SENIORS STREAK TO A FINISH

The class of two thousand left one of the most colorful marks on the school as any class has in the past few years. Between leading various sports teams to championships to creating one of the finest drama programs in the area, this year's senior class was definitely diverse. Dave Conant commented on his last year by saying, "I will always remember my friends and the times we've had." As they finished up their four years at Madison High, they created memories that will be discussed for reunions to come. Good Luck, Seniors, and may you succeed in everything you do.

Juniors Face New Challenges

The Class of 2001 spent the millennium wrapping up its first year of being upperclassmen. In that role, they took on many new responsibilities as leaders: they became more involved in varsity sports and spirit contests; they planned and organized their prom; they began saving funds for their homecoming and class gift. Along with all of this activity, they learned to excel in their academics and to challenge themselves even more.

Trying a technical program such as those offered at Auburn Career Center or taking advantage of the Post-Secondary Option B at Lakeland Community College, Lake Erie College, or Kent State/Ashtabula offered more adventures for the class of 2001 to experience.

While going through these couple of hectic years, they will make new friends, cherish the old ones, and accumulate memories that will last them a lifetime. They will certainly take the knowledge, friendships, and memories with them as they journey into their senior year and beyond the walls of Madison High School.

Sophomores Soar into a New Era!!

This year's sophomores took one step closer to becoming upperclassmen. As the class of 2002 streaked forward, many new opportunities began to appear in their lives.

Most met the challenges with a positive attitude, high spirits, and anticipation. "It's been great. I have made a lot of new friends, and I think this year has been a lot better than my freshman year. I am really looking forward to being an upperclassmen!" said Jennifer Byram.

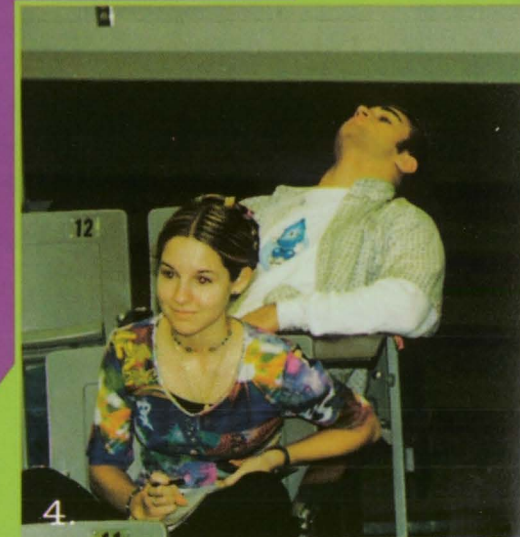

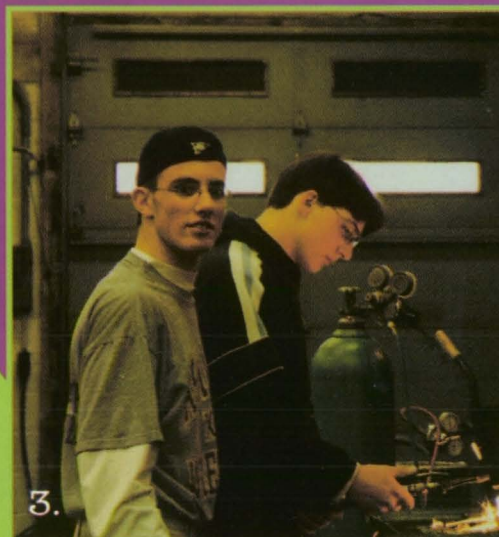

During this momentous year, the majority of sophomores turned the "big" 16, and received their long-awaited driver's license. Along with this accomplishment came many new discoveries and experiences: paying car insurance, running errands, getting a job. Still, these sophomores were more than ready to gain this added independence.

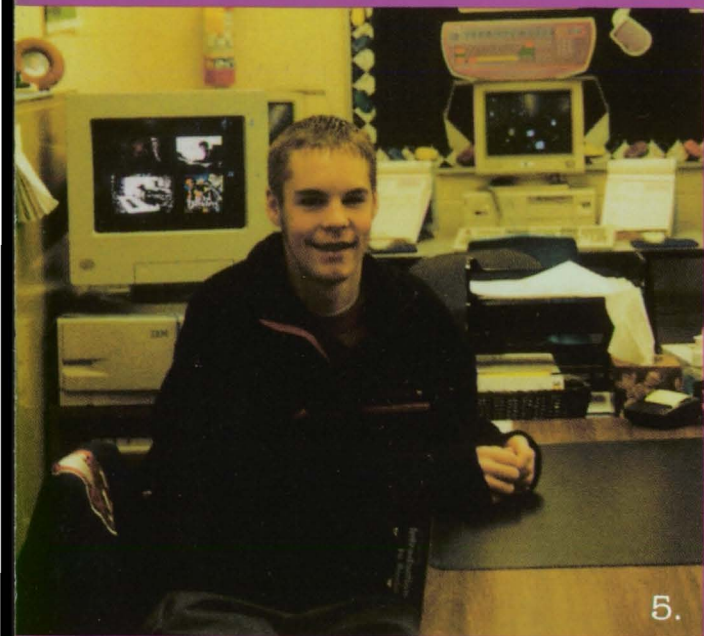

Sophomore Kevin Barnhart said, "I can't wait to get my license. It will be so cool to be able to actually drive myself places I want to go." Mike Whipple added, "Even though I haven't actually gotten my license yet, I am already starting to experience some of the responsibilities that come with it. I just wonder what my parents will have me do when I finally do get my licence!"

This sophomore class sure has a lot to look forward to!

Freshmen Join the Ranks of MHS

The class of 2003 encountered many changes between middle school and high school. Their top concerns as they moved from MMS to MHS included adjusting to block scheduling and learning to deal with seniors. Asked how he felt about block classes now, freshman Chris Zundel explained, "I like having block classes because you don't have a lot of a homework and you only have to worry about a few subjects at a time."

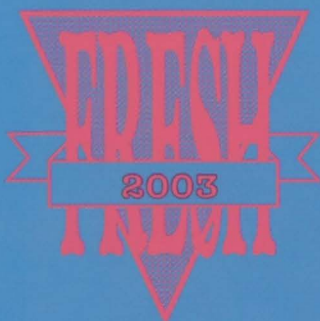

Many of the freshmen joined Student Council, Key Club, or Drama Club to make their first year easier by meeting new people and getting involved at school. The upperclassmen weren't quite so threatening up close, as Heather Britton explained, "Being a member of the girls' tennis team, and a cheerleader for boys' basketball, I've made friends with so many upper-classmen and I feel comfortable at the high school."

The freshmen also stood out with their class spirit, supporting their fellow athletes by attending many sporting events and tail-gate parties. With painted faces and blue-and-white attire, Molly Gehring and Jessica Hart said, "Getting painted up was the perfect way to start off our high school experiences by cheering on the our school's winning football team. By being part of the spirit squad, we got the chance to meet many upperclassmen, who were also there to cheer on the team."

This freshmen class has many things to look forward to in their up-coming years. They've gotten off to a great start with their class spirit and unity.

Hawaiian Night a Success

HOMECOMING

This year's homecoming was an experience to remember. With the bright colors of the Hawaiian Luau atmosphere, everyone was excited and ready to dance. The festivities began on Friday afternoon with the court's homemade videos and continued throughout the night with a big win over Willoughby South and the crowning of the 1999 homecoming queen, Lynda Barnhart. Blue Streak fans were as loud and crazy as ever. The guys showed their spirit by painting "GO BLUE" on their chests.

The next night, the guests of Homecoming '99 were handed a lei at the door and sent off to dance the night away. After the disc jockey figured out his equipment, the party was under way. Asked about her homecoming experience, Rena Schafer commented, "I was mad when the punch ran out." Joe Pikor had this to say about his night, "It was fun because I was in love with my date." Overall, the mood was set the for a great night.

1. Cheerleaders get ready for the mighty Blue Streaks to burst through their sign.

4. Kristy Skaggs and Marlana Harvey watch Kara Jackson finish up a paint job.
5. This group has spirit all "tyed" up: the swim team shows off their true colors before districts.
6. Mr. M.--Madison's unofficial mascot James Gehring carried the flag of pride from football season right onto the basketball court.
7. Even Superintendent Stan Heffner got caught up in the spirit. Here he participates in a skit for the homecoming assembly--either that or he's found a way to solve the shortage of bus drivers!

Fall Sports

Football Team Streaks into Another PAC Win

The Madison football team made the last season of the millennium a great one. Finishing off the regular season 9-1, they made this team one of the best that Madison has seen. The whole team put forth great effort, with senior Josh Haldi passing for a record 2,457 yards and senior Jim Smith receiving for 1,425 yards. The entire team racked up admirable performances. Jason Schiavoni scored 62 points for the Streaks. When asked about the season, Schiavoni said, "We had an awesome group of seniors and it was a season I will never forget. I wish the underclassmen great years to come and much success in all they do."

The coaches did their part, too. Mr. Bortnick, who received the "Coach of the Year" award, commented, "I was very honored to be recognized, but the award is more fitting to all the work and sacrifice that the assistant coaches put in this season. The award recognizes the dedication and commitment of the coaching staff and the players that made this season a successful one."

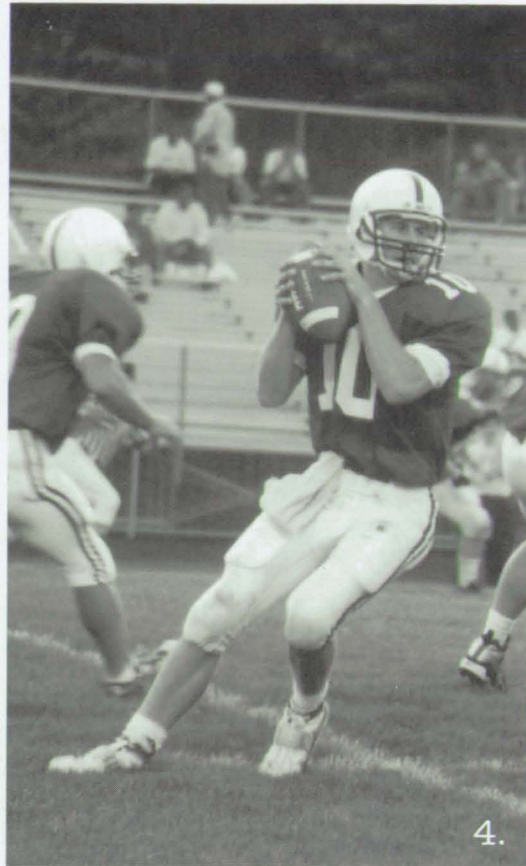

The team ended their season with only one loss, which came after a tough double-overtime battle with Chardon. Going into the playoffs, the Streaks were ready to take on Niles McKinley. They fought hard throughout the game, and although they came up short at the end, they held their heads high and were happy with their wonderful season.

1. Ryan Hopkins leads the team onto the field.
2. The team captains meet with the referee to start the game.
3. The team huddles to get pumped up before the game.

Cheerleaders 'Cheer' on Winning Season

The Varsity football cheerleaders had a memorable season, cheering for a winning team. School spirit was brought to a new level and the twelve cheerleaders worked together for success.

"I think it was an awesome season and I'm going to miss all the senior girls; they were all big sisters to me," said sophomore Mena Nappo.

With new coaches Linda Craigo and Debbie Morgan, the girls decorated the school for the first week of classes. The "Hall of Balls," which recognized all the players from all the fall sports, proved to be quite successful among fall athletes. Madison businesses responded to the explosive Streak spirit by hanging posters reading "Go Big Blue" and "Fight Blue and White" in their windows.

The Streak boys and Madison Mascot James Gehring helped the cheerleaders put on a pep assembly during playoff week. They seemed to enjoy cheering along with the girls and beating up the Niles McKinley Red Dragon.

"The 1999 varsity football cheerleading squad is by far one of the best group of girls I have ever worked with. Their hard work and dedication and spirit made my job an enjoyable one. They have the skills to be very successful, and I wish them all the best," said head coach Linda Craigo.

The cheerleaders attended a cheer camp during July and began practicing for the season in August. They also raised money through sucker sales and other various fundraisers.

JV and Freshman Teams Score Winning Seasons

Following up the varsity squad, the JV team also had a very promising finish to their 1999 season. Even though they didn't have as many games as they would have liked, they did play a very tough schedule with such teams as Willoughby South, Chardon, and Eastlake North. Showing their true spirit, they played every game as if it were their last. For example, the team went to Chardon and battled both the snow and a long-time rival. Sophomore Todd Getzy commented on that game, "We all played very hard and had a lot of fun even though we came out with a loss." Junior Dave Tvergyak summed up their season, "We had lots of fun and we gained good experience for next year."

Showing much promise for next year's JV squad, the freshman team proved themselves on the playing field with a strong 7-2 final record. Quarterback Ricky Evans spoke for his teammates, "We started off strong, but we didn't end up as well as we wanted to." Running back Devin Artz thought his team made a big improvement on the 1-7 record they brought with them from their 8th grade year. Looking back on the year, Josh Hehmeyer picked Willoughby South--a team they beat by only two points--as their most challenging opponent.

1. Taylor Pniewski stiff-arms his defender to the ground while running past him.
2. Madison punt coverage tries to jump on the loose ball.

8. Steve Reed and Todd Getzy do the job for defense.

9. Ricky Evans drops back to throw to his receiver.

Streaks Set Up a Winning Tradition

The 1999 Lady Blue Streaks volleyball team made Madison High School proud this season as they clinched the PAC championship and became district runners up. Beginning in the summer, the girls played in two team camps, while others also attended individual camps. The young ladies proved themselves at the Youngstown State University Camp by taking first place in the tournament and winning the infamous pink pants. The team also had fun in the summer by holding a little kids' volleyball camp. A highlight of the season came at the Notre Dame-Cathedral Latin tournament. By defeating NDCL and handing Jefferson one of their two losses of the season, the Streaks acquired their first place trophies. Lead by senior outside hitter Emily Winton and senior middle backs Erin Morgan and Jessica Baird, the team's overall record was 19-7. "I had so much fun this year. Our team worked so hard and I am so proud of us and all of our accomplishments we reached," commented Jessica Baird. Backing up the seniors, junior Tonia Brennen and sophomore Jessica Bright smashed the ball across the net in their middle hitter position. The rest of the Streaks' intimidating front line consisted of Winton, Emily Blauman, Jennie Schmid, Natalie Fisher, Melanie Fisher, and Jessica Kallio. Behind all the front row glory, Kara Jackson was the setter. Defensive specialists on the team were Morgan, Baird, and Danielle Fredericks. All in all the team had an outstanding season and hopefully Coach Stofan bring his team to another winning season next year. Good luck, girls!

1. Riding in style: the girls take off to a scrimmage in a limo.
2. Who's number one? The Streaks show off their first-place trophies.
3. Kara Jackson flies over the net at Austintown Fitch.

4. Juniors Kara Jackson, Jennifer Schmid, Tonia Brennen, Natalie Fisher, and Melanie Fisher have a little fun at the Youngstown State Camp.

5. Up-and-coming superstars, sophomores Emily Blauman and Jessica Bright take a break from volleyball.
 6. Tonia Brennen won't let this ball come over the net.

 8. Erin Morgan reveals complete concentration as she passes the ball.
 9. Kara Jackson sets up Emily Winton for a "short."
 10. The team shows the pants.

Continuing the Rotation: JV and Freshmen Teams Look to Future

The junior varsity volleyball team excelled above and beyond their standards this season. The leadership of the experienced girls along with the newcomers led the JV team to a record of 13-1. With their coach, Stephanie Kubec, and captains, Sarah Scott and Nichole Nowakowski, Sarah Scott will be ready to move forward in upcoming years. Hitter Rachel Pike summed it up in her own words, "I think that our volleyball season went very well. We had a very successful year and I hope we do just as well next year." Captain Sarah Scott added, "This season was incredible! The girls were all great and there is a lot of talent on the team."

The freshman team also had a decent year. Struggling with only seven girls on the bench, Coach Erica Bukky made it through the season with a record of 4-14. The team jogged through the year, learning new volleyball skills and making memorable moments. "I think that our volleyball season went very well overall. We had four girls playing for the first time and after a few games it was amazing how the 'new and old' meshed together," team member Maria Soriano commented, adding, "Although we didn't have the perfect season, we still had a great time. Next year I hope all of the freshmen team is together again on JV."

All together the freshman and junior varsity team were pleased with their accomplishments this year. They reached all of their goals and worked great as a team. They will have a great time in the years to come.

1. Kathy Casto, Lindsay Schmid, Sarah Scott, Lindsay Keipert, Wendy Lang, and Kristi Jackson take a time-out during a tough match.
2. The junior varsity team gets their pep talk from Coach Kubec before they head out on the court.

Girls Take Center Court

This was the second year that Madison High School had a varsity girls' tennis team. Proving a real plus to the fall sports calendar, the girls finished the season with thirteen wins and only five losses, which enabled them to win the PAC. Katie Shears, Amy Blauman, and Laura Fussaro played first, second, and third singles. Freshmen Erica Baird and Karla Kershaw played first doubles. Erika Gibbon, Jessica Jameson, Clara Ramirez, Stephanie Clough, and Danielle Sutter played second doubles.

Sophomore Erika Gibbon applauded the success of her team: "We did very well with the new freshmen." Glad to be a part of the team, freshman Megan Clark commented, "Even though I didn't get to play very much, I still had a lot of fun and made new friends." All Lindsey Davis had to say was, "I had a lot of fun and learned how to play tennis much better." Coach Mark Vidmar commented on the season, saying, "We surprised everyone by winning the PAC, and we look to repeat it next year. Willoughby South will be very competitive as well." Great job, girls, and the best of luck next year!

1. Senior Jessica Cummings forehands the ball to her opponent.
2. Erika Gibbon concentrates hard on returning the ball.
3. Just clowning around: jumping over the net doesn't prove too easy for this pair!
4. Jessica Jameson and Clara Ramirez pair up for a doubles match.
5. Freshman Karla Kershaw jumps to save the ball.
6. Laura Fussaro and Amy Blauman take some time out to perfect their returns.
7. Erica Baird and Karla Kershaw demonstrate some teamwork on the court.

A Season of Rebuilding for Boys' Varsity Soccer Team

The 1999 season was one of rebuilding for the boys' varsity soccer team. The team was very young, with ten of the seventeen players experiencing their first varsity season. And despite conditioning and playing together throughout the summer, the guys ended the year with a record of 1-15-1.

Coach Dave Zundel was extremely proud of his team, saying, "Through all of the high schools this year, they are teaching that character counts. The guys only won a single game, but by being respectful to every team, regardless of what the outcome of the game was, they showed that character counts."

According to Coach Zundel, many coaches are very excited to play the team next year, since they will have much more experience and playing time together. To prepare for the 2000 season, Zundel will be taking the team to a soccer camp at Tiffin

College and will also have them practice together over the summer.

"Even though the season didn't quite go the way I hoped, I really enjoyed playing [soccer] with all of the freshmen. I believe that in the next few years, the team can go really far with all of the talent that they have," co-captain Chris Burr commented.

JV Soccer Setting New Goals for the Future

The 1999 Blue Streaks JV soccer teams both had tough seasons this year with new coaches and many challenging opponents. The boys' team had a rocky start, but improved greatly. The ninth game began their "blue streak" of five shut-out victories against Geneva, Wickliffe, Edgewood, Riverside, and ending with their most memorable victory against Chardon. Coached by Gary Granger, the Streaks finished their season with a record of two wins, four losses, and one tie in the NEC, and an overall record of 5-9-1. The boy Streaks were the only team to score on Eastlake North the entire season. "With many young newcomers to the team, there was opposition by many who doubted our abilities and chance of a winning season," quoted team captain Glenn Bailey. Co-Captain Derek Charrette added, "We came through at the end of the season and won five games!"

That same tough spirit and Blue Streak pride shone in the girls' JV team as well. Led by co-captains Ashley Locker and Tiffany Ford, they started their season off slow but finished their last six games with a 3-2-1 record. Their overall record was 4-9-1. Both Janelle Markgraf and Kristen Charrette agreed that their most memorable game was the one against Mentor in the rain. First-year coach Mr. Chad Burgard commented, "I wasn't sure how it would be coaching girls. I have to say now that I'm very glad that I had the chance. . . I am very happy for our improvement. All the credit goes to the girls for their hard work and their will to win."

Both the girls' and the boys' teams learned a lot this year and hope to have a better season next year in the new millennium!

Girls' Varsity Soccer Prepares for Next Century

The Madison High School girls' soccer team did not exactly have a record-setting season, but they worked hard in preparation for next season. Captains of this year's team were seniors Tiffany Florentine and Sue Whipple along with junior Lauren Kirby. Sue Whipple commented: "We had a fun season and I am pleased with the team's positive attitude." The girls finished their season with a record of 7-7-1, beating Aurora 6-5 after being down 2 in the first couple minutes.

They were preparing before the season even started, playing indoor soccer in the winter and playing in the summer league. Attending the Family First Sports Camp--where they were instructed by a college coach from Grove City--they played soccer all day, improving their skills. There, they listened to Michelle Akers, a member of the World Cup team, talk to them about setting goals and improving their soccer skills.

The team anticipates good things for next season, as junior Theresa Sprague said: "I have a positive outlook for next season. Our team, being a young team, will come together and excel next year." With the senior captains graduating, Lauren Kirby and Rosie Brackman step up to take charge as co-captains leading the team into the new century.

Racing to the Top

The Lady Blue Streaks were off and running well before the official season started. With five returning lettermen at camp, this season promised to be a continuation of the successes from years past. Led by captains Anne-Marie Romano and Melanie Lenk, the defending P.A.C. champs were out to do it again. After an undefeated season, the team got pumped for P.A.C.'s. Taking a solo first place this year, the Streaks moved on to districts as a team for the 13th year. After receiving a tough runner-up place, the best was yet to come at regionals. Representing the Streaks' seventh year there were Rachelle Orris, Francine Rhinehart, Melanie Lenk, Anne-Marie Romano, Erica Harper, Cathy Sisk, and Kimothy Piorkowski. The girls took 12th place to finish their season together, and Rachelle advanced to the State meet in Columbus. "I didn't think that I'd make it here, but I'm glad I did! It was a good learning experience! I can't wait to go back!" commented freshman Rachelle after her first state race.

Making New Strides

The Madison boys' cross country team had a difficult season as they took to the trails with few experienced senior runners. Many adjustments had to be made due to the loss of Coach Pavesich, who retired last year. However, this year the team also acquired a number of freshmen who have the potential to become good runners, and they all rallied behind their new coach to do their best.

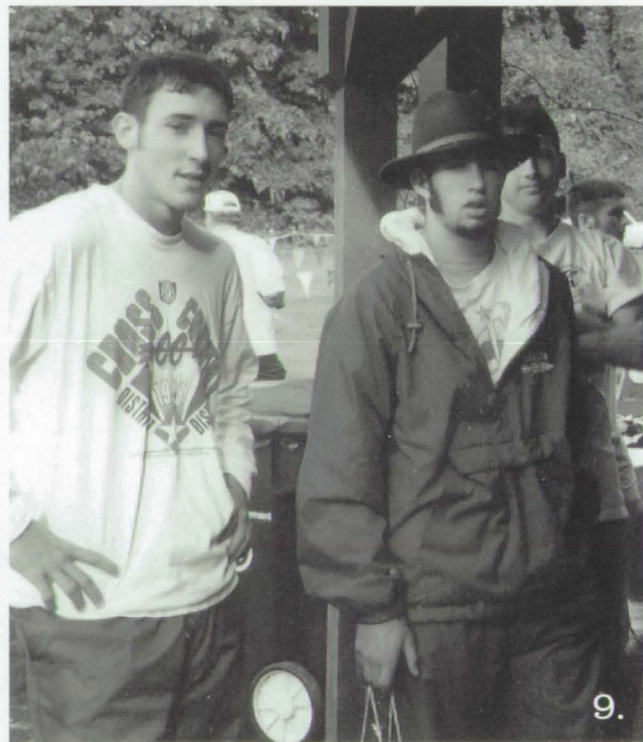

Although the top runners had difficulty with injuries, they performed well at districts.

The new coach, Coach Collins, seemed very pleased with the team's performance and hard work. As a highlight for the season, Mike Mitchell was recognized by the News Herald as First-Team All-Conference. In addition, he ranked very high at districts despite the fact that he was still recovering from an injury. Senior Matt Orris spoke for the team when he said, "I had a lot of fun and I wish next year's team good luck."

1. Gary Mazzeo, Brian Marthey, and Jason Zins wait in the pavilion for the other teams to arrive.
2. Steve Kapostasy stretches out his legs before his race.
3. When he wasn't fighting injuries, senior letterman Matt Orris was fighting for the lead in a race.
4. Randy Schultz and Kevin Zimmerman rest up for the long race ahead.
5. The team bursts off the line to get a good position.

6. Stephen Rabe pushes himself to catch up with the other runners.
7. The team huddles, waiting for Coach Collins to give them some final advice before the race begins.
8. Matt Stoltz fights to hold his place for the finish.
9. Andy Petry and Mike Mitchell take advantage of what warmth the pavilion has to offer between races.
10. Steve Kapostasy watches for the mud as he heads up one of the more treacherous hills on the course.

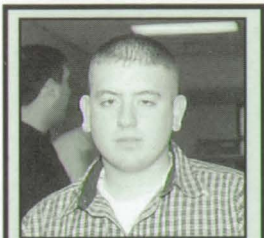

Golf Team Completes Winning Season

The '99 golf season was one to remember. Its weak start wasn't a preview for the of the rest of the season. They played many tough teams and ended the season by winning the PAC, with an exciting tie-breaker in the PAC match against Riverside. It ended with the fifth man, Chip Polivka, shooting a 90 and the opposing team a 92. Although the team ended with a 9- and- 12 record, their individual efforts showed through when senior Joe Winland made it to districts.

Their advisor, Mr. Beans, was very proud of his team because they played so well, competed closely against experienced teams, and never gave in. The many returning underclassmen know what they are doing and will get the job done next year.

"I wish the team would have done better, but districts was a good experience, to be under so much pressure."

Marching Band and Majorettes Lead the Show

The 1999-2000 Blue Streak Marching Band had a great year. With dedication and spirit, the band was there to support the team. They played the theme from "Coach" for pregame. One of their most popular half-time shows followed a Disney theme, including "The Mickey Mouse March," "Under the Sea," "A Friend Like Me," and others. Later in the season they went cosmopolitan in a second half-time show, playing songs like "New York, New York," with its famous kick-line.

The band also marched competitively in this year's Grape Jamboree and the Cleveland St. Patrick's Day Parades, as well as performing for local audiences at the LCMEA and the Old-Fashioned Days and Memorial Day Parades. They topped off their year in May with their bi-annual trip, this year to Mackinaw Island, Michigan.

To highlight the band, the majorettes, directed by Mrs. Sally Rogus, put in long hours that really paid off in great performances on the field. Senior majorette Cathy Sisk said, "We all worked really well together and our advisor helped us a lot." Together, the band and majorettes, made a spectacular season of fine performances.

Varsity Wrestlers Come Out on Top

This year's '99-'00 varsity wrestling team started out with their normal conditioning in the fall. With the loss of several seniors from last year, many people underrated this year's team. Despite those predictions, the Blue Streaks came back and struck everyone with their talent. Over winter break the Blue Streak wrestlers traveled to California to place in a tournament, returning home with a first-place prize. Adding to that honor, the varsity team was named 1st team by the News Herald.

In all, nine varsity team members made it to districts. Only one wrestler made it further: George Patzakis finished off in state, placing 2nd overall. By focusing on one match at a time, the team finished their season with an impressive record of 15 wins and only 2 losses, both of which were close, nail-biting matches.

Wrestling Takes Two!

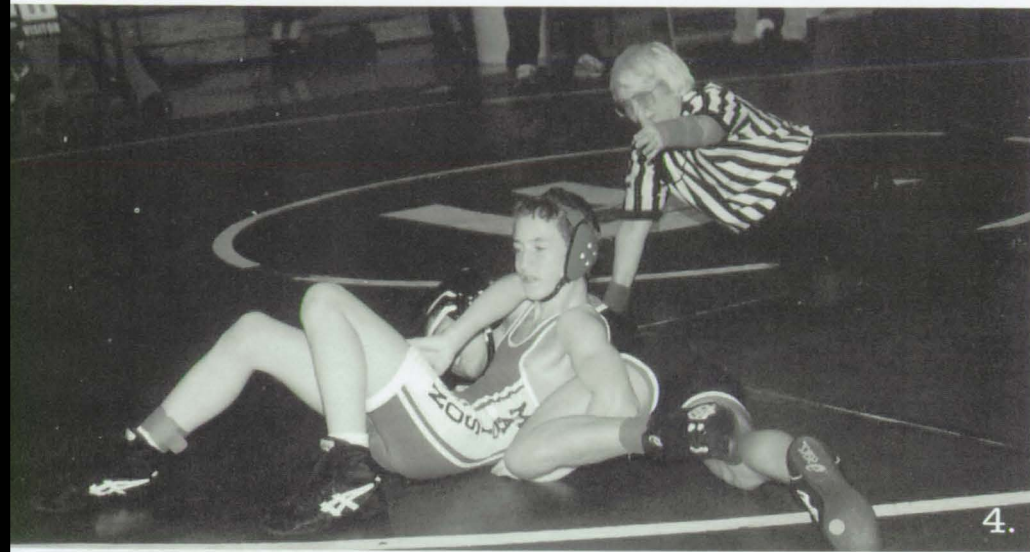

The Madison Blue Streak junior varsity and freshmen wrestling teams did very well this season. This year they took many trips on their own and accompanying the varsity team. Constantly changing as individuals wrestled off to move up or down between JV and varsity, this group had a wide variety of players, ranging from first-year junior wrestlers to the new-found freshmen mat men. All the wrestlers on the team worked hard in hopes of becoming a varsity wrestler in the same season or the following one. As freshman wrestler Carl Stahl said, "This season was tough, but fun. I liked it when I won a medal at our hometown tournament."

Also helping the team out was a group of six girls working as stats at every meet. Directed by Mrs. Hernan, these girls help make the wrestling program very organized, which leads to the success that the program has had the last couple of years. "I think statting is a good experience because it is a lot fun and you get to travel around. You also learn about a very interesting sport," said sophomore stat Katie Fails.

1. Steve Reed keeps his opponent in the chicken wing to keep him down on the mat.
2. William Fedele tries to get a take-down in the middle of his match.
3. Dave Tvergyak lays on his teammate while the clock runs down in the period.

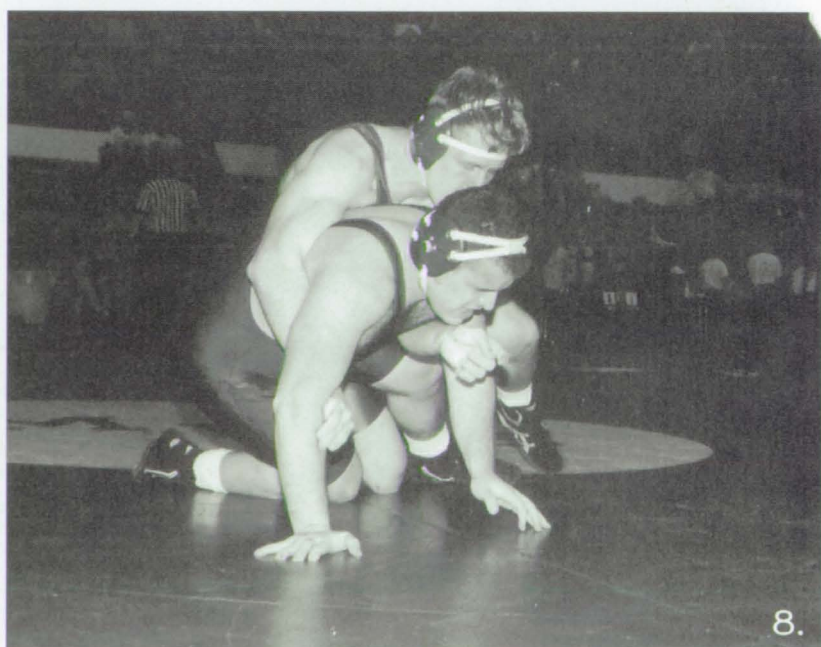

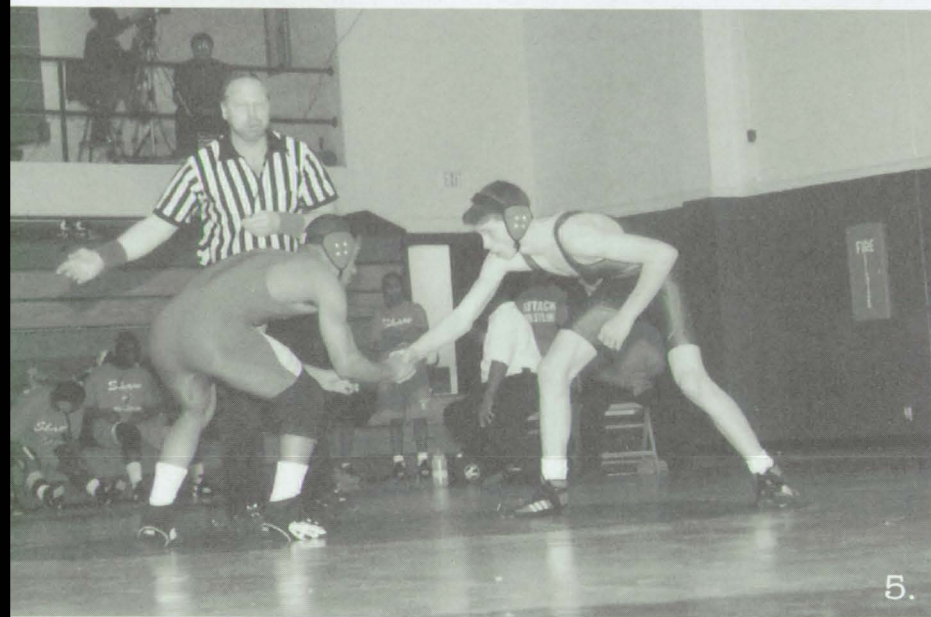

4. Tyler Phillipp lays on his back to keep his opponent from taking him down.

5. Jon Earley shakes hands with the opposing teammate before the period starts for his match.

6. Each year the wrestling teams would be lost without their "Mat Stats." The 2000 wrestling team stats consisted of (back row) Katie Hodakievic, Lindsey Gauntner, Katie Fails, (front row) Christina Burkhammer, Kelly Hall, and Katie Shears.

7. Nick Verdi and Jon Earley watch and laugh at their teammate as they relax between matches.

8. Todd Getzy hits his opponents arm to get them down on the mat for a take-down.

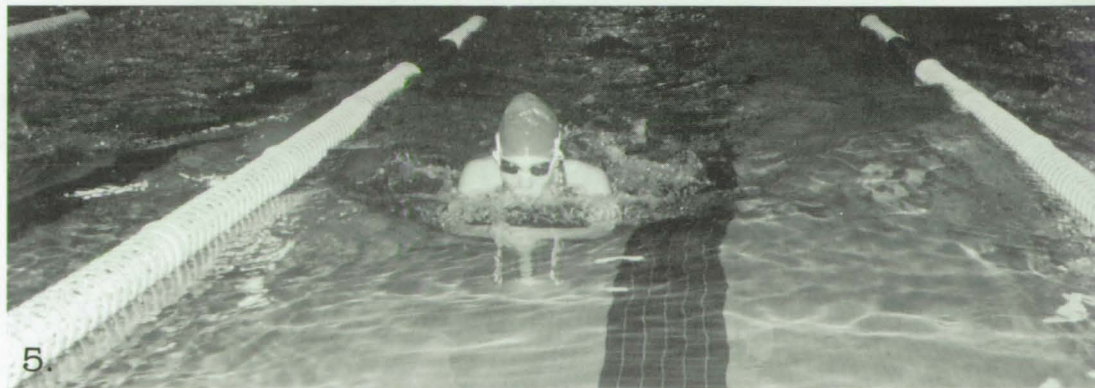

Swimming Their Way to Improvements

This year was a rebuilding year for the Blue Streak swimmers, especially since the majority of the team consisted of new members. With help from the coaches and upperclassmen, the new additions to the team made many advancements. Freshman Rhonda Sherwood commented on her own personal accomplishments: "The upper-classman were helpful and I really improved."

The team highlighted their season with some hard-won victories. Junior Kyle Tobul broke the old school record of 58.13 seconds in the 100-meter backstroke with a new time of 57.31. Teammate Shannon Weiss stated, "The most exciting win of the season was the three-point win over Riverside."

Both the boys' team and the girls' team went to sectionals and many swimmers improved their times. Senior Jenny Brunner stood out as the Streaks' only district qualifier this year (in the 50-meter freestyle). Assistant coach Chrissy Egnot praised the swimmers: "We had an excellent season and the team came a long way. It was a lot of fun." Coach Jen Wentz summed up her team's efforts by saying, "We had a young and inexperienced team this season, but with their growth and dedication as swimmers, I expect bigger wins and more records broken next year."

Varsity Boys' Basketball Shoots for Suspense

This year's varsity boys' basketball team ended their season with a P.A.C. record of 4-4 and an overall record of 9-11. The season had its ups and downs, but all of the games kept the fans on the edge of their seats with close scores. Five of those losses ended with the Streaks just a couple of baskets behind their opponents. Letterman Jim Smith wrapped up his senior year on the court by saying, "This season was very suspenseful; we never knew if we were going to win or lose. But when we all came together as a team, we were a joy to watch. Over all, it was a fun season."

Even though their record wasn't as good as in previous years, the boys still had their fans to support them. Coach Peterlin looks forward to the 2000-2001 season: "Next year we're sure to have more team chemistry. The boys next year are a group of hard-working athletes. Next year we will also have more depth; this year we only had six or seven boys who could play each game."

JV & Freshmen Boys Hoop It Up

The JV and freshmen boys' basketball teams worked hard this season to prepare to move into the varsity ranks eventually. The freshman team had a lot of promising talent for the next years to come. Chris Durham enjoyed the season, saying, "We had a lot of fun and we learned a lot more. We especially improved on our dribbling, passing, and shooting skills." With a 6-9 record, the team beat some tough schools, including North, Mentor Shore, and Riverside. When asked what game stood out from the rest, Aaron Parks commented, "I think Mentor Shore was probably the best game because we played very well as a team and it was a really hard-fought game."

The JV team had a rough year and tough competition against teams like those from Perry, Willoughby South, and Eastlake North, but after starting off with eight losses, they rallied to end their season with a 5-13 record. As sophomore A.J. Chasko said, "We didn't really start off the way we wanted to, but after that, there was only room for improvement." Recalling the best game of their season, Ronald Brehm concluded: "Well, I think that the best game we played was against Eastlake North because we all came together and played very hard." With their dedication and skills, both teams offer some promising talent for the years to come.

Cheerleaders Cheer Up the Blue Streaks

The cheerleading teams kept very busy this year preparing for and traveling to competitions as well as choreographing and practicing extra dances to perform during timeouts and at half-time for basketball games. The varsity and JV girls worked together under Mrs. Linda Craigo, whom they had worked with as the assistant coach last year, while the freshman squad got all their spirit from their coach,

Mrs. Debbie Morgan. For perhaps the first time this year, the JV team also had two freshmen cheering along with them: Kimmy Piorkowski and Kaylee Emmett.

All of the cheerleading teams were involved in 2 competitions this year: one at Kent State University and the other at Baldwin Wallace. The girls really showed off their Blue Streak pride, performing very well against teams with a lot more competitive experience. At KSU they took 4th out of 8 teams; at B-W, they took 8th out of 14 teams. Senior Carly Kidder commented on how much she enjoyed her final season: "Everyone got along and it was a lot of fun."

1. Kaylee Emmett, Kimothy Piorkowski, Claire Findak, Erin Hall, Erin Morgan, and Rena Schafer enthusiastically smile while performing for the Streak fans.
2. The JV and varsity cheerleading squads united together to perform dances from camps. Give them a high five!

Young Ladies Streak to an Impressive Finish

Despite a lot of pre-season speculation that the 99-00' Lady Blue Streaks would be inexperienced and a weaker team than in past years, the girls worked very hard this year and accomplished more than any outsider ever thought possible. Quoted Coach Smith, "Everyone doubted us at the beginning, but we showed them how skilled our team was and proved that we were a force to be reckoned with."

The team compiled an overall record of 11-10 with a 5-3 record in the P.A.C. With two wins against rival Riverside, the girls were very satisfied with their season. Commented sophomore Amy Blauman, "We accomplished so much this season, despite our youth. With almost everyone returning, we have a great team for the future." Among the many awards given to the team at the season's end, freshmen Rachel Pike and Jessica Kallio received special mention awards. The Lady Blue Streaks did an outstanding job this year and will continue to improve for years to come.

JV & Freshman Girls' Basketball Shoots for the Stars

If you're looking for top-class athletes at Madison High, look no further than the girls' basketball teams. During the 1999-2000 season, both the freshman and JV teams proved that "Blue Streak girls rule"! In fact, many of the freshman and JV players were so talented that they spent some time on the varsity court as well.

Coached by Kevin Morgan, the freshmen girls went their entire season undefeated. Jessica Hart, who had played before in Ledgemont, commented that the Madison team worked a lot harder, but they still had fun. "Mr. Morgan really worked with us and helped us improve on the skills we needed," she added.

The JV team performed almost as well against tough competition, losing only two games for an amazing record of 16-2. JV player Val Smith had a great time: "We had a very good season. We had a lot of freshmen which made a good combination with the sophomores we had. We had an awesome coach, Mr. Grupe. I really learned a lot from him. It was a fun season." A strong team, the JV girls had several good outside shooters and nice posts and should be sending a lot of talent up to the varsity team next year.

Boys' Track Team Reaches Goals

In the second year in the PAC, the 2000 track team pulled together for an outstanding season. Under new leadership, Tedd Wagner coached the team to their fifth straight conference title. The team was also led by seniors Matt Orris, Steve Kapostasy, Robert Simmons, Joe Pikor, Chris Burr, Mike March and Jon Whipple. Joe Pikor broke records in the 110-high hurdles and the 200-meter dash. Junior Nick Forro led the conference in shot put. Senior Robert Simmons said, "We worked hard and pulled through when we needed it the most."

At the PAC, the whole team did exceptionally well. Joe Pikor placed first in the 110-high hurdles, the 200-meter dash, and the 300-meter intermediate hurdles. Nick Forro threw a first place shot. The two-mile proved to be a challenge for Matt Orris, but he finished first nonetheless. Overall the team took home the championship. Chris Brown led the team in cooling down at the end of each meet. The team worked hard to make it another great season.

Girls' Track Continues Winning Streak!

This year, the girls' track team stepped up a notch on the competition scale and shined even brighter by defeating three-time state champion Collinwood 67-61, and Solon 89-39. Undefeated in dual meets as well as being PAC league champions and district champions, the girls have continued a winning streak they began in 1995.

Along with these outstanding accomplishments, the Madison girls were champions at three of the five invitationals they participated in: Madison's Early Bird, Euclid Metric, and Hermitage Invitational in Hickory, Pennsylvania.

This year many athletes were specially recognized as Athletes of the Week. The were three News Herald honored three of the team: Francine Rhinehart, Rachelle Orris, and Rosemary Brackman. The six Plain Dealer Players of the Week awards were given to Catherine Sisk, Francine Rhinehart, Bethany Nahm, Rachelle Orris, Jessica Bright, and Rosemary Brackman.

Old school records were shattered in the 4x800, the Distance Medley, the 3200 (by Rachelle Orris), the long jump (by Rosemary Brackman), and discus (by Bethany Nahm). This was an outstanding year for the girls' track team, and there will be many more to come.

Varsity Baseball Takes to the Field

This season offered up some tough challenges for the varsity boys' baseball team, but they played their best and had lots of fun. Summing it up, Coach Dragas commented, "It was a disappointing season from a won-loss perspective, but from the total picture, it was a very promising season." In his estimation, the best games included the last Willoughby-South game, which they won 9-4, and the second game against Harvey, in which Jason Evans hit four home runs to help them win 19-2.

Sophomore Nick Seibert played varsity after moving to Madison from Florida. He compared the sport in both places, deciding that it was "more fun" here.

Nick enjoyed catching for the Blue Streaks, saying, "It's a fun position because you always get the ball."

With a record of 4 wins and 20 losses, players and coaches alike find room for improvement. Coach Dragas, however, said the boys were very strong at fielding and sees some good hitters coming up from JV next year. With that combination and 8 returning varsity players, they all look forward to a better year in 2001.

Diamonds in the Rough: JV & Freshman Baseball

The 2000 JV baseball team had an altogether excellent season. They played a total of 19 games, winning 14 of them. Chardon and Riverside were among the few teams that actually beat the Streaks. Freshman Keith Krejci commented, "It was a fun year. We all worked together very well to help make it a great season." Sophomore Chad Phillip summed up his team's success:

"When we're down, we don't play very well, but when we're up, we're hard to beat. We come together well as a team. It was a great season--I hope we do it again next year!"

Compared to the JV's, the freshman season was shorter: they only got a chance to play ten games this year. They had many more scheduled, but many were cancelled because of rain and not rescheduled. Mike Bukky said, "This year's season was a great learning experience. I'm sure in years to come we'll learn to come together better and improve our performance overall."

Tennis Team Serves Up Another Winning Season

The Madison boys' tennis 2000 season was one of the best in many years. One highlight of the season was placing first in the Perry tournament. They were the first Madison team to accomplish this feat in eleven years. Although coming in right behind Chardon in the PAC, the boys were happy with their season. Khalid Farhood, 1st singles player, commented, "Overall we had a good season. This is the closest we've ever been as a team because we are mostly seniors. Good luck recruiting players next year, Mr. Vidmar."

Led by head coach Mark Vidmar and assistant coach Judy Hughes, the team earned many awards. For 1st singles Farhood got 2nd team PAC. Earning 1st team PAC status for their positions were Rich Easterbrook, Phil Alanen, Amed Hussaini, Brian Mallick, and Nate Miller. Nate Miller commented, "All around we had a very good season. We proved we were the best in the PAC." Rich Easterbrook added, "We had an excellent season as a team." The team finished the season with a record of 15-3. The guys had a #1 fan they wanted to thank--Mike Dugan summed it up for them: "We love you, Mrs. Mallick! Thanks for coming to all our matches and for the food!"

Softball Streaks Past Expectations

Madison girls' softball reached new levels this year by advancing to districts for the first time in eleven years. Their 23-5 record proved their "never say die attitude" that led them to a PAC title and a sectional championship. They advanced to district semi-finals against Notre Dame Cathedral Latin and suffered a hard 3-1 loss. Sophomore Liz Grabel commented, "I enjoyed the higher level of competition and the upper classmen made me feel like part of the team." Senior Lynda Barnhart added, "We were under-rated because of our size, but we worked hard to become a winning team together and proved our talent by advancing to districts."

The team also took a trip to Cincinnati and played in a two-day tournament against state-ranked teams. The girls finished 9-2 in the PAC to secure the PAC title. They came through in countless one-run extra inning games which showed the depth and strength they had. Coach Hietanen summed up his season: "We exceeded all of our goals except winning a district championship. The seniors elevated the program to a level that has not been reached since the mid 1980's, gaining state-wide respect as a quality division-one softball program." Madison is expected to continue its success next season with returning pitchers Tracy Preston and Liz Grabel.

JV & Freshmen Softball on Deck

The JV and freshmen teams had a lot going for themselves this season. They had some very successful accomplishments. One of their greatest achievements was to be number one in the Premier Athletic Conference. They also placed second in one of the tournaments they attended at Perry. The Blue Streaks beat Perry and lost to Lakewood by only one, pushing them to second place.

Although the season started off a little rocky, both teams had a very good year. They bonded together after a few weeks to have a season that they will always remember and one to be proud of. Coach Thompson summed it up: "It was an outstanding experience that resulted in a great deal of growth for everyone involved."

Freshman Lindsay Schmid praised her team: "We had a great season, and I will always remember the great times we had." Allie Izzarelli added, "We started off really bad in the beginning and then suddenly we pulled together and became a team. . . even though we dealt with the loss of a few players to the varsity level, we still play as an awesome team."

1. Sarah Nagy leads off of second, waiting for her big chance to steal to third.
2. Lindsey Keipert pauses in frustration after a great swing at home plate.
3. Courtney Peine and Rachel Klimkowicz wait for the next big play to happen.

We asked the freshmen...

If you were going to be stranded on a desert island with a famous person, who would you want it to be?

The freshmen answered...

#1 -- Britney Spears

#2 -- Pamela Anderson

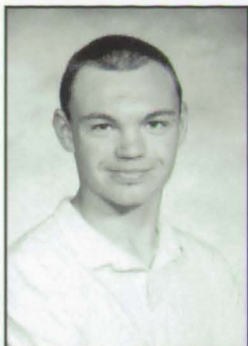

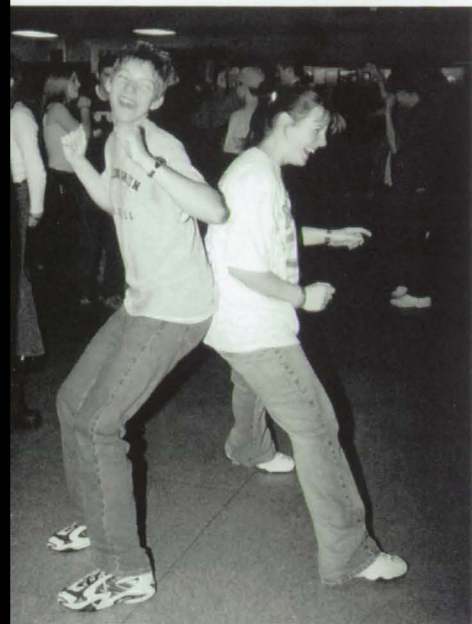

#3 -- a tie: Jennifer Love Hewitt & Carmen Electra

#4 -- Cheech & Chong (isn't that TWO people?!)

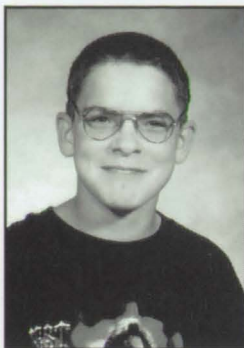

#5 -- The Rock

Other answers included N'Sync, Ben Affleck, Brad Pitt, Ryan Phillippe, and Joe Pikor & Josh Haldi!

Clubs and Activities

Classes Sport Their Spirit

Although Spirit Week has always been a fun ordeal at M.H.S., the '99-'00 event was one of the best ever. The juniors took first place over all by dressing up everyday and impressing everyone with their outstanding Christmas hallway. Tied for second place were the seniors and freshmen. Displaying the best freshman spirit in recent years, the class of 2004 dressed up with enthusiasm and showed off their decorating skills in the hallway themed "Heaven and Hell." Continuing their tradition of excellence, the seniors donned robes and shower caps on Friday, dressing appropriately for their bathroom hallway. Coming in fourth place in the very competitive event, the sophomores may have lacked in spirit points, but they designed an overwhelming hallway modeled after the Mardi Gras. This was a very successful year and the underclassmen showed they are a force for the future.

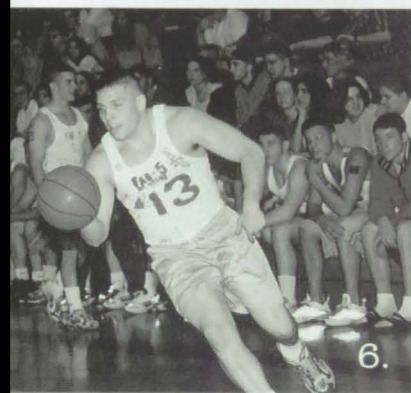

1. Seniors Jessica Baird, Carly Kidder, Karyn Crawford, Nick Rogers, Sara Kidner, Erin Morgan, Tyson Swackhamer, and Emily Winton stay after school to decorate their hallway.

2. Angels Allie Izzarelli, Rachelle Orris, and Heather Britton stand with devil Danina Daughters at the "Gates of Heaven."

Student Council and N.H.S. Make a Difference

The '99-'00 school year was a big one for members of National Honor Society and Student Council. Members from both clubs attended regional council meetings in October and November, and worked diligently to improve the school and community.

N.H.S. instated many new programs this year--including helping with food baskets and "Kids Counting on Kids"--as well as continuing old favorites such as "Buy-a-Brain." "Kids Counting on Kids" was a very successful idea: in this program, members of N.H.S. would visit the Madison Local Latchkey program twice a week, either helping kids with homework, playing games, or being there to talk to a kid who had a bad day. Commented senior Emily Winton, "Playing with the kids was so much fun and they really enjoyed it too. It was nice to be able to make a difference in our community."

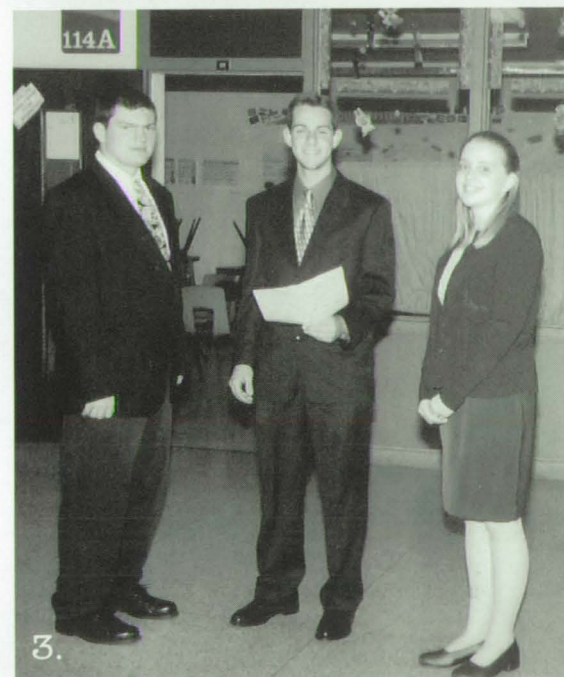

Student Council also had a very successful year, busily planning things such as a school-wide crime watch and a student swap day, where Madison student council members would travel to other schools and get ideas on how to make our school run more efficiently. Each class also worked on a separate project. The juniors put on another outstanding prom, while the seniors struggled to figure out a class gift. All in all it was a very successful year for both organizations and with a great base of members, next year is sure to only get better.

MHS Academic Clubs Strive for Excellence

Madison participated in many academic programs this year, including Academic Decathlon, Model U.N., and Leadership Lake County.

Model U.N. traveled to the Jefferson Conference in the fall and Kent State Ashtabula in the spring. Among those earning awards of excellence for their participation at the conference were Glenn Bailey (club president), Brian Jenkins (vice-president), Michelle Schultz (secretary/treasurer), Rick Boonstra, Jessie Collins, Emily Haggerty, James McDermitt, Jeff Neubert, and Jessica Peine. Social studies teacher Mr. Mike Martin served as the club's advisor.

Three outstanding juniors are selected each year to represent MHS in the Leadership Lake County program. This year's students, Katie Peplowski, Melanie Fisher, and Natalie Fisher, set an example by leading the school in a canned food drive and other service projects outside of school.

The growing Academic Decathlon team members also earned many awards for their hard work. Mrs. Collins and Mr. Hupertz advised the team and helped lead them to victory.

"Model U.N. teaches you a lot about speech and presentation skills. You can research all you want, but you have to have a knack for speaking. It also helps you know more about what's going on in the world--especially for a lot of high school students who don't even read the newspaper."

M.H.S. may not have a "Math Club" with regularly scheduled weekly meetings, but Mr. Morgan and Mrs. Collins do sponsor a fierce competition. All those interested take state and national tests, like the one sponsored by the OCTM (Ohio Council for Teachers of Math), to gauge their skills on really tough math problems. Students can work independently or in pairs.

Students receive awards for their participation in the mathematics exam:

Acting Their Way to Success

This year's drama club experienced some new faces, both on stage and off. Meeting the demands of a growing group of young actors, English teachers Ms. Pope and Ms. Townsend assisted Mr. Martello in directing the plays.

Mr. Martello directed "Twelve Angry Men," a drama about a seventeen-year-old boy accused of murdering his father. It is up to a jury of twelve men to decide the guilt or innocence of the boy. Ms. Pope and Ms. Townsend directed the female counterpart of the play, "Twelve Angry Women," performed on alternating dates with the boys' play. Although the play was tense, the students enjoyed the challenge, as sophomore Abby Petry said, "The experience of Twelve Angry Women was one to remember." Mr. Martello commented, "I don't figure many high schools have the ability to perform 'Twelve Angry Men,' but we had seventeen try out. Overall it was a pretty good cast."

The drama club also competed for the second year at a state-wide competition in Columbus on March 18-20. There they performed adult- as well as student-directed one-acts and improvisational scenes. In addition, this year the show choir accompanied them, adding their musical talents to the group. As a team they earned more points than any other school and brought home the grand championship along with several other trophies. Way to go, guys!

2. Despite the tension between their characters in "Twelve Angry Women," Tara Teschke and Audrey Leonard seem to be bonding well!
3. Mike Mitchell and Phil Dodson have a heated discussion about the innocence of the man on trial.
4. Colleen O'Leary and Kristan Oelbracht demonstrate the stabbing of the victim.

"Go, Go, Go Joseph!"

The MHS Drama Club once again showed what they were made of when they put on this year's musical, "Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat." The show was quite unique to those done in the past in that there were only two spoken lines. Instead of dialogue, the Biblical story-starring senior Paul Jacobson as Joseph--was told entirely through song. Tara Teschke and Colleen O'Leary sparkled their way through the show in their eye-catching costumes as they shared the lead role of the Narrator. "It was different having two Narrators instead of one, but I still had a great time," commented Tara Teschke.

Another new twist this year was the addition of a middle school choir. Directors Nicole Groah and Matt Martello selected fifteen students to join the high schoolers in the bright, upbeat musical. Eighth-grader Jessica Scott said that "it was a lot of fun and it was great to get to know a variety of upperclassmen. I'm looking forward to participating in more musicals in the coming years."

Drama Club also had a new face designing the sets--Miss Pope, an English teacher at MHS. They turned out great and are going to look just as good for next year's musical, "My Fair Lady"

Congratulations to the entire cast and crew on a job well done!

1. Backstage, the "pit" shows off their instruments and their great smiles. The orchestra included Ms. Groah, Rick Fike, Amanda Briggs, Ryan Hutton, April Smith, Angela Wickert, Samantha Orogvany, Lee Koratich, Gary Mazzeo, Maria Soriano, Joe Kuhlman, Gina Garcia, and Brian Jenkins.

2. Wives of the twelve brothers, Jillian Schuur, Sandy Tobul, and Sarah Scott grin at the audience.

3. Tara Teschke and Colleen O'Leary sparkled as the lead role as they told the story of Joseph who was played by Paul Jacobson.

4. The eighth grade chorus make friends with "Joseph" as they start the show.

5. Jessica Peine and Glenn Bailey pose with their favorite son.

6. Derek Charrette, Aaron Rose, Todd Getzy, and Chris Green carry in the pharaoh, played by Kevin Estabrook.

Streaks Add Some International Flavor

Many foreign exchange students walked through the halls of MHS this year. They came to Ohio from all around the world--from Mongolia to Germany and many other countries. These students all brought many new cultures to Madison and will take home many of our customs when they return. Most will agree that the MHS students learn as much from their new foreign friends as they learn from us. Asked about her year here, Clara Ramirez sounded just like any American teen: "It was a really fun time. I got to meet new people and I also got to learn a lot of new stuff." In the true sense of MHS exchange, Blue Streak Amy Moniot, who hosted an exchange student last year, spent part of her senior year in Teziutlan, Puebla, Mexico. While there, she not only improved her own Spanish skills, she also taught English.

To continue this support of cultural diversity, all MHS students are invited to participate in the International Club. Whether they take Spanish, French, or German, these students can work together on projects that help increase their knowledge of other countries and celebrate cultural diversity. This year the club made Mardi Gras masks and posters for World Peace Month. They also made Christmas stockings and Easter bags for poor children in El Salvador. At Christmas, the foreign exchange students met with the International Club to discuss life and holiday customs in their countries. Other speakers included Mena Nappo's mother, from Venezuela, and Molly Linehan, who talked about El Salvador.

Key Club Accomplishes Much

This year Key Club did many things to give back to the community. They sponsored two bloodmobiles and raised 160 pints of blood. At Christmas time they responded to North Madison Elementary School first graders' letters to Santa. In addition to writing the students back, the Key Club members went to the elementary school to pass out candy canes and read the letters. The Key Club raised $250.00 for the Madison Christmas food basket program and $500.00 for the flood victims in Honduras. Several Key Club members took a trip to Madison's Senior Citizen Center to help out with arts and crafts. They also sponsored two canned-food drives and a clothing drive.

This year's Key Club was headed by President Ashley Collinsworth, Vice-President Marie Casto, Secretary Kellie Rupe, Treasurer Glenn Bailey, and Public Relations Officer Sara Kidner, who stated, "This was a very productive year and we had a good group of students that did a lot to give back to the community." All together the Key Club members volunteered 1,144 hours. Key Club advisor Mr. Hertrick wrapped up the year by saying, "It was a wonderful and exciting time working with the members of Key Club. The kids did an outstanding job helping out in our community and also helping the flood victims in Honduras. Next year we hope to double our total service hours."

SADD and TI Complete Another Successful Year

Each year, concerned students join important clubs that work hard to benefit their school and their community. Two of these clubs are S.A.D.D. (Students Against Driving Drunk) and T.I. (Teen Institute). Both groups raise funds and support programs to educate themselves and their peers about the dangers of drugs and alcohol.

Right before prom, S.A.D.D. organized a mock crash--complete with rescue squad and life-flight helicopter--to simulate the hazards of driving under the influence. Afterwards, guest speakers shared their personal experiences with drunk driving accidents.

Another activity S.A.D.D. was involved in was a visit to Inn Madison at Christmas to bring holiday cheer and cards to the elderly. As a year-end reward, club members visited the car show at Cleveland's IX Center.

T.I. was involved in a carnation sale, face painting at the Great Lakes Mall, and the Plus Program. The Plus Program, which relies on kids helping kids, sent 20 high school students to talk to 5th graders about the importance of being drug-, alcohol-, and tobacco-free. TI also attended both fall and spring camps where they kept busy with activities and experiments. Both the SADD and TI students look forward to another exciting year next year.

Academics

Office and Support Staff Carry M.H.S. into the New Millennium

The '99-00 school year provided many hassles and problems due to the new change over to block scheduling. Nevertheless, the Madison High School office staff dealt with it gracefully and without complaint. With the help of new assistant principal Mr. Hitchcock and new guidance secretary Mrs. Peggy Watts, the scheduling changes went smoothly and with minimal problems. Also assuming new responsibilities were Mr. Steve Hertrick, the new resource officer, and Officer Ralph Caswell, the on-location school police officer. . . no more speeding in the parking lot!!

This school year was also one of change for the support staff. Much to the disappointment of many students and staff, long-time custodian Dianne LeMay, who could often be found chatting up students at lunch, retired this year after many faithful years. She will be missed greatly. The custodians and cafeteria staff who were left behind made this year a great one by always providing everyone with a little smile and a lot of help. Thanks again to the office and support staff for making MHS a great place to be.

Yearbook and Newspaper Keep Us Informed

The 99-00 yearbook staff had to really work together this year to get things done. With the new block scheduling in effect, not everyone was in class at the same time. The editor Carly Kidder along with co-editors, Jessica Baird, Erin Morgan, and Emily Winton, helped out as much as they could even though they worked independently. With just two computers and a new computer system to learn, everyone had to be patient, understanding, and often work during all their free time. With everyone's efforts and Ms. Jackson's patience, the Cauldron was a success.

This year's Streak staff did a great job at keeping the school informed of past and future events. The Streak staff, headed by editor-in-chief Breana Krotz, was met with a difficult challenge this year. With block scheduling the Streak had some students who were in newspaper only one semester and some were in for the whole year. One deadline, in fact, fell between the two semesters. Breana and her staff met the challenge while old staff left and new staff came in. With everyone's efforts, the Streak had another successful year.

 2. Danielle Fredericks and Eric Toulouse clown around while looking through old pictures.
 3. The yearbook editor, Carly Kidder, gives Mike Schiberl his Sony Discman, which he won through a yearbook raffle.
 4. The senior yearbook staff display the banner during the senior group picture: (1 to r) Lisa Russell, Amber Piper, Elizabeth Kusar, Rachel Born, Amanda Arndt, Erin O'Donnell, Jason Schiavoni, Emily Winton, Jennifer Steinheiser, Jessica Baird, Erin Morgan, Stephanie Rose, Anne-Marie Romano, Marie Casto, and Carly Kidder.
 5. The junior yearbook staff members do a little dance: Eric Toulouse, Danielle Fredericks, Bob Sampson, Erica Harper, Sarah LaTourette, Sarah Scott, and Breana Krotz.

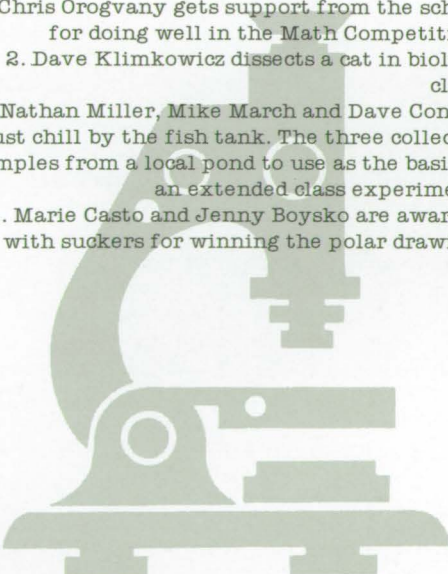

Science & Math Lead the Streaks into the Future

Math and science are two very important subjects in the Madison curriculum, and students have to complete at least two courses in each subject. To encourage student involvement, the math department sponsored several math competitions. The most impressive performances came from senior John Whipple and junior Chris Orogvany, who represented MHS in a state competition. Although he found the state-level test very difficult, Chris commented, "I had lots of fun and it was a great learning experience."

While the math classes relied more on computers, the science classes have been working more with their hands. In addition to research projects, science classes performed many experiments and dissections. The physics class conducted the famous "egg drop" experiment, where students build a structure entirely of straws to protect an egg dropped from the top of the stadium. Student Erica Harper said, "The labs are fun and we are looking forward to Cedar Point."

1. Chris Orogvany gets support from the school for doing well in the Math Competition.
2. Dave Klimkowicz dissects a cat in biology class.
3. Nathan Miller, Mike March and Dave Conant just chill by the fish tank. The three collected samples from a local pond to use as the basis of an extended class experiment.
4. Marie Casto and Jenny Boysko are awarded with suckers for winning the polar drawing.

 7. Ashley Dorr and Adam Butcher work hard on their chemistry experiment.
 8. Nick Forro and Chris Kovacs work together on their dissection.
 9. Forget testing the water-Lauren Kirby and Janet Stiffler take a donut break during their early morning science field trip.
 10. "And if I tell a lie, my nose will grow THIS LONG," claims Andy Petry. Angela Nicoson helps him measure.

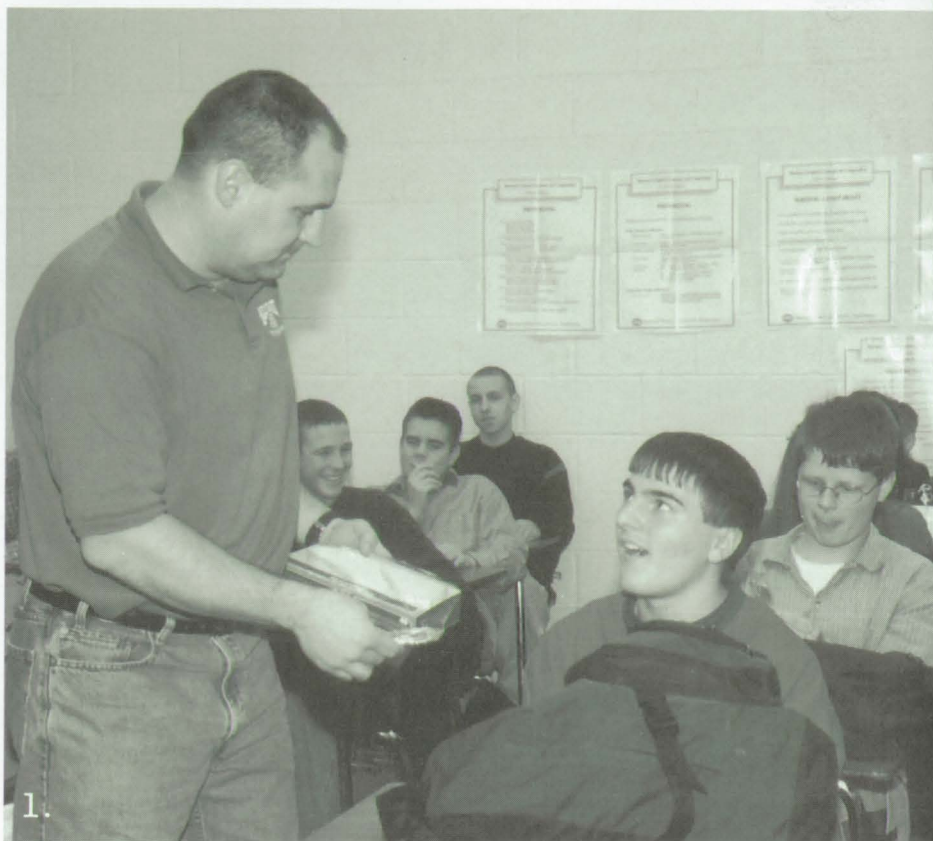

English and Social Studies Put on the Block

The 1999-2000 school year proved to be a year of experiment for the English and social studies departments. With periods increased to 95 minutes, many teachers had to change their teaching styles and incorporate more hands-on learning. Many students made the adjustments without much hassle.

English classes added more group projects, while most social studies classes had more class discussions. Some freshman English classes were given the opportunity to write, direct and act in their own plays. The Great Lakes Theater Festival visited many junior English classes and gave students who had never acted the chance for a new experience. "It got the class involved and we experienced the play we were studying in a new light," commented junior Matt Stoltz.

Many social studies classes used the extra time during their block for discussion. More debates were found in the classes, which helped students relate more issues to society and understand how many political topics affect their lives directly. "Mr. Loeffel is awesome! He made U.S. History fun," said sophomore Amy Blauman.

Many teachers considered this year to be an experimental year, trying out what does and does not work well in these extended periods. As Ms. Jackson said, "The block schedule lends itself more readily to lab and activity-directed classes. It's much more challenging to keep students on-task and accomplish what should be accomplished in the core academic classes like English, social studies, or math."

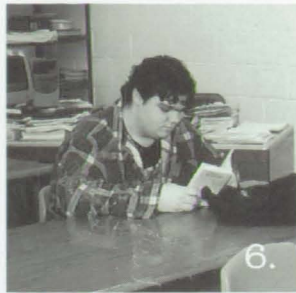

1. English teacher Mike Smith shares the Christmas spirit by giving student Brad Eckert a candy cane.

2. Some students are a ham for the cam while others hate the yearbook staff. Kristen Andres, Aaron Balaban, and Beth Balaban take a break from a block worth of work.

3. Senior Bobbie Bowman, junior Ryan Hutton, and sophomore Abby Petry share a moment after drama class.

4. Freshman students Allie Izzarelli and Nick Verdi perform a scene from their play, "Crazy Halloween."

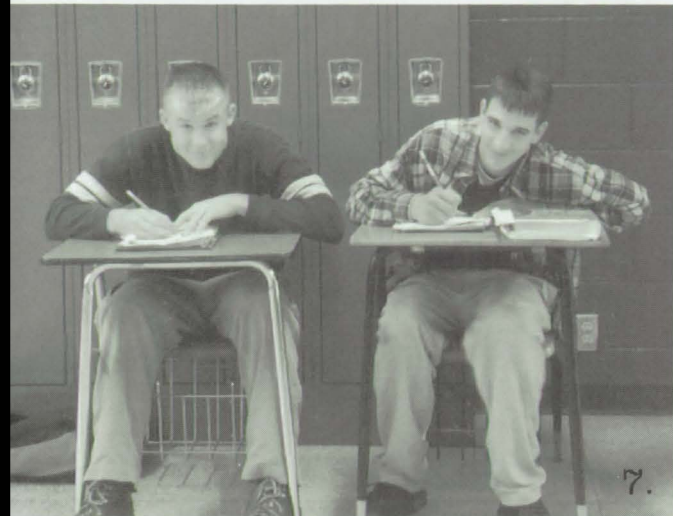

5. Students in Mr. Smith's 9th grade English class work on their vocabulary skills: Jamie Oelbracht, Melissa Blake, Morgan Corbett, Cory Chartier, and Kevin Zimmerman.

6. Kenny Repass quietly reads To Kill a Mockingbird for his sophomore English class.

7. "Hey...What's the answer to question 5?" Jeff Neubert and Ken Babcock work on some homework outside Ms. Townsend's class.

8. Brian Caunter, Brandon Hunter, and Chris Burden take a break in Mr. Gilligan's class.

9. Students in this history class display the various reactions to the new block scheduling.

10. Ms. Jackson's 12th grade English AP class went to Playhouse Square to see "Thunder Knocking On The Door."

11. Amber Kindred, Jordan Duhamel, Josh Meyers, and Matthew Pierce were given the opportunity to act out scenes from "Death of a Salesman" with actors from the Great Lakes Theater Festival.

Block Scheduling Great for Health and P.E. Classes

The transition to block scheduling at Madison High was a beneficial one for the health and physical education classes. Gym teachers had more time to instruct students and students had more time to play. Another benefit of block scheduling is that students now only have to take one year of gym and so can take other classes or electives their sophomore year. Freshman Rachel Pike commented, "Gym class is more worth-while and it's great to only have to take it my freshman year." Mr. Reigert agreed: "Block was the best thing this school has ever done."

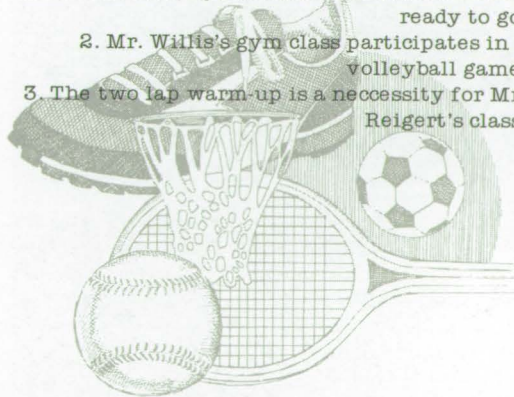

Block has also helped in the health classes. This year they've had numerous visits from Red Cross nurses who help them to understand the importance of proper health. Health teacher Mrs. Mullan said, "The longer period gives me the opportunity to get more in-depth with material and make sure every student fully understands what is being taught." Hopefully these changes have helped the teachers and students set the "blocks" for the foundation of healthy living in their futures!

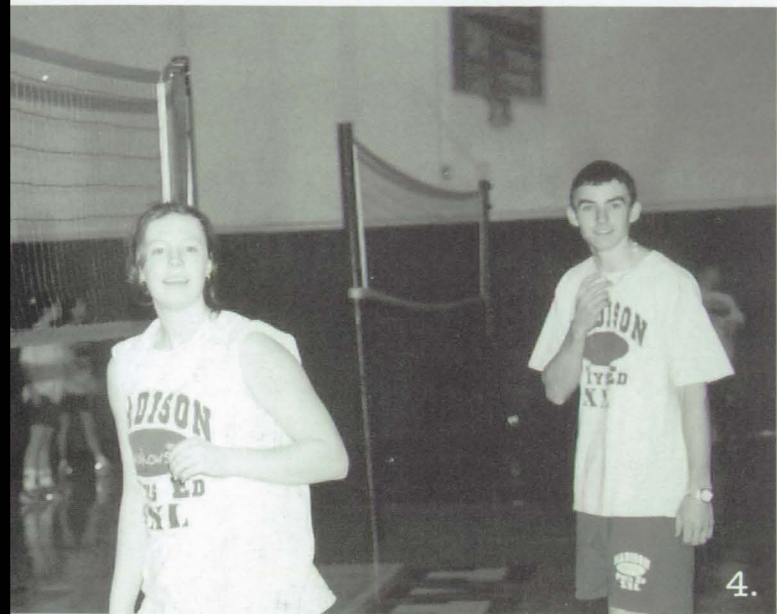

1. Jessica Jameson and Kristen Meiers are getting a good stretch in before running the mile. Jennifer Byram and Jessica Hanifon are ready to go.

2. Mr. Willis's gym class participates in a volleyball game.

3. The two lap warm-up is a necessity for Mr. Reigert's class.

4. Nichole Nowakowski and Dan Rediger go to the net in gym class.

5. Shannon Payne serves the ball to win the point for her team.

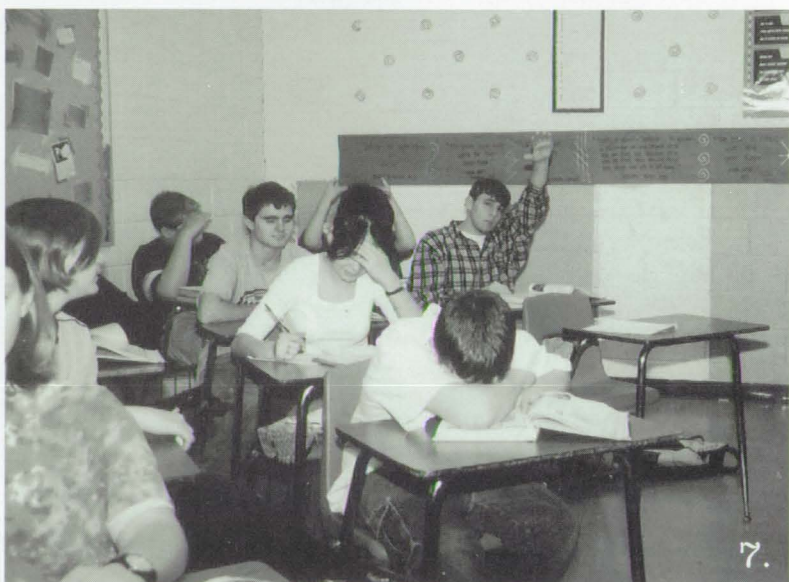

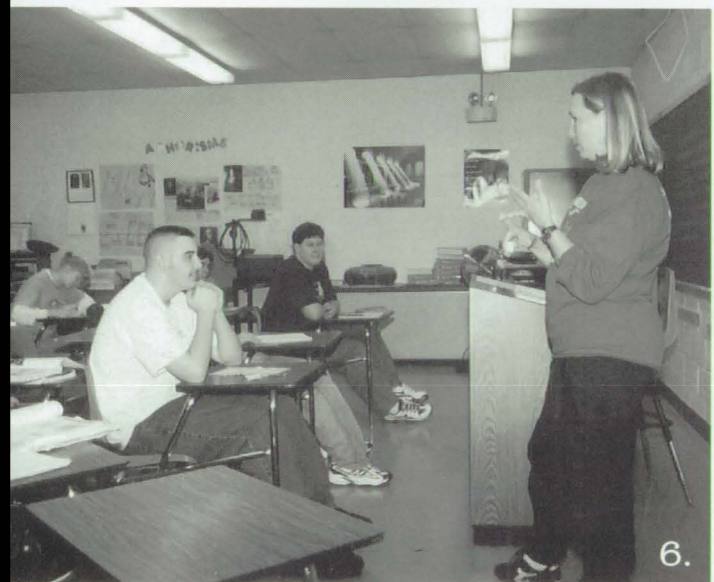

6. Jeremy Lunceford listens intently to what Mrs. Mullan has to say in health class.

7. Brian Caunter raises his hand to volunteer an answer in health class while, in the next row, (front to back) Chas Zamrzla, Amelia Falcon, Jason Baldwin, and Jimmy Brooks try to avoid being called on.

8. Either it's really cold outside... or Nathan Balaban is practicing the bunny hop in gym class!

9. Lindsey Miller patiently waits to see if the batter swings at the incoming pitch.

10. Brian Byrnes is the star pitcher in this softball game.

Art & Foreign Languages: Creating and Conjugating

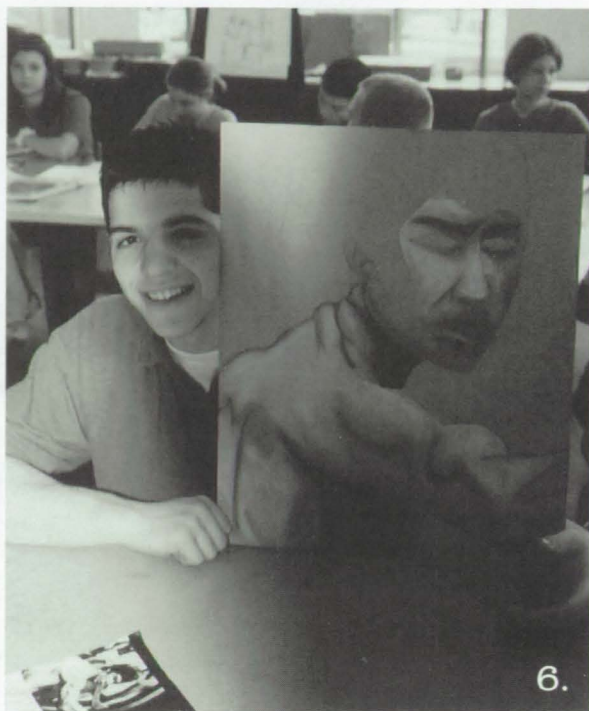

MHS offers a wide selection of art programs for students to show and develop skills in many forms. With the new block scheduling, Mr. Ashton and Mrs. Parks taught a variety of classes, including drawing and design, ceramics and sculpture, photography, print-making, commercial art, studio art, and jewelry. Asked how she thought her students did this year, Mrs. Parks responded: "This has been one of the best we've had in a while." Over 35 MHS students won prizes in several local competitions. Senior Rachel Mix took a $100 prize home and won 2nd place for her portfolio. Junior Danielle Sutter also received top honors for her drawing. In addition, many students had their work showcased in the newly redecorated central office this year.

The foreign language classes consist of French, taught by Mrs. Bangerter; German, taught by Mrs. Eichelberger; and Spanish, taught by Mrs. Battes and Ms. Busse. In addition to learning to read and speak the language, many of the language classes cook food, draw cartoons with foreign captions, act out skits in their language, or construct projects like photo albums to help the students experience the different cultures and cuisines. Freshman Tom Collinsworth chose Spanish as his language this year, saying, "It was a great learning experience. I think knowing a second language will give me more opportunities." Rachelle Orris added that "the Spanish language has grown rapidly around the world." Sophomore Amy Blauman said she chose French as her second language because "it sounds very intellectual!"

4. Mike Bukky tests his Spanish on Mrs. Battes to make sure to get it right.
5. Amy Moniot shares her experiences as a foreign exchange student in Mexico.
6. Joe Hernan may "pump iron" in the gym, but he paints it in commercial art.
7. Jesse Bovee shows how good he can be with his hands with a little concentration.
8. John Hyer, Stephanie Girton, and Erica Evans work hard on their final project while Mrs. Parks ponders a dilemma behind them.
9. William Fedele draws his conception of the perfect date.
10. Melanie Lenk paints a subject she knows a lot about.
11. Jan Nemcek takes time out to draw the flowers in art class.
12. Senior Debra Querry works on a pen-and-ink drawing.

Cookin' It Up

With a larger variety of home economic and life science courses added to schedules, Mrs. Ashton, Mrs. Delahunty, and Ms. Zupp gave students the opportunity to develop new skills and gain valuable hands-on experience in sewing, career planning, family relations, nutrition, and gourmet cooking. One of the most popular additions was the pastries class, which focused on more advanced baking skills. These classes also benefited from various field trips, including a Home Furnishings visit to Stan Hewitt Hall in Akron and the traditional trip to Benihana restaurant.

1. Stefanie Dodge, Nichole Byers, Jenny Yazwinski, and Kristin Polana show off their cake decorating skills.
2. Alicia Egy is proud of her soccer ball.
3. Danina Daughters, Tiffany Howard, and Barbara Perkowski get ready to serve up their creation.
4. Lauren Fenlason cleans up after cooking.
5. Rachelle Orris struggles on a project.
6. Shannon Weiss, Lisa Meek, and Tiffany Ford taste their latest creation.
7. Joe Hernan, Jeremy Hehmeyer, Steve Kapostasy, and Dave Conant take credit for their cake decorating skills.

Cuttin' It Up

On the other side of the school, Mr. Tolchinsky, Mr. Becca, and Mr. Petersen take care of industrial arts, teaching classes in woods, metals, drafting, and career exploration. Their classes make anything from simple toolboxes to more complicated bookshelves and tables. Other students learn to layout and design actual homes and even construct models of their designs.

With the new block schedule, these classes also attracted new students, as senior Monica Torok commented, "It's enjoyable for everyone, not just guys." The classes, divided by the students' years of experience, increase in difficulty of the coursework and the projects.

Library and A.V. Advance into the Millennium

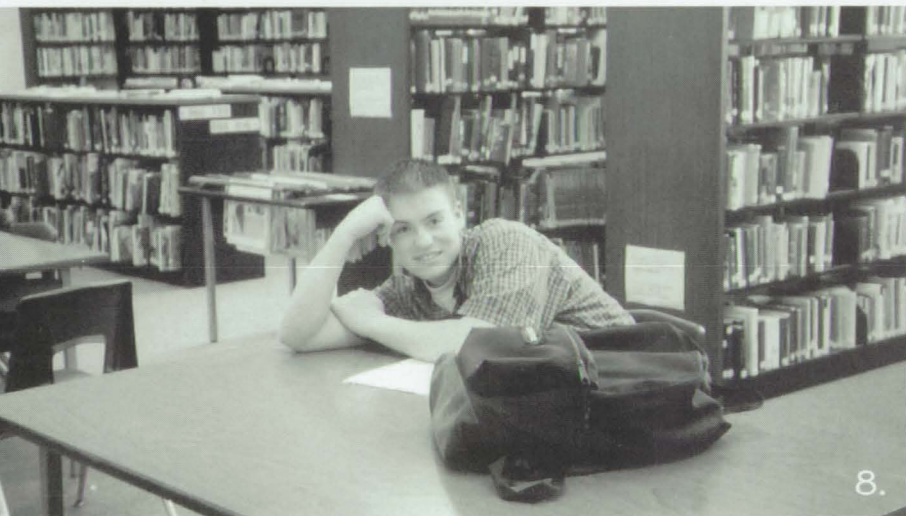

Two departments, the Audio/Visual Department and the library, continued to advance Madison High School by adding high-tech equipment to their inventory. While study halls were smaller this year, the library got even more use from block classes with students from science, social studies, life skills, and English classes working on research assignments and group projects. The library provided even more computers that were linked to the internet while cataloging the entire library by computer. With these new additions, the library became more "user-friendly" while preparing students for the technological society that prevails.

Bob Richmond, the A.V. director, also introduced many students to various forms of technology. New digital cameras and advanced editing systems were purchased and used by the students enrolled in TV Production. An updated computer broadcasting system was also purchased to create a new look for MTV-29. Executive Producer Nick Rogers explained, "A.V. teaches tremendous computer, cooperation, and phone-answering skills. Being the Executive Producer of MTV-29 will be an experience I'll never forget."

1. Wendy Lang and Ben Vaidean call the editing room home during their A.V. class.
2. Ken Babcock and T.J. Majernik work to gain the necessary hours required to pass TV Production.
3. The camera captures Bob Sampson as he is about to slip away into the infamous Media Department Headquarters.
4. "Coffee Talk" hosts Tyson Swackhamer and Erin Morgan prepare to give thanks for their many faithful viewers during their Thanksgiving special. (The turkey was unavailable for this photo.)
5. Senior Mike Taylor takes a break from editing.

6. Kit Lashley and Matt Toward check out books from Madison's five-star library.
7. Mr. Hamilton and some students check out one of the library's computers.
8. Vanden Kovacs is happy as a clam to be working away in amongst the sea of books.
9. Library aide Ryan Kinney patiently awaits the next book to be checked out.
10. Laila Farhood, Kelly Mathews, Heather Harper, and Mena Nappo research for their latest English assignment.

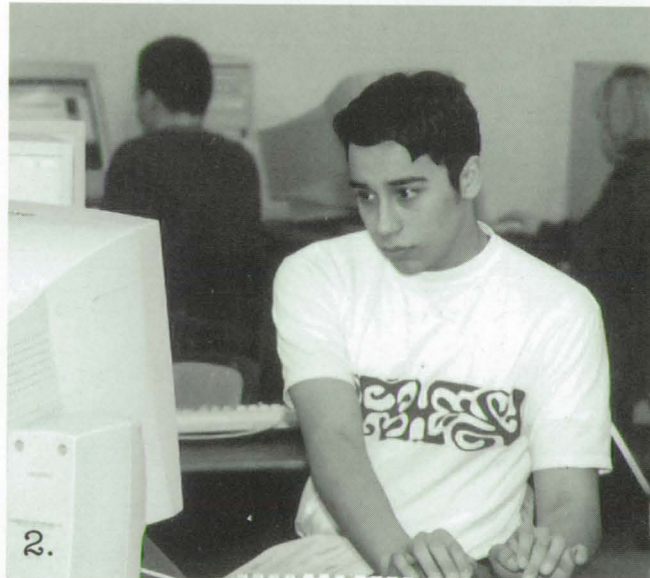

New Technology for the Future

Over the summer, the business teachers were delighted to receive brand new Pentium III Processors. Teaching became even easier when the school received six more new computers during the school year. Along with the new computers came new programs. Geometry Sketch Pad will help students learn and improve upon their mathematical skills. Other programs include MiBAC Music Lessons, Microsoft Word, Excel, Powerpoint and Access.

Business classes help students learn technological skills to further their education and assist them in future careers. These classes also give students a background in the business field. Accounting educates students in bookkeeping. As senior Kellie Rupe claimed, "It's a good class to take because you get good job training before college." In Introduction to Business, the students researched business companies to find out how they got their start and where the companies are today. These classes teach useful knowledge for today and tomorrow.

Streaks Sing Music of the Millennium

Going into the new century, our music department acquired a jazz ensemble. It consists of eight people (four guys and four girls), who are also in the show choir and tried out to be a part of this harmonious ensemble. Our show choir took a new step and traveled to Dublin-Kaufman High School, in Columbus, to participate in the "In Celebration" festival. They blew the competition away in the choreography division, performing "All that Jazz" and "Rich Man's Frug." Tower City also called to ask our show choir if they would perform in the middle of their shopping center, in early February.

Not willing to be left behind, the concert choir also expanded, creating a chamber ensemble. It was made up of selected people from the concert choir. They performed in various shows. Our chorus this year was made up of just first-year students who had never participated before. They perform at the annual concerts in the fall, winter, and spring. All of the choirs had a very successful seasons and the underclassmen look forward to returning for another wonderful year.

Madison Musicians Start off the New Millennium with a Bang

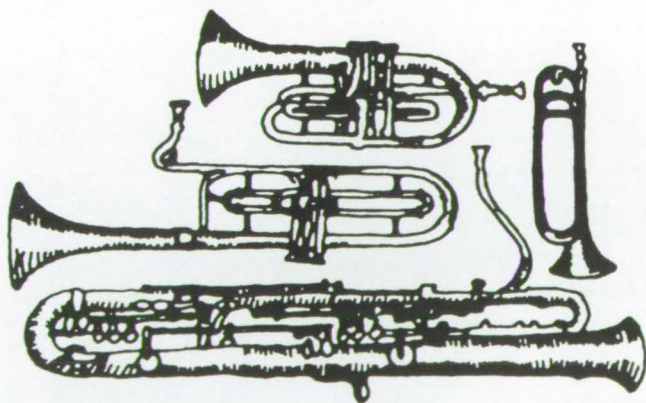

The 1999-2000 concert band went through many changes due to the new block scheduling, splitting into two separate bands. The wind ensemble is directed by Mr. Pérez and the concert band is directed by Ms. Groah. Both bands are still adjusting to the change.

Traditionally, in the middle of their concert season the band switches back to marching mode and participates in the St. Patrick's Day parade in downtown Cleveland. Unfortunately, this year the band could not join in the festivities because of the bad weather.

Although their performance schedule was also somewhat limited, the stage band did put in several key appearances. In addition to entertaining the crowd at the scholarship banquet and substituting for the pep band at several home basketball games, they also performed at Madison nursing homes and at Chapel Methodist Church. Perhaps the height of their season was playing for the "senior" (citizen, that is) prom at Stanton Park. (Unfortunately, only Mr. Pérez could play "The Chicken Dance"!)

First year member and saxophonist Stephanie Clough enjoyed her experience: "It was very interesting because we played music that was very new to me. This year's stage band was made up of a lot of very talented individuals."

Although the 1999-2000 band season was full of a lot of new experiences, the members seemed to adjust wonderfully.

1. It's the "battle of the saxes" when Dustin Osborne, Ryan Hutton, and Glenn Bailey play in stage band.
2. Meghan Campbell, Lindsey Gauntner, and Kelly Petersen don't seem to be paying too much attention to the rest of the band.
3. Gary Mazzeo helps keep the beat for the band during class.

4. Stephanie Clough blows everyone away with her solo during stage band's winter concert.
5. "We've got the beat!" Percussionists Josh Nunnally, Kyle Zuege, and Jim Bugbee keep the band together.
6. Jessica Tingley, Lauren Galloway, Mike Schiberl, and Rick Fike back up the band.
7. Melanie and Natalie Fisher show the rest of the band how it's done.
8. The band does a great job at their winter concert.
9. Stage band helps out at a local nursing home by playing for the residents.

LD, SBH, JOGS Add a New Touch

MHS offers many specialized classes that prepare students for life. Mr. Andrus, Mrs. Westfall, and Mrs. Izzarelli teach the SBH program. They work individually with the students to help them deal with others and learn how to behave in the classroom. They also get rewarded with special activities: watching movies, going to the weight room, or going outside to play basketball.

Other classes also teach students how to succeed in school. Mrs. Morgan, Mrs. McCue, Mrs. Funk, and Mrs. Porter work to improve their students' character as well as help them academically. Different styles of teaching are used to determine how each student learns the best. Mrs. Morgan explained: "We try to recognize each person's strengths and show them how to do the best they can." She even said that "sometimes, we have fun." Mrs. Funk's students are also in charge of the MHS bookstore that sells school supplies every day.

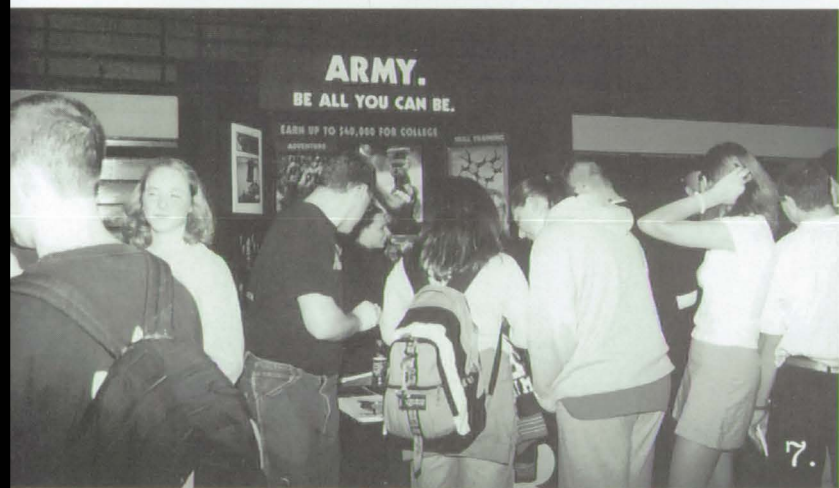

The JOGS (Jobs for Ohio Graduating Seniors) program has also been active this year. In addition to a formal membership ceremony, the students also organized a job fair with numerous representatives from all sorts of area businesses. The Army, Navy, and Marines were also there to speak to students about job opportunities.

ACC Students Benefit from Educational Options

Auburn Career Center offers a variety of fields to study for Madison students who choose to take vocational classes there and for those who make it their school all day. Among the various programs offered at ACC are Administrative Office Services; Auto Mechanics and Autobody; Building, Remodeling, and Repair; Community and Home Services; Culinary Arts; Cosmetology; Early Childhood Development; Diversified Health Service; Electronics; Graphic Communications; Horticulture; Industrial Technology; Informational Processing; Transitional Employment; Marketing Education; and Occupational Work Experience.

This wide variety of choices gives the students and adults a way to make their goals come true and teaches them the basics about their special skills. Open to students from Lake and Geauga county schools, Auburn gives them a head start on their careers. Many of the students who come from ACC can enter the work force right after they graduate. More recent programs prepare students to continue their educations in college or technical schools.

Bright Future

1. Beth Painter shows the skills she is learning in her Health Services classes.
2. Tammy Fidanza, Tina Carroll, Jenny Boysko and Kyla Rupe demonstrate that it takes patience and a sense of humor to work with little kids all day!
3. Just like on-the-job, good friends are made at ACC, as Mike Meeker, Shane Warren, C.J. Montgomery, and Jessie Berry show.
4. MHS students were among those in this ACC autobody class who helped repair the Big Boy!
5. Kelly Lundblad tests out a recipe in her culinary arts class.

Post-Secondary Option Students

These MHS students took advantage of the post-secondary option to earn college credit at KSU, Lakeland, or Lake Erie College. Many took some classes here at Madison, but a few took full college loads.

3. Chris Mauck, Laila Farhood, Bob White, Chad Phillipp, Heather Harper, and Mike Callow try to catch up on their school work.
4. Maureen Sisk uses her hands to create a masterpiece!
5. Mrs. Sampson's class enjoys the presence of the actors from the Great Lakes Theater Festival as they discuss The Crucible.

Final Memories

Prom Night Streaks By

It was a night "frozen in time" as the students of MHS poured into the Madison Country Club to dance the night away. The theme, "Frozen in Time," was expressed well as the junior class decorations filled the dance room with silver, blue, and pink balloons and gosamer—even an ice sculpture.

The juniors worked hard up to the last minute. Breana Krotz explained that they had some problems with items ordered from the big companies not looking as good as they did in the catalogues, but said, "Overall we were happy with the decorations, and the people who came to prom seemed to like them." Claire Findak also commented on the decorating process: "It was hard work, but being with my friends made it easier." The 2000 prom court made it difficult to select a queen and king. The senior girls were represented by Jessica Cummings, Sara Kalenits, Amanda Larned, Kellie Rupe, and Jenny Yazwinski; the boys by Travis Collings, Dave Conant, Steve Kapostasy, Jason Kinney, Mike Meeker, and Tyson Swackhamer.

Chosen queen, Jenny Yazwinski said, "I was honored that all my friends voted for me. I was shocked, too, actually. I had a really fun time prom night hanging around with my friends. We just went crazy!" Tyson shared his initial response to being crowned king: "My God, what is going on here? This came out of nowhere!"

Valedictorian ▶

Lynda Barnhart:

"Over time, we found that change was inevitable. We have achieved many things we can be proud of and perhaps made some mistakes that we may regret. Either way, the obstacles that we have overcome have created the memories known as our past."

◀ Valedictorian

Nicholas Rogers:

"Although many go unmentioned, no member of the Class of 2000 has reached this moment without some sort of distinction... and you know the value of your high school experience."

Fame is not as important as your own recognitions of these accomplishments."

Valedictorian ▶

Erin Morgan:

"Every accomplishment that we gather on this journey contributes to what we'll find behind the door that determines our success: the door of happiness and contentment. No matter where an individual ends up in life, his outlook on his life determines his success."

◀ Salutatorian

Emily Winton:

"We need to be bold and relentless, determined and fearless, committed to making our lives what we want them to be... We can't go wrong if we refuse to accept anything but our personal best in everything we do."

Salutatorian ▶

Joshua Haldi:

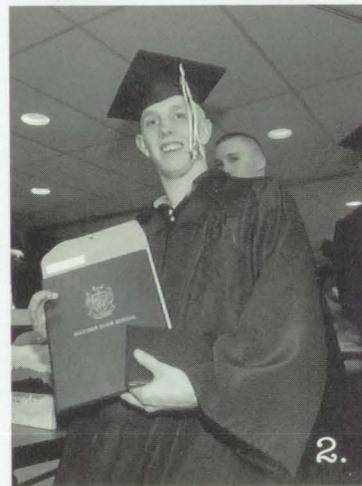

"Graduation is not a time to reflect on the past, but instead to marvel at the future. Today is the crossroads of our short lives. It is the end of Book One... As we walk out these gym doors, Book Two will begin its introduction... What will your book be about?"

MHS Graduates Streak into the Future

In front of a packed gymnasium, this year's senior class graduated 237 seniors on Saturday, June 3, 2000. Of those seniors, approximately 78% intend to go on to college or technical schools. To help them reach their goal, this talented class has earned over $150,000 in scholarship money. Many of those seniors graduated with special honors, including 79% of the class who passed all sections of the senior proficiency tests. Special recognition went to Dave Conant, the only member of his class to pass all sections of the proficiencies with honors!

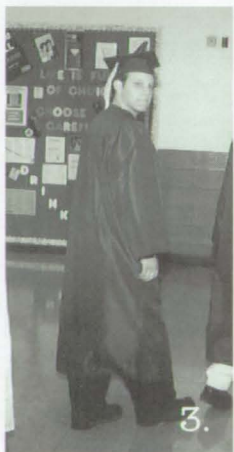

In addition to the video of old photos compiled by Mrs. Morgan and Mr. Richmond, the AV department also displayed each senior's photo on the big screen as they crossed the stage. Another high point was the original song "Promise Me"--with lyrics and music by Amanda Pniewski and Jonah Pike--performed by Amanda and Colleen O'Leary. But the highlight of the day was seeing James Rogers leave his wheelchair to walk across the stage. Congratulations to him and to all his classmates for all their amazing accomplishments. The future indeed looks bright for the new millennium and the Class of 2000!

1. James Rogers accepts his diploma from Mr. Fabian and receives a standing ovation from his classmates and the crowd as he walks across the stage.
2. Kevin Estabrook, Mary Elliott, and Mary Eland are happy this day has arrived.
3. No looking back! Matt Hubaker heads into the gym.
4. Sean Shelley, Beth Shumaker, Robert Simmons, Mystica Shuss, Cathy Sisk, and Adam Smith wonder what's holding up the procession.
5. Nicole Ford receives her diploma from Mr. Collins.
6. Jennifer Boysko, Marc Byrnes, Ashley Collinsworth, Dave Conant, and Lori Curtindale listen to some last-minute instructions from Mrs. Ankrom.

She Said HE SAID

Everybody wears t-shirts, and some sport fairly common advertisements or messages: AF, Old Navy, "Just Do It." But some individuals expressed themselves in more unique ways.

1. Brandon Scheel says, "just be happy I'm not your kid!"
2. Beth Ames advises "DUMP HIM."
3. Justine Barnum declares herself "Queen of Everything."

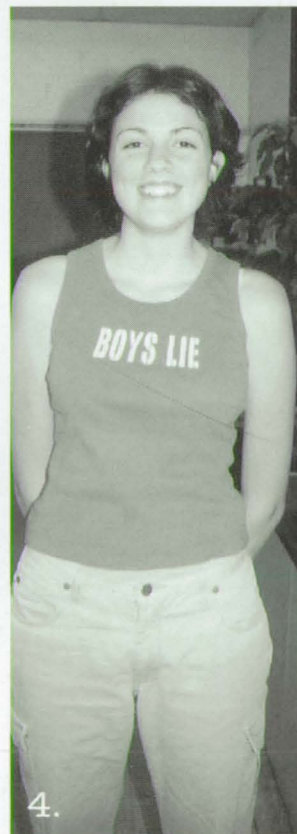

1.

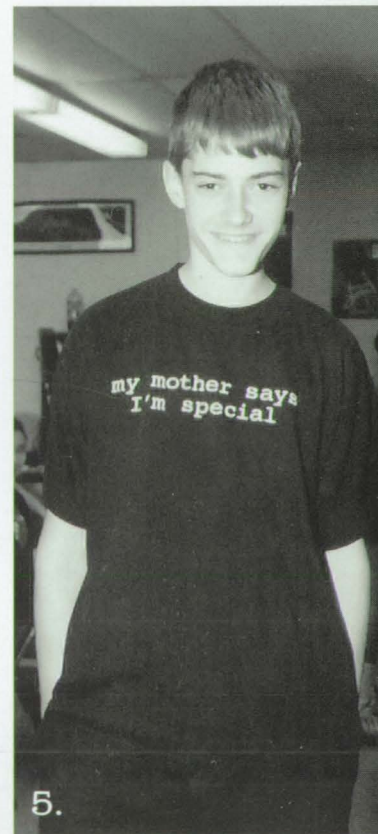

2.

3.

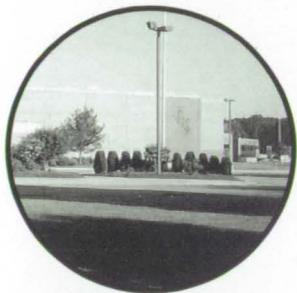

4.

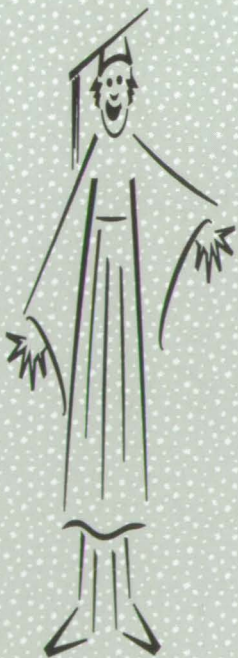

5.

4. No romantic herself, Beth Stahlnecker believes that "BOYS LIE."
5. Gerald Nighman proclaims, "my mother says I'm special."

Good Luck Class of 2000!

S.A.D.D.

MISSION STATEMENT:

We are a diverse group of students with various backgrounds that stand for positive decisions that promote personal well-being: alcohol free, drug free lifestyles which benefit the school and community with our beliefs and values as people who care. We want to see that everyone knows what we believe in and what we stand for, to be free of harmful chemicals that have affected people in our community already. We can't change the past but we can change the future, and that's what we are hoping to do, to inform the younger generations about the dangers of drugs and alcohol.

from S.A.D.D. & T.I.

Laketrans Freeway Flyer... with Service that Soars

Work while you commute— think of the Laketrans Freeway Flyer as your office on wheels. Take the Laketrans Freeway Flyer from Lake County to Cleveland and make your commute to work easy and hassle free.

- From Park-n-Rides in: Madison, Lakeland Community College, Mentor, Willowick, Wickliffe
- Arrive Cleveland as early as 6:45am and leave Cleveland as late as 5:50pm
- Save over $100 per month with the Laketrans Freeway Flyer.

Compare this... Downtown Parking = $130 to $260/month
Riding Laketrans = $80/month

Riding Laketrans to work reduces demand for parking, highway congestion, energy consumption, wear on your car and orange barrel stress.

Laketrans Freeway Flyer—Every Seat is First Class!

We've been providing superior service and constant innovation to our customers for 50 years. And we owe our success to the consistent hard work, trust and vision of every person in the company. Most of these people are your neighbors. Many were born and raised right here in Lake and Ashtabula Counties. Their day-to-day acts of creativity and leadership over the years have added up to Perfection's superior performance.

The Year Streaks to a Close

Attitude is everything: Danielle Fredericks shows her "i charge" pose.

The 1999-2000 Cauldron is a publication of the Madison High School Blue Streak Yearbook Staff. Over five hundred copies of Volume 71, entitled "Streaking into the Future," were printed by the Taylor Publishing Company in Dallas, Texas.

Most copy was set in 10-point Typewriter font, with headlines in Jefferson script. Copy was completed on Dell computers and submitted on IBM disks. MHS was one of the first schools to "test-run" Taylor's updated "Vision 2000" graphic design software. The presale program was conducted by the Yearbook Processing Center of Murfreesboro, Tennessee. The presale price was $50 plus tax and a YPC handling fee.

The yearbook staff would like once again to express our unending gratitude to those people who make our job easier. Many students, teachers, administrators, office staff, coaches, parents, and friends have come to our aid on numerous occasions. A few names deserve special mention: Robert Barbian of Barbian Photography, Cindy Carty, Eileen Findak, Mary Jackson, Beth Leonard, Melody Lundquist, Debbie Morgan, Lisa from Rejoice

Communications, and Bob Richmond, among others. Thanks also to all our advertisers!

Please remember that the Cauldron is a student publication. We work very hard to avoid, find, and correct errors, and we apologize for those we missed. We sincerely hope you enjoy your book now and treasure it for years to come.

Roger Clemens helps the New York Yankees beat the Atlanta Braves in four games to win the 1999 World Series.

The Dallas Stars capture the Stanley Cup with Brett Hull's game-winning goal in triple overtime.

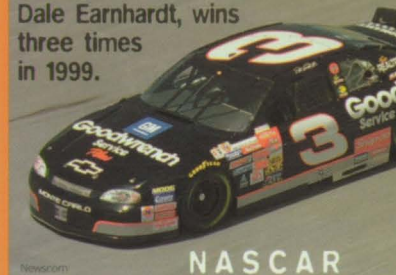

Although Andre Agassi loses to Pete Sampras in the 1999 Wimbledon Championship, he finishes the year ranked #1.

TENNIS

The Winston Cup Series Champion, Dale Earnhardt, wins three times in 1999.

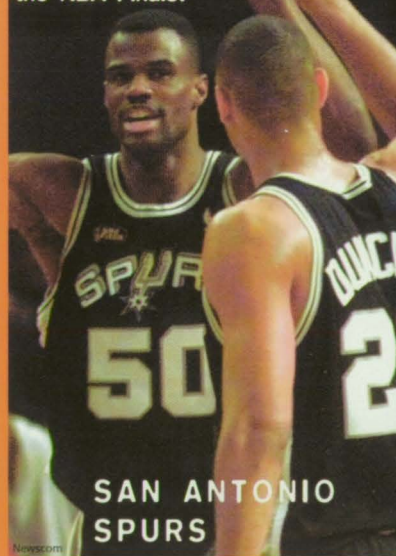

NASCAR

In sports, it was a year for firsts. Forty million viewers tuned in to watch the U.S. Women's Soccer Team triumph over China and Tiger Woods win six straight PGA tournaments. The Dallas Stars became the first team since the 1994 New York Rangers to win both the President's Trophy and the Stanley Cup in the same season. In addition, Lance Armstrong overcame a bout with cancer to win his first Tour de France.

Mia Hamm and Brandi Chastain lead the team in a 5-4 narrow, penalty-kick victory over China to win the Women's World Cup.

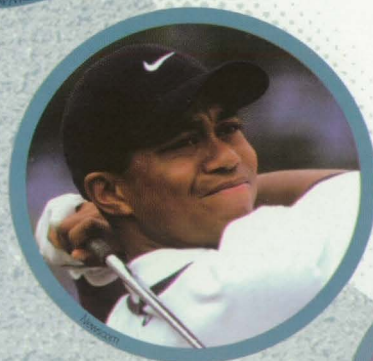

David Robinson and Tim Duncan triumph against the NY Knicks in the NBA Finals.

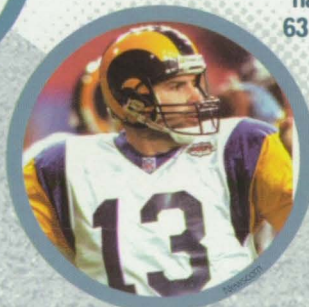

SAN ANTONIO SPURS

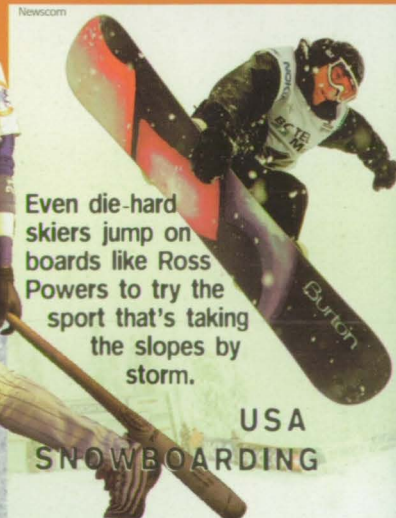

Chicago Cubs' right fielder Sammy Sosa hammered out a big 63 homeruns in 1999.

Tiger Woods' PGA Tour winning streak comes to an end when he is beaten at the Buick Invitational.

USA SNOWBOARDING

SPORTS

The year 2000 was greeted with celebrations across the globe, including a fantastic fireworks display at the Eiffel Tower and religious ceremonies in Jerusalem. Looking back on 1999, we see a year filled with hope for the future, but also a year plagued by war and natural disaster. The conflict in Serbia kept the world on the edge of its seat, while earthquakes, tornadoes and winter storms focused our attention on international relief efforts. In 1999-2000, we also said goodbye to some of the world's most beloved celebrities including John F. Kennedy Jr., Walter Payton and Charles Schulz.

WEATHER

The century came to a close with an upsurge of natural disasters. Hurricane Floyd caused $4.2 billion worth of damage on the East Coast while snowstorms crippled regions of the Northeast and Midwest. Internationally, earthquakes killed thousands in Turkey, Columbia and Taiwan.

DISCOVERY

The Hubble Telescope, Earth's orbiting eye to the heavens beamed back pictures of new planets and nebulas, while kinks in the NASA Mars Polar Lander mission delayed hopes of discovering more about the mysterious red planet.

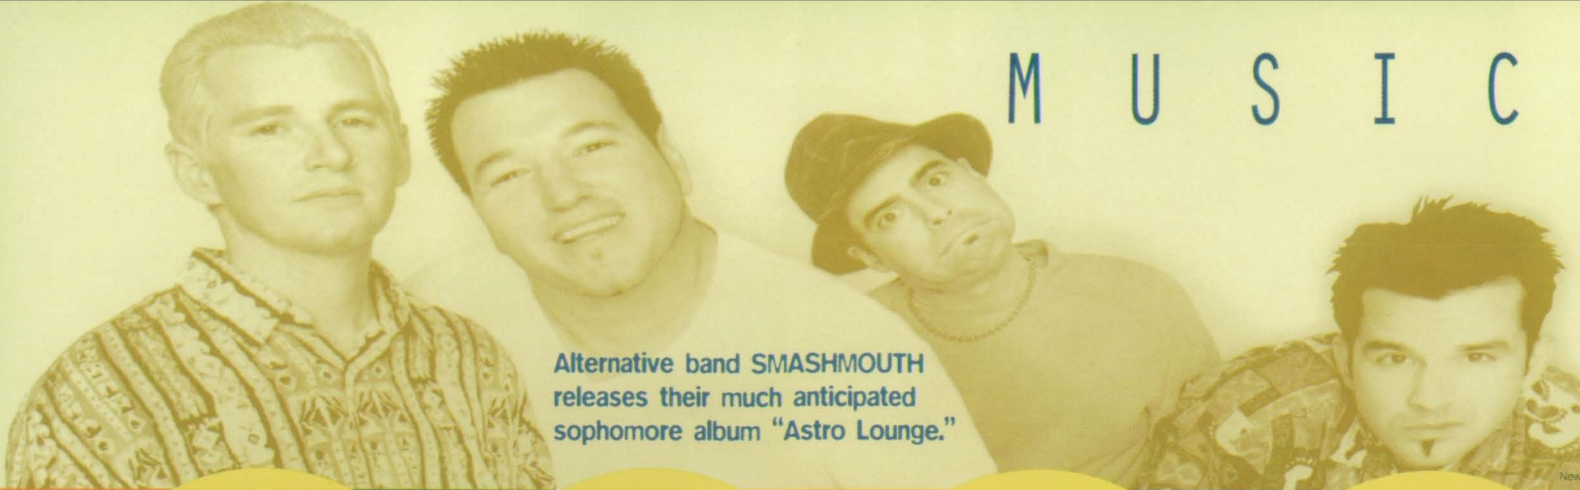

MILLENNIUM

While some stockpiled Y2K supplies and safeguarded their computers against the "millennium bug," others rang in the new century with fireworks, parties and religious celebrations. While merchandise branding the date 01.01.00 filled stores, millennium countdown clocks were seen everywhere from billboards to post offices.

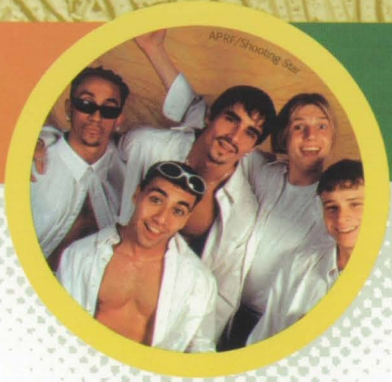

GOODBYE

As we said goodbye to the century, we also said goodbye to some of the world's most beloved celebrities. John F. Kennedy Jr. was killed in a private plane crash while Charles Schulz passed away on the night before his last "Peanuts" comic strip was to be published in Sunday papers around the world. Sports legends Walter Payton, Joe DiMaggio and Tom Landry also left us this year.

MUSIC

BACKSTREET BOYS

FAITH HILL/TIM MCGRAW

The country couple both receive nominations at the 1999 American Music Awards. Faith Hill's album "Breathe" debuts at #1 on the Billboard Top 200.

RICKY MARTIN

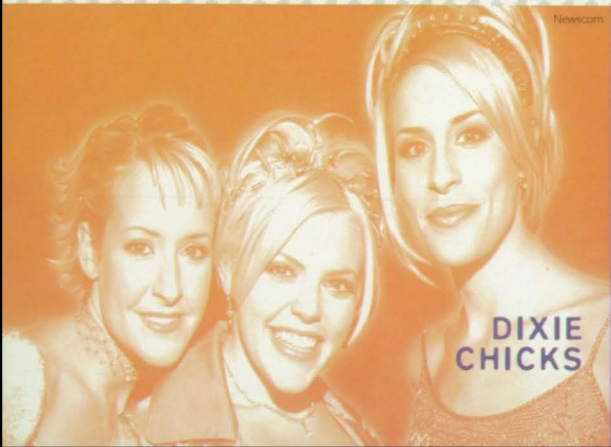

"Livin' La Vida Loca" and "She's All I Ever Had" take Ricky's first English album multi-platinum.

BRITNEY SPEARS

"Boy Bands" and Latin superstars lead the 1999-2000 music scene. 'N SYNC and Backstreet Boys keep fans screaming for their good looks and slick dance moves. Ex-Menudo vocalist Ricky Martin wows audiences with his first English album, and actress/singer Jennifer Lopez scores big with her own first album, "On the 6." The biggest success story of the year, however, is former Mouseketeer Britney Spears' meteoric rise to fame via her debut LP "...Baby One More Time."

These cool cowgirls continue to enjoy the success of their breakthrough album "Wide Open Spaces."

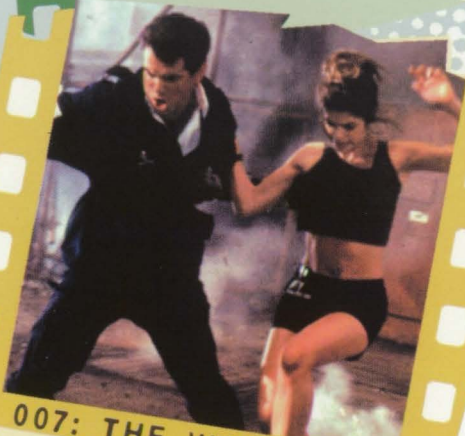

TLC returns to the hip-hop scene with "Fan Mail," featuring the singles "Come On Down" and "No Scrubs."

BIG DADDY

Comedian Adam Sandler tries his hand at parenting to impress Joey Lauren Adams. Co-stars include Cole and Dylan Sprouse and SNL buddy Rob Schneider.

007: THE WORLD IS NOT ENOUGH

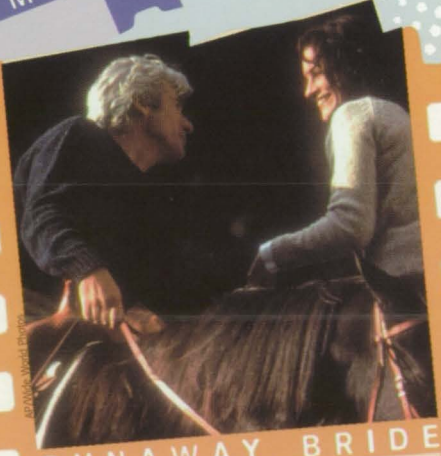

Returning as 007, Pierce Brosnan and beauty Denise Richards carry on the Bond legacy in this 19th installment of the films.
