives and asked for advice, which usually ended in smiles and jokes. Computers made a tremendous impression on the class because they gave the students an opportunity to experience their use before entering the job life. They played games that showed the use of physics, math, grammar, and reading. One game, for example, was a game named Coaster where the student built a roller coaster using mathematical designs to complete the roller coaster. During the game, crash test dummies risk riding the coaster while a board of judges rate the finished ride. Students played many other games which taught them various skills, like learning the keyboard, that they will be able to use when they leave school.

1. Newspapers everywhere! Kevin Grzesikowski searches for information for his story.
2. Kelly Davis, Danielle Brafford, and Laura Paine analyze an article for the class assignment.
3. T.J. Winters, Geoff Fuchs, and Andy Chaffee study during class.

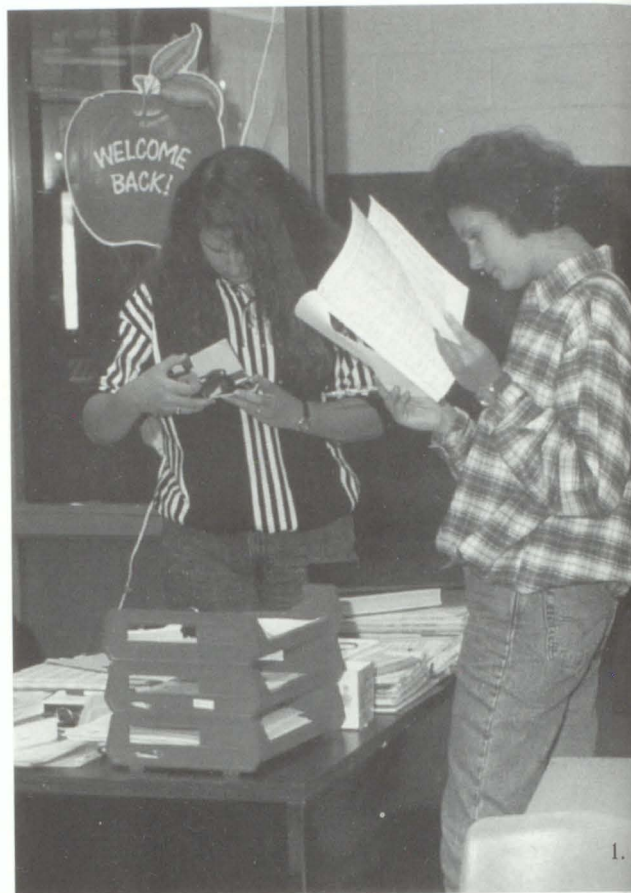

1. Mike Hunley tries to compete with the computer which puts up a tough fight.

Staff Creates Book of Dreams . . . Cauldron Preserves Fun and Work

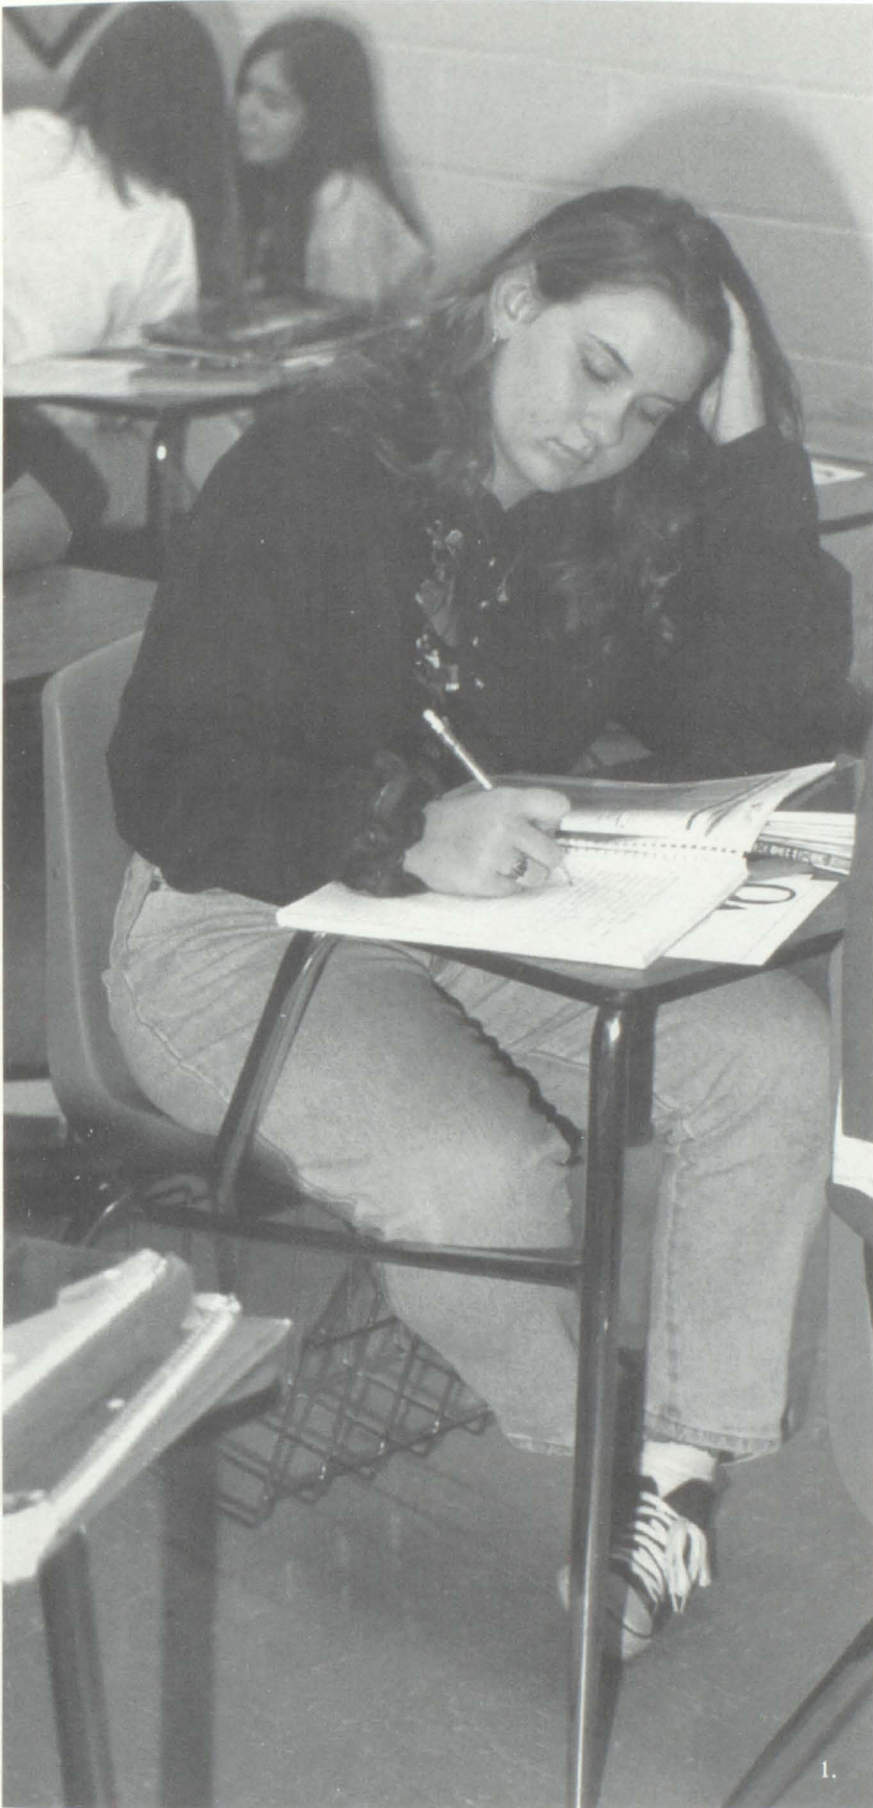

"Girls just want to have fun!" That may be true, but this year's all female yearbook staff had to sacrifice fun for hard work. The small staff, most of which had no experience, had to buckle down to get things done. "Every-one worked together as a team. The group has a lot of talent, and that will make the yearbook a success," said Chrissy Ford, Editor. Mrs. Jill Bangerter returned to the position as advisor of the staff after a three-year break. With ten years of experience, she knew how to keep everything running smoothly. She didn't mind having all girls on the Cauldron staff, even though it was harder to cover wrestling and football, because there was "no flirting during class." The purchase of two computers saved a lot of time and money. Saving layouts and using them over again eliminated the need to redraw them. Sending disks to the publisher cut down on packaging and shipping costs. Whether they knew it or not, the '94-'95 Cauldron staff learned a lot. "Journalistic skills, sales techniques, and layout and design are all important parts of the yearbook course," stated Missy Medved. "Yearbook was a lot of fun," said Carrie Tenney. "We got to meet new people, go places, and receive special treatment." With or without special treatment, the yearbook staff pulled together to create a treasure chest of memories.

1. Sorting through passes and master schedules, Elizabeth Booth, Jen Janka, and Kristen Dempsey get ready to search the school for quotes.

Newspaper Aims for New Dreams...

The Streak Excels In Its Field

For the second consecutive year, The Streak accomplished a lot with a limited staff of twelve. Mrs. Colleen Moscovitz, the new advisor, helped to make the paper a success. This year's editors, Melissa Gambol and Laura McKibben, kept the staff on schedule. Melissa became involved with the newspaper because, "Communication is a great thing." Everybody saw photographers Kerri Zylack and Brad Stewart in front of the crowd at any major event for Madison High. Scott Pettit, the new artist, helped to enhance the quality of the paper. Many students in newspaper took the class because of their interest in a career in journalism. In newspaper, they learned about layouts, graphics, and of course, pressure when deadline time came around. Mrs. Moscovitz and the staff shared similar goals. She wanted to make the paper successful and enjoyable for the students. Joe Hoover wanted to make The Streak "informative and entertaining at the same time."

1. The Streak's 1994-1995 editors: Laura McKibben and Melissa Gambol.

Classes Offer Life Skills to All . . .

Home Ec., Drafting, Woods, Quest, Cooking . . .

There are many different Home Economics courses offered in our school for all grade levels. The most common classes are Personal Development and Resource Management, also known as Life Skills, International Gourmet Cuisine, Quest, Drafting, Woods, and Nutrition and Wellness. In Personal Development and Resource Management, taught by Mrs. Betty Jean Green, Mrs. Patti Ashton, and Mrs. Joanne McMahon, the class emphasizes sewing, cooking, goal planning, and communication skills. One freshman, Melinda Savchuk, commented on her class: "I like personal development because we get to learn how to sew and cook, which are two skills I need to know for the future.

"There are also many Industrial Arts classes offered at Madison. Drafting is taught by Mr. Fred Morrison, Mr. Bob Peterson, and Mr. Jack Becka. "I enjoyed my drafting class because it was very challenging," commented Junior Carrie Garland. Other courses offered were Woods and Metals, and both helped prepare students in future industrial careers as did all these classes.

1. Mike Hupertz works on his assignment in Metals class.
2. Jon Lovejoy works diligently on his project for shop.
3. Working hard, Larry Murphy finishes his project.
4. The Home Economics teachers (L.to R.): Mrs. Betty Jean Green, Mrs. Joanne McMahon, and Mrs. Patti Ashton
5. Mrs. McMahon helps Tara Fults with her assignment.

1. Josh Tryon enjoys his woods class.

2. The Industrial Arts teachers: (L. to R.) Mr. Bob Peterson, Mr. Fred Morrison, and Mr. Jack Becka

3. Jake Militia, Joe McBride, Joe Tice, and Nick McGroeder work together for their drafting assignment.

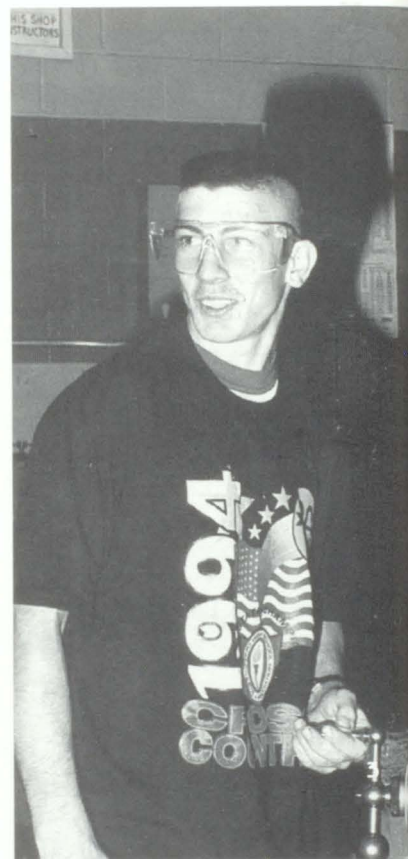

Students Learn New Skills

Attending Auburn Career

Walking through the halls of Auburn Career Center are several Madison High School students. Auburn is a vocational school that high school juniors and seniors have the option of attending. A few of the courses offered at Auburn include Culinary Arts, Cosmetology, Auto Mechanics, Building and Remodeling, Administrative Office Services, Industrial Technology, Electronics, and many others. In these courses, students are taught hands-on skills that will help them find employment after graduation.

Besides the vocational courses, students have to take their required high school classes like English and government. Students may choose to take these classes at either Auburn or their high school. Senior Steve Talcott attended full day classes and was studying Building and Remodeling. He felt that Auburn "is the most practical school you could go to because everything you learn there you can use." A certain camaradery is felt among the students at Auburn.

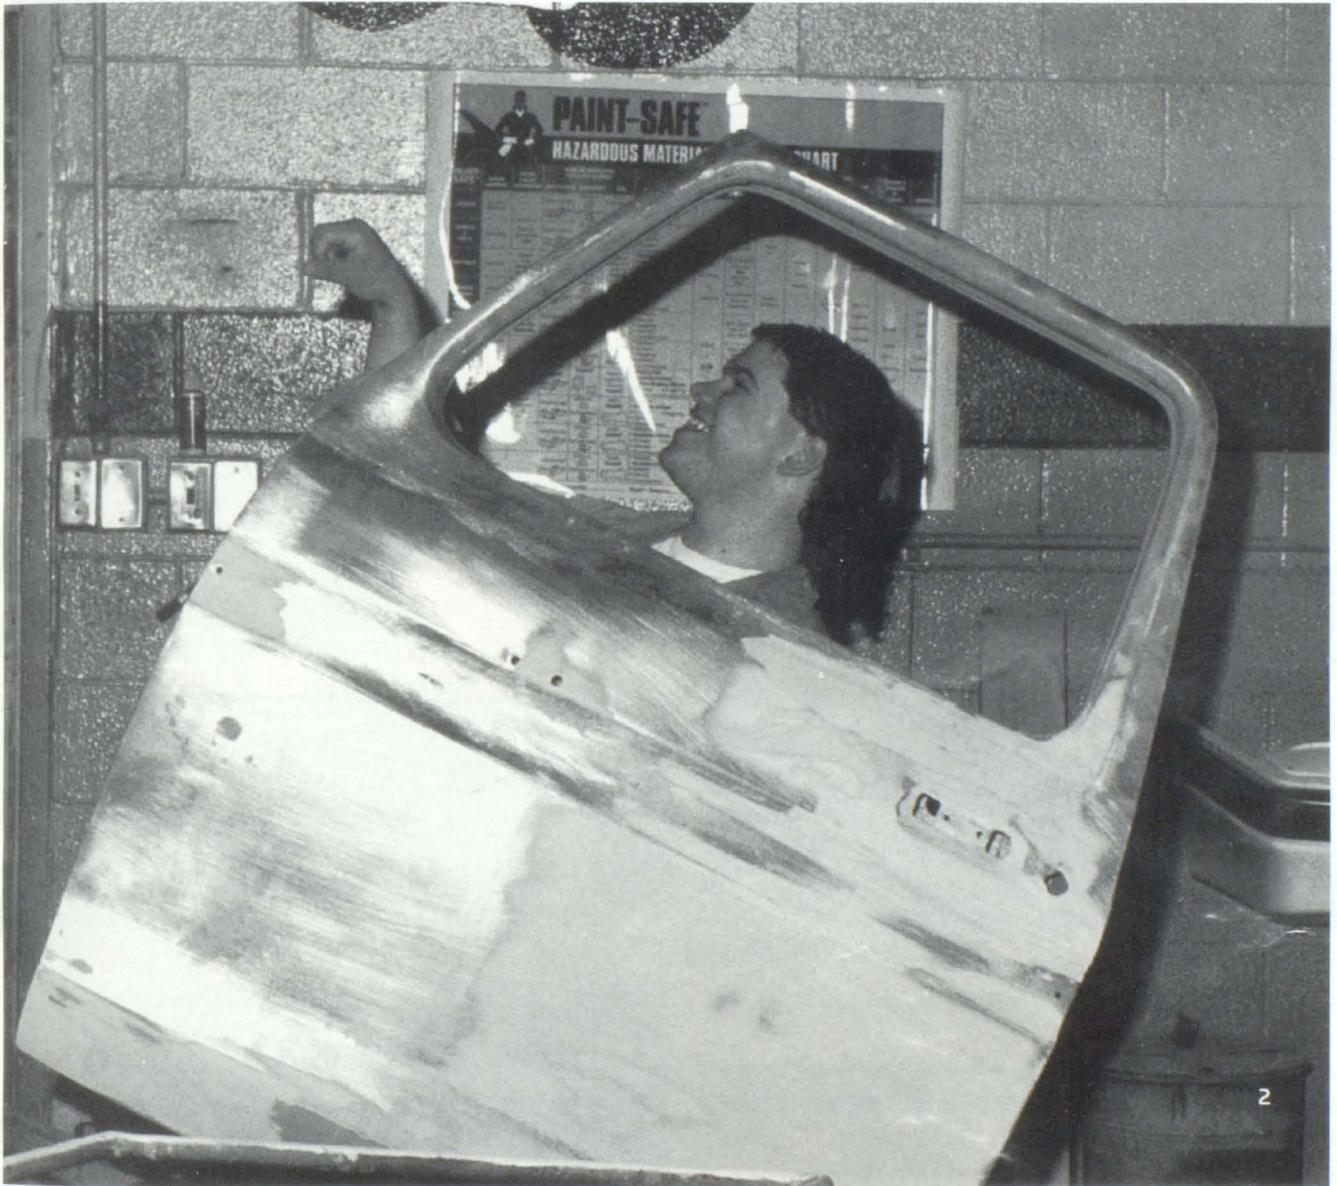

1. Senior Steve Talcott plasters a wall for his building and remodeling class.
2. Senior Bill Kusar looks up from his project in Industrial Technology.
3. Jennifer Nagle and Lynette Nagel gather around Jenny Ponsart to check out what she's doing in Administrative Office Services.

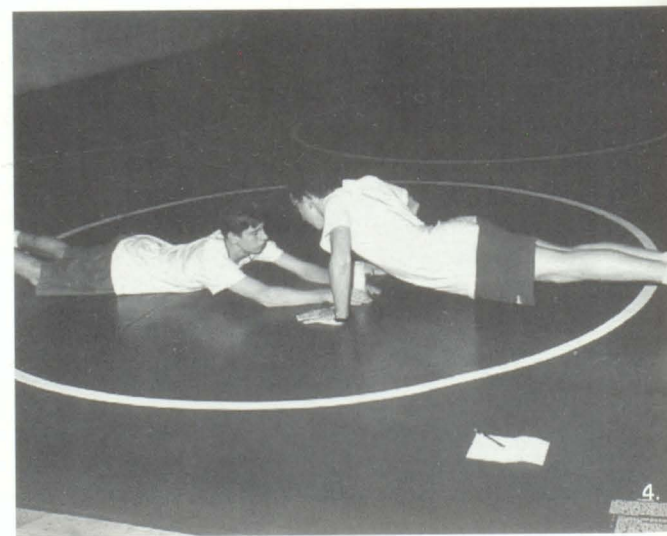

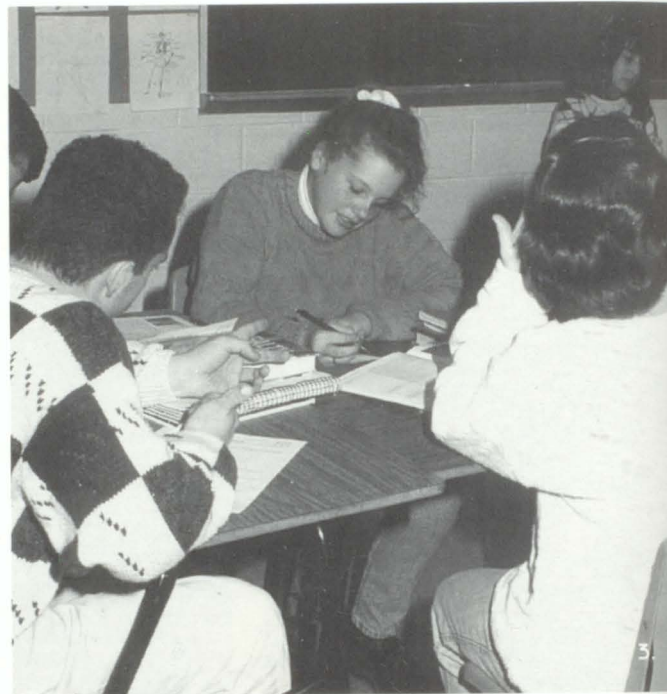

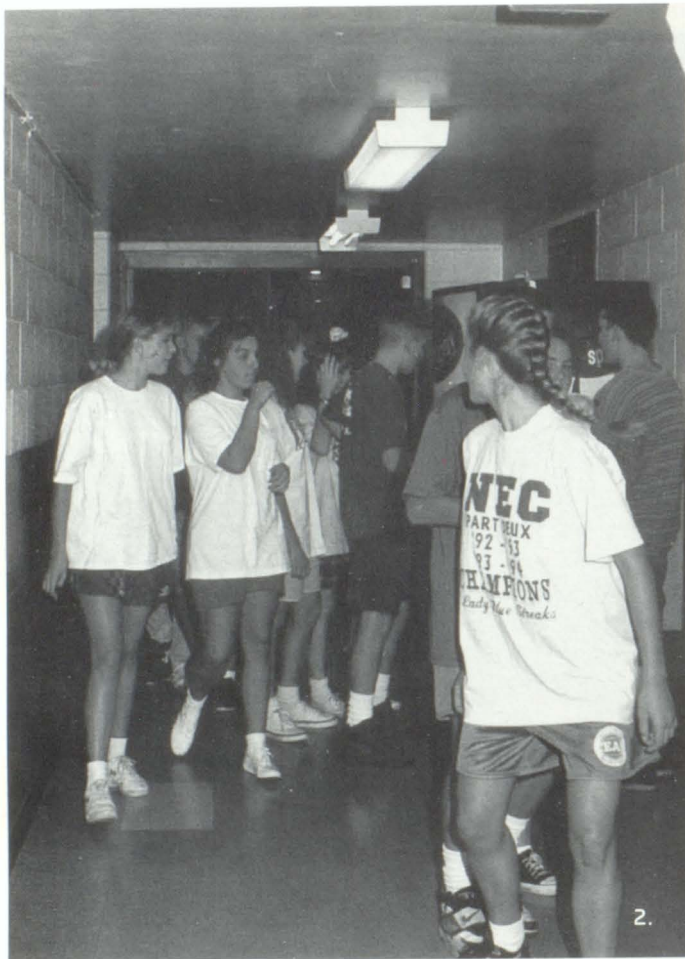

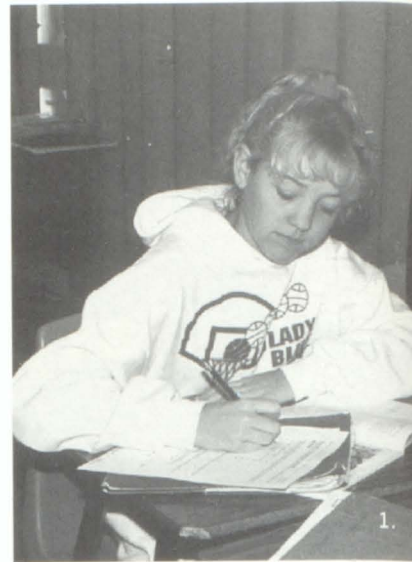

1. During Cosmetology, Senior Theresa Philips works on a customer.
2. Senior Jeremy Herron fools around in his auto body class.

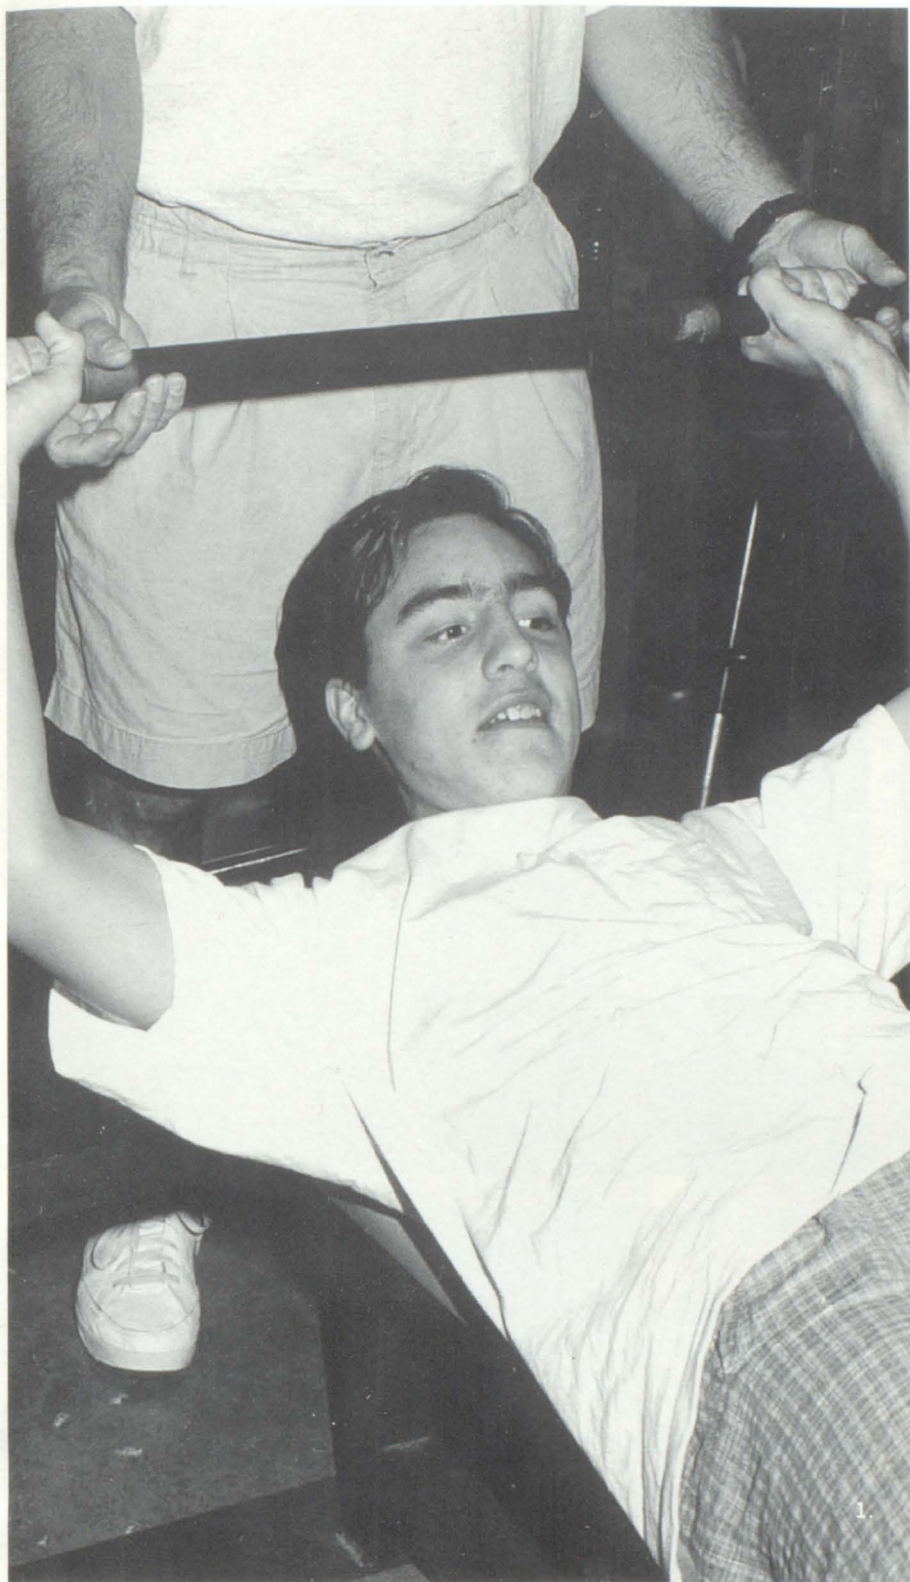

Health, Gym Explore Dreams

Sweating, many gym students get the chance to release the many pressures of other academic subjects. By participating in the many sports and group activities, students learned to act like a group rather than just as an individual, and what better way to learn these skills than by practicing on the new sports complex with the guidance of gym instructors Mrs. Tricia Mullan, Mr. Rex Reigert, and Mr. Tim Willis. Jordan Kelsey commented, "Gym class is an excellent environment in which to build health habits which should last your entire life." Although students get the chance to participate in all their favorite activities, many dread the mile run. Sonia Ketchum explained, "Although the people are nice and the activities are fun, I don't enjoy running the mile every other week." On the other hand, many students disagree. Roberta Evatz continued, "I think the mile is fun and I don't understand why people complain all the time."

1. Sara Spears works diligently on her classwork assignment.
2. Sherri Gapen stops to take a breather after gym class.
3. Heather Grisdale, Ed Anderson, and Michelle Bennett participate in a group activity in health class.
4. Roger Morrow helps his friend with push-ups.

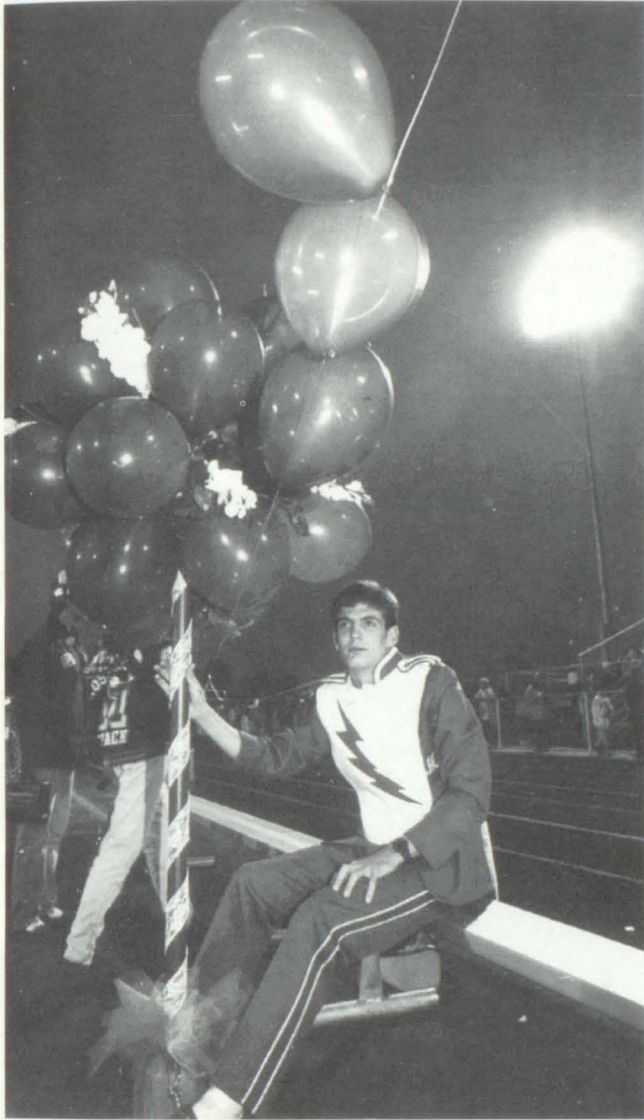

1. Mr. Reigert spots for Kyle Smith.
2. Cassie Parker enjoys playing volleyball in gym.
3. Melissa Cross prepares for her upcoming test in Mr. Willis's health class.

1. Band members Brian Halblaub, Greg Mabe, and Lindsey Bukovinski, thrill the crowd during a half-time show.
2. Marie Nakajima and Melissa Goda work on finishing touches before the next concert.
3. The 1994-1995 Marching Blue Streak Band

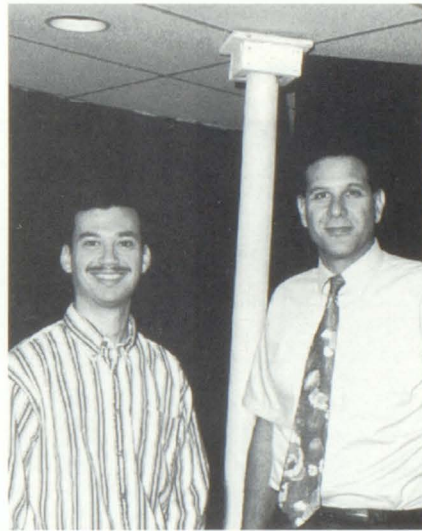

Keeping in Harmony...

Music Fields a Challenging Year

The marching band, under the lead of a different director, Mr. Josue Perez, strove to meet the goals of their audiences on Friday nights during the football season. The band also marched in various festivals and parades. After football season, the band made a major conversion to symphonic band. With many new members, the stage band gave several thrilling concerts. The show choir included both boys and girls again this year, a fact which helped make their shows even more enjoyable. They performed at a festival in Perry High School where they also saw many other talented choirs. Other than melodious concerts, the Madison High School Choir performed with the marching band at the homecoming game leading the fans in the Alma Mater and the Star Spangled Banner. All of the music department anxiously waited for the opening of the new music wing.

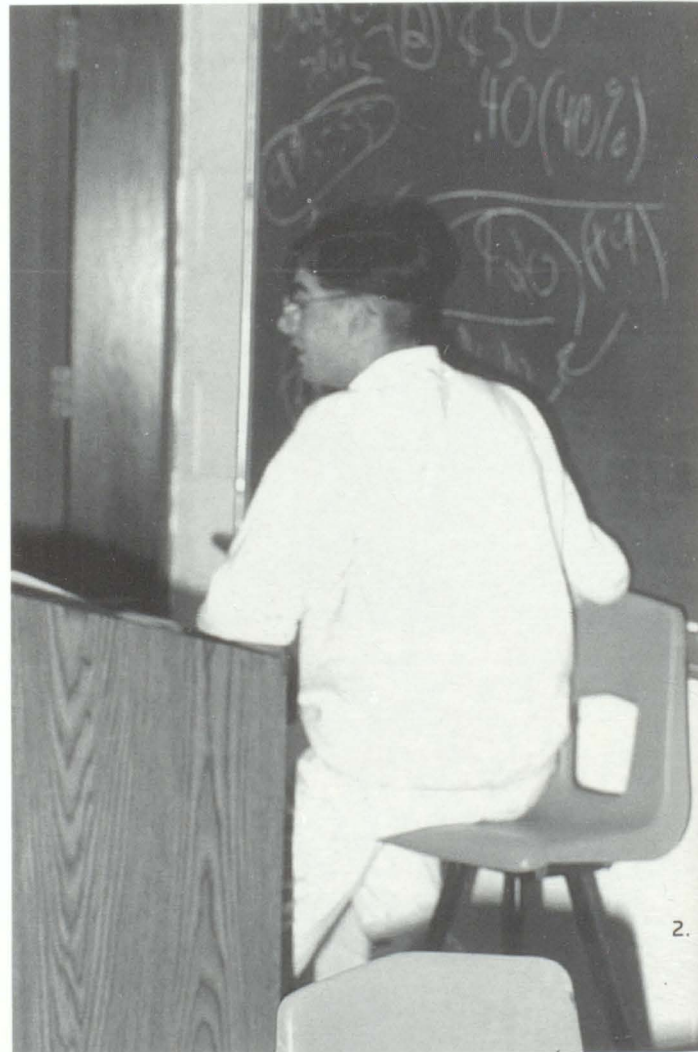

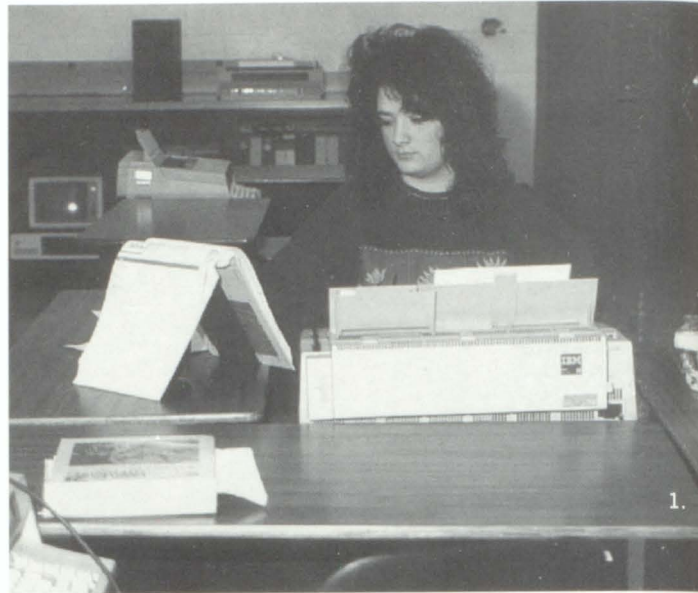

1. Senior band member Tom Connett anchors the balloon arch during the Homecoming game.
2. Mr. Perez, music director, and Mr. Soriano, assistant band director, take a break and pose for the camera.
3. The 1994-1995 Madison High School choir.

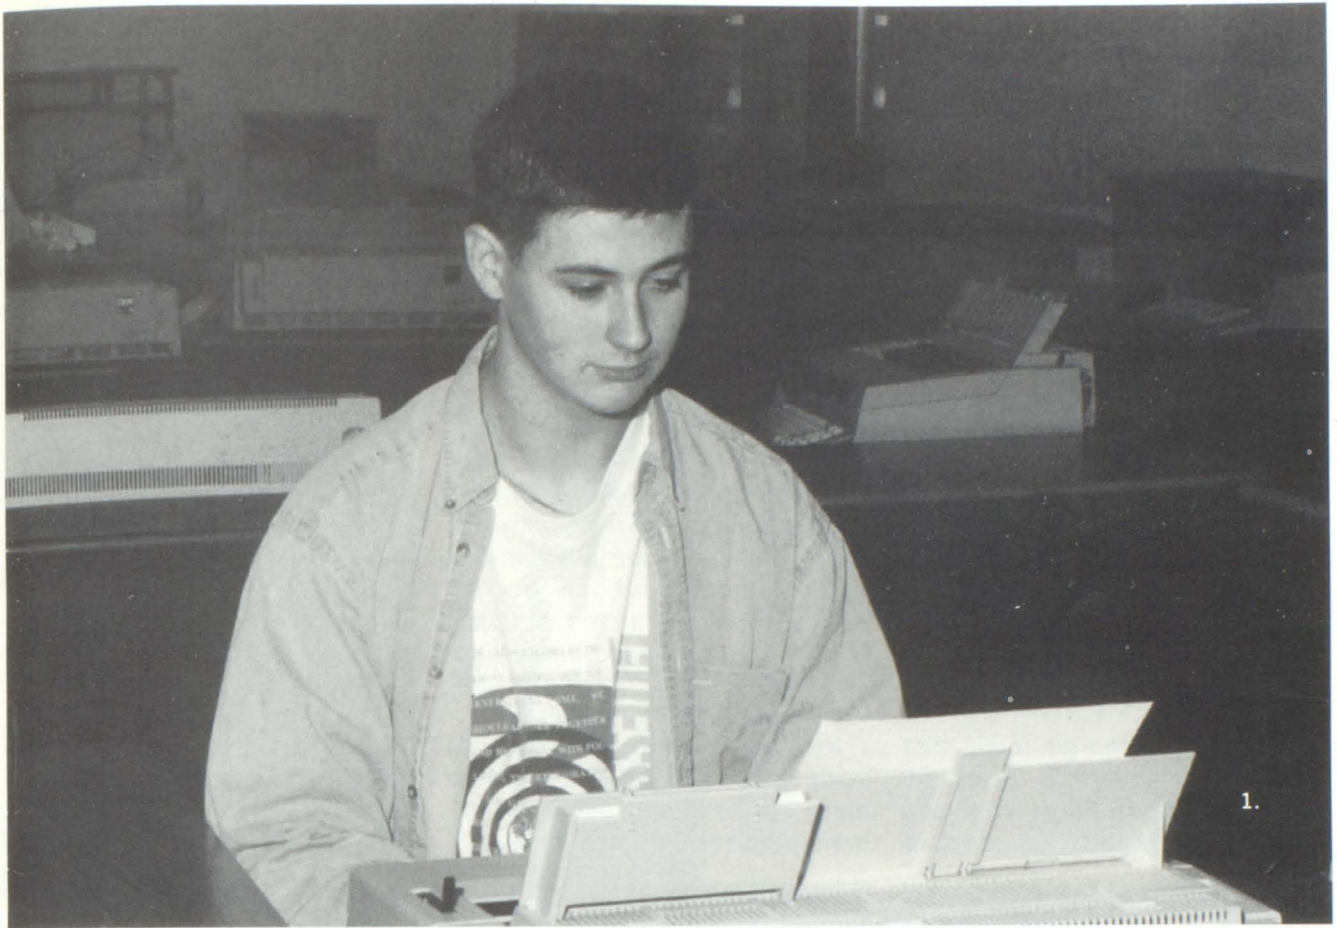

Field of Business is Growing

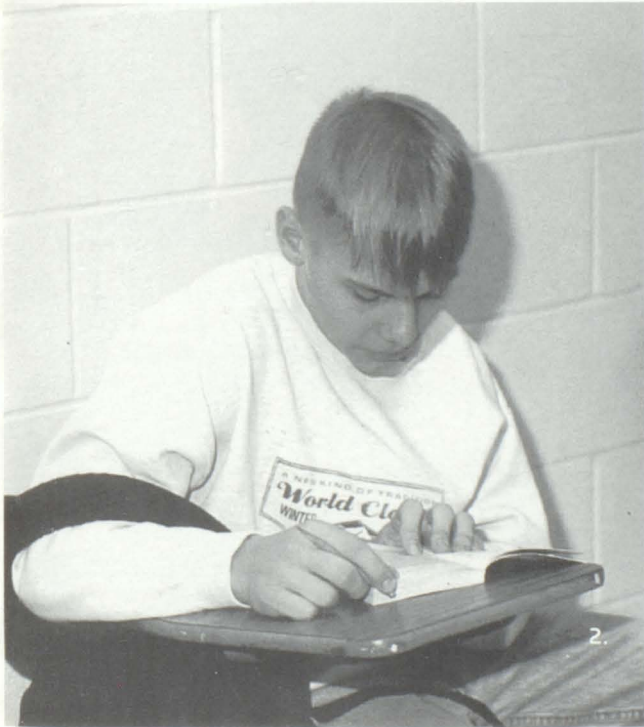

"Business courses are very practical and useful. The things you learn will be things you will use everyday," Mr. Miller expressed as he described the business courses provided at Madison High School. This year, Mrs. Sue Grist expanded her teachings to the Middle school where she taught keyboard on computers. The most popular class among business courses was personal typing, which ranged from freshmen to seniors. There were girls and boys in these courses, and usually there were more guys taking them than girls. The average class consisted of about fifteen to twenty students per class. The students in these courses were prepared for many things that will be used in every aspect of their lives. In typing, students were prepared for typing on term papers in college. Accounting students were prepared to balance their budget, and even someone else's as an accountant would do. Students in these courses were prepared for more than just business-related careers. They were prepared for work or college that follows high school.

2. Ryan Stone reads during Mrs. McCue's fifth period class.
3. A tutor for many Madison High School students is Mrs. Christina McCue.

Low Profile People Help Students

Various support people are crucial to school operation. Two of these, Miss Dee Carlson and Mrs. Beth Leonard, were in charge of the MHS library. Not only did Miss Carlson run our library, but she was also in charge of every school library in the community. A new addition this year to the library was a TV/VCR that was purchased through a Madison Education Foundation mini-grant. Both librarians' goal for the future was to get every student at MHS his own library card.

The Director of Drug Prevention for Madison Local Schools was Mr. Frank Haibach. Programs that Mr. Haibach was in charge of included Red Ribbon Week and TI, and he brought in speakers on drugs and alcohol. Mr. Haibach also went to the elementary and middle schools promoting Just Say No, Challenges and Decisions, and Intervention. He hoped to help decrease the up-rise of drugs both locally and nationally.

Madison High's Occupational Work Adjustment program was headed by Mr. Dave Sears. OWA helped students to move towards graduation. OWA was a strictly voluntary course for one year and was originally open to only sophomores. The goal of the program was to help students succeed academically, build confidence, and to make intelligent choices.

Mrs. Jessie Hughart was the advisor for Jobs for Ohio's Graduates. She helped to educate seniors on job search procedures.

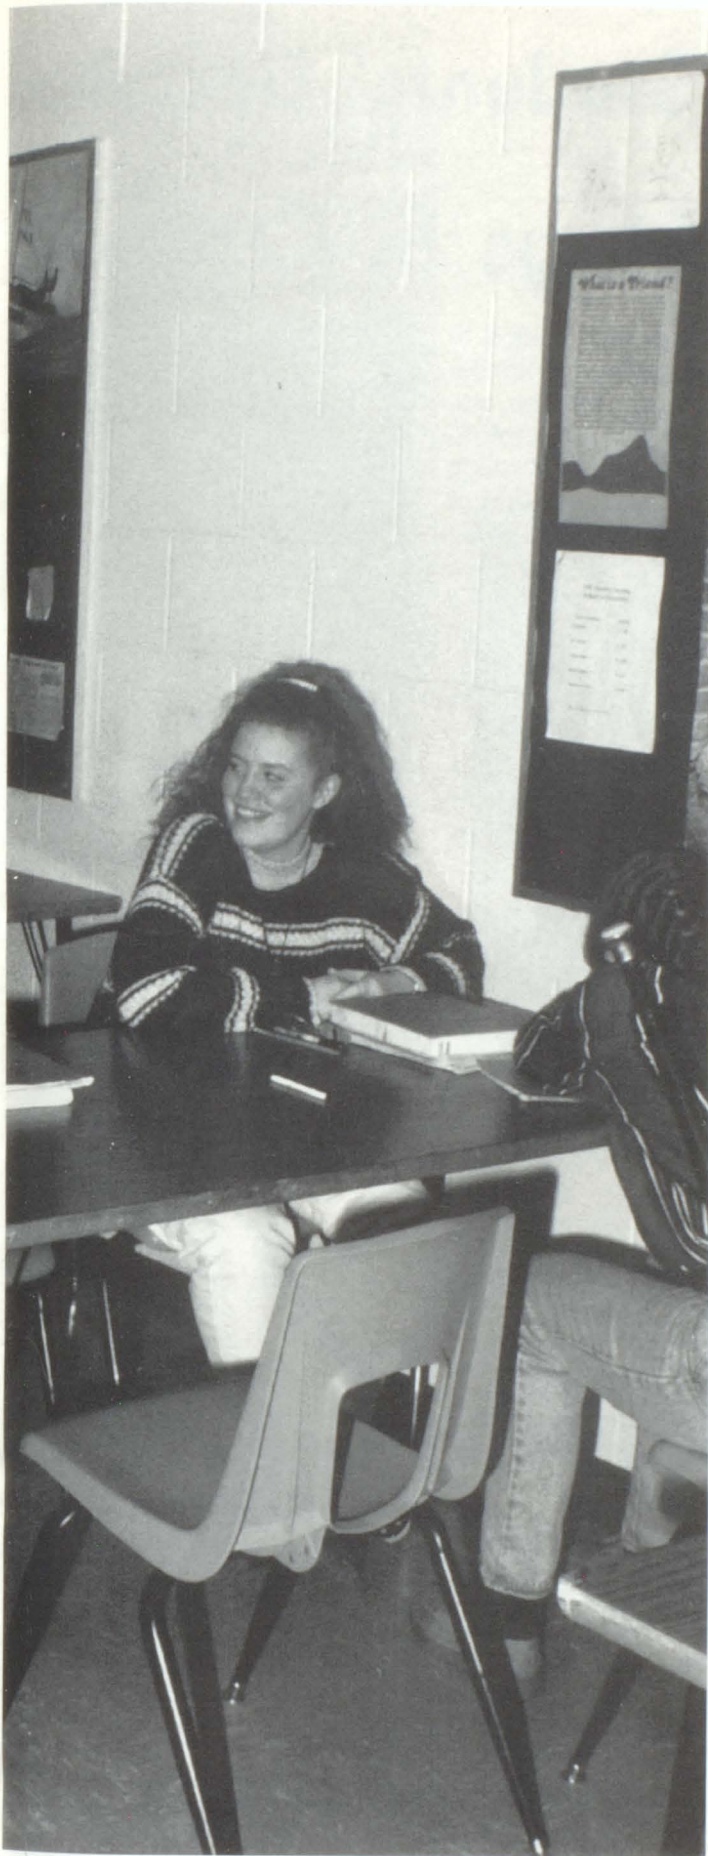

Mr. Sears takes time out from his work to pose for a picture.

Christine Pohl amuses herself during free time in OWA. Mr. Haibach is surprised by our camera. The librarians, Miss Carlson and Mrs. Leonard, stand with a smile, ready and willing to help a student find information. Jennifer Baltus, Phil Young, and Katie White are keeping busy in JOGS.

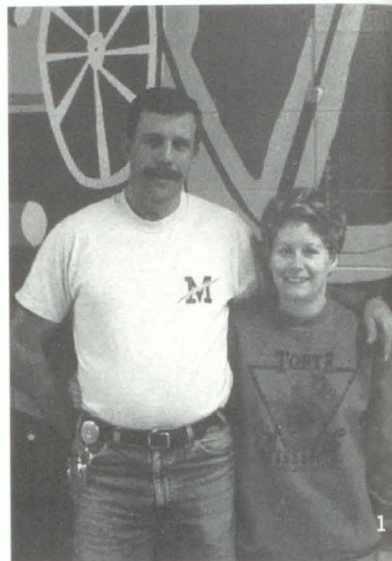

Staff Supports Students' Dreams

They Keep Things in Order

Many custodians and cooks have been here for many years. Each year, they have known what to expect: Dirty Halls, Dirty Bathrooms, Dirty Cafeterias, Hungry Teenagers, Building Repairs and Weather Changes, Yet they stayed on the ball and kept up with the fast-moving school year. They were seen in the halls, at school activities such as football games and school plays. They were also seen in the community. The custodians had a hurried year maintaining the cleanliness of the building along with the extra work in dealing with the new additions of the school. They also needed to make sure the classroom atmosphere was suitable for the students to learn and study comfortably. The cooks survived through the lunch period with hundreds of teenagers waiting in line for their lunches. After each lunch period, they felt relieved, yet they had a mess left that they needed to clean to make sure the following study hall had a clean area in which to study. Providing these necessities helped the students get through the day healthily and efficiently. All custodians and cooks helped the students have a good year.

Streaks Benefit from Another Season

This year's varsity football team finished the season with an eight and two record. Outstanding performances were turned out by senior Patrick Haywood and junior Joe Simcic. Other seniors opening the new Madison High School Blue Streak Memorial Stadium were Tony Boyd, Jason Collins, Seth Deering, John Hedges, Mike Hupertz, Dave Linville, Brad McDonald, Dustin Sample, Clint Starke, and Phil Young.

It was a difficult year for the streaks because of the constant ankle injuries, but the players all gave one hundred percent. Coach Art Bortnick felt the team had some set-backs during the season, but the team learned and improved from them. Since the J.V. team had an undefeated season, much talent is expected in the future. "I look forward to the challenges of next year's team," stated Coach Bortnick.

JV and Freshmen Football Teams...

End Season on a Great Note

The JV football team had an excellent year this year. Two new coaches were introduced this year. Coach Thomas Hernan and Coach Chip Sorber did an excellent job. They almost went undefeated, but they tied Harvey 0-0, and their record ended up being 8-0-1. Mr. Bortnick stated, "They had an excellent season." The freshmen started off kind of slowly introducing many inexperienced players. Eventually when they got used to playing with each other, they finished off their season quite well and ended on a good note. They won their last two out of three games and at their last game, they tied undefeated Riverside. A congratulations should go out for this great accomplishment. The two seasons ended up quite well and hopefully sets the seed for an even better year next year.

Varsity Dreams Come True

After coming off of a rebuilding season last year, the 1994 varsity volleyball team finished third in the NEC with a record of twelve wins and six losses. Coach Duke Dipofi led his team to many victories. With the help of his brother, Jim Dipofi, the girls polished many of their skills and learned different strategies. The Lady Bluestreaks also went on to take second place in the Madison Tournament. They finished with a close score and unfortunately left Chardon with the victory. With the team consisting of two seniors, six juniors, and two sophomores, experience and talent played a big part in their winning season. Senior Chrissy Ford gained the award of Second Team All NEC and Jaimie McIntyre, senior, was awarded First Team All NEC. Both girls played in the NEC/ESC and the Star Beacon Classic games. Tracy Febel, junior, received special mention. With all but the seniors returning, the varsity volleyball team looks at a bright future ahead of them. Coach Dipofi wishes to conclude his coaching at the close of next year's season. The girls hope to achieve better than third place in the NEC next year.

Serving Up Wins...

J.V. Improves Record

Dreaming of the future and varsity games, the 1994 Junior Varsity volleyball team played an outstanding season and improved their record to 14-4. Returning Lady Blue Streaks Mindy Bartlett, Rheta Rabe, Kim Ford, and Christina Rhodes added experience to the team, but the freshmen quickly caught on and contributed plenty of action themselves. Everyone involved enjoyed the exciting season. Kim Ford especially liked "winning against Riverside. Madison hadn't beat them in two years." "It was fun when we were winning all of our games," commented Mindy Bartlett. Volleyball is a very fast-paced game, and the J.V. team kept up well with their opponents. "You always have to be ready," stated Beth Woodworth. "You don't know what's coming." The coaches, Ms. Stephanie Kubec and Ms. Eileen Kilduff, prepared the team for their tough competitions, and everyone pulled through to make the challenging year a fun one.

Cheers Stir Up Spirit

One cup of enthusiasm, two teaspoons of excitement, and a pinch of cheerfulness. Shake it all up, add a dash of flair, and you've got the spirit of the Junior Varsity cheerleaders. They worked hard together all year to keep the fans on their feet — from the cheerleading camp over the summer, through the football season, and during the basketball season as well. Even though the squad had only five cheerleaders this year, everything went perfectly. "I enjoyed working together as a squad," said Ashley Rowe. "I made a lot of new friends." The J.V. football team helped them excite the crowd by doing well. The J.V. cheerleaders made the football field a thrilling place and kept the Blue Streak spirit alive.

Cheers Lift Team Spirit

The Varsity Football Cheerleading squad of 1994 pulled the Blue Streak fans through this year's emotionally-charged season. "It was a really fun year," said senior captain Meredith Dorr. "The squad had a lot of good experiences, and we worked really well together." Being the first Varsity squad to cheer in the Blue Streak Memorial Stadium only heightened the squad's never failing spirit and added a touch of historical excitement to each of their games. "It was so great to be a part of everything this year: The new stadium, the fans' spirit, everything was a million times better than I'd hoped," Said senior Aubrey Lunceford. It will never be denied that by proudly cheering for Madison High, The 1994 Varsity Football Cheerleading squad did an excellent job representing all those who ever had the honor of wearing the blue and white.

Majorettes March Onto New Field

.....5,6,7,8!! Those numbers were engraved in the minds of every Majorette by the time marching band season had finally come to an end. Starting back in June, the girls practiced vigorously to learn twirling routines and attended dance classes to master the fancy footwork required. Band camp was the final step that prepared the squad for the first game to be held in the brand new stadium. Not only was the season a great success, it was also a season of change. The group sported new uniforms to brighten the front line and expanded from eight girls to ten. Shawna Keringer commented, "It was a lot more fun with a bigger group but more work, too." Mr. Perez became the new head band director who incorporated tall flags into the pre-game show. Welcoming these new changes, the Madison Majorettes took the field repeatedly and showed the crowd their talents.

Undefeated Girls Run To Regionals . . . Again

"I think we had an outstanding season. We started with a bang and got better from there", Mr. Jim Pelich said about his second year back coaching. The girls' cross country team began their season with a win over the undefeated Edgewood team and ended it by advancing to regionals as a team for the second year in a row. Along the way, the girls picked up a second place at their own, "course of dreams" in their U-Wanna-Come-Back invitational. They finished undefeated and second in the league meet which left them as co-champions of the N.E.C. As junior Claire Gorka put it, "We had an awesome season. Defeating Edgewood was a great accomplishment. We achieved a lot of personal goals and next year we're going to rock!" The secret to success was having a pack of seven runners under twenty-two minutes. All seven runners were also ranked on N.E.C. teams. Senior Debbie Bangerter and Juniors Claire Gorka and Jessica Glasser all placed on the first team all N.E.C. Second team all N.E.C. qualifiers included Freshman, Tessa Watson, Junior Cherise Begalke, Sophomore Heidi Endebrock, and Freshman Andrea Shirer followed closely with a twenty-first place by Sophomore Liana Lang. Debbie ran the second fastest time ever in Madison. She and Claire qualified as individuals to regionals. Along with the tradition of winning, the girls also carry on the tradition of having a family-like team. Heidi Endebrock said, "One of the best parts of cross country is how close the team is." The 1994 season took last year's record one step further: With a young, talented team, expectations will remain high to improve even more for next year.

1. Senior Debbie Bangerter and Junior Claire Gorka head to the lead of the pack.
2. Freshman Andrea Shirer pushes for a personal record as she approaches the finish line.

New Coach Brings New Victories, New Dreams

After retiring in 1984, Mr. Don Strother decided to get back into action. He led the Boys' cross country team to regionals for the first time in twenty-one years. Coach Strother was amazed at how good the team did this year. "Wow, this was a really exciting season!" was how coach Strother summed up the team's eight and one season. Besides having a new coach, they also had a young team, but that didn't stop them. Along with their close to perfect record, they also surprised everyone with a first place at their U-Wanna-Come-Back Invitational for the second year in a row. The team took home a sixth place finish at the Boardman Invitational, beating their rivals, the Edgewood Warriors. They ended the season by placing fourth at districts, advancing them to regionals. "Mr. Strother was more than I expected as a coach in his first year back in ten years. The best race had to be districts, where we qualified for regionals for the first time in twenty one years", said Junior Matt Freiley. Senior Bill Kusar also qualified to regionals and state as an individual and was also honored to be on the first team All Lake County. Bill stated, "As the season progressed, I gained confidence in Mr. Strother and his coaching. Throughout the season, he told me he would take me to state and he did. I was glad to run with the team members I got to run with." Bill, along with Sophomore Michael Roy, placed in the first team all N.E.C. The second team qualifiers were sophomore Brad Alvord, Junior Chris Brant, and Matt Frieley. Matt Fabian as a Freshman also ran on the varsity team. Edgewood was the team to beat this year and it still is. As the young team progresses to faster times, next year they're guaranteed to come on even stronger.

Playing On New Field...

Girls Reach for Higher Goals

Anticipation filled the air. The Girls Varsity Soccer Team's excitement could not be contained as they prepared for their first game on the new soccer field, an addition to the new complex. The result, Madison recorded a victory over Perry High School 6-1. Plagued by injuries, the girls' soccer team experienced a rather disappointing season. Led by seniors Jessica Barski, Sonja Brainard, Jaime Buckholz, Jennifer Collins, Sue Evatz, Jennifer Hall, Chrissy Mills, and Natalie Moran, the team compiled a 3-8-2 record. Starting in July, the girls practiced on their own until mandatory conditioning and the season began. The Varsity team anticipated a great season according to 2nd Team Greater Cleveland Conference forward Jennifer Collins: "In the beginning, the team seemed to have a lot of potential, but then we died down." The team started with first year coach, Mrs. Maria Collins. Sophomore Becca Klimkowicz commented, "The team was better than last year because we learned more skills and worked better as a team." Although, the season resulted in few wins, the girls had fun.

Season Disappoints Soccer Players

The varsity boys' soccer team did well with a 4-5-5 record. It was a rough season for this year's team. Coach Tricia Mullen commented, "The boys did well, but they could have done much better. The talent was there but was not there." The eleven seniors on this year's team will definitely be missed in the coming years: Mike Ashton, Sean Carn, Jereme Darby, Steve Hart, Joe Hoover, Jason Meiers, Brad Stewart, Mike Woodworth, Raul Perez, and Jose Vazquez. Tom Frisbee commented on the season by saying, "I was pretty disappointed with the whole season because in the summer, we were much better, and we came into the season thinking we would become better, so we didn't live up to our own expectations." Even though many members of the team did not think they did well, they won their home opener in the new stadium. When senior Sean Carn was asked how he felt about the new Stadium, he replied by saying, "It's nice having our own field, but I think it was too early to be played on." They will always remember this season as a learning season, although many of them will also remember it as their last.

Record Reflects Hard Work

The Boys' and Girls' Junior Varsity teams worked hard all season to prepare themselves for the Varsity level. Mr. Chris Mullan, coach of the Girls' JV team and former coach of the Boys' JV team, led the team to a 6-4-1 record. The record reflects the hard work, and several of the girls who played agreed it was a rewarding season. Missy Flanagan commented, "We had a much better season than I expected, and the team worked well together." First year player Heather Lyons stated, "I enjoyed my first year and am looking forward to my second."

The Boys' JV team was coached by a newcomer, Mr. Ed Moran. Of the 12 games played, Mentor proved to be the most challenging; despite the difficulty with Mentor, the Boys finished with a record of 5-6-1. "The season was fine, but we could have done better," added Frank Gambol.

Finishing with good records and a taste of what it takes to become a varsity player, the teams will return with higher expectations.

Golfers Dream of Low Score

At the beginning of this school year, on the rolling greens of Erie Shores Golf Course, a group of young men tried their best to score low. Who were they? They were Madison High School's golf team. After losing six starting seniors from last year, this year the golf team had to begin rebuilding. The team was coached by North Madison Elementary's principal, Mr. A.J. Pierce. He felt that the team's finish, five wins and thirteen losses, could be credited to lack of experience. Despite this lack, two freshmen, Tim Noch and

Ryan Hoffman, both earned their first varsity letters for their gallant efforts. Earning a varsity letter is very tough. Just ask "fore" year varsity letterman, Bob Dame. Bob had a phenomenal personal season. Besides being the only returning letterer and the only senior, for the fourth straight year, he was selected for the NEC All-Star golf team. Bob will be missed, but as for the future of the golf team, Junior John Rothwell commented, "It'll be better next year . . . hopefully."

Remember me when I am gone away,
Gone far away into the silent land;
When you can no more hold me by the hand,
Nor I half turn to go, yet turning stay.
Remember me when no more, day by day,
You tell me of our future that you planned:
Only remember me; you understand
It will be late to counsel then or pray.
Yet if you should forget me for a while
And afterwards remember, do not grieve;
For if the darkness and corruption leave
A vestige of the thoughts that once I had,
Better by far you should forget and smile
Than that you should remember and be sad

Girls V. Basketball Dreams of State

"Being part of the basketball team is one of the most enjoyable experiences of my high school career", stated senior guard Beth Izzarelli. Beginning in late June, the girls' varsity basketball team began training for their winter season with open gyms and summer camps at Ohio State University and Perry High School. As the season started, the girls fine-tuned their skills and prepared for their season opener with power house Villa-Angela Saint Joseph. The team suffered a defeat, but used the experience to work on their early season weaknesses. Led by senior co-captains guard Ginny Auld, point guard Sonja Brainard, forward Sue Evatz, and Izzarelli, the defending Division II District champions fulfilled their dream of three-peating in the N.E.C. and currently hope to head down to the state championships. The keys to success of the Lady Streaks included: to have fun and work hard, to make a commitment to play the game, and to make the experience a life long memory. Head coach Kevin Snyder believed the team's strengths were, "A group of people who enjoy working together and have embraced the idea of playing as a team." The 17-1 Streaks' only loss came after a hard fought match with the Jefferson Falcons.

J.V./Fresh. Coast Through Season

Girls Anticipate Great Future

The junior varsity and freshmen girls' basketball teams prepared for their season by attending summer camps like Perry High School's. As the season began in November, the J.V. team shared the court with the varsity team for practices after school. As the season progressed, the 16-3 Lady Streaks coasted through their N.E.C. opponents playing each team twice. Sophomore guard Lisa McCloud believed, "We have a close knit team that cares a lot about each other." Some players accomplished their dream of sitting on the varsity bench and playing the closing minutes of most games. The freshman team, posting a reasonable 7-14 record, crushed teams such as Geneva, Ledgemont, and Chardon. The ninth grade girls trained at the Memorial Complex for an hour and a half each day, working on shooting, form, and a foul shot game in which if a shot is missed the player must run. The team consisted of twelve hard-working girls who, according to guard Andrea Shirer, "Look forward to the j.v. team and hope to play a lot." Currently, the freshman Streaks anticipated first place at the Ledgemont Tournament and hope to do well at the tough Eastlake Tourney.

Madison Streaks Live a Dream

On Tuesdays and Fridays during the 1995 basketball season, eleven talented men prepared themselves for thirty-two minutes of night "court. . ." the honorable head coach Steve Baldwin presiding, for the second year.

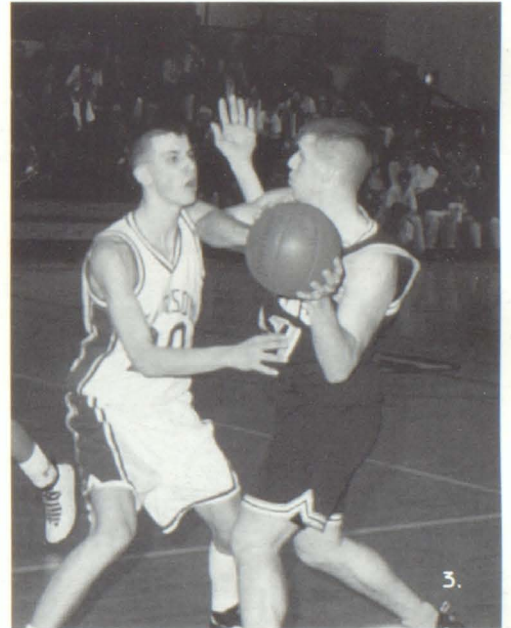

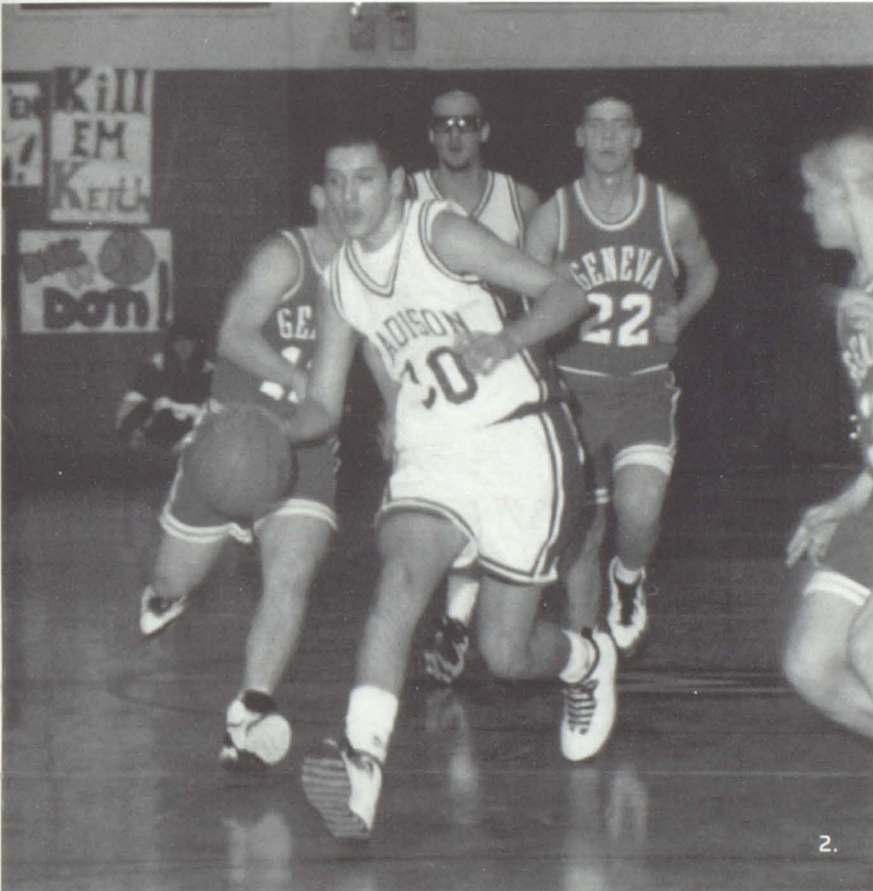

This year's varsity squad managed to pull off one of their finest finishes in over a decade. Their record, an outstanding 13-7, was enough for them to have tied for third in conference play.

It was agreed upon by the players that the secret to their success was team work. Junior Brad Hallam commented that he noticed "A lot of improvement from the beginning of the year." Near the end, they had all "come together more as a team and were playing to full potential." Travis Lindahl also added that he was "Happy with the success that they had and hoped to have established a winning tradition."

The team always provided dazzling plays and exciting games for those fans who were interested enough to show up. Lack of support from the crowd was a disappointment to the winning Streaks, but they still played their hardest.

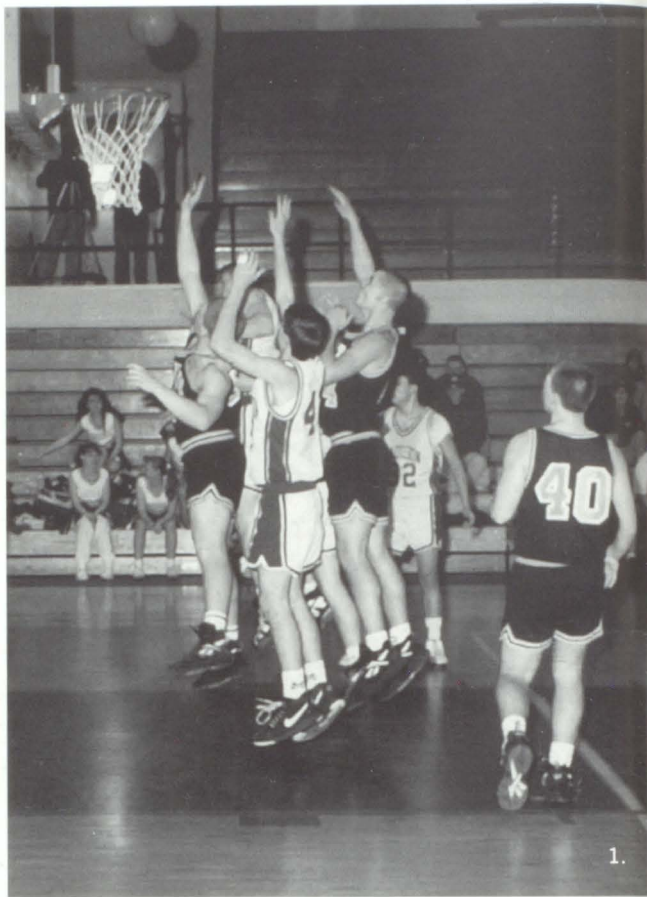

In a home game against Geneva, senior Scott Sidoti clinched a major highlight in his season with a monster dunk. He was able to perform this great crowd pleaser two other times: once, against Ashtabula Harbor and again against Conneaut.

1. Senior Joe Dose does his best to box out.
2. Driving the lane, junior Rich Desanglau leads the way.
3. On defense, junior Brad Hallam keeps Conneaut from in-bounding.

J.V./Freshman Basketball Aims High Determination Leads to Promising Future

"Our team is improving every year and the future is looking bright," commented Jordan Kelsey about his J.V. teammates. The eleven dedicated players took to the court back in October where they began the open gyms that prepared them for the upcoming season. Throughout the season, they attended grueling practices where they ran a ladder exercise called the "Bluestreak" and also drilled through their many plays. That hard work paid off, leaving the team with an impressive 12-3 record as of printing time. Simply playing to win wasn't the main objective, though. It was a year of preparation. As Mr. Bob Peterlin stated, "This year I tried to get them ready to play at the varsity level and help them work on their fundamental skills." Not to be forgotten were the impressive and determined freshmen. They too attended tough practices to accomplish their goals. Nick Swartzlander felt, "Practices were hard but fun." Head coach Mr. Ted Wagner felt the team's greatest strengths were their intelligence and athletic ability. That same strength led them to a 9-9 record at printing time and the defeat of one of their toughest competitors, J.R.W. Mr. Wagner's hopes remain high in stating, "With two successful freshman classes in a row, the future looks promising." Both of these teams had a successful season.

Cheerleaders Lead in Spirit

The varsity and JV cheerleaders worked hard all season to give the basketball players a spirited edge. Unable to attend a camp over the summer, the cheerleaders hosted their own and invited girls from a nationwide cheerleading company. The teams would continue to work after school on new cheers and chants and practicing the old ones. Remember those half-time dances? The squads are proud to say that they designed those routines. The varsity captain was senior Jaimie McIntyre, while the JV was headed by sophomore Emily Spies. Varsity cheerleader Beth Swank commented on the different attitude between football and basketball fans: "The basketball crowd needs to learn how to cheer." The squad enjoyed cheering and helping the basketball teams to victory.

J.V., Freshmen Matmen Excel

The Junior Varsity and Freshman wrestling teams had an excellent season and went very far. There were many hard workers on the team which helped them all to succeed. With so many younger wrestlers getting this experience, hopefully they can take the place of all the varsity seniors who will be greatly missed.

1. Walt Krause pops out of his opponent's strangling grip.
2. Rick Allen slams his foe to the mat.
3. With all his might, Ken Young goes for the pin.

2. A bad call by the referee puzzles Dave Saarela.
3. Pete Igyarto sprawls away from his opponent for a win.

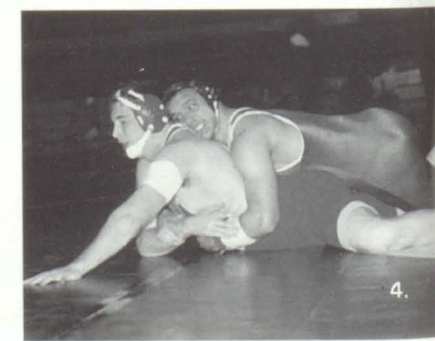

Second Year NEC Champions Advance to Sectionals

Madison students always know who the wrestlers are. They're the guys that are always running and trying to sweat off the pounds, the ones that never eat lunch for fear they will be tempted to eat too much. All of their hard work definitely paid off because they won the NEC title for the second year in a row. The wrestlers went undefeated with a 9-0 record. Bill Connett and Seth Deering were two-time champions while Tom Connett and John Hedges had their first wins. The team also traveled to Southern Florida for a tournament in which they took first place. They also enjoyed a little fun in the sun. During the Dublin tournament in Columbus, the team took a third place win. They had an excellent season, and it has only just begun. They moved on to sectionals and hopefully they will go even farther.

Splashing to New Records

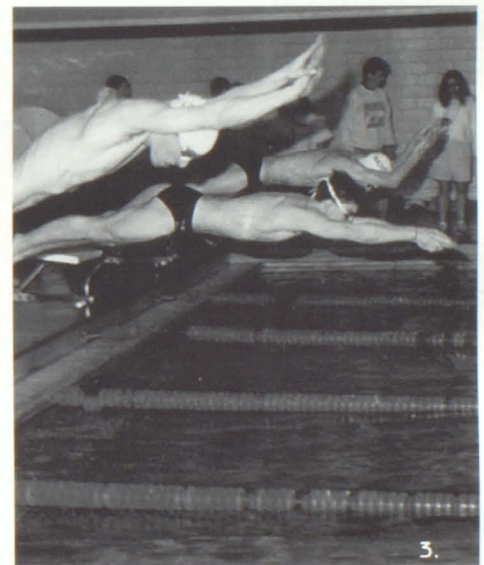

Six days a week, Madison swimmers worked hard under the direction of coaches Cal Elder and Tricia Mullan, and all saw a very successful season. Members of the boys' team destroyed a long-standing school record in the 200 Medley Relay, giving all members a sense of accomplishment. All 35 of the swim team members, including captains Michele Henn, Laura McKibben, Sean Endebrock, and Steve Hart, were proud of the girls' 6-7 season and the boys' 6-7 season.

The season meant many new things for the team. Not only were there many more parties to go to and late-night movies to see, there were many more goals to set and hopefully accomplish. However, there were tough practices to get through and conditioning that seemed endless. The team proved that if you set your mind to something, you can do anything.

Seniors Remain Cream of the Crop

Spirit week '95 began with a slow start at the beginning of the week. The first day of the week was for hall decorations to go up. The only class to have anything up during the day was the Class of '98 with "fairy tales". The sophomores filled their hall with "abstract stuff", while the juniors and seniors had to work with "space" and "world". The second day of the week went to class dress-up day. Each class participated well, but the Class of '95 dominated that. The next day was blue and white day and the "Which class has the most spirit" assembly. Each class had one chance to yell the victory cheer. Also, the teachers had to judge on what hall was number one. On the last day of the week, the Mini Olympics took place. Coming into the assembly, the Class of '95 had dominated all the week's earlier events. Each class had twenty students participating, and they were all out to vanquish the seniors. However, even after losing every mini olympic event, the seniors still managed to win spirit week, keeping their four-year winning streak intact. Every one, including Key club and their new advisor Ms. Kelly Chaffee did a terrific job in making spirit week unforgettable for all classes.

Exchange Students Become Americanized

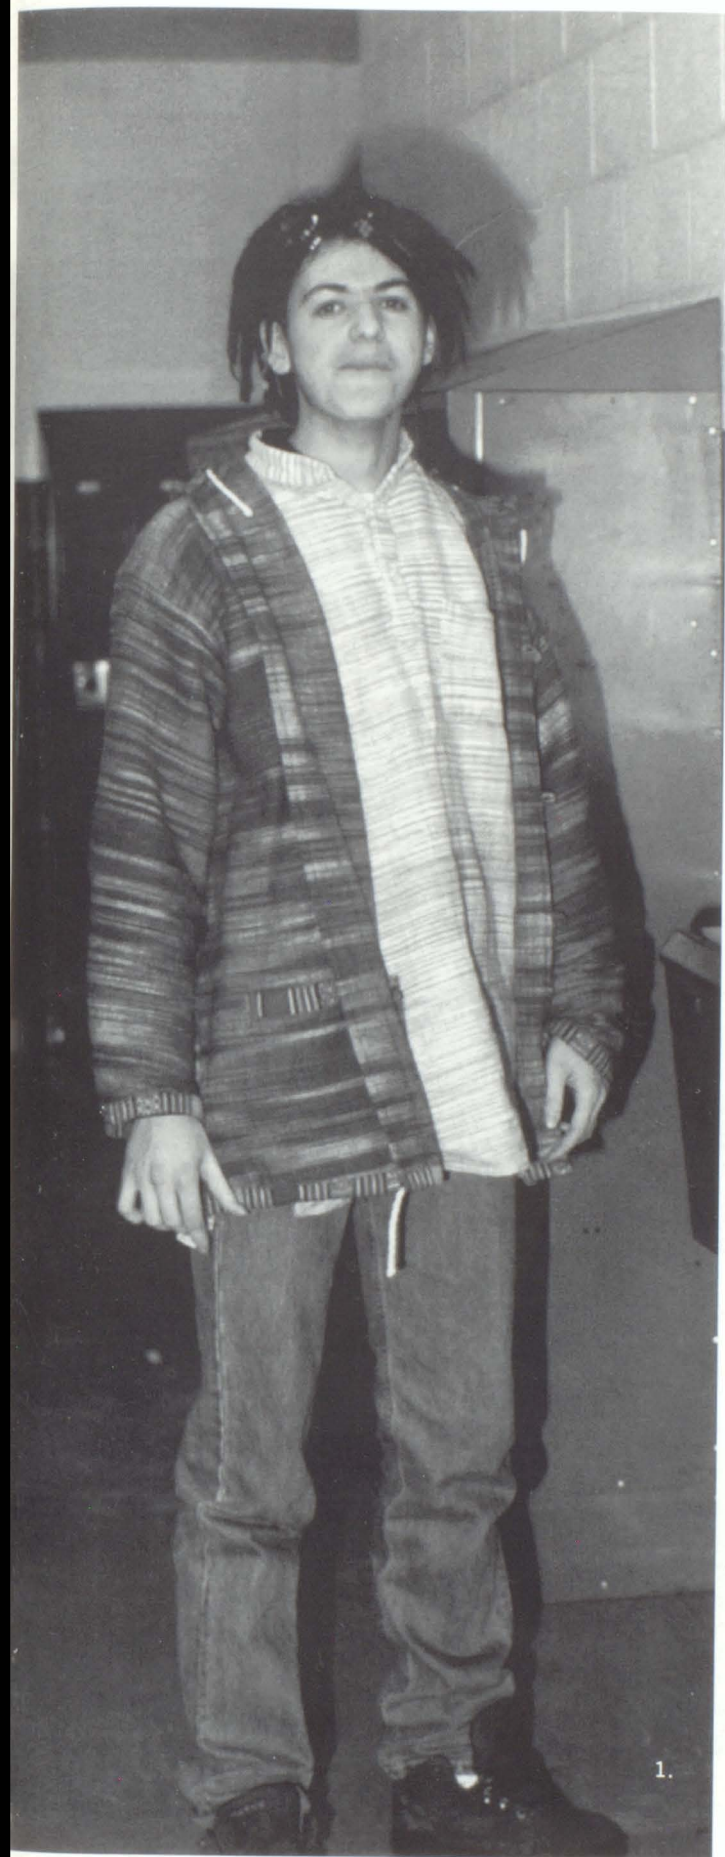

Gutentag! . . . Bonjour! . . . Hola! . . . This is what the nine exchange students said when they traveled over to the U.S. looking for new experiences here at Madison High School. Along with new experiences, they also came to learn more about the American way of life and to gain more knowledge on the language. They're still working on their slang, but after three months, they have a pretty good grip on the language. Other things that encouraged the students to come to America were watching movies about our country and talking to relatives that live here. A few of the students got the opportunity to be in an exchange organization and others just paid for it themselves. Their feelings about their first day here varied from exciting to sad, but after they got adjusted, they found that they enjoy their life here. They especially enjoy their host families. Some of the things these students enjoy the most so far are the concerts, school sports, and visiting places like colleges. A few of the students were asked what was different in the U.S. than their country, and some responses were the following: Hanz Zoblich?, "School in Germany is more fun." Jose Vazquez, "The weather is colder here." Micheal Roy, "School in France is like college." Manush Kamar, "The law is stricter here." It's hard for some to be away from their family and friends, but they're hving a good time while they're away. As Jose Vazquez stated, "The most interesting thing that's happened since I've been here is my U.S.A. dog had puppies."

Clubs Reach For Dreams

The events of today's problems are discussed and debated among the members of model U.N. The Model U.N. works on the same problems as those of the real U.N., only in a simplified form, and members do not really represent countries. Members choose which countries they want to represent and learn about that country's problems. They compete with other groups of this type. A few competitions included were in Niagara at Brock University. Two awards were given to Madison students. One was given to Jaime Oliverio and the other to John Link. The Model U.N. as usual traveled to

New York City, and they also competed in the YSU and Kent State Conferences. The Model U.N. worked on many different activities and did well at them.

The Key Club was responsible for a lot of volunteer projects this year, such as the Madison Education Foundation auction, bloodmobile, and Spirit Week. Many members contributed outside school with community Halloween parties, haunted houses, soup kitchens, and the Kiwanis annual Pancake Breakfast. In May, the group joined with the March of Dimes and the Crop Walk.

Boys/Girls State A Political Success

When other students were relaxing on the beach during the summer, six hard-working Madison seniors became the fifty-first state in the union at Boys and Girls State. "With the hands-on approach used to teach us, it was very easy to learn and understand the basic policies of our government" said Brad McDonald, one of four MHS gentlemen chosen to attend Boys State. He, along with Joe Hoover, Jeremy Pawelkiewicz and Mark Titler spent eight days intensively studying the formal procedures of state governments. Melissa Gambol and Laura Mckibben, the two ladies Chosen for Girls State, both agree that the political training received in the eight day session contributed greatly to their love of politics. A highlight of the girls' stay at State was a visit from Governor Voinovich. "It was an excellent learning experience" said Melissa Gambol when asked to comment on her time at Girls State. "The things that I've learned there have already found an active place in my life."

Student Aides Discover New Fields

Helping others, student aides have become a necessity in running the school. While running errands, the students still manage to stay on task instead of chatting with friends and roaming the halls. Almost always busy, students have to put their homework aside and drop everything to do a variety of jobs. Although they are almost never acknowledged, they still continue to answer phones, run errands, help teachers, and help other students. These students deserve a round of applause.

Keepin' Busy...

S.A.D.D., Student Council Discover New Ideas

S.A.D.D. and Student Council are two of the busiest organizations in Madison. This year, S.A.D.D. and Student council participated in many activities. In December, the advisory board of S.A.D.D. and some student council members were DARE role models. They spent the day at Madison Middle School and talked to the sixth graders about the importance of avoiding drugs. Later in January, they attended the DARE graduation to honor the sixth graders for their achievement.

While student council picked themes for everyone's favorite week of school, Spirit Week, and thought of ideas for exchanging students with various schools, S.A.D.D. sponsored dances, attended a Cavs game, passed out stickers and ribbons to the different Madison elementary schools, and attended the S.A.D.D. auto-show at the IX center.

One four-year S.A.D.D member, senior Elizabeth Booth, commented, "This year has been very educational. The best part of S.A.D.D. this year was going to the Cavs game, even though they lost..and going out to lunch.

T.I., A.V. Fulfill Dreams... Group Works Hard to Support Madison High

T.I. and A.V. members have worked hard this year to support Madison High. Teen Institute sold carnations for Valentine's Day and sponsored dances for their fun-raisers. Advisors for Teen Institute were Mr. Frank Haiback and Miss Nancy Rihaly.

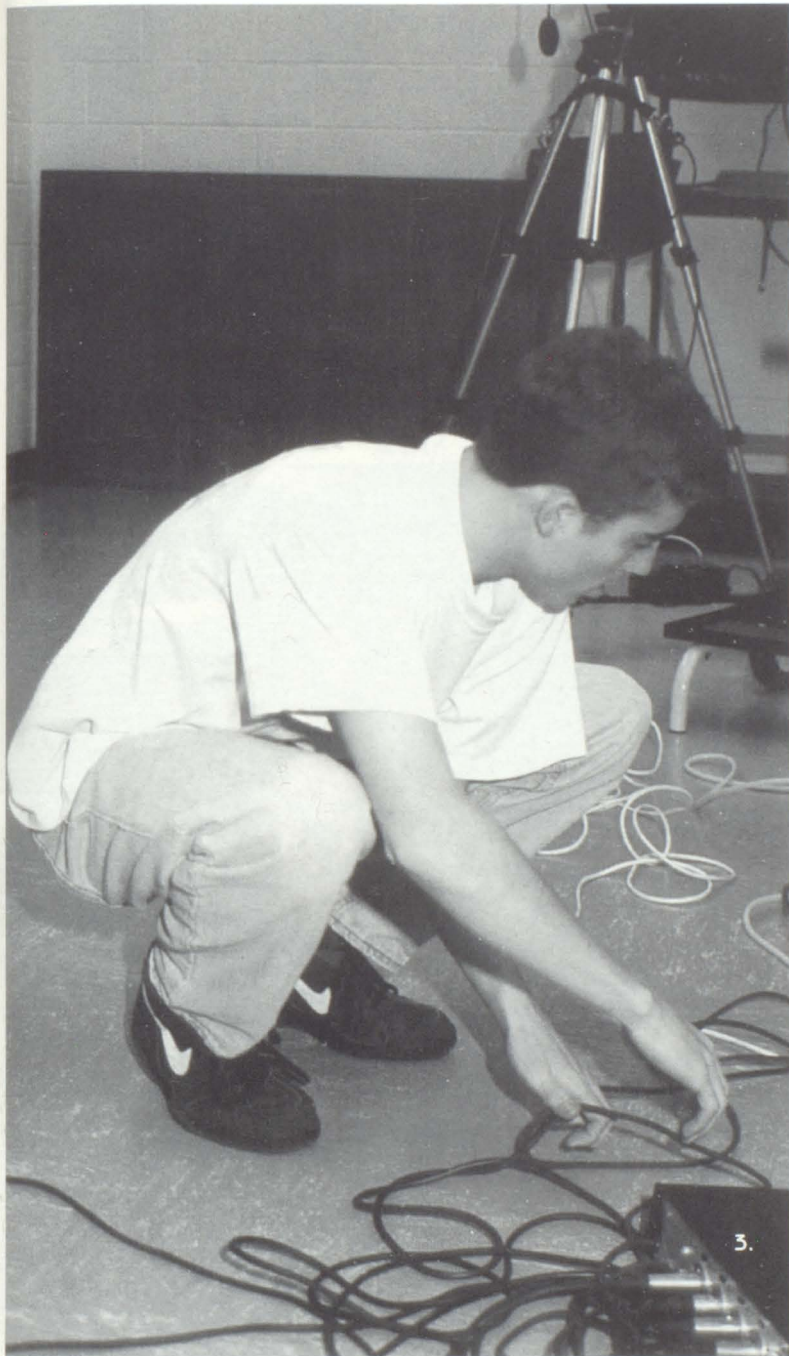

Executive producers Jason Ensell, Matt Hill, and Mike Crowell worked hard together to keep things running smoothly in A.V. Mr. Robert Richmond watched over the twenty-five students involved with A.V. Students worked hard to keep the TV station running and taped events for programs. In school, A.V. students made sure teachers got all of the media-related supplies that were needed. A 2.5 GPA was required of the students who took part in A.V and each student earned one credit towards graduation for their work.

In addition to the broadcasts of sporting events and Board of Education meetings, students started a new tradition in the A. V. department. Students began creating their own shows to be aired on channel 23. The most popular new show was "Sports Talk," created by senior, Jason Ensell. Jason spent about 25 hours a week putting together a new show to be aired each week.

O. J. Simpson always lived life on camera, first as a football star, then as a sportscaster, commercial pitchman and actor. But nothing could have prepared him, or his fans, for the role he would play in 1994. It was his arrest that proved unforgettable. Simpson had a friend drive him on a rambling jaunt along southern California's freeways. The police followed behind at a discrete distance, heeding a warning from Simpson's driver that O.J. had a gun. Finally, the Bronco returned to Simpson's west Los Angeles house, where he surrendered after nightfall. So began what many called the most famous murder case in American history.

CONGRATULATIONS, Seniors

Robert M. Potti — David C. Potti — Lisa M. Patterson

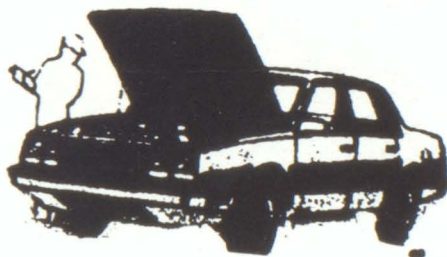

A jet-propelled astronaut unhooked his lifelines to the Space Shuttle Discovery and flew free, 150 miles above Earth. It was the first untethered spacewalk in 10 years. Mark Lee (astronaut in photo) was followed by fellow astronaut Carl Meade. They had but one jet pack between them — it cost $7 million, after all — and had to take turns. "This thing works like a champ," Lee said as he hovered over Discovery's cargo Bay, firing the pack's 24 tiny nitrogen gas jets for propulsion and steering with a joystick. In the trickiest exercise of the seven-hour spacewalk, each astronaut propelled himself along the length of the shuttle arm, which was bent at an angle. Then they scooted from the shoulder to the elbow, around the bend, up to the end, and then back down again — all without using their hands. The jet pack was designed to be a life preserver for space station crews of the future. It weighs just 83 pounds on Earth but — like everything else — nothing in space. Before Lee and Meade, only six astronauts had walked in space without a lifeline to the mother ship.

The 1994 baseball season ended not with a home run or a strikeout, but with a conference call and a fax. On the 34th day of the major league players' strike, the team owners cancelled the rest of the season, including the playoffs and the World Series. "This is a sad day," said acting commissioner Bud Selig in a fax distributed to the news media. He got no argument. Not from Tony Gwynn of the San Diego Padres, who lost his chance to bat .400. Not from Matt Williams of the San Francisco Giants, who lost his shot at Roger Maris's home run record. Not from superstars Barry Bonds and Ken Griffey Jr., who lost more salary in a day than most Americans earn in a year. And certainly not from fans, who suffered through a fall without a World Series for the first time since 1904. The season floundered on the owner's insistence on player salaries. The players refused to go along, went on strike, and in a little more than a month the season was history.

Civil war continued to rack Bosnia-Herzegovina in 1994, despite the efforts of a United Nations peacekeeping force.

The conflict began in 1992 when Bosnia's Serbian minority rebelled against a decision by Yugoslavia's Muslims and Croats to secede. Bosnian Serbs had to contend with NATO air strikes. Also, United Nations sanctions and diplomacy appeared to put some distance between the Bosnian Serbs, who rejected an international peace plan and their allies in Serbian Yugoslavia.

In October, the U.N. lifted some of the sanctions imposed on Yugoslavia. But U.S. Defense Secretary William Perry asserted that the Bosnian Serbs were still getting war supplies from their fellows across the border.

A deaf woman from Alabama became the first contestant with a disability to win the Miss America Pageant. The 68th Miss America was 21-year-old Heather Whitestone. After receiving the crown, she signed "I love you" amidst thunderous applause from the audience at the Atlantic City Convention Center. Her slogan in the competition was "Youth Motivation: Anything is Possible." She was proof enough of that, having lost most of her hearing when she was 18 months old. Whitestone became Miss America in part through her talent routine, a two-and-a-half minute ballet performed to music that she couldn't hear. Instead, she counted the beats in her head and synchronized her dance steps to reflect the changes in pitch. Whitestone said that she didn't think it would be hard for a deaf woman to be Miss America. "I think I'll do it just fine," said the Birmingham native who reads lips but used an interpreter at a news conference after her victory. "I mean, look at us, we're doing just fine."

They headed north on almost anything that would float, including rafts made of the flimsiest materials: oil drums, inner tubes, wooden planks. They were Cuba's boat people — tens of thousands of people desperate to come to the United States to escape the poverty and hunger of their increasingly isolated Island Communist nation. Many did not make it because of storms, sinkings or the U.S. Coast Guard, which intercepted more than 1,000 of the craft in one day in early September. But the flood of migrants receded shortly thereafter. Reversing a 28-year-old policy of not granting Cubans asylum, the United States agreed to admit at least 20,000 a year. In return, Cuban leader Fidel Castro promised to halt the flight of boat people. Police gave rafters a few days to get their crafts off Havana's beaches and made sure no new ones were drawn up.

Spring Brings New Dreams

“Now fades the last long streak of snow,
Now burgeons every maze of quick
About the flowering
squares, and thick
By ashen roots the
violets blow.”

Alfred, Lord Tennyson

Scholars Make the Grade

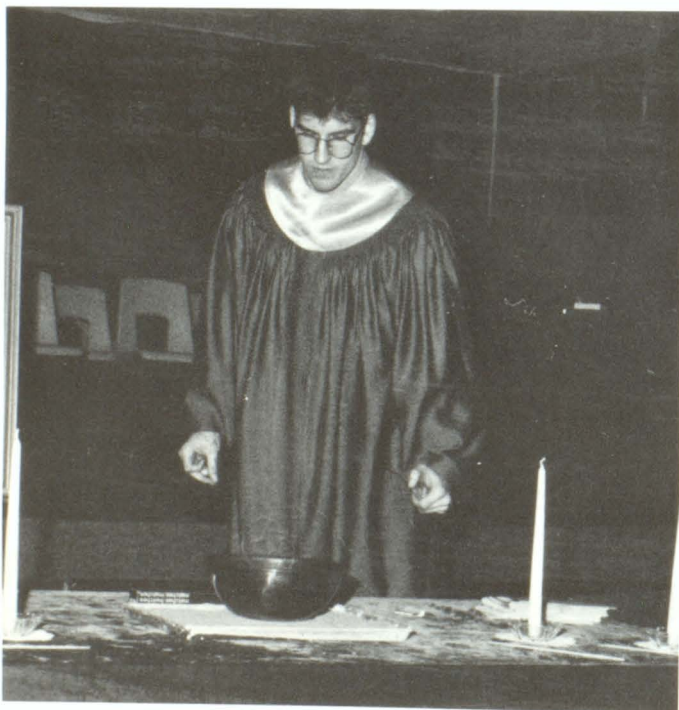

“The mode by which the inevitable comes to pass is effort.” Oliver Wendell Holmes

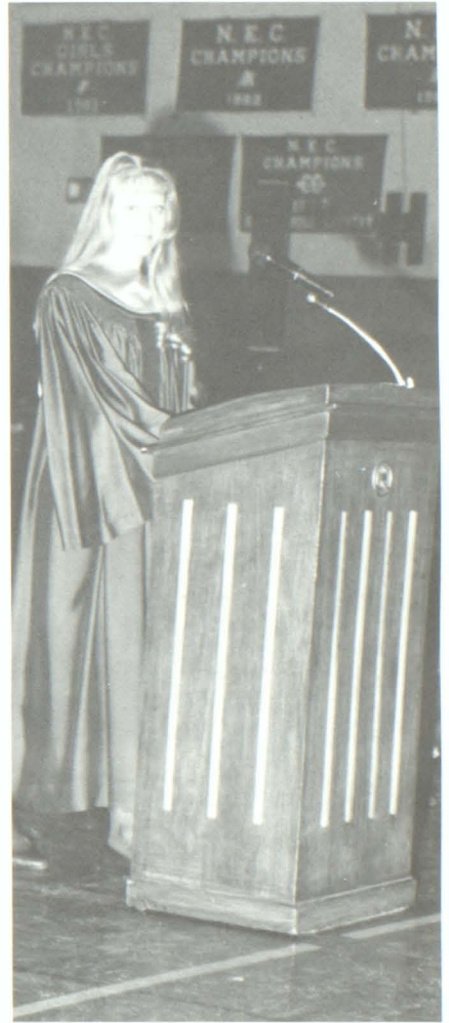

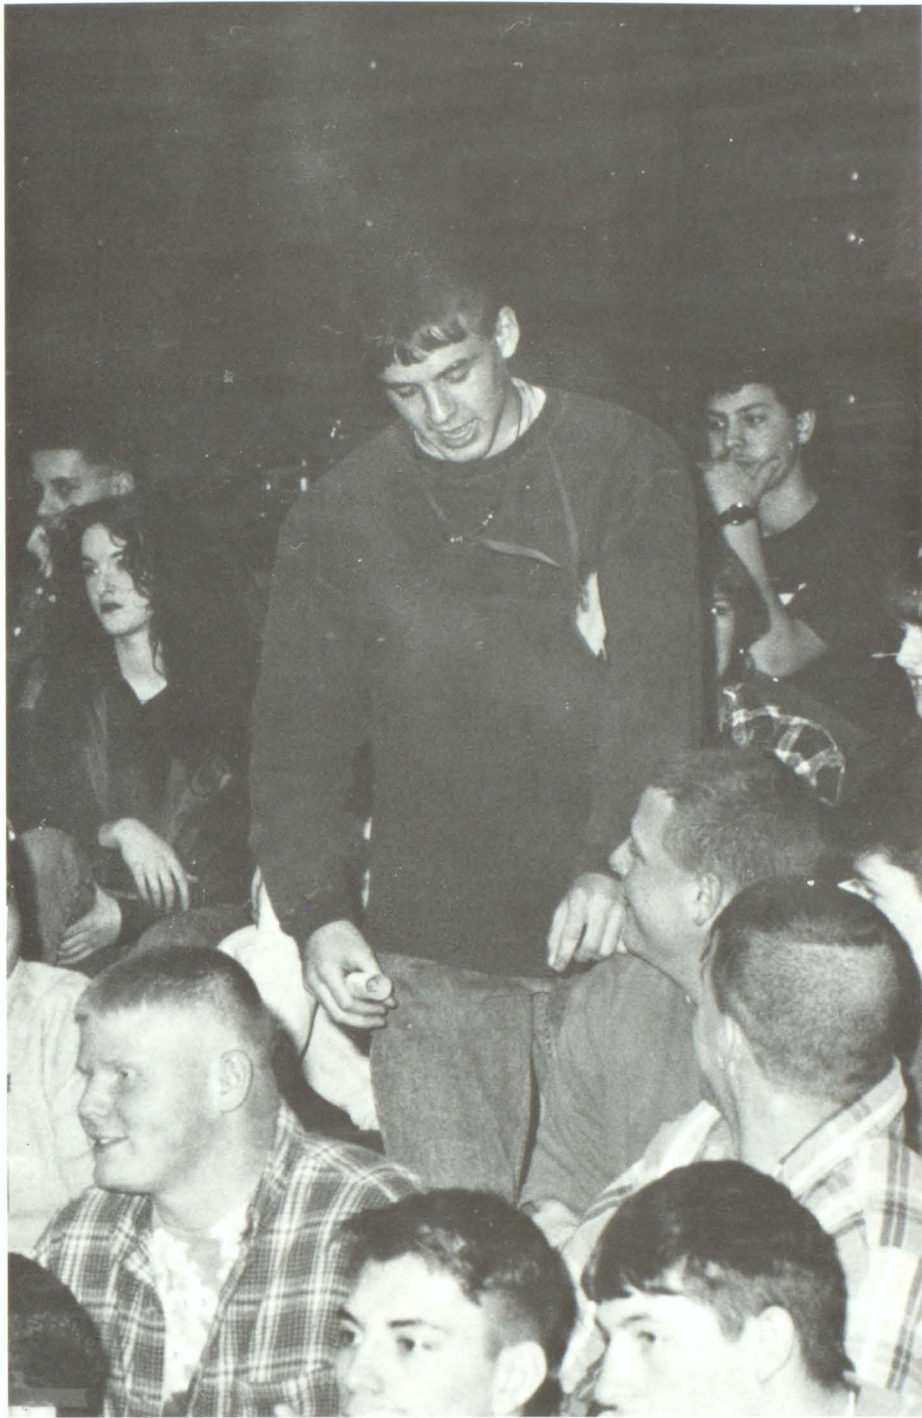

Honor Society Adds New Members

“The shortest and surest way to live with honor in the world is to be in reality what we would appear to be; and if we observe, we shall find that all human virtues increase and strengthen themselves by the practice and experience of them.”
Socrates

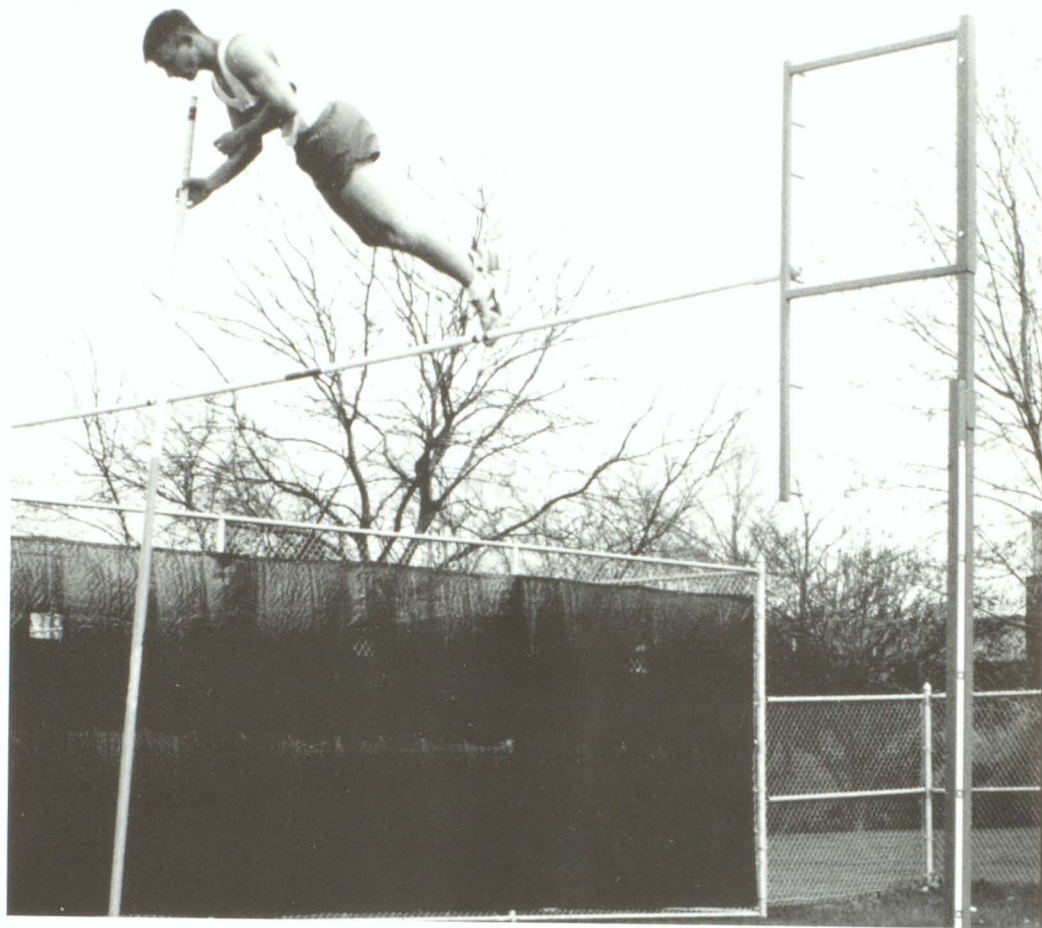

Girls' Track Makes it to Regionals

"Competition is the very life of science." Horace Meyer Kallen

Boys' Track Races to Finish

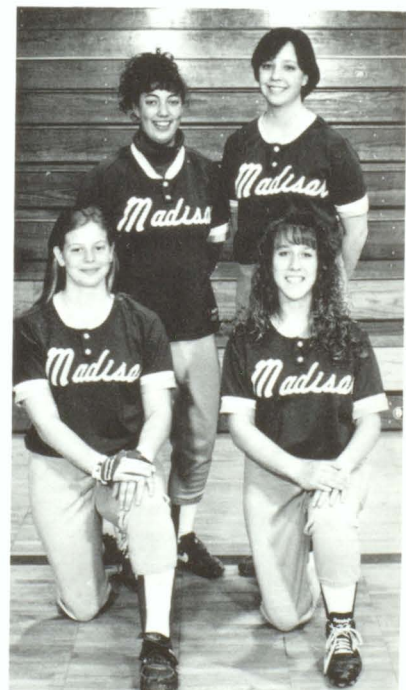

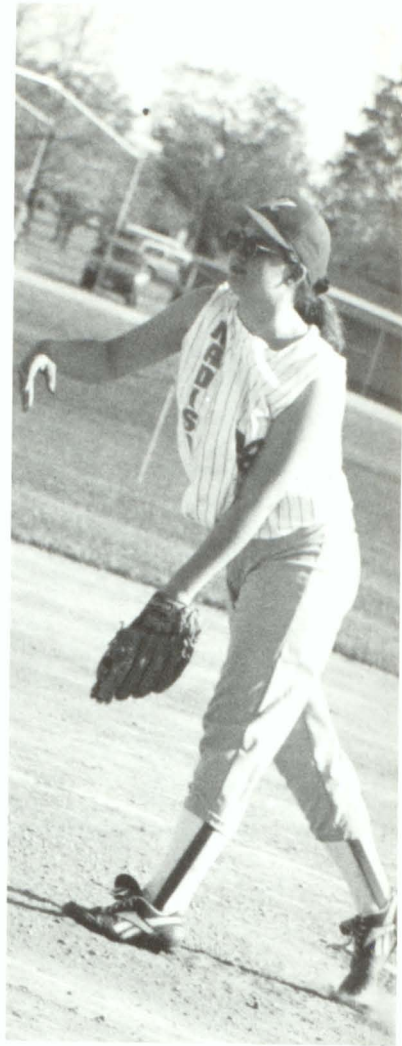

"I find the great thing in this world is not so much where we stand as in what direction we are moving." Oliver Wendall Holmes

V. Softball Reaches for Dreams

Good ballplayer,
long striding, lean and supple,
at ease, mutely remote from greatness
until a single swing, the home run plucked from children's dreams,
stopped time.

After that, still the good ballplayer,
still youthful,
she found each swing, each game,
each wild, reverberating cheer
was anticlimax. Esquire

J.V. Ball Players Strive to Break Records

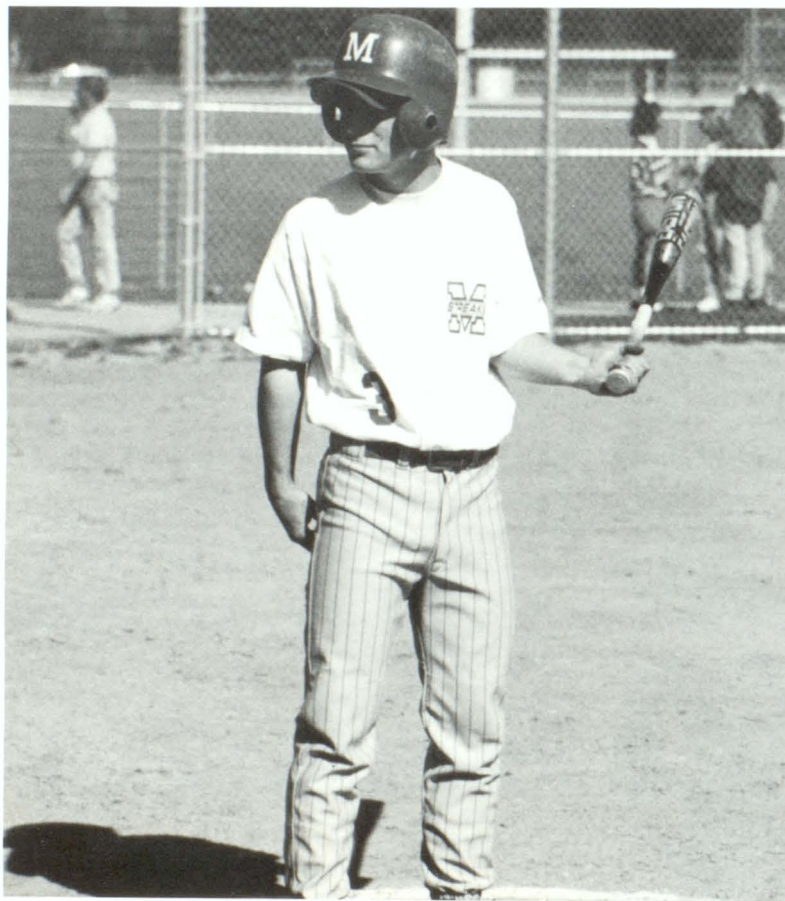

“He was thrown out trying to steal second; his head was full of larceny but his feet were honest.” Bugs Baer

V. Baseball Pitches in to Reach Dreams

“A ball player’s got to be kept hungry to become a big-leaguer. That’s why no boy from a rich family ever made the big leagues.”
Joe DiMaggio

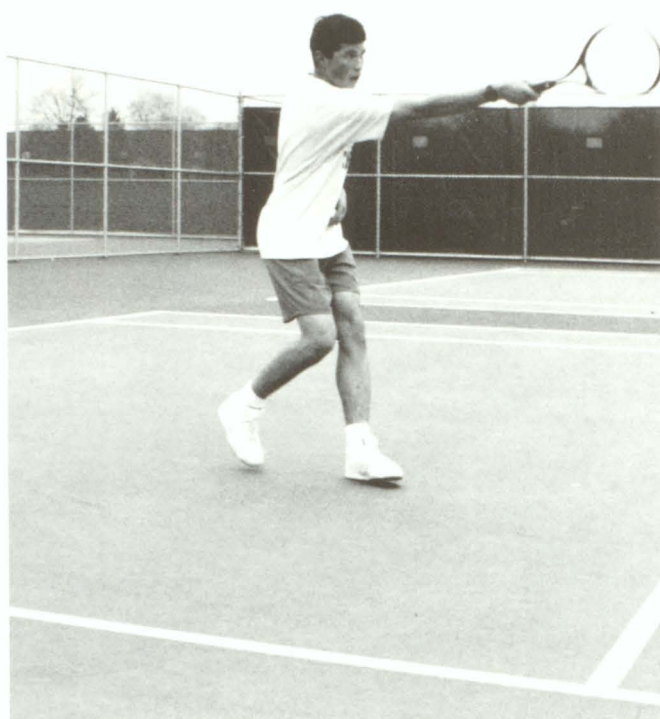

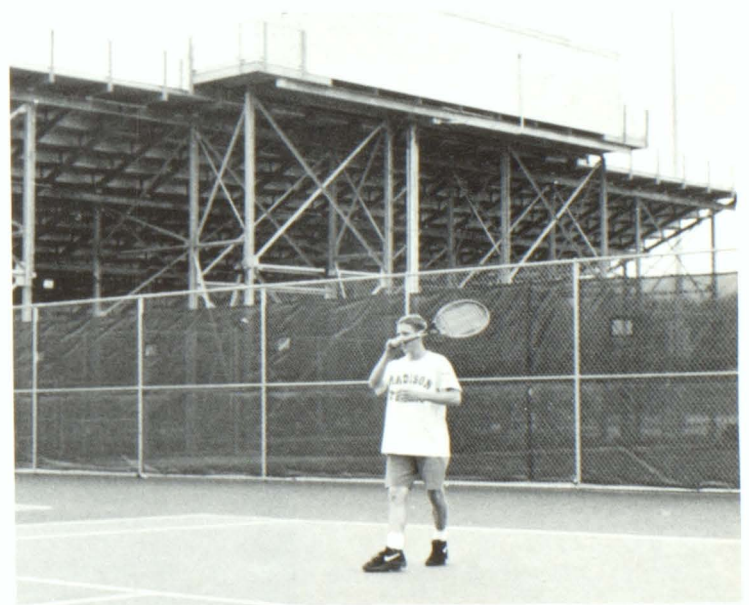

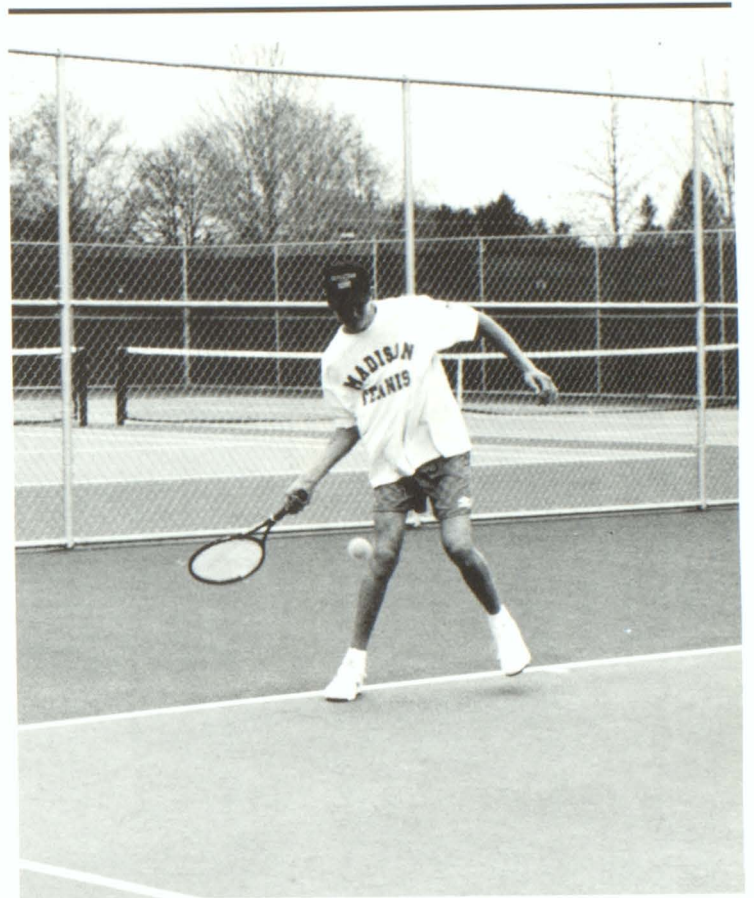

Tennis Shows Competitive Spirit

“There is a need to feel our bodies have a skill and energy of their own, apart from the man-made machines they may drive. There is the desire to find in sport a companionship with kindred people. I have found all these.”

R o g e r
Bannister

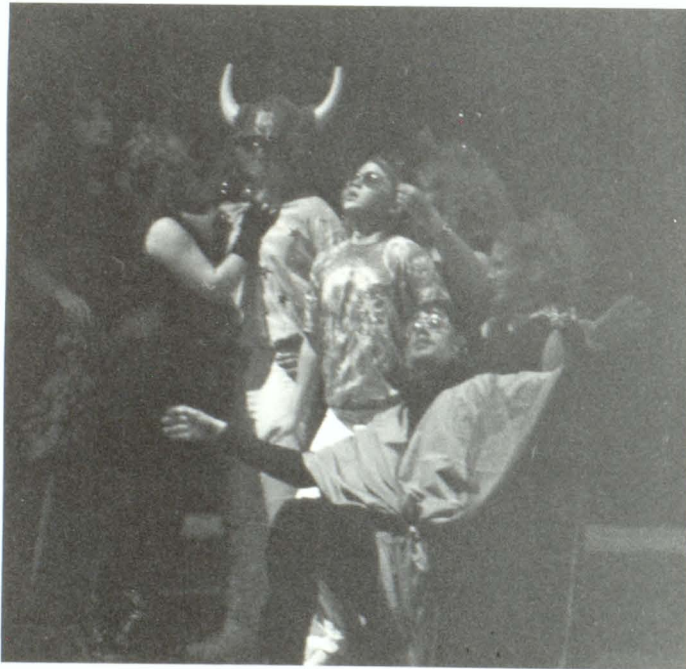

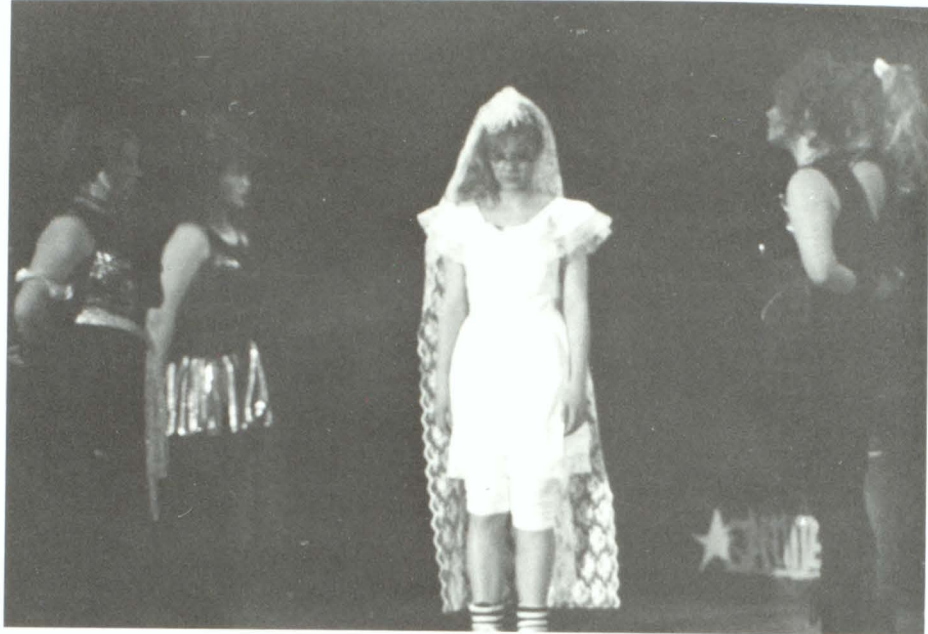

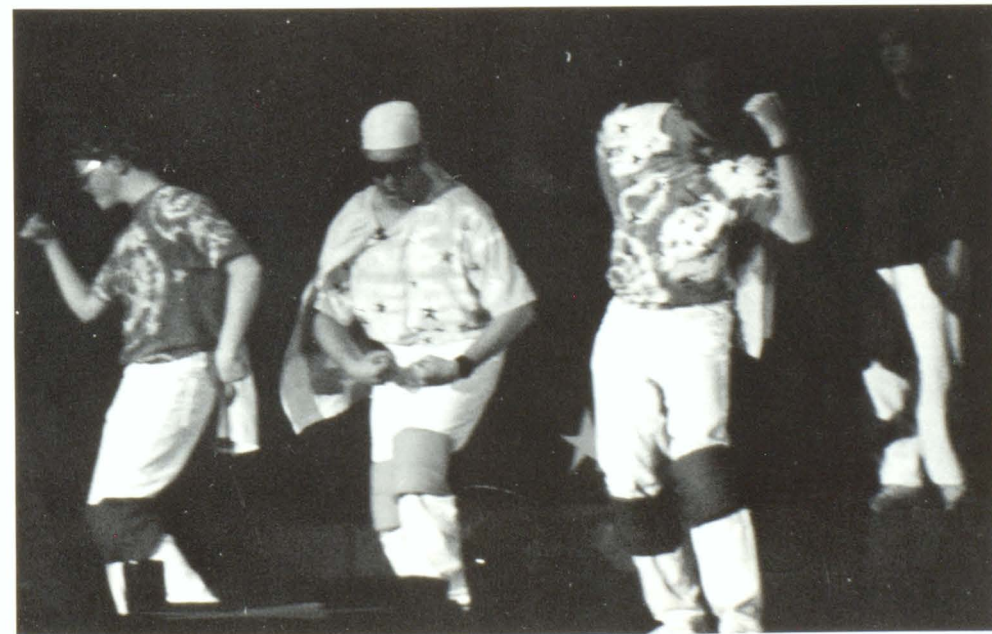

The Play's The Thing

"If it be true
that 'good wine needs no
bush,' 'tis true
that a good play needs no
epilogue."

William
Shakespeare

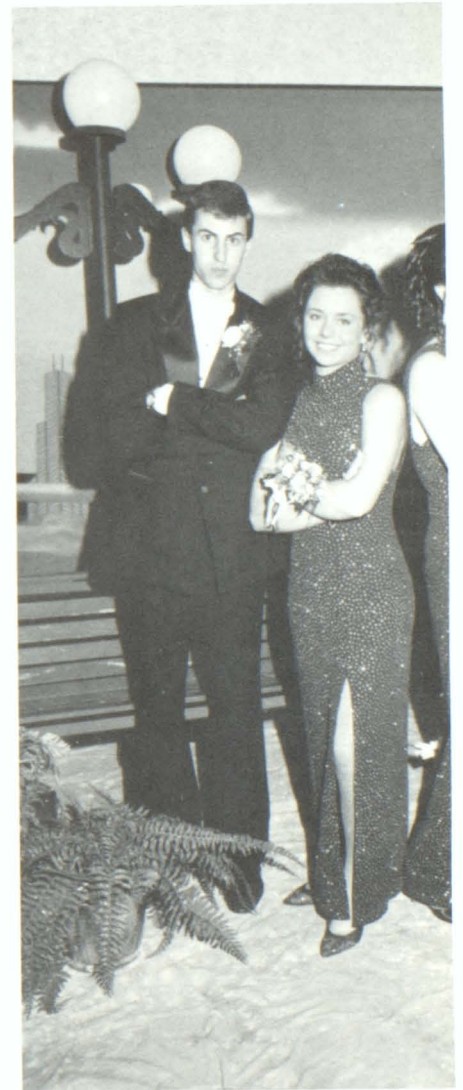

Prom-Goers Delight in Evening

"Music, of all the liberal arts, has the greatest influence over the passions and is that to which the legislator ought to give the greatest encouragement." Napoleon Bonaparte

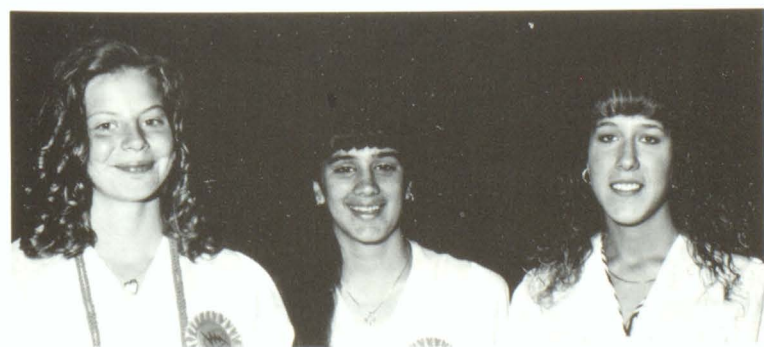

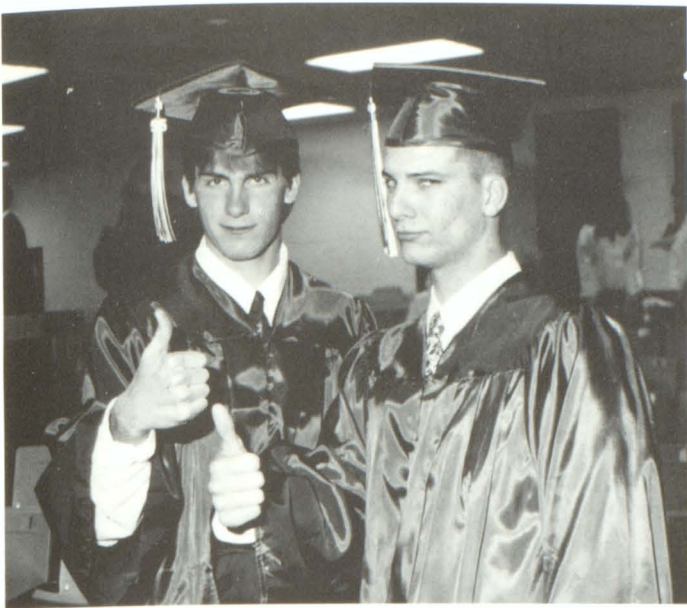

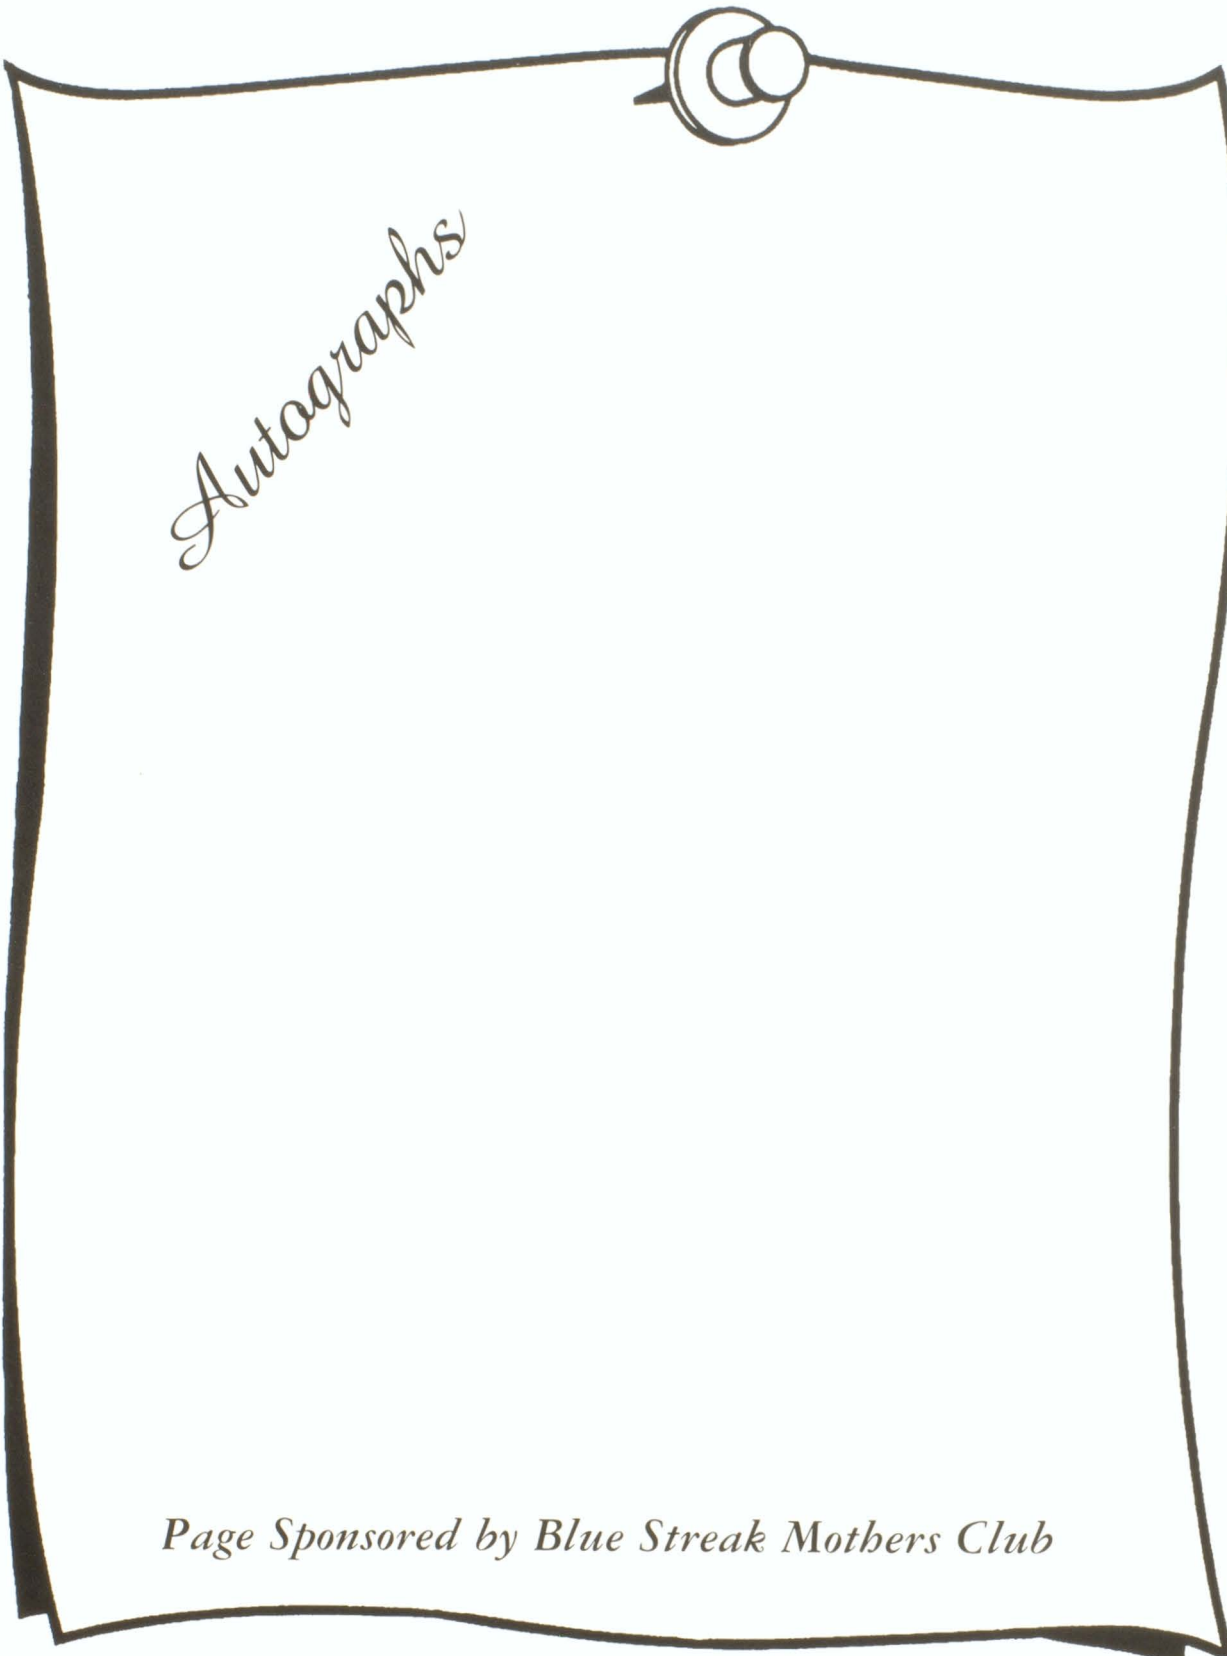

Graduation Arrives!! Senior Dreams Begin

“The aim of education should be to teach us rather how to think than what to think—rather to improve our minds, so as to enable us to think for ourselves, than to load the memory with the thoughts of other men.”
James Beattie

It rained. Thousands crashed the gates. People with tickets couldn't get in or had to wait for hours. Portable toilets overflowed. Food occasionally ran short. Drugs were everywhere.

Woodstock '94 looked a lot like the original 1969 rock festival — right down to the fans, who wouldn't have missed it for the world.

Promoters set up distant parking lots and shuttle buses for the 200,000 people who paid $135 each for tickets — advance sale only. But only about 350,000 people showed up. Many ticket holders couldn't find a parking space, and some walked up to 12 miles to get to the concert. A few gave up and went home.

On the stage, Bob Dylan, who did not play in 1969, sang "Just Like a Woman." Joe Cocker wailed "With a Little Help from My Friends," just like 25 years ago. Melissa Ethridge impersonated Janis Joplin, a late version of Woodstock I, in "Piece of My Heart."

When it was over, the rain-drenched and mud covered lumbered home from the sloppy fairgrounds looking like the walking dead — who died smiling.
