Tying It All Together

MHS Heads Toward the Millenium

Seniors Justin Greanya and Jamie Anderson chat during a lunch-time meeting in Mr. Hertrick's room. ▼

The 1998-99 school year class was not alone in finding their ways through unfamiliar halls! And of course, as usual, we all manage to find our way, continue old friendships and build new ones, learn from some and teach others, accumulate fond memories and forgettable heartaches, grow and mature as we tie up our years at MHS.

1. Marc Babic, Jason Schiavoni, and Jeremy Hehmeyer take time out from class to get to know new teacher Mr. Martin.
2. Standing in line on underclass picture day, Phil Alanen, Josh George, and Jason Evans refuse to practice their smiles!
3. "Where were you when the lights went out?" Lindsay Wheeler, Beth Stahlnecker, Nicky Byers, and Desiree Mzsik camp out in the halls just before the power outage sent students home for an early "calamity" day.
4. "Let's not waste any time!" Allison Hogan, Rachel Mix, Kevin Estabrook, Sara Hart, and Amber Taylor get right to work in their science class.

"Forever Young"

May the good Lord be with you down every road you roam,
And may sunshine and happiness surround you when you're far from home,
And may you grow to be proud,
dignified, and true,
And do unto others as you'd have done to you,
Be courageous and be brave, and in our hearts
You'll always stay... Forever young.

Streaks End Strong Season 7-3

The Madison football team made their first year in the Premiere Athletic Conference a memorable one. The Streaks defeated Cleveland South, Lorain Southview, and Austintown Fitch, all Division 1 teams. The Streaks also sent a message of their strength and skill by beating Geneva, Edgewood, and Riverside, all old N.E.C. rivals.

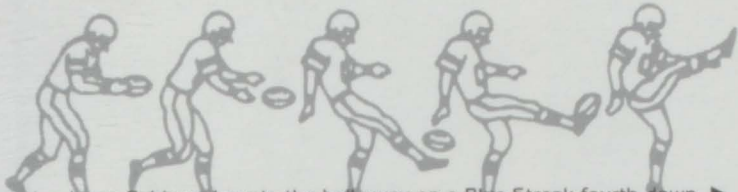

Madison senior Kevin Clark rushed for 1,413 yards, while Madison's air game improved incredibly with junior quarterback Josh Haldi passing for 1,250 yards. Jim Smith racked up 749 yards, while senior Adam Johnson completed the one-two punch, receiving 365 yards.

With this strong showing, the Streaks placed seventh in the computer polls and barely missed the state playoffs. Madison also had the privilege and the challenge of facing off against the number-one-ranked Division 2 team in the state of Ohio, Chardon — and they did not come away scoreless. The Streaks' three losses all came from P.A.C. opponents: North, South, and Chardon all defeated the Streaks, but our team kept their composure, giving all they had whether they won or lost.

1. Madison junior wide receiver Jim Smith breaks a tackle and makes his way into the endzone against the Edgewood Warriors.
2. Coach Bortnick sends in a play with senior lineman Bob Bastian.
3. Madison senior wide receiver Adam Johnson receives a hug from a Cleveland South defender during the Streaks' opening season victory.

"We played at a much higher level of competition this year. I think we showed a lot of people that we can play with any team in the Premiere Athletic Conference. We were underdogs because of our size, but we didn't let it get to us, we gave it all we had." — Chip Falls

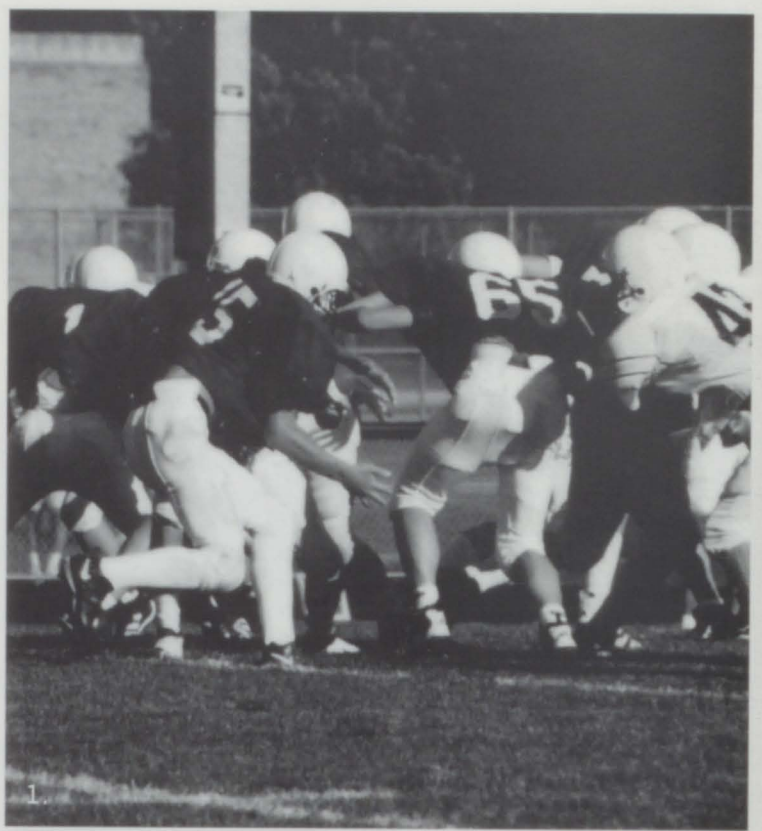

P.A.C. Adds Competition JV & Freshmen Finish Tough

Although the JV team played fewer games than their varsity and freshmen counterparts, they still had a competitive season in which many improvements were made. With only one win on the season, the Premier Athletic Conference proved to be a tough challenge for the upcoming team. When asked how the season went, Dusty Drain explained, "It went well, and although we didn't come out on top too much, we still lined up and played hard-nosed football." With more opportunity to hit the field, the freshmen finished their season with a 7-2 record, promising a bright future for the varsity team. Coaches Fortuna and Martin did an excellent job motivating the young team. "We played good defense, and the offense clicked together at the end of the season," commented Mike Callow. The team is looking forward to another successful season.

"Tie" on Some School Spirit Cheerleaders Start Out with Success

This football season was very fun and exciting for both the JV and the Varsity cheerleaders. They worked very hard on dances, assemblies, cheers, and chants since June to help MHS with school spirit and enthusiasm. They had great help from their coaches, Mrs. Humphrey and a new addition, Mrs. Craigo.

The Varsity squad, consisting of two seniors and the rest juniors, had many injuries this year, but that didn't stop the girls from cheering with a smile on their faces. Karyn Crawford commented, "We had a great season with a lot of success! I don't want it to end."

The JV girls were upset about not having many games to cheer, but they were happy that they got to share their season with three new girls. Rita Garisek, JV captain, said, "It was hard to teach new people the cheers and chants, but it paid off."

Both squads participated in a car wash this summer for money to buy new equipment. They topped their whole summer off by attending the Eastern Cheer Association Cheerleading Camp, where they learned new dances and cheers. They ended the season with an exciting pep assembly to cheer on all of the fall sports.

1. Cheering their team to a victory against rival Riverside, Jillian Lavender, Erin Hall, Sandra Greer, Jessica Cummings, and Jenny Brunner strike a pose during a chant.

2. "The gang's all here!" The JV and Varsity squads form a line to salute the flag during pre-game festivities.

Time Marches On Band Brings Back Memories

The MHS Marching Band is always there to support the football team and entertain the fans no matter what the weather. This year they brought back the 70's disco with songs like "Celebration," "YMCA," and "Get Down Tonight." They joined in the "swing" craze with a show which included live dancers, a "Big Band Opener," and such songs as "Caravan" and

"Jumpin' at the Woodside". The majorettes also gave great performances. When asked what she liked about being a majorette, senior Nancy Caswell called it "very rewarding — because of the long hours of lessons we put in over the summer. Our hard work pays off when we're out on the field entertaining the crowd."

1. April Crisostomo, junior, gives a solo performance at the Homecoming game.
2. "How do you get to Carnegie Hall?" Juniors Mike Mitchell, Sara Kidner, and Katie Hodakievic practice, practice, practice to get ready for the game.
3. The majorettes finish a great show during the Homecoming game.
4. Freshman drummer Kyle Zuege keeps the beat.
5. Melanie Lenk, junior, does swings with the other majorettes during the half-time performance.
6. To get the stands riled, the band comes out to play.
7. Ms. Groah, Mr. Pérez, and Mrs. Rogus lead the band in style.
8. Senior Sarah Shook performs her dance without dropping the batton.
9. Jeremy Nieban, Jamie Barnum, Kyle Zuege, Nick Wiker, Scott Adams, John Baldrige, and Jim Polivka keep the band on track as Jim Bugbee looks on.

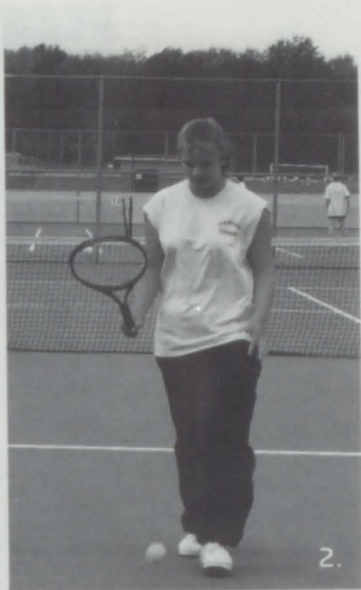

Girls Make a Racket Tennis Team Wraps Up Millenium

MHS experienced a few changes this year in fall sports. In addition to moving to the new conference, the PAC, the Streaks also added a new girls' tennis team. Up until this season, the girls had competed along with the boys' team in the spring. Coach Mark Vidmar commented, "It's a good experience for the girls to play and compete in this great sport. Adding girls tennis as a sport gives these girls an opportunity to play where it may not have been possible before." With the talent the girls' team showed during their premiere season, there's no doubt that they will continue serving up victory to the Streaks for many more seasons.

Girls Soccer Plays the Field

Varsity Girls Tie Up Winning Season

The varsity girls' soccer team ended their goal-setting 1998 season this year with a winning record. Lead by captains Abbey Eddington, Liz Jacobson, Tiffany Florentine, and Sue Whipple, they racked up 7 wins, more than doubling last season's record. The team made Coach Mullan proud, and she maintains even higher goals for the future: "I am anticipating good things for next year."

The girls worked hard this year to reach this success. As Liz Jacobson agreed, "This is our strongest team so far. We have a combination of great players. We have accomplished our goals for the season, and I am very proud of the team."

Also adding to the accomplishments of this year's season, the girls defeated long-time rival Lake Catholic, a win which the seniors had been anticipating since their freshman year.

In addition to their victories on the field, the girls came together more as friends off the field, which contributed to the many successes of the season. With late night dinners and early morning breakfasts, sleep-overs and get-togethers, they really became a "team." The underclassmen plan to maintain their strong unity and excel even further next season. As freshman Bonnie Bray commented, "I had a fun and great season. I will miss the seniors, but I'm looking forward to next season." "The season was very fun, and I have a lot of good memories," added sophomore Theresa Sprague.

1. Junior Lori Curtindale concentrates on defending the ball.

2. Rachel Born and Jenn Steinheiser are still smiling after a tiring game.

3. Abbey Eddington makes a break away while Tiffany Florentine manages the ball.

4. The girls work hard at practice, building speed, agility, and, of course, trust, as teammates serve as human hurdles.

Going for the Goal

JV Teams Take Aim at Future

After a tough season, the JV boys' and girls' soccer teams saw improvement. Both teams faced tough opponents in difficult schedules against rivals like North, NDCL, and Mayfield. And while they may have lacked unity early in the season, both were playing with gusto by the end.

The JV boys were captained by Tim Smith, Josh George, and Brian Jenkins. Coach John Blazer led them to a record of one win, one tie and thirteen losses. "All in all, we played well, but our record doesn't show how well we played," said freshman Marc Charrette.

The girls' JV team, coached for the first year by Candace Rose, finished the season with a record of three wins, two ties, and ten losses. Freshman Tiffany Ford summed up the growth the team experienced this season: "From the beginning to the end, we became two totally different teams." Both teams made great strides toward developing the skills they'll need to move up to varsity play.

Varsity Boys Tie Up the Season Rebuilding for Future Seasons

The varsity boys' soccer team had an off season, with a record of 2-13-3. The new conference was tougher than they had expected and prepared for. However, many players hope that playing these tougher teams will make them tougher and help them in the future. Beyond the competition, the team suffered when veteran players Tyler Pelich and Paul Jacobson were sidelined with broken legs.

Of course, the team never ran from a challenge. Over the summer some of the boys went overseas to Europe to compete against some of Europe's best. For three days, they played against Germany's finest soccer players. Next, they were off to England for seven days, where they played exceptionally well in a tournament.

As junior Paul Jacobson explained, "We have a lot of talent on the team this year. We just don't have the unity to click as a team. Many times we'll play well together, but sometimes we'll have lapses of ten or twenty minutes where we fall apart and start allowing goals. If we could play well together for an entire game, we can run with any team in our conference."

Boys' XC Ties Up Coach's Career

The Madison boys' cross country team suffered a hard season with a loss of their top runners from last year, but they regrouped and are building for the future. "They now know what it takes and how much more they need to practice," explained Coach Pavesich. His retirement from teaching at the end of the 1998-99 school year will mark the end of his three-year boys' cross country coaching career. When asked what he will miss most about coaching, Pavesich said, "The relationships you develop with the team are much more personal than the ones formed in the classroom."

The team was led by senior captains Greg Rogers and Tony Cicero. Despite the hard season, Tony Cicero felt, "The team did put a lot of heart in it." One highlight for the team's season occurred when junior Matt Orris accomplished his personal goal of qualifying for regionals. "It was the hardest course with the best competition around," quoted Matt.

NEC to PAC and Still on Top

"The road to success was paved with hard work" for the Madison girls' cross country team. Throughout the season, the girls ran with this motto. They were determined from the beginning to work their hardest, hoping to up at Scioto Downs for the State Championships. They started off well by winning their first four meets. Though they suffered a loss to Chardon, they pulled together to become PAC Tri-Champs in the new conference. Then at Districts, the girls finished a close third. From there they ran on to Regionals for the sixth straight year, ending up ninth. Amy Kahr Sgro finished 12th to move on to the State meet, where she set a new personal record at 19:27. Cathy Sisk, Jennifer Yazwinski, Melanie Lenk, and Anne-Marie Romano stated, "This was a tough season, but lots of fun, remember. . . WHY ARE WE SO AWESOME?"

Girls Tie with Riverside for PAC Title

The '98 varsity volleyball team had a landmark season, cutting their losses by half, almost doubling their wins, and capturing the first conference title since 1977. Coach Paul Stofan prepared the team with early open gyms and drills (such as "Dig-n-Dink"). "The practices during the summer really helped us improve our skills and we all became better friends, too! But you have to be, or you won't be successful," said junior middle back Jessica Baird. During the regular season, the team showed off their improved abilities as they only let four teams put flaws in their record. The Lady Streaks' great year earned them the 2nd seed at the sectional/district tournament, where they easily beat South to win the first sectional championship since 1990. Nevertheless, they fell to Geneva in the district semi-finals to end their memorable season. "We didn't expect to be let down in the semi's. Our team was really anxious to play Mentor, and we didn't get to. But overall it was a great experience and I came away with a lot of great memories," concluded Emily Winton.

PAC Titles for Volleyball JV and Freshman Excel in Conference

In the past, Madison has never been known for being a powerhouse in volleyball. This year may have been the turning point, though, for the JV and freshman teams. The JV team, led by experienced tri-captains Jennie Schmid, Natalie Fisher, and Melanie Fisher, ended up with an 11-5 record and a conference title in the new Premier Athletic Conference. The new coach, Lisa McQuoid, pushed these girls to hustle and work hard during practice, which enabled them to accomplish their goals. Sophomore Jennie Schmid noted, "I think we had a really great season with our new coach, and we worked really hard and well together."

The freshman team, who also had an extremely successful season, compiled an impressive 14-2 record and captured their own PAC title. One of their many other accomplishments was a third-place finish in the tournament at Mentor. "We did really good, improved a lot, and learned to work better as a team," noted Captain Jessica Bright. Nicole Mowakowski added, "Our hard work really paid off in the end. It was a very memorable season."

Golf Tees Off for a Great Season

Although the golf team began their season with a new coach and entered a new conference, they ended up with a great season. For the team's first year in the Premier Athletic Conference, they did an exceptional job, compiling a conference record of seven wins and one loss. Their overall total surpassed that, with twenty wins and four losses.

Many of the golfers also received individual recognition for their great scores. Mike Mayer earned an honorable mention and was a district qualifier. Brian Hughes also received an honorable mention along with being chosen as the News Herald Player of the Week, as was Matt Mackura. Matt also made second team PAC. Other award winners included Joe Winland and Jay Wittmann, both named second team PAC.

It was a great way to end the seniors' last season of golf at MHS. As the team looks to the future, there's definitely one new sight on the golf course, and she's racking up the points for her team. As the first girl to join the golf team, freshman Lindsey Miller is helping Madison make it to the top.

Seniors "Tye" Up the Century

Four years ago, when the seniors entered MHS, some were excited, some scared. The senior year seemed an eternity away, but the days got shorter and senior year became a reality for the Class of '99. By completing their high school career, most hope that their time at Madison has prepared them to make wise decisions in the future. As the seniors move on, some will attend college, others will enlist in the military, and others will join the work force, but all will remember their times at MHS. On graduation day, the senior class will say their goodbyes to MHS and head off into separate directions, but these experiences have given them a foundation to build on and to achieve their goals. Good luck to the Class of 1999!

On Their Way to Seniority

Juniors Tie Up Another Year

The class of 2000 tied up another memory-filled year as they neared seniority. Their dominant class spirit grew along with their involvement in school activities. Many participated in varsity sports, homecoming and prom committee for the first time.

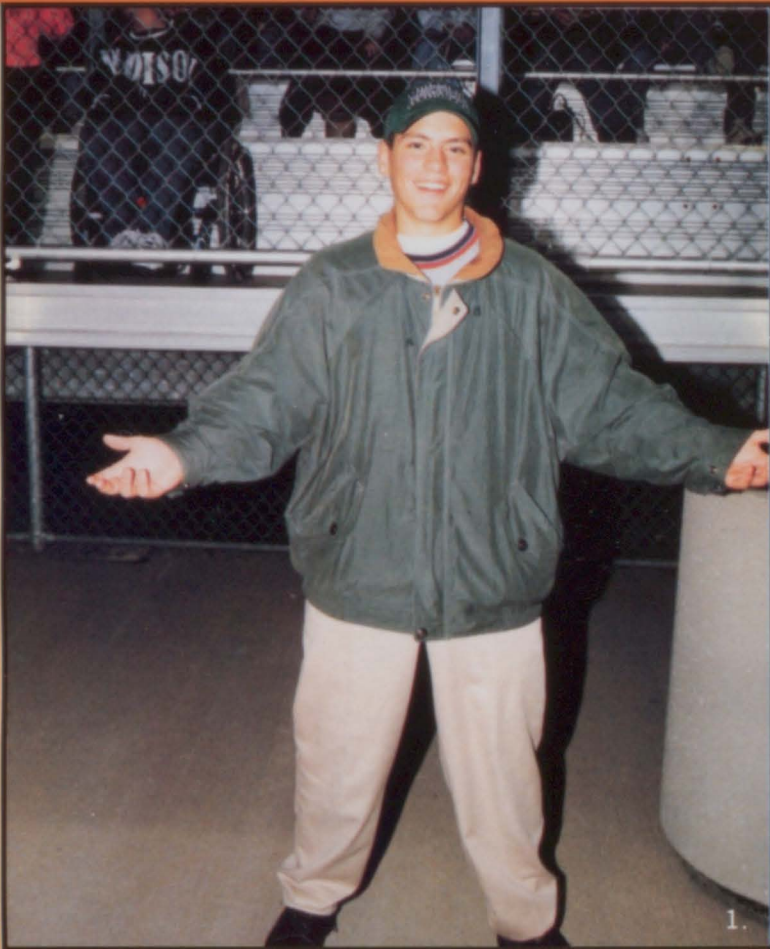

Although the classes were getting tougher and their schedules were hectic, they still found time to hang out and have fun. When asked about his junior experience, Drew Vargo commented, "I would've had fun if I wasn't grounded all year."

Other juniors added new experiences by taking advantage of Auburn Career Center and the Post Secondary Option. Amanda Pniewski commented on her college classes: "There's a lot of work and material to learn, but I would recommend it because it's definitely worth it."

All together the juniors had an outstanding year that they will always remember, building memories and friendships to last them through their senior year and beyond.

Sophomores Soaring

Class of 2001 Moves on to Future

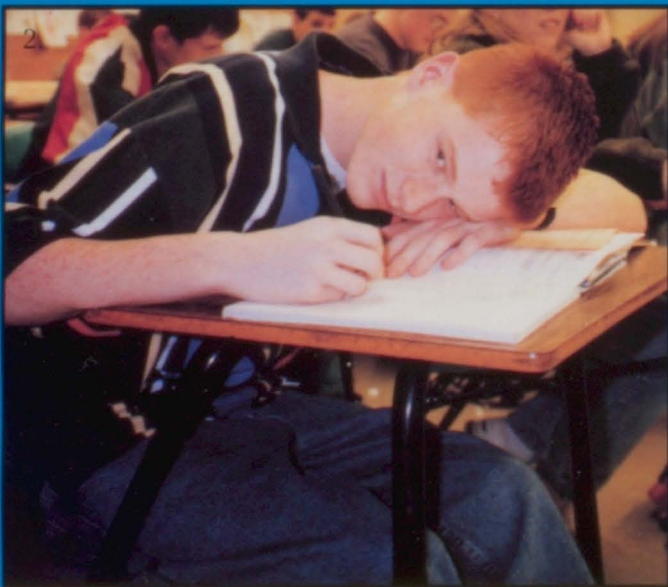

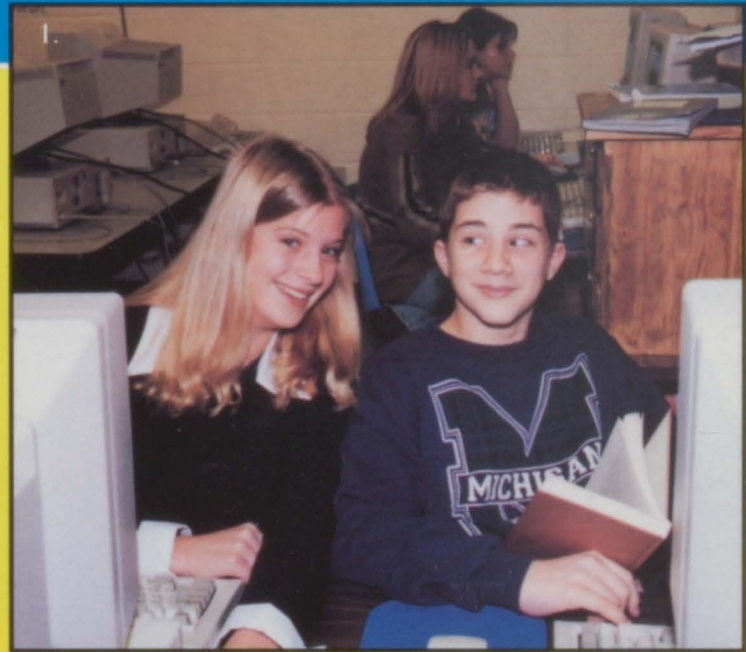

The class of 2001 took on many new responsibilities as sophomores at MHS. For the majority of them, it was their first year of normal classes and scheduling compared to last year, when a lot of them were going through the first year in the Gateways program. The "normal" scheduling for them won't last long due to the block scheduling change next year. "The classes are more fun this year. It's better not being a freshman," Amed Hussaini excitedly commented.

Besides school, many sophomores are going through some major changes — getting their licenses, finding jobs, and gaining more opportunities to go out and have fun! Eric Toulouse approved of the additional freedom: "Having a later curfew and going to more parties have been a lot of fun!"

As graduation approaches for these "soon-to-be juniors," they'll be making their way to the year 2000, BUT until they're seniors, they will have to look forward to breaking the millenium in 2001!

Flying Up to MHS Freshmen Bring in Block

As freshmen coming into the high school, it's always a scary experience. This year's freshmen class faced these experiences with hard work and smiles. The class of 2002 was the first full class to try block scheduling. They were separated into three groups, each group led by a team of four teachers. Only having to take two core subjects each semester, they could focus more on each class, and not stress out about having four hard tests in one day, or many projects to complete at one time.

"I like it because I only have two hard classes a day," explains Brian Craigo. Valerie Smith agrees, but adds, "It's also harder, though, because you have to learn so much in a short amount of time." To make their first year a little easier, some chose to join clubs or athletic teams. By meeting and becoming friends with upperclassmen, they were more easily introduced to high school life.

HOMECOMING

Madison (a.k.a. "Hollywood"), Ohio was filled with stars on Homecoming weekend this year as the team pummeled Riverside, 31-20. Homecoming court members, with Queen Abbey Eddington and King Chip Falls, cheered the team on. The homecoming committee created a dance fit for stars. Adam Smith screamed, "Boy, did I look spiffy! The music was G-double O-D, good!" "I had a great time! The decorations; the music; unbelievable," said Rikki Yeager. Jason Dean declared, "Homecoming was good. Hoopin' It Up!

Boys Shoot for Perfect Season

What a great season: This is the sentence that many have used to describe the '98-'99 varsity boys' basketball season. The bleachers were always packed when the Blue Streaks took to the floor, and the fans always got their money's worth as they cheered the Streaks to a 17-5 winning season.

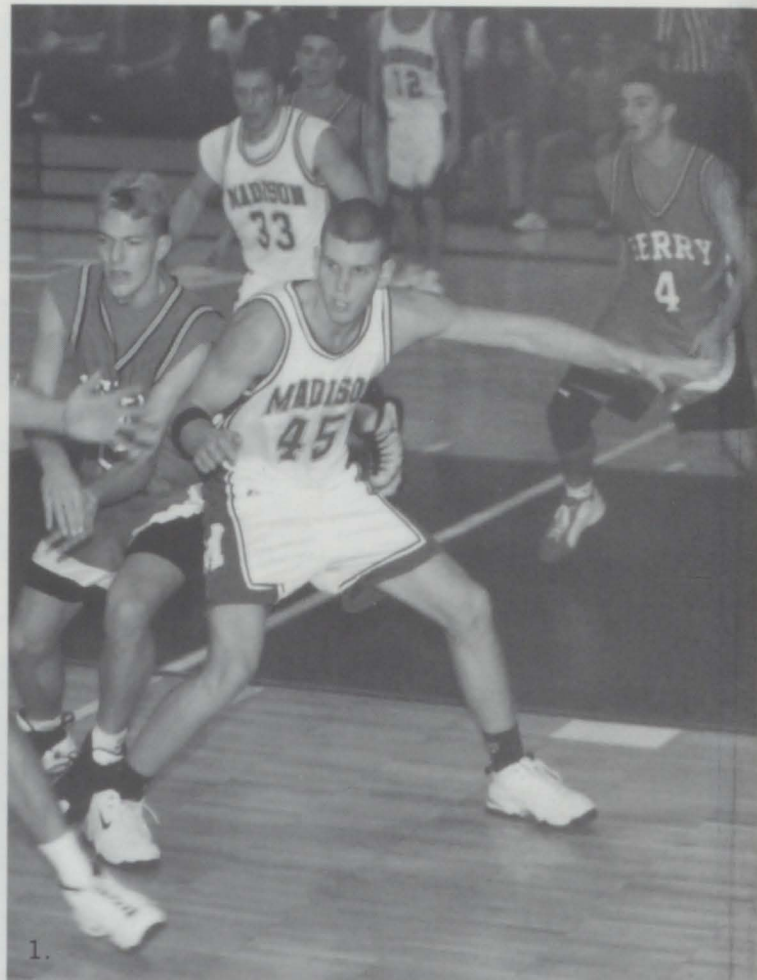

After years of work building his teams, head coach Bob Peterlin was happy with this year's performances. "The team worked extremely well together and won 17 games, earning one of the best records this school has ever had. It was a very exciting year. At one point, we maintained a ten-game winning streak!"

Senior Geoff Gehring agreed with his coach: "This season was the most enjoyable. It was a group of new faces molding together to be successful. Our team had talent, but what put us over the top was our heart and hustle."

With all their accomplishments, this year's team certainly set high goals for the underclassmen to follow, tying up this century by laying a foundation for winning seasons into the new millenium.

1. As senior Aaron Belcher advances, junior Justin Pauley guards his opponent and looks for the ball during a game with Perry.
2. Joe Pikor presses the ball as it's brought down court.
3. Matt Parks shoots a lay-up as four of his opponents line up for the rebound. Senior Adam Johnson crowds in for his chance as well.
4. The team prepares mentally for the game as they watch the JV team play.

5. Junior Josh Haldi shoots a three-pointer to help Madison win the game.
 6. Who said "white men can't jump"? Justin Pauley flies into the air on a jump shot to get the ball into Madison's possession.
 7. Adam Johnson guards his player to keep the ball away from the basket.

Marking Their Territory

JV & Freshmen Boys Make a New Mark

Madison's JV and freshmen teams started their first year in the new P.A.C. with a great record of 17-3. The change from the former N.E.C. to the P.A.C. was a big difference for Madison. It was a tougher competition, and for the first year, the teams could not be sure what to expect. Nevertheless, they made a great impression on all of their new opponents.

Over the summer the boys played over the summer the boys challenge with shooting camps and open gyms. The most dif-icult challenges for Madison definitely came from St. Joe's and Willoughby South, but both brought victories for the Blue Streaks. "We improved a lot as the season went on and we learned each other's style of play," commented sophomore Tim Rideout.

Getting ready for next year's season, the teams and their coaches are planning more basketball camps and plenty of open gyms. Their growing number of fans cannot wait to see what they do next year.

Cheerleaders Cheer on a Winning Season

This basketball season was exciting not only for the players but for the cheerleaders as well. With the team's 17-5 record, they had a lot to cheer about. With the coaching of Mrs. Humphrey, the cheerleaders pepped up the crowd with half time shows, dancing to "Love Shack" and many other "oldies but goodies." Cheerleaders Jessica Cummings, Erin Hall, and Jamie Elkadi were also picked to participate in the Orange Bowl parade in Florida over Christmas break.

Mrs. Craig headed the JV squad, who got to participate in some of the varsity performances. The injury to Karyn Crawford gave Claire Findak an opportunity to move up to varsity briefly, although luckily Karyn was later able to finish up the season. Jessica Brennan also did a great job coaching the freshmen cheerleaders. Like the teams they supported, the 1999 basketball cheerleading squads all had very successful seasons.

1. The JV cheerleaders get the crowd pumped: (back, l to r) Kristin Polana, Rita Garisek, Breana Krotz; (front) Stefanie Dodge, Erica Evans, and Jordan Duhome.
2. Closeness drives the freshman cheerleaders. Crowding together for a group shot are (l to r) Ashley Dorr, Sandy Tobul, Kristen Meiers, Mena Nappo, Erin Bonnema, and Gina Garcia.
3. Rita Garisek, Breana Krotz, and Kristin Polana cheer on the team.
4. The JV cheerleaders "kick up" the Blue Streak spirit.

Blue Streaks End Season on Top

The '99 Lady Blue Streaks had lots of work ahead of them this season. Knowing that the new league would be tough, they began their season in the early summer, participating in many games with highly rated teams. Their main early competition came at the National Tournament. "I was happy to see my team working together this well. Considering it was in the beginning of the summer, I could tell this would be an outstanding season," Coach Smith commented.

The season started off with the Tip-off Classic, with Madison winning to show they were ready for the PAC. "We pushed ourselves, it really payed off," sophomore starter Kara Jackson said. The Streaks were able to end their season with a 12-9 record, with the girls winning huge games against Perry Pirates, NDCL, and Channel. The main highlight of Amy Kahr Sgro's season was winning the big game against rival Riverside in a close battle.

In the last game of the season, the Blue Streaks fell three points short of moving onwards, but, despite losing senior starters and captains Amy Kahr Sgro, Melissa Logsdon, and Heidie McCloud, the team should return even stronger next year. Though their season ended sooner than they had hoped, it was successful, with the girls matching their opponents this year, scoring a total of 1,125 points.

1. Amy Kahr Sgro bursts past the defence as she goes for an important lay-up.
2. Heidie McCloud pressures her opponent in a close battle at Madison.
3. Ready, aim, fire: Tonia Brennen shoots her foul shots.
4. Tiffany Florentine finds her way through the Riverside players to recover the ball.
5. They shoot, they score! Junior Emily Winton shoots a basket as her teammates gather round her.

The Senior Lady Blue Streaks:

Heidi McCloud: "It was a very wonderful season this year. I was thankful that everyone was able to stay injury-free. Plus the whole team was able to get along really well."

Amy Kahr Sgro: "This summer we put in extra time in all our tournaments and practices. This truly helped out in the regular season. Our skills improved and our teamwork was outstanding."

Melissa Logsdon: "This year was the best season ever. It was mainly because of the coaching staff. They all seemed to work together so well. Mr. Smith was like a second father to me."

Yayoi Furuichi: "I can't believe all the memories that this team brought to me. Everyday I was able to excel and become closer to every girl on the team. By the end of the season, I had a new family."

Girls Build Skills for Future JV & Freshmen Tie Up Learning Season

The '98-99 season proved to be one of hard work and learning for the JV and freshmen girls' basketball teams. The JV team wrapped up the season with an impressive 13-5 record, going 8-1 during the last half of the season. The team was led by junior point guard Jessica Baird and junior post players Laurel Locker and Kristie Shaffer, with strong performances added in by guards Theresa Sprague, Wendy Lang, and Emily and Amy Blauman. They placed a strong 2nd in the PAC, losing only to the undefeated North Rangers. Emily Blauman noted, "I had fun being a freshman on JV this year. It was so much more competitive, and I loved Mr. Grupe."

For many girls on the freshman team, this was their first experience with basketball. With new coaches Mr. Morgan and Mr. Collins, the team had to start with the basics and take things slowly. Even with a 1-14 record, the girls felt that they accomplished much and learned the skills that will help them in the future. Lindsay Johnson remarked, "Our success and hard work this season were not reflected in our record. We improved so much over the season as a team and have a lot to be proud of. I'm really looking forward to next year."

1. Wendy Lang drives the baseline as Kristie Shaffer posts up her defender and looks for the lob pass.
2. The JV team and Coach Grupe head to the locker room after a close victory over Riverside.
3. Freshman Tiffany Ford elevates over her defender to sink a jump shot.
4. Laurel Locker fights off defenders to draw the foul as Jessica Baird prepares for the rebound.

5. Freshman point guard Alesia Richmond pivots and looks for her teammates to get open.
 6. The freshman team clowns around on the bench after a tough game.
 7. Lindsay Johnson takes a deep breath and concentrates on the rim.
 8. Becky Golitko laughs with teammates during warm-ups.
 9. Theresa Sprague prepares to shoot a foul shot.
 10. Valerie Smith shoots over the hands of her defender.

Swimmers Test the Waters

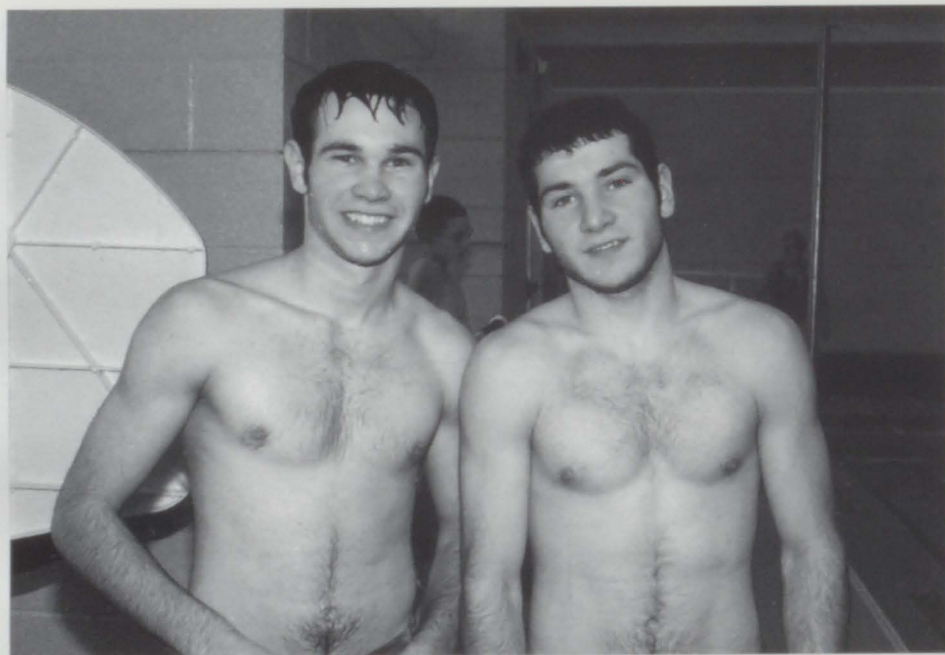

Ending a Fun Season

Both swim teams performed well this year. Captains Casey Maher and Tiffany Lorenz led their girls team to a record of 8-5 overall, while the boys' captains Greg Rogers and Jeff Henn brought their team to a .500 record of 5-5. Together these teams consisted of 33 swimmers who will be giving a farewell to 15 seniors. Coach Jennifer Wentz commented, "We had a very strong, close-knit team this year, but since we are losing so many seniors, next year will be a building year."

Tiffany Lorenz finished up her senior year by improving on her own school record for the 500-yard freestyle record with a time of 5:50:24. Sophomore Kyle Tobul crushed his last year's record-winning time for the 100-yard backstroke with a new time of 58:13. Ending the successful year, five swimmers competed at districts at Cleveland State. Heather Lavender swam the 50-yard freestyle and Tiffany Lorenz participated in the 500-yard freestyle. Casey Maher and Jenny Brunner joined them, swimming the 200-yard freestyle relay. Kyle Tobul also swam the 100-yard backstroke. Congratulations to all the swimmers on a very successful season.

Streaks Tie Down PAC

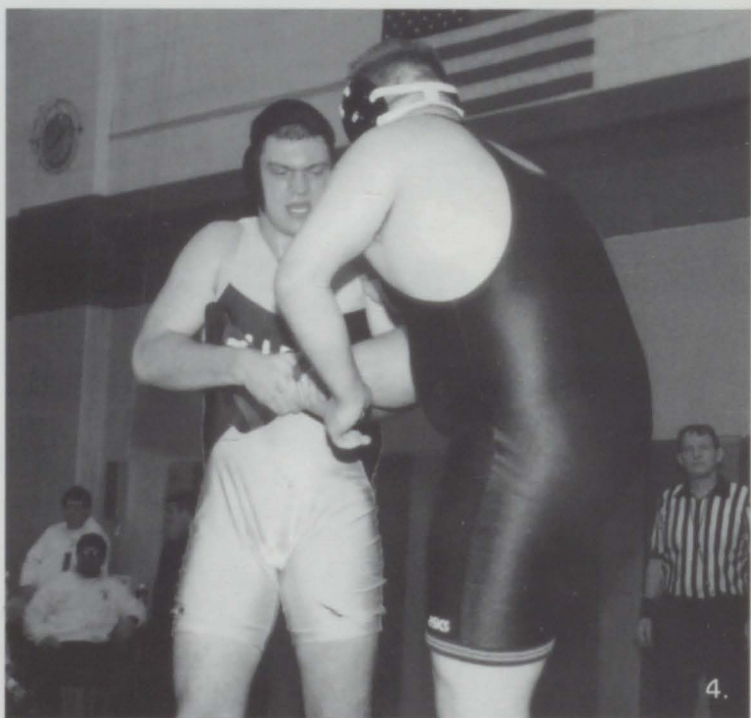

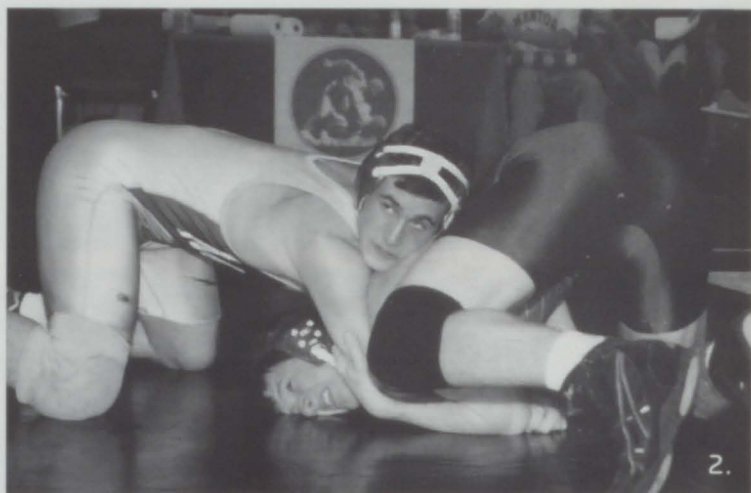

Wrestlers Wrap Up Another Successful Season

The Madison Blue Streaks' wrestling team experienced many changes in their 1998-1999 season. First, the Streaks transferred from the NEC to the more challenging PAC. Madison also held their own sectional, instead of going to Mayfield. Despite all the changes, the Streaks maintained a solid season. They won the PAC conference, captured a sectional title, and then went on to place fifth at the Mentor "Meatgrinder" District. Gary Skoch, Joe Hernan, and Matt Sample all qualified for the State tournament, where Skoch took third. In their four years at MHS, the seniors won three sectional titles, four conference championships, took second at Districts twice, and sent a total of eleven wrestlers to the state tournament.

The Streaks' schedule was filled with many challenging obstacles. They faced three of the toughest teams in the nation (St. Edwards, Blair Academy, and Walsh Jesuit) and came out with an impressive 12-4 record. The Streaks also completed a very tough tournament schedule: at the Reno, Nevada's "Toughest Tournament in the Nation," they placed 20th out of 52 teams; at Wadsworth, the Streaks placed 5th overall; and at Willard, they brought home a first place trophy.

These wrestlers have set the trend toward victory, challenging the underclassmen to meet those standards. As freshman Joel Szymanski commented on next year's season, "We hope to have another successful season. It'll take a lot of hard work, but I think we can do it."

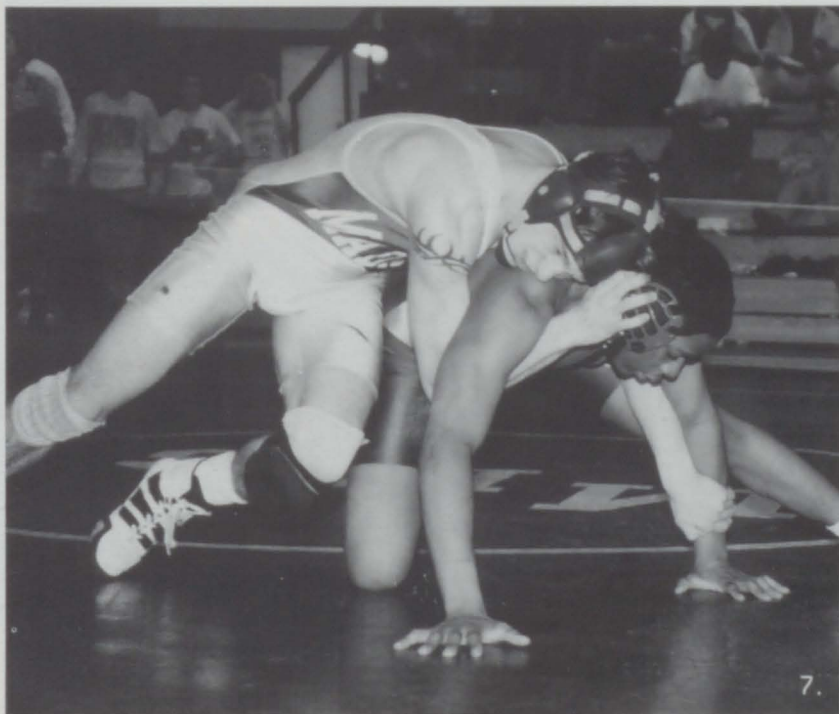

"We had a successful season overall. We were able to win the new PAC conference, along with a sectional title. I was really proud of this group of boys."— Head Coach Gary Fortuna

"The boys worked hard, and were rewarded with success. I was especially proud that we were able to win our eighth straight conference title."— Assistant Coach Tim Willis

1. Madison's Joe Hernan "puts the hurt" on his Mentor opponent.
2. Junior Ryan Sutter looks to the coaches for some advice during his first appearance at the District tournament.
3. Senior Dan Klimkowitz struggles to hold onto a cradle while scoring back points.
4. Chris Burr tries to finish a single leg takedown against a St. Ed's opponent.
5. Ben "Z" Szymanski sets up a takedown against a state placer from Mayfield.
6. Four-time state qualifier Gary Skoch uses an arm bar to punish his opponent.
7. Senior Matt Sample works for a pin during the Sectional tournament.
8. Exhausted from the match, Bob Bastian raises his hand in a well-deserved victory.

Tying Down the Competition

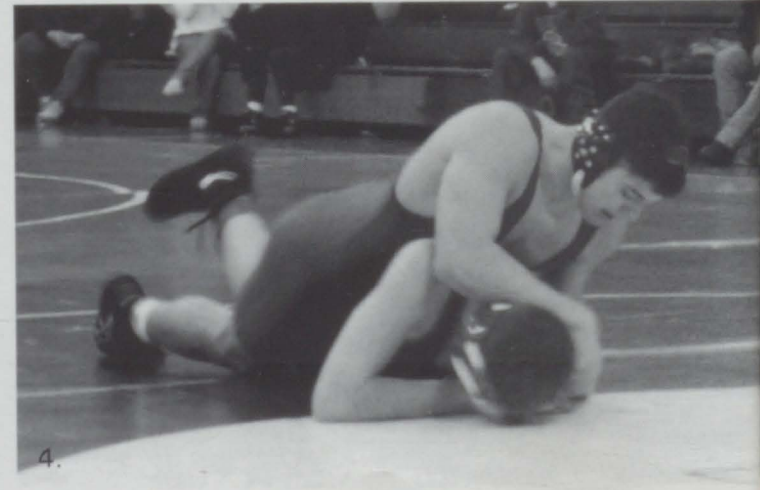

The Madison wrestling program has had quite a reputation through the years. In order to become a high quality varsity wrestler like those who have represented MHS for the past several years, each athlete must learn the skills and gain the experience provided by JV and freshmen wrestling. This year's underclass teams were very successful. JV wrestler Nick Forro said, "No one realizes how hard you work until you step onto that mat and practice in the Madison wrestling room. The Blue Streak's wrestling program's philosophy is that you work hard and you'll succeed. Every wrestler in this program lives by that motto in and out of the season." Freshman Kevin Barnhart agreed: "We definitely work hard to win every time we get on the mat. Every day in practice and in a match is an obstacle that is blocking your way to being the best wrestler possible. In order to be successful, you have to face the obstacles head on and overcome them. We are all looking forward to next year's season."

Softball Reaches New Level

New Coaching Improves Team

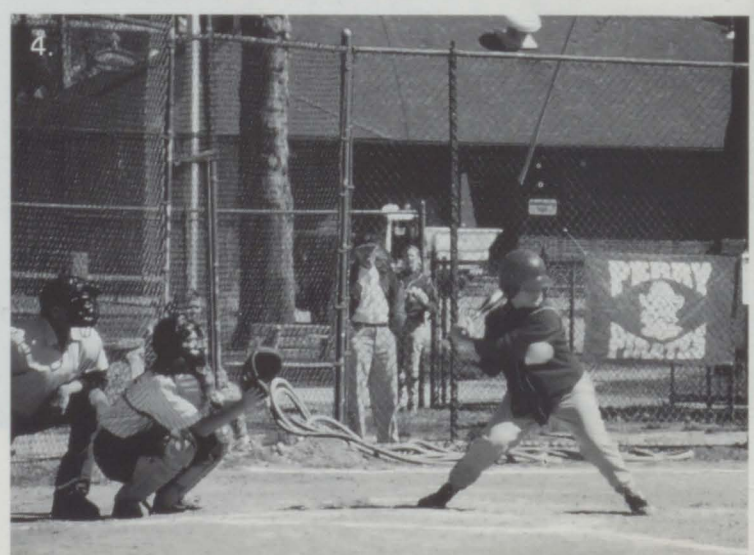

This year's softball team completed another winning season. They finished with an 18-8 overall record and the seniors won their first sectional game. With their new coach, Terry Heitenan, the Blue Streaks got serious about the game and took it to a higher level. The team won many games with their excellent defense and pitching. "We were all pretty good friends and that helped us come together and work as a team," commented outfielder Tiffany Florentine.

say about the season: "I thought it was a very successful season, especially with the new coaching staff. I had great leadership from the seniors and a great group of juniors that will carry on that leadership next year." The girls participated in a three-day tournament in Columbus, where they went 2-1, and a Lakewood tournament where they placed second out of six teams. Next year the team, led by seven seniors, should improve their chances of winning the PAC title.

Coach Heitenan had this to

1. The senior members of the team, Sara Toward, Dawn Bunnell, and Margi Cosari, huddle together on the team's tournament trip to Columbus.
2. Members of the varsity softball team act out their favorite song: 867-5309!
3. Shortstop Dawn Bunnell gets the out on an attempted steal.
4. Junior Erin Morgan practices patience at the plate in the Lakewood tournament while Jenn Steinheiser cheers her on from behind the fence.

JV's Play the Field Striking Successfully

The JV softball and baseball teams battled the dust and their new PAC opponents this spring with rough seasons all around, but overall the athletes had fun and developed skills that will take them into next season better prepared. The softball team did a little better than the baseball teams, winning 5 and losing 11 games. Led by Coach Stofan, they finished their season well despite their rocky start. Pitcher Tracy Preston summed it up: "We started off rough, but it all came together as the season progressed!"

The boys, however, had a rough season throughout, finishing with a record of 3-17. This year interest was strong, so the team was divided — Coach Beans lead the JV boys and Coach Tribbets, the freshmen. Sophomore Brian Brueggeman, who pitched and played first, summed up his optimistic outlook: "This year was more of a learning and improving season so we can have a winning season on the varsity team next year."

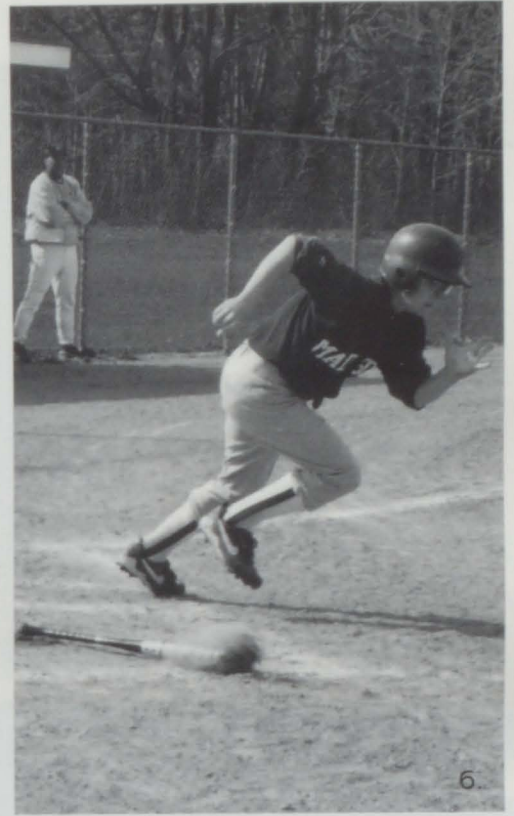

1. Tracy Preston winds up for a fast pitch.
2. Jenny Schmid tags home plate to help the girls win another game.

Varsity Baseball Grows Stronger

This year's varsity baseball team had a harsh record, but they still stuck together. Head coach, Mr. Dragas, commented, "Even though it didn't show in the record, we had a better baseball team this year." First baseman Joe Winland also felt that "the team's hard work and dedication shined through this year." When outfielder Jesse Bovee was asked which game was most memorable, he answered, "Our last game against Chardon because I hit my first homerun." The juniors are confident that next year the team will show much improvement. Shortstop Josh Haldi added a positive note, "Coach Dragas is making big strides to improve our baseball program."

Running into a New Century Girls' Track Runs Away with Title

This year, the girls' track team flew through another very successful season. The girls won the PAC. in its inaugural year and ended up undefeated in dual meets. Along with these accomplishments, they ended up league champions in 12 events, including shot put, discus, long jump, 100-meter dash, 1600-meter run, 4x100 meter relay, 400-meter run, 300-meter low hurdles, 200-meter dash, 800-meter run, and 4x400 meter relay.

Shannon Farr, Tracy Crawford, Amy Kahr Sgro, Jessica Bright, Francine Rhinehart, and Heather Lavender achieved special recognition by being named athlete of the week in the News Herald or Plain Dealer. Amy Kahr Sgro also broke the 1600-meter and 800-meter school records and advanced to the regionals along with Shannon Farr, Tracy Crawford, and the 4x800 meter relay team, consisting of Francine Rhinehart, Amy Kahr Sgro, Erica Harper, and Heather Lavender. Shannon Farr advanced to the state meet, placing second in the shot put at the regionals at Austintown Fitch. The girls certainly displayed a winning spirit, and the team looks forward to many of these athletes returning in 2000.

- 11. Emily Blauman sprints down the runway as she prepares to take a leap into the sand pit during a dual meet at Madison.

First PAC Champs

Madison Boys Tie Up a Great Year

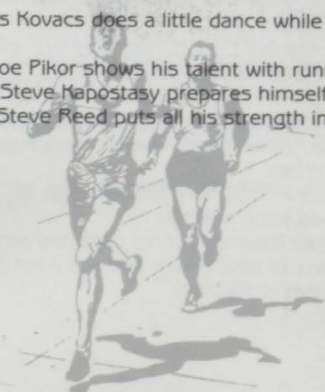

The 1999 boys' track team definitely made a mark in the new PAC conference. Through the team's hard work, dedication, and talent, Madison's boys became the first PAC champs, ending their season 4-0 in the PAC and 5-0 in dual meets. After winning both the Madison Invitational and the University Relays with his team, senior Greg Rogers stated, "We did really good this year even though we lost huge talent last year." One runner to remember is Tony Cicero. After a tragic accident his junior year, he recovered fast enough to be an important member of the team his senior year.

The team also placed 4th in districts, sending Joe Pikor (hurdles), Gary Skoch (pole vault), Matt Stoltz (high jump), and the 4x4 team of Pikor and Cicero, Joe Hernan, and Aaron Belcher to regionals. Looking ahead, Andy Petry affirmed, "We have a lot of talent; if we work hard, we can be better than people expect for next season."

1. Chris Kovacs does a little dance while throwing the shotput.
2. Joe Pikor shows his talent with running hurdles.
3. Steve Kapostasy prepares himself for his race.
4. Steve Reed puts all his strength into his throw.

Boys' Tennis Earns Second in PAC

Yet again, our Madison boys' tennis team had an outstanding season. With an overall record of 16-3, they accomplished many objectives this year. "We had a superb season. Many things happened at the beginning of the year that intimidated us, but we pulled through in the end," commented sophomore singles player Amed Hussaini. The team earned a second-place finish in the Premier Athletic Conference behind Chardon. Graduating seniors included second singles player Eric Hoover and the first doubles team Geoff Gehring and Rusty Book. Gehring quoted, "All in all, another great season. I'm proud of our team. We had many adversities and surprises where we could have just thrown in the towel, but we didn't. It is all in the information designed by Vidmar. Good luck to Tim Smith and Amed Hussaini. I hope you two get over it." The team went 7-5 in sectional play, which is better than any Madison team has ever done in this competition. Their great '99 season will help keep the Madison tradition of excelling on the court alive next year.

The Freshman Blocks Setting the Pace for MHS

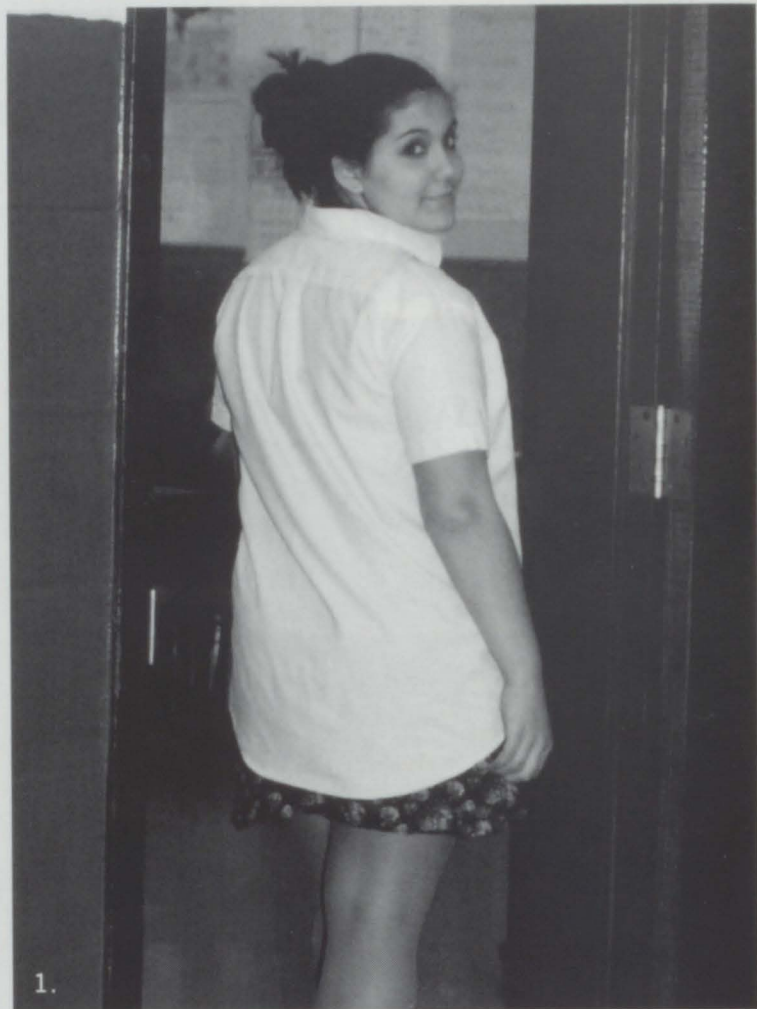

This school year brought many new changes to the freshmen students, not only in switching schools, but in changing their way of learning. Several teachers had to expand their way of teaching also, making it a whole new experience for them, too. This year's freshman class provided a preparation and experiment for further years of block scheduling at Madison High School.

Many schools in Ohio, including our neighbor, Perry High School, are modifying the way students go about their school day. This year at MHS, block scheduling consisted of two periods, each 82 minutes long, for one semester — compared to seven periods, 52 minutes long, for a full year.

As students and faculty agree, there are many pros and cons to block scheduling. It gives teachers more time to spend with their students, so creativity and hands-on activities have greatly increased. A few freshmen teachers have combined classes to connect the different subjects, like English and science.

Mrs. Moskowitz offered her opinion: "Block scheduling has been beneficial this year. I have had fewer students fail this year than in previous years, fewer disciplinary problems have occurred, and it has been more fun, because I get to bring creativity into the classroom."

1. Block scheduling "opens new doors" for MHS freshman: Nicole Rulli takes advantage of the opportunity.

2. In the block classes, science often involves some group effort. Here (around the table, from left) Wendy Lang, Mike Nelson, Nichole Nowakowski, Dan Rediger, Robin Russell, and Rena Schafer work to complete the next assignment.

Mixed Reactions

"It's boring!"

— Erin Bonnema

"It's very good."

— Jeremy Gund

"I don't have to worry about ALL of my classes, just two at a time."

— Aileen Klauer

"It's not fun, because the periods are too long, and not all of my friends are in it."

— Ron Brehm

"There is not too much work for one day, and if you have a test in one class, you usually don't have anymore to worry about."

— Josh Mears

"Classes are too long; I don't get to learn much."

— Tim Smith

"Only having math for one semester is great with a study hall the next."

— Dan Jones

"I enjoy getting to know my students better, time goes by pretty fast, and there is much more in-depth learning."

— Mrs. Fabian

"Change is extremely scary, but sometimes good!"

— Mr. Smith

4. "Watch where you're pointing that thing, Mr. Gilligan!" Hopefully either Steve Stauffer or Aimee Oliver is ready with an answer.

5. Even with their longer block classes, freshmen have time to take electives like art classes. Here Jess Gibson, Kathy Casto, and Shawn Talikka work on their latest project in Mrs. Parks' class.

6. Looking back — Ed Battes, who spends one of his free periods as an office aide, studies a senior photo from the past.

Spirit Week Ties Classes Together

Competition Moves to New Levels

Spirit week brought classes together to battle for the title of most spirited class. The halls of Madison were filled with decorations and crazy, dressed-up students. For one week students dressed in creative and unusual attire. Whether the students sported their favorite hat or flashed back to the styles of the 80's, just about everyone got into the spirit of things. Another favorite day was pajama day when students could be as comfy as they wanted in their pj's and slippers. Many students supported their favorite baseball team during Indians day. The week was topped off with each class picking a different motif to decorate their hallways and determine their "costumes": the seniors chose New Year's; the juniors, Hawaiian; the sophomores, Grease; and the freshmen, The Wizard of Oz.

1. Freshmen Megyn Pike, Eric Koppenhofer, Kayla Bradford, and Chrissy George follow the yellow brick road on their way to class.
2. Happy New Year! To show their senior spirit, Erin Green and Shanna Dingess brought in the New Year a little early this year.

Building Strong Leaders

NHS & Student Council Improve School

Hard work paid off for 47 new National Honor Society members inducted this year. To be selected for this prestigious group, each candidate must complete an application and write an essay describing his or her service, leadership, and character traits. First-year advisor, Mrs. Fabian, said, "I enjoyed working with this year's 27 members and plan on having a great year next year with the 47 new inductees." The NHS members activities include volunteering to tutor at school, to work at nursing homes, and to help at the Pumpkin Fest in Madison Village. Members held their traditional "Buy-a-Brain" to raise money.

The 1998-99 school year was equally busy for student council members. The group spent a lot of time discussing Madison's upcoming transition to block scheduling. Members attended many meetings with the school board and Mr. Heffner. Mr. Smith commented, "We were very active in revising the constitution and heading charitable events." Teacher-of-the-month was also a new responsibility added to their agenda. Student council officers set the basis for future classes with their excellent leadership and hard work throughout the year.

Snow and Service

Students Participate in Ski and Key Clubs

Not only does MHS provide learning, but it also gives students a chance to participate in clubs, such as Key Club and Ski Club. This year's Key Club was headed by President Meghan Orris, VP H. Greg Rogers, Secretary Ashley Collinsworth, and PR director Marie Casto, who stated, "With our new advisor, Miss Zupp, things were rough, but we got through everything. It was a good year; next year will be better because we'll know what we're doing." The kids work to volunteer their time for community service.

Ski Club, on the other hand, is built for fun. Skiers and snowboarders — both novice and experienced — travel to Peak n' Peek in New York for eight Saturdays. "The snow on the mountaintops is absolutely beautiful. Peak n' Peek at night is simply breath-taking. I made a lot of new friends and we've shared so much together. Thanks, boys," said sophomore boarder Eric Toulouse.

Madison Academic Clubs

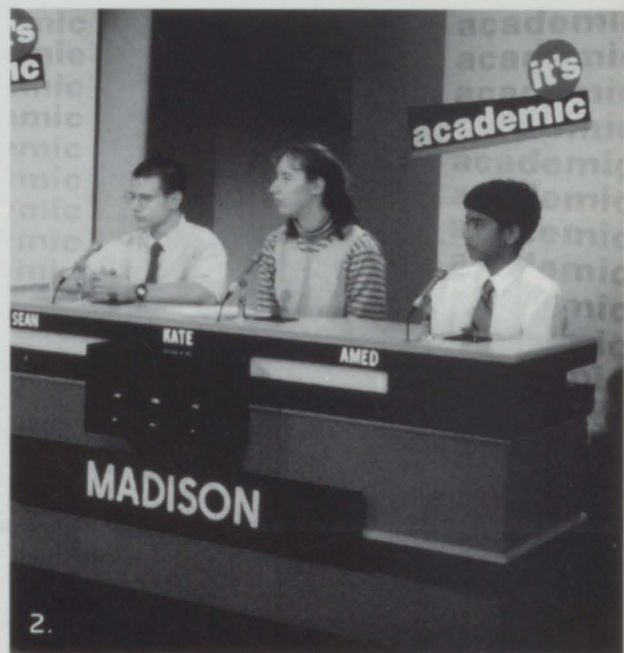

Academic Teams & State Participants Shine

As the year went on, Madison proved it was a force to be reckoned with academically, with students participating in academic teams and Buckeye Boys' and Girls' State. At State this summer, Kate Ostrander, Mike Kirby, Steve Durham, Matt Cross, and Aaron Drews represented Madison well. The object of the week is to see how the government really runs and to then put the students into the mix. "It was a great week and I think everyone should apply to go," said Mike Kirby.

Academic Challenge put together another solid year, competing at CWRU and on the Channel 5 show "It's Academic." Led by captain Kate Ostrander, the team won their first round match. Kate Ostrander, along with Mike Kirby, Cindie Fidanza, and Aaron Drews also had a productive year on the Decathalon team. In their second year of competition, the team had a strong showing at Hiram College, bringing home a total of ten medals. These academic groups are making their Blue Streaks proud with great performances all over Ohio.

"The Play's the Thing"

Drama Ties Talent to Trio of Plays

A lot of effort was put forth by Mr. Martello and the students involved with the variety of plays during the fall and winter seasons. The plays triggered different reactions from the audiences because of the diversities of the genres.

The fall season opened with a straight comedy, "The Odd Couple," starring Katie Watts and Sarah Shook as the two main female roles. Adding their own creative improvisations, JP Gloger and Kevin Estabrook played the two Spanish brothers, bringing even more laughs from audiences.

Performed in conjunction with "The Odd Couple," "A Thousand Clowns" contained more drama while still keeping the audience laughing. After running into common show problems, the cast pulled this play off well with Jessica Peine stepping in at the last minute to fill a last-minute vacancy in the cast.

With the change of weather came a change of atmosphere in the plays performed at MHS. "Murder Takes the Stage" kept the audience in suspense until the mystery unfolded at the end. This play introduced two seniors, Nancy Caswell and Christina DeRubertis, into the drama club. These two newcomers to the stage joined an experienced ensemble cast including junior Amanda Pniewski and senior Aaron Drews.

The MHS drama club kept very busy through these seasons. Mr. Martello expressed, "I am quite proud of this drama club. They are the hardest-working in the region; they have produced four plays and competed down in Columbus and did well there. I was very excited this year because we had an unusual combination of new talents and the usual suspects."

"Godspell" Tears Up the Stage MHS Drama Performs at Local Theater

Madison High School's drama club staged one of their best performances this school year. "Godspell," a popular play amongst the cast and their director, was performed with heart and soul. The show, held on May 13, 14, and 15 at Madison's own Rabbit Run Theater, marked the first time that MHS has performed their musical in a local theater.

Year after year musicals remain very popular. This year's cast showed great talent in their acting, singing, and dancing. The drama club had very good turnouts every night, with a sold-out crowd on Saturday, and all of the audience left with smiles and tears. Ms. Groah and Mr. Martello worked together to coordinate the music and acting. Mr. Martello commented on the play, "This is one of the strongest casts I've ever worked with in my young career.

They were excellent!" Anyone that went to see the play would have to agree with Mr. Martello that it was one of the best musicals Madison's ever seen.

Cultural Exchanges

Foreign Exchange and Model UN

Many foreign exchange students walked through the halls of Madison High School this year. They came from all around the world, ranging from Mongolia to Mexico, from Germany to Japan. These students brought many cultures to MHS and will take as many back home with them. When asked about favorite memories of MHS, Yayoi Furuichi named basketball and her teammates. Khataa Batsuuri added, "Graduating abroad in the U.S. will be my favorite memory, and the whole school year."

Many MHS students also learn about other countries and governments by participating in the Model UN program. Along with their advisor, Mr. Martin, this hard-working club goes to conferences all over state. The members take a country and represent their foreign policy in a debate form, competing against different schools. The three competitions they participated in this year were held at Jefferson, Kent State Ash-tabula, and Youngstown State University. President Joe Hejduk commented on their successes: "It took a lot of work and dedication, but it was all worth it!"

SADD and TI Set Safe Goals

Students Against Drunk Driving once again provided MHS with moral support to go against alcohol. Justin Greanya held the position as president with Trista Butcher as vice president. The different activities the club accomplished included a school dance, a Prom Promise campaign, and a "None for Under 21" ribbon handout. Mr. Hertrick, the club's new advisor, commented on this year's members: "They made a good effort to make the student body aware of the dangers of destructive decisions." Often a companion group, Teen Institute (T.I.) was led by president Jamie Anderson. Once again, members had a blast at the annual fall and spring camps. There, they learned leadership techniques. Jamie praised the group, "T.I. always provided a second home for me because everyone is accepted."

Learning Traditions International Club Is Cultured

The purpose of the Madison International Club is to celebrate cultural diversity and learn about other cultures of the world. All MHS students are invited to participate in the club events throughout the year. Ed Battes served as president of the organization, with Derek Charrette as vice president. The different events included a peace poster contest, an international film festival, and a Christmas-Around-the-World celebration. The club's advisor, Mrs. Dingman, had to cancel the annual ice skating event due to her maternity leave. "We missed out on some things, but it was still a good year," Mrs. Dingman commented.

Office Ties

New Faces in MHS Office

This year more new faces showed up in the main offices of MHS. Mr. Bill Fisher and Mr. Jim Herrholtz continued to have another successful year with their new "partner in crime," Mr. Jack Thompson. "It's been a wonderful year. I've really enjoyed working with the MHS faculty," Thompson stated.

Students were given college and schedule advice by new counselor Mrs. Susie Ankrom, who joined Mr. Larry Baptie, a member of the MHS faculty for only a year himself. "Despite all the new faces in the front office, the team has taken on a new personality, grown very close and worked very well together," commented Mr. Fisher. Mrs. Sue Quayle, Mrs. Cindie McKibben, Mrs. Brenda Ersek, Mrs. Sarah Bowman, and Mrs. Jeanne Caruthers kept MHS organized and running smoothly.

1. Mrs. Ankrom discusses the new block scheduling in detail to a junior English class.
2. In addition to her busy schedule as secretary to the athletic director, Mrs. Ersek helps out with attendance and other jobs in the central office.
3. Mr. Fisher takes time out from his busy schedule for a picture.
4. Mrs. Quayle gives a wave on a bright, sunny Monday morning. What persistence!

1. You go, girl!!! Showing their feminine side, Mr. Fisher and Mr. Thompson dress up for the first annual powderpuff football game.
2. Our beloved Mrs. Bowman shows her sweet smile.
3. Mr. Thompson chaperones the homecoming dance.
4. Mrs. McKibben finishes up paperwork after a long day's work.
5. Mr. Haibach serves as both counselor and friend to many students.

6. Mr. Herrholtz takes a breather from his paper-pushing job.
7. Mr. Baptie counsels students about their classes, college admissions and their futures.

3. MHS can always depend on our day custodians, Mrs. Dianne LeMay and Mr. Ron Vaneck. The school couldn't function without them.
4. Mrs. Westfall and Mrs. Izzarelli work hard as teacher's aides for Mr. Andrus in his SBH classes.
5. The evening custodians take a break from their many duties to finish up some work in Mr. Herrholtz's office: (l to r) Harold Collins, Don Hawkins, Rose Zapp, Danese Hale, and Zak Beesler.

Technology Advances Library, Computer & A.V.

As the new millennium approaches, new resources come to Madison. The internet, available to students in the library, has become a most useful method to help students find information for reports and other projects. This year, the high school also installed a new business computer lab which should also be "on-line" by next year. In addition, the industrial arts department now features computers sponsored by Auburn Career Center to help students investigate career interests.

Madison High also got two new T.V shows for Channel 23. Erin Morgan and Tyson Swackhamer host "Coffee Talk," a morning show which fills students in on all that is new at MHS. "The Duece" is sports talk with Rusty Book and Geoff Gehring. Both shows feature student and faculty interviews. New advances are sure to arise next year.

4. Cindie Fidanza, Geoff Gehring, and Ty Swackhamer watch diligently as the assembly continues. Mr. Richmond's TV Production classes and AV aides tape many programs for replay on MTV-23.

5. Junior Andrea Bush waits for her next "customer" to check out books in the library.

Science and Math Teaching Skills for New Century

Math and science are a major part of the MHS curriculum, and students need two credits in each subject to graduate. This year the math department excelled in many math competitions: Geoff Gehring and Megan Hrbek won "The Madison Mathematics Competition"; Megan also placed highest for MHS in the OCTM Contest; and Melanie Fisher ranked 334 out of 20,250 Ohio participants in the American High School Mathematics Exam. Math teachers have also incorporated technology — Geometer's Sketchpad, graphing calculators, and computer simulation — into their classes to enhance the students' learning.

Working more with their hands than with computers, the science programs performed dissections and worked on research projects. The Biology 2 class created and conducted their own experiments, while the Biology students built 3-D models of cells. The coming block scheduling promises a good outlook for the science department: they are planning to have new courses such as Marine Biology. All the science classes will be inter-related, preparing students for the new century.

1. Jordan Duhamel demonstrates a shoe experiment.
2. Steve Kapostasy, Brian Hughes, Josh Haldi, Cindie Fidanza, Rickee Wirtzberger, Matt Cooper, Mike Kirby, and Nathan Zuege lie around to learn probability and statistics.

Foreign Language / Physical Education

Talk the Talk / Walk the Walk

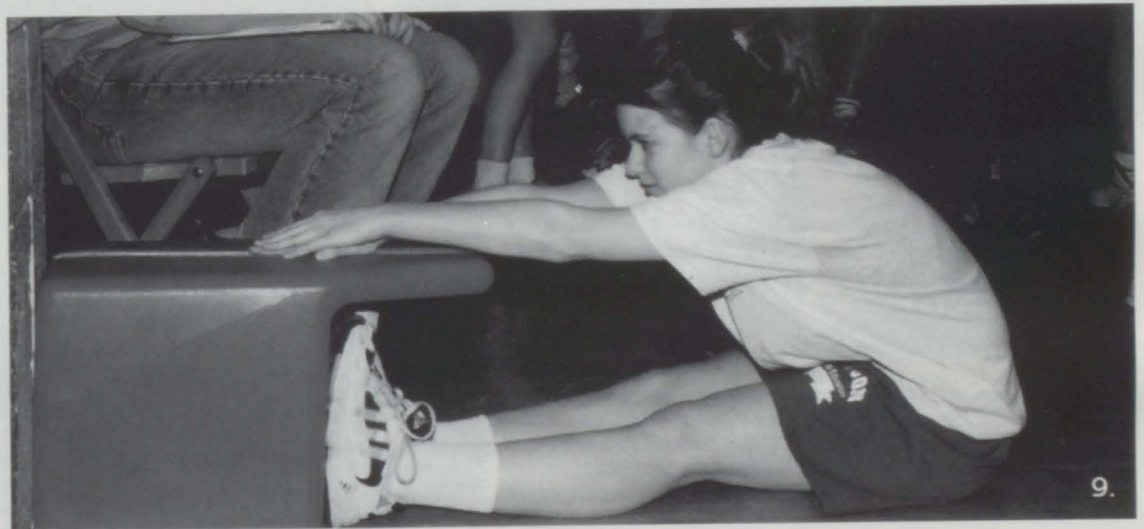

The foreign language classes consist of French, taught by Mrs. Bangerter; German, taught by Mrs. Dingman; and Spanish, taught by Mrs. Battes and Ms. Busse. Students are taught how to read, speak, and write these languages fluently. Many of the language classes put on group skits to demonstrate the customs and way of life in different countries. Rachel Born, a third-year German student, commented, "The puppet shows are a great way to have fun and help you learn a new language."

MHS physical education and health classes are taught by Mr. Reigert, Mr. Willis, and Mrs. Mullan. The students in these classes get to participate in many different activities. In the winter, games like prison and basketball are favorites. With the beautiful weather, flag football, kickball, and tennis are the summer favorites. Mr. Willis commented, "With my students I put safety first and encourage the kids to participate in as many athletic activities as possible." Some of the more academic aspects of physical fitness include nutrition, sexual education, and the human body, which are taught in health class.

1. Amy Kahr Sgro poses as a Spanish version of Kramer.
2. Heidie McCloud, Carrie Bowman, and Jenny Boysko share the cookies they made in Spanish class.
3. Katy Lyndall and Nick Rogers study their French cuisine.
4. Tim Shinkle, Eric Koppenhofer, Dan Rediger and Steve Reed keep watch in gym class.
5. Kara Nichols, Amanda Pniewski, Kristen Charrette, Katie O'Leary, Helen Cole, and Melanie Lenk show off their model of a German home.

6. Jessica Gould and Cindie Fidanza give facts to the class on Spanish cuisine.
 7. Mr. Reigert's gym class warms up for the mile.
 8. Brian Craigo sprints to the finish of the shuttle race.
 9. Valerie Smith extends all the way on the sit and reach.

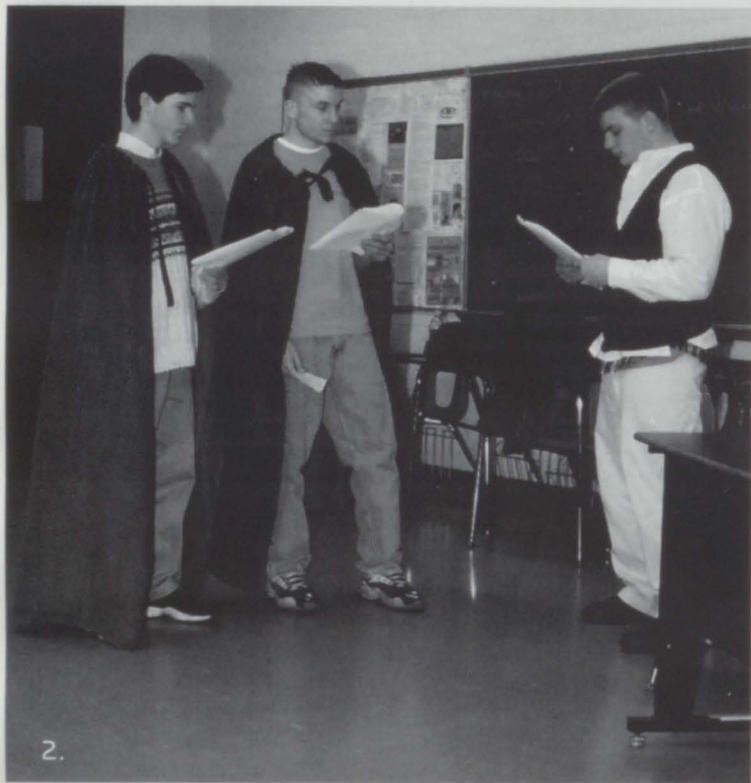

Making the Grade

English and Social Studies

The 1998-99 school year was really great for Madison. We lost a couple of teachers but gained some equally good ones. Mr. Martin filled the spot left by Mr. Bals, and Mr. Gilligan replaced Ms. Eismann. Next year will bring more changes in the English and social studies departments as Mr. Pavesich and Mr. Hance retire and Mr. Murray moves to Pennsylvania.

With change as the norm, students looked for excitement in their classes. Ms.

Jackson's junior English classes had the great opportunity to work with two actors, Darren and Diane, from the Great Lakes Theater Festival in Cleveland. All the juniors traveled to downtown Cleveland to see "A Raisin in the Sun." For their hands-on experience, Mr. Hertrick's government classes attended many school and local government meetings. Next year's block schedule will probably bring even more student activities to these classes.

1. Mr. Loeffel poses with Geoff Gehring as he dresses the role of a famous king for his Western Civ. class.
2. Axel Schulten, Jeff Neubert, and Jon Buckholz act out a scene from "The Crucible" during a visit from the Great Lakes Theater Festival.
3. Great Lakes Theater Festival actors assist junior English students Chris Green, Anne-Marie Romano, and Steve Kapostasy.
4. Mr. Hance takes time out of teaching to have a laugh with Steve Cordes and Scott Adams.
5. Jamie Elkadi and Karyn Crawford work in their government class trying to keep their feet and their grades elevated.

1. Melanie Lenk and Amanda Pniewski enjoy a peaceful day in English class.
 2. Jason Kinney and Ryan Hopkins pretend to look busy in government class.
 3. The junior honors English class spends the night in the MHS library reading The Great Gatsby. Still awake are Nick Rogers, Sara Hart, Maria Sovizral, and Rachel Mix.
 4. Mr. Pavesich shows his poetic side for his sophomore class.
 5. Darren, the actor-in-residence from GLTF, discusses the character motivations of a scene from "The Crucible" with Monica Stoddard, Todd Ness, and Amy Loehr while Katie Villers looks on.
 6. Tim Wiker and Ed Battes show their artistic abilities on Mr. Dragas' wall.

Headlines of the Century

Yearbook & Newspaper Say It All

The 1998-99 school year was one of hard work and many new experiences for the yearbook staff. Comprised of mostly new members, the staff went to workshops and helped each other learn the process for putting together this year's book. Staff members went to great lengths to cover many sports and scholastic events. The yearbook co-editors, Molly Morgan and Jenny Sincek, were a tremendous help to Ms. Jackson, yearbook advisor, in helping new members learn the computer software and putting in long hours after school to help with deadlines. The staff worked very hard this year to create a great book.

The Streak staff had another successful year, completing a newsworthy issue every month. One of the highlights this year, for the staff, was the new technology, such as a digital camera, zip drive, and new computer. "The digital camera was fun to experiment with and enhanced the quality of our newspaper pictures," noted senior Katie Watts, who co-edited the paper along with Geoff Gehring.

Art: Painting the World Tying Together Creativity & Fun

MHS offers a large variety of classes in which students are able to express themselves through their individual artwork. These art classes are taught by Mr. Ashton and Mrs. Parks. A total of ten different classes, they cover a wide range of interests such as photography, studio art, painting, and even print-making.

These art students provide a source of pride and an increasing amount of talent. Our recognition continues to grow as more awards are won. Senior Stephanie Balaban received top honors at the Lake Geauga Juried Art Show this year, and outstanding efforts were shown as Madison received honors in the Governor's Show as well.

In October, several art classes visited Tower City, the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame, and the Cleveland Museum of Art. In the spring, they will be touring Erie View Cemetery. Mr. Ashton explained, "It is enrichment for the students as well as possible subject matter."

1. Shannon Farr and Erin O'Donnell view some artwork on their field trip to the Cleveland Art Museum.
2. Mr. Ashton's class shows tons of enthusiasm as they gather around to watch: (left to right) Ben Spies, Jessica Bright, Tonia Brennen, Tracy Preston, Casey Maher, and Tony Debev.
3. Oh what fun it is to ride. . . on the Rapid Transit! Jessica Webster, Becky Grieser, Jessica Watson, Erin O'Donnell, and Allison Hogan try not to miss their stop while on their field trip to Cleveland.
4. What a mess! Cynthia Bowes and Emily Blauman work hard to get cleaned up from class.

Classes Tie into Real Life

Home Economics and Industrial Arts

From woods shop to parenting class, kids at Madison High School are tying their classes in with real life skills. Mrs. Ashton, Mrs. Delahunty, and an MHS first-year teacher, Miss Zupp, head up the home economics department, teaching students skills like cooking, sewing, parenting, and family relations. This year Mrs. Delahunty's Resource Management students took a trip to the Old Tavern in order to practice their manners and proper tipping. Her International Cuisine Class went to Beni Mana to enjoy the tastes of a Japanese steakhouse.

In the industrial arts section of the school, students also gain much practical knowledge. "These classes are great, because they are useful for learning skills for the future," commented one student in a Woods class. Mr. Petersen, Mr. Becka and Mr. Tolchinsky head up these classes for our school, teaching woodworking, metals, and drafting and CAD skills. This year they also added a new computer lab programmed to give students directions in career development.

5. Mike Meeker proudly exhibits his work.

6. Chris Morgan displays his tool box.

7. Tim Shinkle, Will Fedele, and Mitch Nusker tune up their drafting skills.

8. Oh, those underclassmen! Sophomore Matt Cummings practices surgical work on classmate Matt Walmer as the unamused senior, Jeff Henn, just rolls his eyes.

Business, SBH, JOGS

Academic Alternatives

MHS offers many old and new programs designed to help students prepare for the real world. The business program is beginning to make a come-back, offering anything from introductory classes to accounting and business law. New MHS teacher Mr. Petrus has big plans for next year, adding more computers into the business program and even offering a class on the internet.

Short for Jobs for Ohio Graduating Seniors, the JOGS program teaches students the practical skills they'll need immediately after graduation — if not sooner! They practice writing resumes and applications, and they deal with the skills needed in the work force.

The SBH program provides another opportunity for students to succeed in school. Mr. Andrus, Mrs. Westfall, and Mrs. Izzarelli work with small groups of students, helping them learn to deal with their emotions and develop the behavior necessary to survive in the classroom.

1. Dawn Bunnell peeks her head in the door to see what important issues Steve Reed and Tom O'Flaherty are discussing in business class.

2. Taking advantage of the rewards built into their program, the SBH students have a good game of basketball during a break from their studies. Taking on Mr. Andrus are Richard Liddy, T.J. Lang, and Deon Franklin.

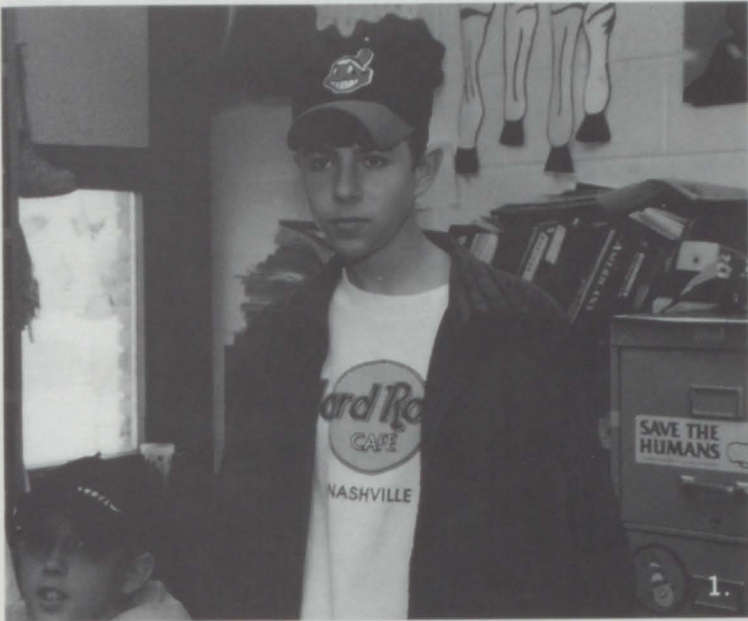

3. Tony Debevc and Rob Burgess learn about the world of work from Mr. Wardell.

4. Eric Hoover, Brett O'Brien, and Jeff Neubert turn to look at the camera while Mr. Petrus calls on the one student who seems to still be paying attention.

Helping Students Succeed Tying Up Educational Options

MHS offers many classes to help its students succeed. Mrs. Morgan, Mrs. Porter, and Mrs. Funk are always anxious to help their students stay on top. "For the kids who choose to take advantage of the program, it is very beneficial," commented Mrs. Debbie Morgan. "Some of my graduates have gone on to successful careers, including a psychologist and three special-ed teachers." Mrs. Porter likes the way it gives the kids different teaching advantages. "Traditional education is not for everyone." She believes her students are very determined: "They work even without being given credit."

Keeping It Loud

Bands Bring Down the House

The instrumental music department at MHS offers students a variety of experiences. Once the Marching Blue Streaks wrap up their season, our musicians become a symphonic band, some perform with stage band, and others pursue work in smaller ensembles or study music theory. These very dedicated students are supported by a similarly dedicated group of parents who manage the Band Boosters program, helping to raise funds and plan activities for the bands.

This year the MHS Symphonic Band captivated audiences playing such favorites as "Phantom of the Opera" and "Fairest of the Fair." The band is known for presenting phenomenal concerts, and their performance at the Lake County Musical Educators' Association Festival was no exception. They were directed by Mr. Josué Pérez and Ms.

Groah. The band members had a great time, dubbing the LCMEA Festival as "Band Fest '99."

Stage Band also kept very busy this year, playing for community events and for the Senior Citizens. They also got the fans in the stands rowdy when they played "Little Brown Jug" and "Sweet Georgia Brown" during a boys' basketball game. Stage Band, under the direction of Mr. Pérez, played "Zoot Soot Riot," "Jump Jive Wail," and "In the Mood" at the NHS induction ceremony in March.

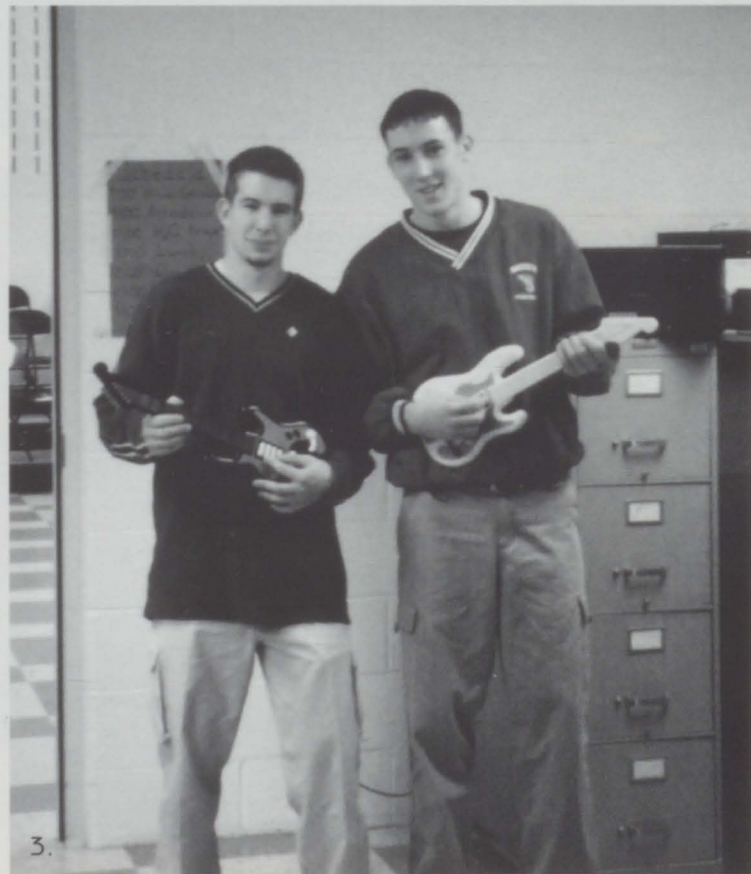

Music is something that all people, from students to adults, appreciate in one form or another. Music penetrates the ear only to leave the mind with wonder and pleasure. No matter how one sees music or what kind of music one listens to, none of it would be possible without the dedication of musicians like these.

4. Nick Wiker and Scott Adams keep the beat in the balcony.
 5. Kaytlin Falls and Tabitha Curran look over their music notes.
 6. Cathy Sisk and Christina George don't miss the beat.
 7. Margi Cosari and Anne Hodakievic put on a small concert during class.

The Voices of Madison High

The Choirs Expand Their Talents

Madison's choirs blossomed this year under the direction of new teacher Ms. Groah. Two new additions to the music department were the freshman choir, consisting of twenty-eight members, and the chamber ensemble, a more select eight-member group. Along with the concert choir of thirty-six members, the vocal groups staged fall, winter, and spring concerts and performed at the Lake County Festival. In addition to their concerts, the chamber ensemble also sang at events such as the inaugural dedication to Bill Stanton Memorial Park.

The show choir put together a show that included songs through the decades. They had fun performing at a variety of places and entertaining audiences at concerts. They also sang and danced for the senior citizens' lunch-in, the Chamber of Commerce, and at the Jefferson Show Choir Festival. In the spring, ...And Company enjoyed their traditional performances for the elementary schools, where they joined the stage band to entertain the young children.

Ending her first year at MHS, Ms. Groah exclaimed, "Teaching music is one of the most important things in my life, so that makes it easy for me. Everyone used to tell me that if you loved your job, you'd never work a day in your life. I'm living proof of that statement. I thoroughly enjoy working with all of my choirs, and I can't wait until next year."

1. The members of ...And Company smile for the camera after performing at NME.
2. "Do Re Me Fa So Laaaa..." sings the freshman choir while Miss Groah teaches a new song.
3. The concert choir practices for their Christmas Concert.
4. This is a stick up! Just kidding. Chris Green dances to "Total Eclipse of the Heart."

1. The choirs sing for the Homecoming game.
 2. The show choir brought their entertainment of Christmas songs to the Arcade in downtown Cleveland.
 3. The chamber ensemble shows their talent at the Christmas Concert.

4. Katie Watts, Tara Teschke, Kelly Zimmerman, Chris Green, Mike Mitchell, Meghan Orris, and Kari Ungers sing out for the crowd in Jefferson.
 5. Aaron Drews and JP Gloger sing their duet, "Friends."
 6. The ladies of the show choir — Sarah Shook, Tara Teschke, Katie O'Leary, Jamie Muscato, Katie Watts, Amanda Brafford, Kari Ungers, Ashley Collinsworth, and Meghan Orris — sing at the homecoming assembly.

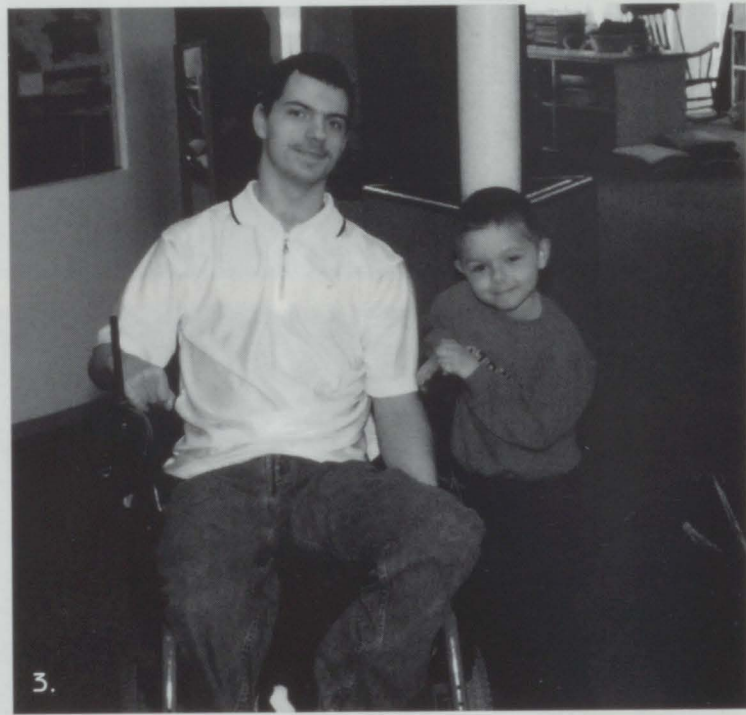

Tying in Their Knowledge

ACC Prepares Students for Work Force

Each new year a few familiar faces are missing from the halls of MHS. They haven't dropped out — they've just decided to get a head start on their careers. The missing students have enrolled in Auburn Career Center to learn more in their chosen fields.

ACC offers a variety of fields including administrative office services, auto body, building remodeling and repair, community & home services, cosmetology, culinary arts, diversified health services, early childhood development, electronics, graphic communications, horticulture, industrial technologies, information processing, transitional employment, marketing education, and occupational work experience. It also offers a second chance to many students who just don't fit in the traditional schooling programs.

1. Bryan Connor and co-worker work on the roof of the house they are building at ACC.
 2. ACC students Mike Dugan and Ken Burr get on-site experience — imagine what their homework is like!
 3. James Rogers makes a new friend in his child development class.
 4. Jesse Ludwick does body work on a truck.
 5. Chris Fulton and Steve Ward welcome visitors to Auburn Career Center.

1. Steve Dille prepares side garnishes for patrons at the ACC restaurant.
2. Teasa Morgan shows off the flowers she grew in her horticulture science class.
3. Two heads are better than one! Gina Frederick practices curling hair on the mannequin.
4. Mitchel Teague isn't too thrilled to have his picture taken.
5. Bill Kindt and Travis Piché take a break from their shop class.
6. Dennis Kurlinski works on his communications project.

1. Miranda Sims and Alisha Pierce practice office work.
2. Friends Mandy Mayfield and Kristen Zaborowski work at the front desk in the hair salon.
3. Tina Carroll, Tammy Fidanza, Beth Divelbiss, James Rogers, Stacy Majernik, Kyla Rupe, and Jenny Boysko take a break from the crazy kids to have their picture snapped.
4. Crystal Troglin and her friend smile for the camera.
5. Patty Gramoy prepares a salad in the cooking class.
6. Bill Reznak works on the engine of his class project.
7. Sean Shelley listens to his teacher during class.

9. Sara Wyatt shampoos a mannequin's hair.

Striving for Excellence School Outside of High School

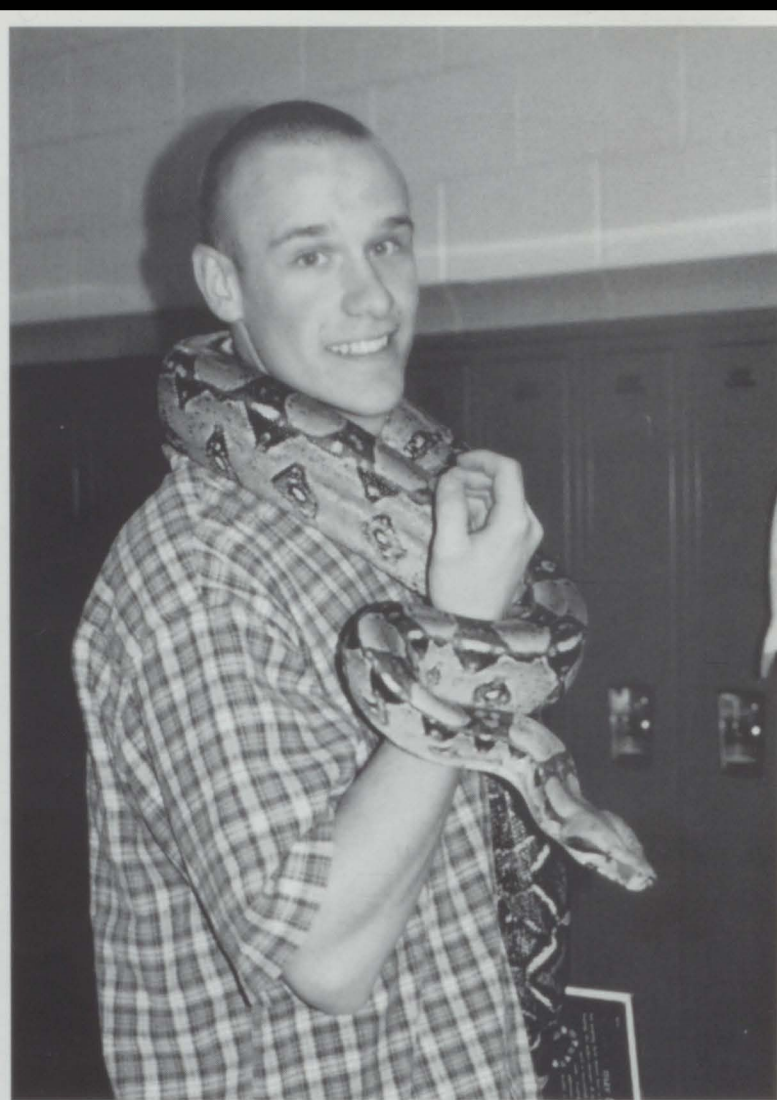

For the past few years, MHS and other students have been offered a special opportunity to go above and beyond the normal high school standard. With the right GPA, juniors and seniors have the choice of a college education during their high school years. This year twelve juniors and twenty seniors were involved. To become active in this college program, students must apply to the college and meet all of the requirements. As long as they meet these, they are able to attend college classes. Counselor Mrs. Ankrom stated, "This program is an excellent choice for students here at Madison. The high school pays for the education of the individual. This way they get a jump start on their college education." Though the students are able to attend the college classes, they are still able to be involved in sports and other Madison activities. Tiffany Lorenz, an MHS swimmer, praised the option which gives students both more freedom and more responsibility: "I was still able to be active at Madison and felt it was an extreme learning process."

1. Being a "college student" doesn't stop Irena Erdeg from having a great time at the MHS Prom.
2. Junior Rachel Mix takes advantage of the post-secondary plan.
3. Though juniors Amy Moniot and Jessica Peine go to different schools during the day, they have plenty of time to have fun at the Homecoming dance.
4. Stephen Rabe, who combined classes at MHS and college, celebrates his NHS induction.
5. In his spare time, which is quite sparse, senior Will Johnson acts out his part in the school play.

MEMORIALS

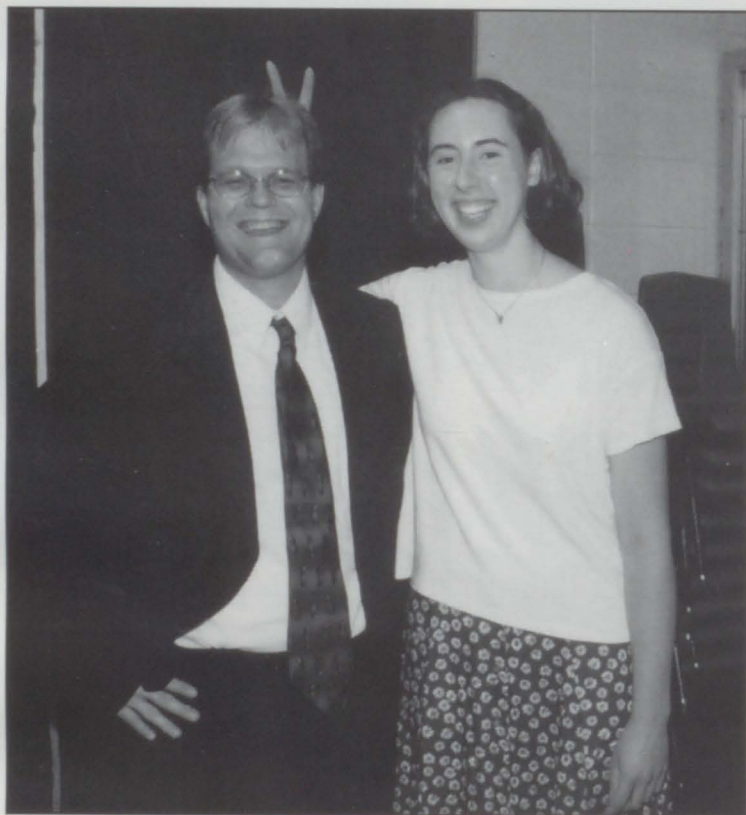

A Tie-In to "Real Life"

Senior Projects End the Year

This year MHS followed through with a recently established practice of allowing seniors to earn credit for life experiences outside the high school. Students who have passed all courses first semester and maintained good grades during the third quarter, who have met all the requirements of graduation, who have demonstrated good attendance, and who have shown good citizenship throughout their years at MHS are eligible to participate.

Each student must develop his own proposal and find a community contact willing to work together on the project. This year twenty-two seniors participated, gaining invaluable experience in many fields, from law to medicine to education to agriculture, among others. Abbey Eddington, for example, worked at Middle Ridge Gardens, where she was put in charge of a designated field of asparagus, working in the field and keeping records of the marketing and sales. Her community sponsors, Tom and Sue Woodworth, even donated one-quarter of her profits to MHS. Amber Pinkney, who worked with a fifth grade class at Homer Nash Kimball, raved about her experience: "I woke up every day looking forward to going to school!"

▲ Kate Ostrander demonstrated her droll sense of humor when she discussed her senior project. Her experience included a tour of the jail facilities, where, as she pointed out, the inmates share the same underwear. Drawing a chuckle from the audience, she added, "They do wash it!" Kate also combed through 2,075 files on Lake County crimes to determine the possibility of a relationship between a full moon and an increase in crimes. Andrea Mathaway discusses the details of her project with Mr. Heffner. ►

A Night in Heaven Prom 1999

This year MHS decided to try something different by holding the junior/senior prom at the Madison Country Club rather than at DeRuberis Party Center. Complete with valet parking and a sit-down dinner, all 350 students danced the night away. They were truly "on cloud nine" with the prom theme as "A Night in Heaven."

Her first time attending prom in high school, Brooke Billman stated, "The juniors really did a good job putting everything together. I had a lot of fun." The decorations — consisting of balloons, centerpieces, and white lights — were exquisite.

Our 1999 prom court included five couples: Rickee Wirtzberger and Matt Sample, Heidie McCloud and Bob Bastian, Casey Maher and Tony Debevc, Cindi Evangelista and Kevin Clark, and Kari Ungers and Aaron Belcher. The group waited in anticipation as they announced the winners. Walking away with the royal crowns were Cindi Evangelista and Bob Bastian.

1. Melanie Lenk and Jamie Barnum wait for one more photograph — their smiles haven't faded yet.

2. Erica Izzarelli and Jon Buckholz pose on the front porch of the Madison Country Club.

3. Justin Pauley, Tiffany Florentine, Adam Smith, and Jennifer Barrette arrive at the Prom in style.
4. Jeff Neubert and Holly Preston model their formal wear.

◀ Ken Miller and Jessica Bolyard enjoy their evening at the Prom.
 ▼ Tom Williams, Jamie Anderson, Kristy Suchomski, Teresa Brewster, Amber Pinkney, and Ryan Hutton are getting lots of practice lining up for those group shots.

King & Queen

1. The disc jockey offers to "spin a tune" for Mary Elliott and Erin Hall.
2. Jenn Steinheiser makes an unusual fashion statement.
3. Even chaperones Ms. Tennant, Mrs. Collins, Mr. Morgan, Mrs. Church, and Mrs. Battes had a great time at the 1999 prom!

4. Joë Hejduk and Alaina Pike arrive at the Madison Country Club in style.
 5. The prom provides a chance for friends Shannon Farr, Jennifer Bonnette, and Jessica Gould to share some time together before they graduate and go their separate ways.
 6. Amanda Brafford enjoys the appetizers supplied by the junior class.

"All of us look to the past with great pride and to the future with much anticipation and hope. As we prepare ourselves for this new beginning, we need to be reminded of what it takes to achieve our dreams: determination, courage, and, most importantly, hard work."
— Kate Ostrander, valedictorian

"Now it is my challenge to you to always remember the sacrifices your parents have made and, when your time comes, to love and support someone else in that same way."
— Megan Hrbek, co-salutatorian

"Each one of us has been blessed with a foundation of knowledge to build on, a sense of community, and treasured friendships that will guide us throughout our lives."
— Meghan Orris, co-salutatorian

"That's a Wrap!"

The MHS graduating class of 1999, which consists of 213 seniors, has made its mark in Madison's history and is now ready to move on to bigger and better things. Over 95 percent of the students who started here four years ago crossed the stage on Saturday, June 5. From there they go their separate ways — many to college, some to the military, and some straight into jobs and careers. Superintendent Stan Heffner congratulated them during commencement exercises, saying, "This class will be known for its poise, its maturity and its leadership."

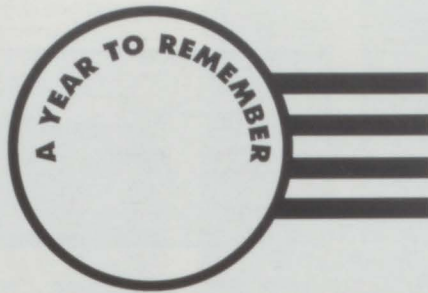

Student council president Aaron Drews began the speeches, telling his classmates, "We no longer can dwell in the past but we must look to the future. On the other side of this door lie the hopes and dreams of us all." He was followed by Nancy Caswell, who served for all four years as her class president. She presented the class gifts: one educational (dry-erase boards for the science classrooms), one for beautification (benches for the brick patio), and one historical (a donation toward the Alumni Hall of Fame). Nancy summed up what many graduates were feeling: "It seems like just yesterday we were all just freshmen frantically trying to find our homeroom, and today we are standing on the brink of our destinies."

1. Casey Maher and Kari Ungers sang the National Anthem to open the ceremony.
2. Mrs. Morgan and Christina Clark share a "warm, fuzzy" moment.
3. A few short steps for most graduates but a giant step for Jeff Henn, who made his way across the stage on his own — with the help of a standing ovation from the crowd.
4. Ryan Kunsman, Jamie Muscato, and Marc Petersen pose for family and friends in the cafeteria after graduation.
5. Tanya Willett, Kevin Williams, and Ray Welch share a moment of happiness, pride, and perhaps even relief now that they've made it through the graduation ceremonies.
6. D.J. Howley waits with his class in the lecture hall before they begin the procession to the gymnasium.

Perfection Corporation

We've been providing superior service and constant innovation to our customers for 50 years. And we owe our success to the consistent hard work, trust and vision of every person in the company. Most of these people are your neighbors. Many were born and raised right here in Lake and Ashtabula Counties. Their day-to-day acts of creativity and leadership over the years have added up to Perfection's superior performance.

We owe our success to your neighbors.

The 1998-'99 Cauldron

A Publication of the
Madison High School
Blue Streaks

Madison High School
3100 Burns Road
Madison, Ohio 44057
(440) 428-2161

Five hundred copies of Volume 70 of The Cauldron, entitled Tying Up the Century, were printed by the Taylor Publishing Company in Dallas, Texas. Most copy was set in a 10-point Nouveau Gothic font, with headlines in Brush script. Copy was submitted on IBM disks using Taylor's UltraVision program. The cost of the yearbook was $45 ($40 presale).

The yearbook staff would like to express our sincerest thanks to all students, friends, and parents and to all the administrators, teachers, club advisors, coaches, and office staff who assisted and supported us throughout the year. A special thanks to all those who contributed their time, advice, photos, etc. to the 1998-'99 Cauldron, including Barbian Photography, Sarah Bowman, Tony Cicero, Mary Jackson, Jan Kiess, Beth Leonard, Cindy McKibben, Debbie Morgan, Kevin Morgan, Susan Quayle, and Bob Richmond. Thanks also to the people at Taylor Publishing, specifically Melody Lundquist and our new Taylor representative, Cindy Carty.

One final note. . . .

Please remember that the Cauldron is a student publication. We work very hard to avoid, find, and correct errors, and we apologize for those we missed. This year's staff included returning seniors Gina Emmett, Amy Kahr Sgro, Molly Morgan, and Jennifer Sincek; seniors Kevin Clark, Christina DeRubertis, Aaron Drews, Matt Sample (photographer extraordinaire), and Kari Ungers; juniors Jessica Baird, Rachel Born, Marie Casto, Carly Kidder, Liz Kusar, Erin Morgan, Erin O'Donnell, Jenn Steinheiser, and Emily Winton; and advisor Ms. Kathy Jackson.

The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. It emphasizes that every entry, no matter how small, should be recorded to ensure the integrity of the financial statements. This includes not only sales and purchases but also expenses and income. The text suggests that a systematic approach to bookkeeping can help in identifying trends and potential areas for improvement in the business's financial health.

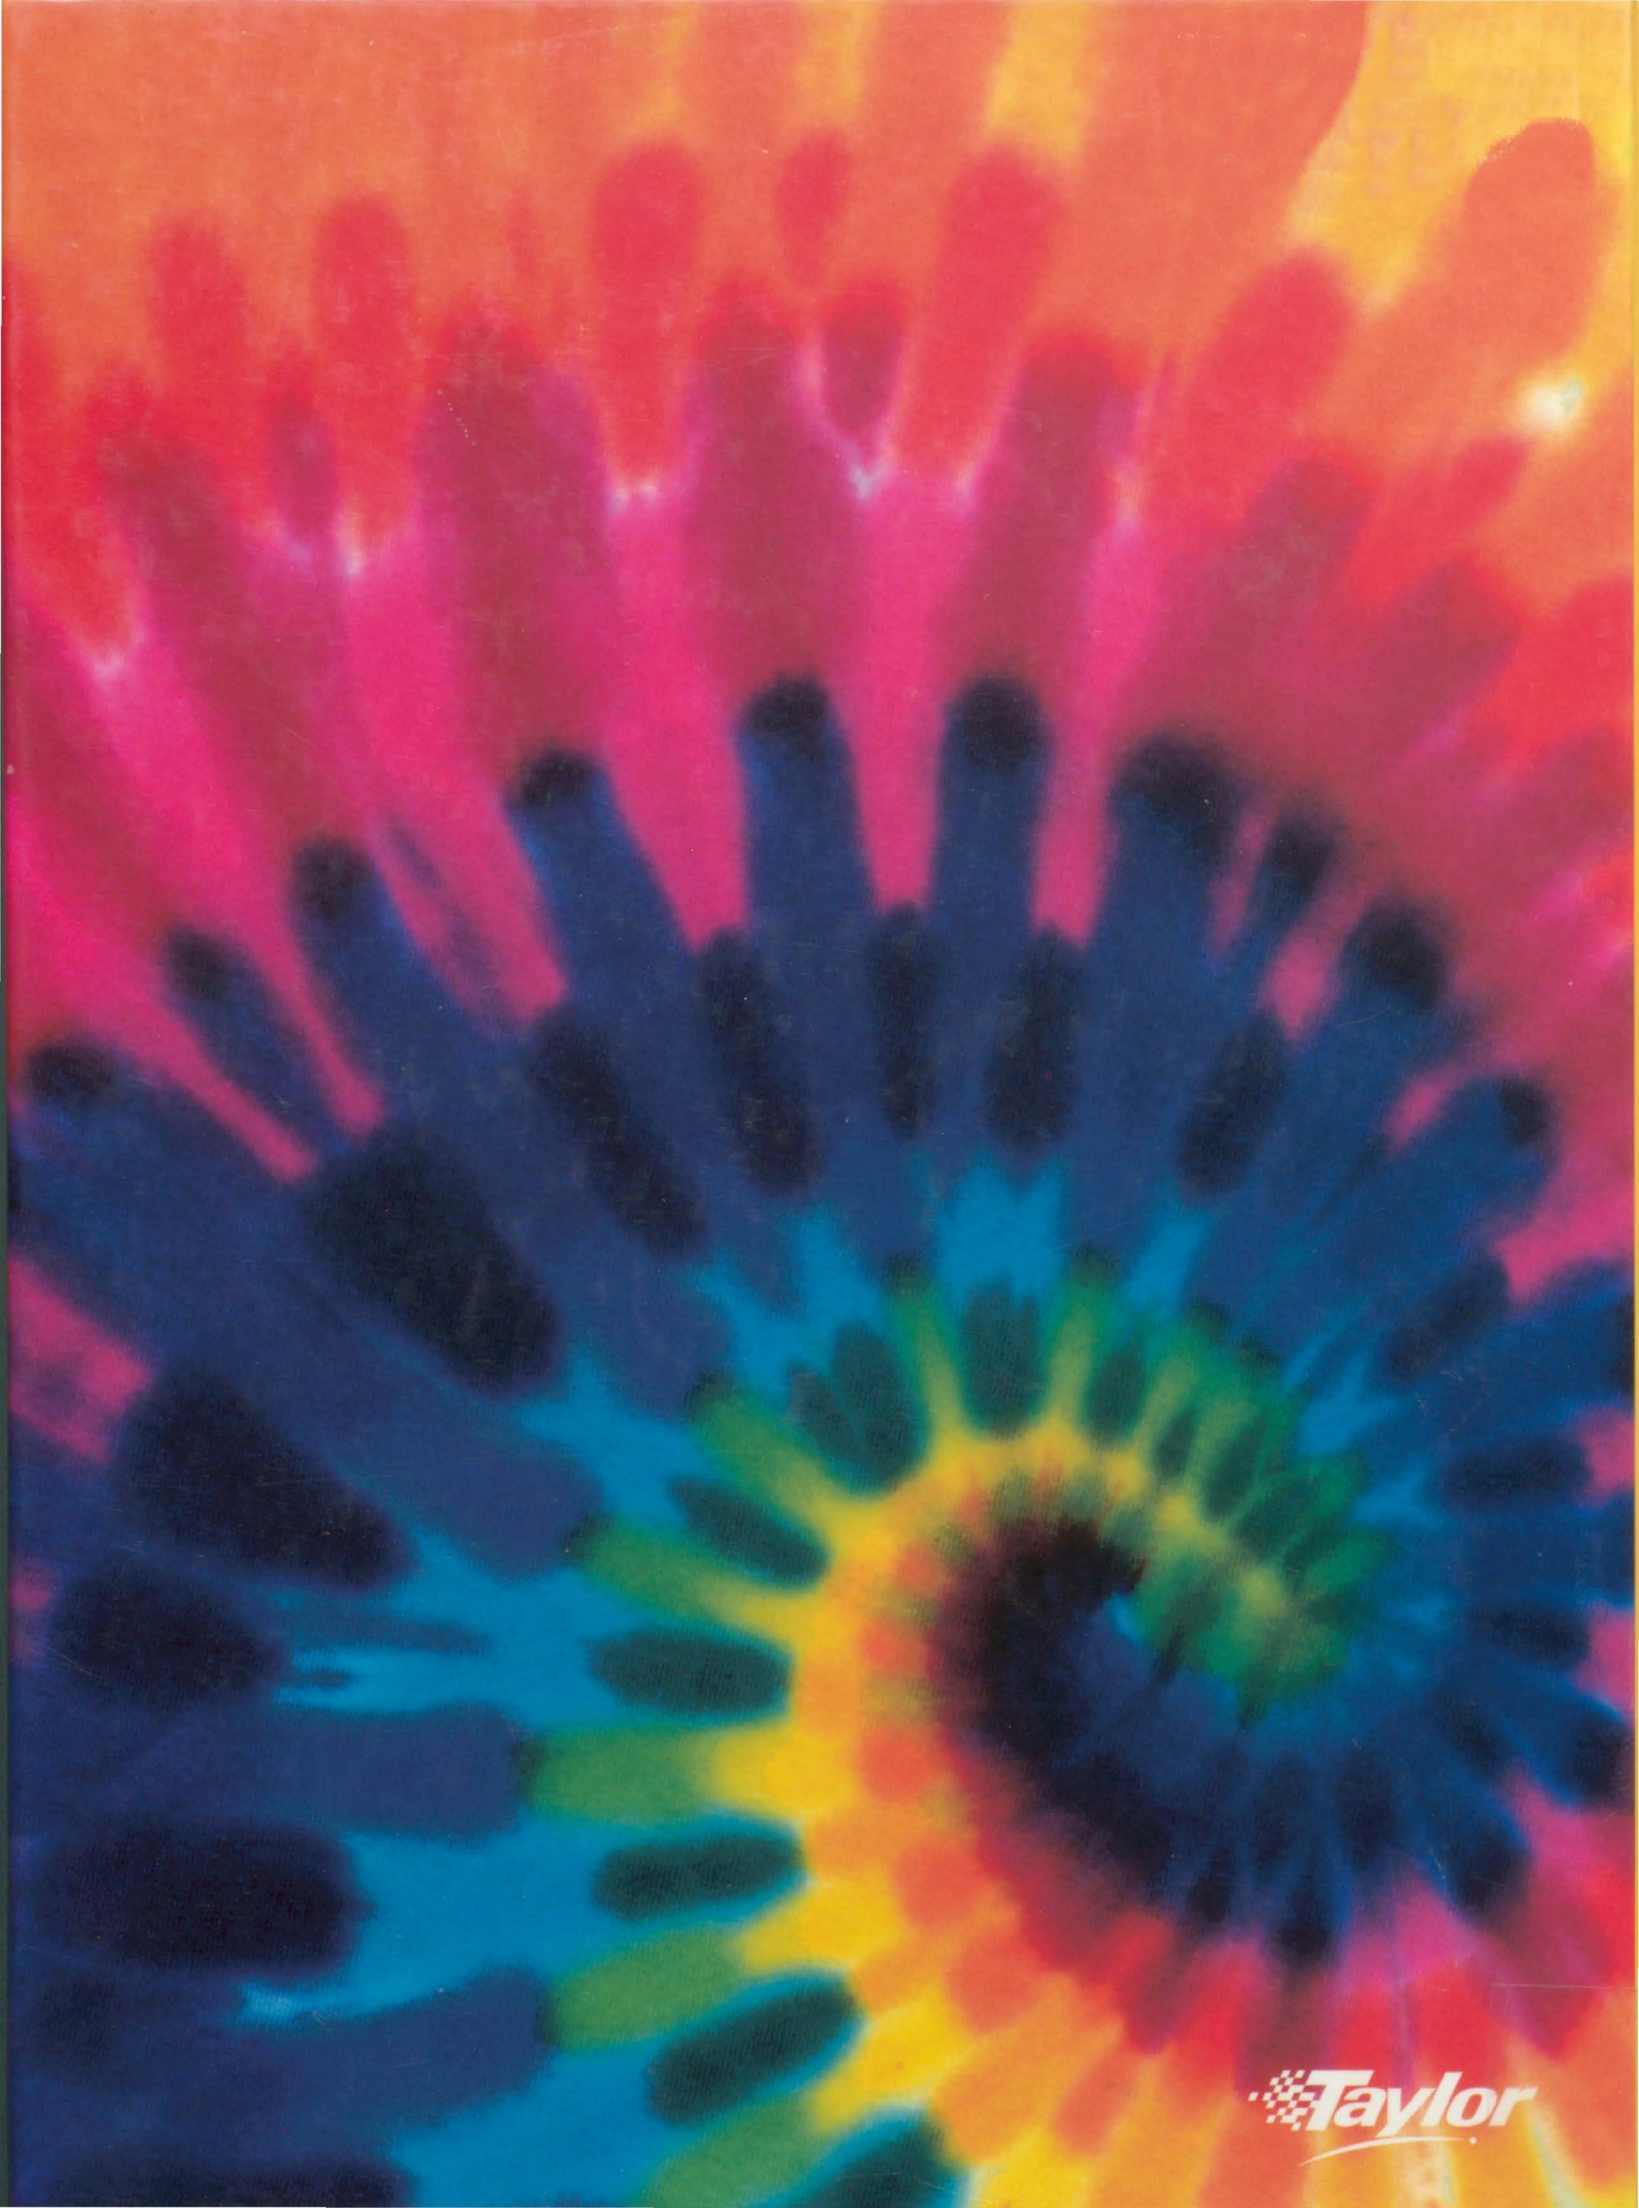

In the second section, the author delves into the complexities of tax regulations. It highlights the need for a thorough understanding of the current tax laws and how they apply to the specific business structure. The text advises consulting with a professional tax advisor to ensure compliance and to explore all available tax deductions and credits. This section also touches upon the importance of staying updated on legislative changes that could impact the business's tax obligations.

The third part of the document focuses on budgeting and financial forecasting. It explains how a well-defined budget can serve as a roadmap for the business's financial future. By setting realistic goals and monitoring actual performance against the budget, the business can make informed decisions and adjust its strategy as needed. The text also discusses the role of financial forecasting in identifying potential risks and opportunities, allowing the business to proactively manage its financial resources.

Finally, the document concludes with a discussion on the importance of regular financial reviews. It stresses that periodic analysis of the business's financial performance is essential for long-term success. This involves comparing actual results with the budget and identifying any variances. The text suggests that these reviews should be conducted at regular intervals, such as quarterly or annually, to ensure that the business remains on track and to make necessary adjustments to its financial plan.
