Expecting...

Most things in today's world are unexpected. September 11, 2001, unexpected. The blackout of 2003, unexpected. $2.00 for a gallon of gas, unexpected. The Columbia exploding, unexpected. Land rovers discovering water on Mars, unexpected. The fun of emailing someone all the way across the country in seconds, unexpected.

Unexpected events affect our lives everyday. Sometimes they are good, like winning the PAC Championship or getting asked to prom by someone we never thought even noticed us. Sometimes they are bad, like failing a test we thought we were going to ace or not getting the part in the play we thought was ours.

However there is one positive in all of this. Our generation has learned an important lesson: "Expect the unexpected."

Expecting Memories

Another year is over, but left behind are the memories of the fun times. Someday we will unexpectedly come across something from high school—pictures, sports programs, or outfits we wore. We'll remember showing our school spirit, going to our first homecoming dance, playing in the pep band, getting ready for the prom, or cheering on the Streaks. Whether we are leaving forever or returning next year, we can expect to never forget those special memories we had with our friends at MHS.

Are... you... ready?!?

Spirit Fans

Jen Shafer shows her quick thinking as she holds up a sign reading "MHS," bending the rules of the game during the homecoming assembly. This just goes to show you that Madison fans will do anything to show their spirit.

Mikey Blauman is the leader of the Streak crowd. He not only cheers the loudest, but he is also the one who starts the legendary chant. "Are you ready?...blood makes the grass grow, KILL KILL KILL!"

Carly Locke and Aleesha Sprafke take a quick break from all of their cheering. "Being part of the spirit section is one of my most memorable moments in high school, needless to say, the most fun," said Carly Locke.

You can definitely tell that these Blue Streak fans are ready for the cold weather as they bundle up for the boys soccer game. They watched the team's victory against rival Eastlake North.

Despite not knowing much about the sport, the football team still comes to cheer on the boys soccer team as they win the PAC championship.

"Are...you...ready?!?" yells Mikey Blauman to the rest of the "Streak Freaks" in the spirit section. He pumped everyone up right before Jimmy Smith punted the ball.

With the words "Beat those Cougars" on their chests, these football admirers cheer their hearts out. Despite the hard loss to Lake Catholic, Madison fans still gave their all throughout the game, proving their loyalty through thick and thin.

Joey Naso and Anthony Gustin watch the beautiful throw from Joe Deak to Josh McFarland, who catches the ball to give the Streaks a first down.

"Spirit. Let's hear it!" Chuck White and Anthony Campofredano let everyone hear them as they cheer on the football team.

After a big play by Madison, the spirit fans go wild showing their excitement and obsession for the game of football.

"And a little bit of this and a little bit of that and shake your butt!" This group of football players, Shane Brennen, Jared Spada and Dan Nebraska are getting ready for homecoming by brushing up on their dance moves early, at the homecoming assembly.

The 2003 homecoming king and queen share a special dance to complete the perfect evening.

Heather Lampert & Chris Anderson

"My favorite part of being a member of the homecoming court was making up our own rules when we played the bean game at the assembly," said Joe Deak.

Lauren Kidder & Joe Deak

These two court members had a blast being on court and were glad they got a chance to be paired up and get to know each other better.

Jenn Dulac & Dyan Morris

"I got to show people that I could blow the stereotypes out of the water, and I had fun showing people that the impossible could be done," said Mike Delillo.

Mike Delillo & Monica Porostosky

"I thought being on the homecoming court was fun, and it was an experience I'll always remember," said court member Stefani Hines.

Stefani Hines & Josh Farren

Almost paradise

Homecoming 2003

Dave Deak, Amanda Leitch, Kelly Woodworth, and Stephen Keates enjoy a night in paradise.

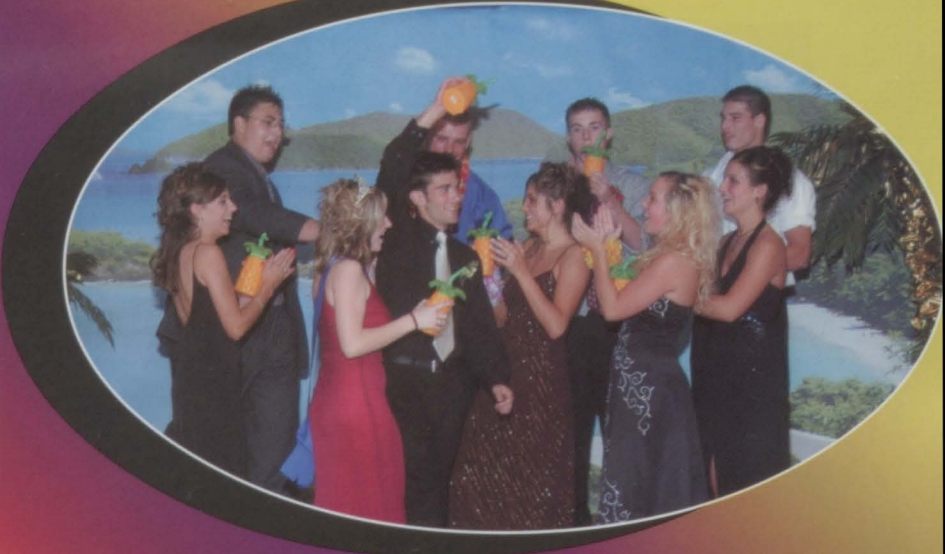

These independent girls, Chessa Pikor, Julia Kershaw, and Tara Longo, don't need their dates to have a great time at homecoming.

Dancing the night away, seniors Brittney Bissett and Bart Eland take it down a notch for a slow song.

Senior Girls 2003

The 2003 Homecoming court celebrates as they find out who their king is.

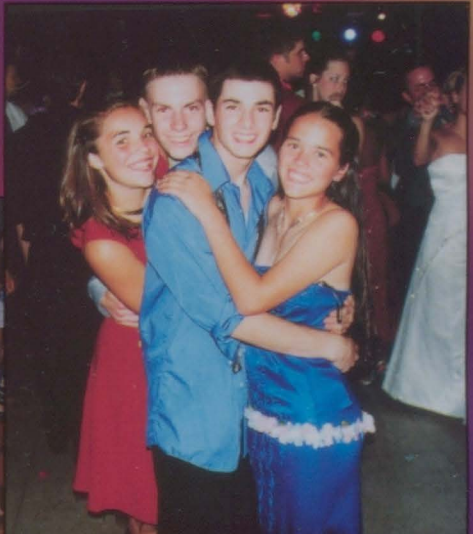

Homecoming was just as fun as these dance goes expected. Cinthia Fable, Tim Weir, Tony Mandato, and Joanna McFarland have a great time in paradise.

Senior Boys 2003

"And they're off!" seniors Lauren Kidder and Monica Porostosky try not to spill the beans during the homecoming assembly.

Josh McFarland is all smiles while dancing with "Lady in Red" Lola Judy.

These boys know how to keep their dates smiling by posing for a few pictures before heading out onto the dance floor.

Chris Anderson helps Mike Deillo into a dress while Josh Farren hopes the magic wand will help them win the contest.

Spirit Week 2004

The sophomores won the spirit week hallway contest with their theme "Night on the Red Carpet."

The seniors came in a close second with their hallway themed "New York, New York."

The freshmen came in third with their hallway themed "Oriental."

With a nice effort the juniors came in a respectable last place with their hallway "A Walk in the Park."

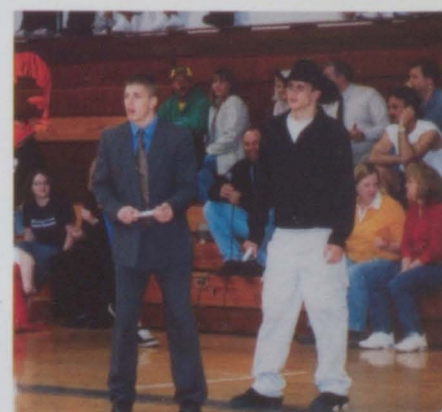

The senior powder puff girls huddle to confirm their next plan of attack.

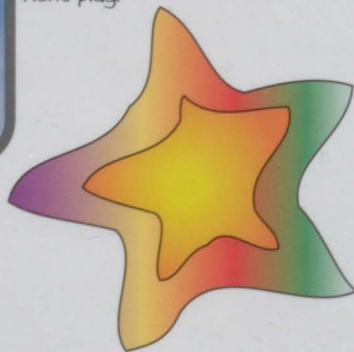

Raring to go, the junior girls huddle up to plan their next play.

Showing that even cowboys and Indians can get along, freshmen Cindi Fahle and Joanna McFarland flash big smiles during spirit week.

Ready for a nap, MHS students lay down for a little rest on pajama day.

Seniors Nikki Chaves and Stefani Hines celebrate their last spirit week at MHS.

Freshmen Linnea Swanson and Heather Helms show their MHS pride on blue and white day.

MHS students Sarah Bradley, Courtney Smith, Aaron Byers, Corbin Lichtinger, Candace Coughlin, Christine Cadman, and Dana Cavallaro show creativity with their cowboy costumes on cowboy and Indians day.

80's day was a big hit during school spirit week.

MHS Prom 2004

Madison High School's 2004 Prom King and Queen Stefani Hines and Jared Spada.

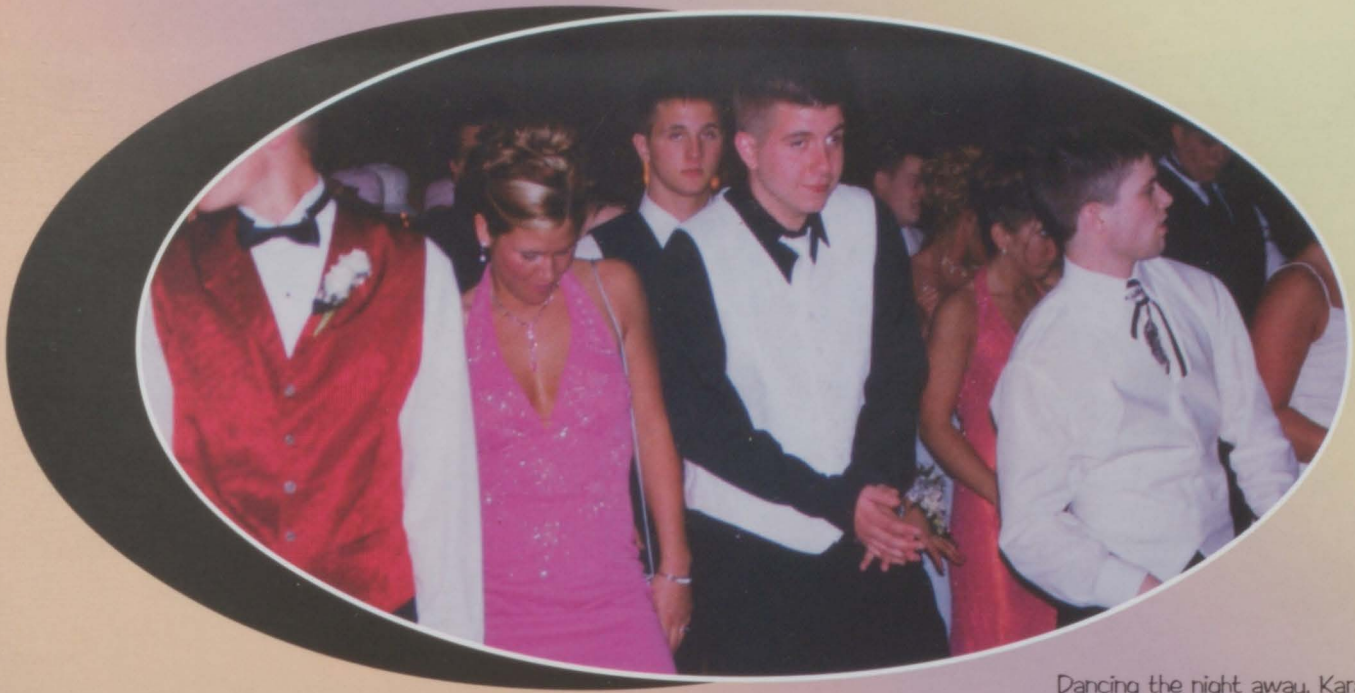

The 2004 MHS Prom Court applauds as the king and queen move toward the dance floor for their dance.

Homecoming queen Heather Lampert is escorted down the red carpet by her date Adam Butcher.

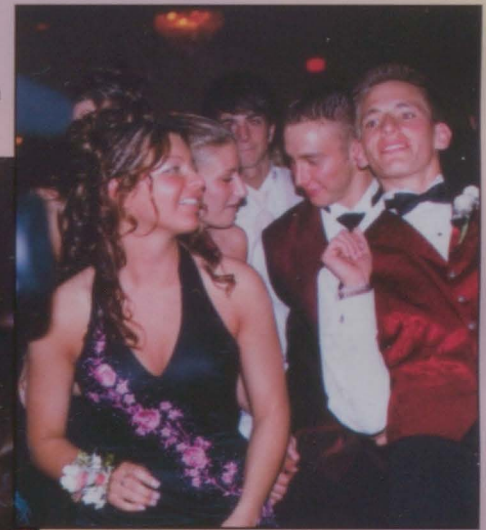

Dancing the night away, Kara Kico and Mike Turner show off their best moves.

Joe Lander and Kim Grabel stop for a quick breather before heading back to the dance floor.

Seniors Amanda Titman and Kevin Cottingham match the prom theme "Lights on Broadway."

Winter Formal Court

Tom Weiss and Reggie Ockleman were two of the ones the seniors picked for the crown at winter formal.

Ashley Elder and Mike Delillo were another senior pick for the winter formal court.

The juniors picked Renee Bradbeer and Justin Monty as their representatives for winter formal.

The sophomores elected Keith Fiorino and Aja Rendek for their winter formal court members.

The freshmen class selected John Harp and Candace Coughlin as their members to the court.

Blast from the past

Winter Formal

The winter formal king and queen was Jodie Toward. Here they are dancing a slow dance.

Courtney Hale, Lauren Piercy, and Stephanie Harmon wait for their knights in shining armor to come and sweep them off their feet.

Brock Malinowski and his girlfriend Jessica Lubelt dance the night away.

With flowers in their hair and beads around their necks, this group of girls gather together, with a few boys, to show off their styles.

Who needs boys? These three lovely ladies, Amanda Shafer, Kate Moore, and Holly Taylor, have a great time without them!

With the help of a few props, the medieval theme for the winter formal was set. Here are a few students giving them a try.

Freshman Ken Holcomb "PARTY!" Kristal Satterfield, Jacqueline Isabella, Dawn Whitt, and Heather Friend show that they are having a blast!

It took a lot to make this dance such a blast. With the help of these three, Colleen Smith, Brandon Vaidean, and Erin Kuester, the job was much easier.

A happy ending after all

For the cast of Once Upon A Mattress

Mrs. Bowden, director
"What was fun about the musical was watching the costumes and the set put together. And what was different this year was the live orchestra. All the kids were great."

Miss Groah, director
"The sense of accomplishment came when the show went into production. The elements were all working together."

Amanda Argo, Princess Winnifred
"My favorite part of the musical was all three nights of performing, just being on stage and hearing each audience's reactions."

Brandon Lichtinger, Prince Dauntless
"I really enjoyed working with the whole cast because I've worked with most of them before in other performances. This was a good way of culminating my last year of high school. I'm really going to miss it."

The cast members of Once Upon A Mattress

Princess Winnifred, played by Amanda Argo, gets ready to climb the ladder to the wonderful world of sleep.

Lady Larkin, played by Jill Ozello, and Sir Harry, played by Paul Bodager, sing about their love for each other.

Princess Winnifred, played by Amanda Argo, isn't going to give into Queen Aggravain', played by Shannon Pavlovic, this time.

These cast members sing their hearts out to the song "Fred," which is about Princess Winnifred.

These cast members open their arms to welcome the audience to the wonderfully performed Once Upon A Mattress.

Amanda Argo, as Princess Winnifred, pulls away in fear from the harsh words that Shannon Pavlovic, as Queen Aggravain, has spoken.

Two peasants, Lindsey Taylor and Amy Findak, chat about the wonderful news that has just been told.

Clenching onto the Jester, played by Matthew Gehring, King Sextimus, played by Joe Rochon, hopes that he is safe from danger.

"The funniest part of the performance and also the most difficult to get over was definitely the kissing scenes. Everyone was really nervous about kissing, so I went out and bought them all Breath-easier. I called it their 'kissing potion,'" explained Mrs. Bowden, the director.

Paul Passerell, who played the part of Merriman, said this about the play, "The best and most exciting part of this play was the night of the performance. All of our hard work paid off. We had so much fun."

There is more to a performance than just the actors. There is also the stage crew. Paul Bodager was a backstage star who helped to make the show great.

Brandon Lichtinger played John, the leading role. His character was a difficult one to play because of all the emotions he had to display on the stage; however, he definitely pulled it off.

Stars on stage

The Importance of Being Earnest

The fall play cast had fun on and off the stage. This is evident by the way Heidi Baker puts Matt Gehring in a headlock after he messes up a line during a rehearsal. Her character was definitely one not to be messed with and obviously neither is she!

Jack, played by Brandon Lichtinger, and Miss Prism, played by Shannon Pavlovic, look over a suitcase together that could be the key to his past.

"You must get out of here by the four-five train," says Brandon Lichtinger, as Jack. This is one of the most heart-wrenching scenes because Jack kicks out his brother, played by Matt Gehring.

You could tell during the performance that the cast was close. They did an excellent job portraying their characters and interacting with each other. The chemistry was amazing. The play was an overall hit. It kept the audience laughing hysterically the whole time. These stars on stage did a wonderful job.

Upset with the death of his fake brother, Jack, also known as Brandon Lichtinger, pulls off a very convincing performance, as he gets sympathy from his ward Cecily, played by Jessie Scheve.

Jack, played by Brandon Lichtinger, holds his love, Gwendolyn, played by Emily Byers, in his arms.

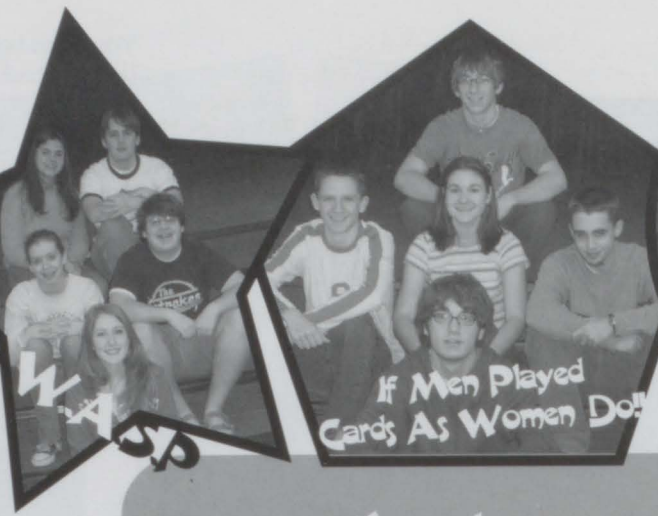

Jack tells Algernon that he will propose to his love, who coincidentally is Algernon's cousin.

Matt Gehring and Jessie Scheve cuddle together on the couch during the performance, making it very believable that their two characters, Cecily and Algernon, are in love.

Cecily, played by Jessie Scheve, is very intimidated by Lady Bracknell, otherwise known as Heidi Baker. Lady Bracknell sizes Cecily up to see if she is good enough for her nephew.

Acting our age

2003-2004 One Acts

Emily Byers was the only senior brave enough to take a shot at directing. Her one act was If Men Played Cards As Women Do.

Ms. Jackson, the school librarian took a very daring role directing the longest and most confusing act of all, W.A.S.P.

English teacher, Mrs. Bowden took on a double load this year directing two acts, both Medea, and DMV Tyrant.

Assistant principal Mrs. Smith really had her hands full, of old ladies anyway, directing Not My Cup of Tea.

Heidi Baker really knows how to act her age. Throwing a tantrum at DMV worker, Kati Burr's Window.

Can you do the Can Can? The Medea cast members sure can!

As Deus Ex Machina, Mikey Nagy gives a word of advice to the emotionally disturbed Medea A.K.A. Shannon Marie Pavlovic.

These guys not only know how to act their age but also how to act like girls! Paul Passerell, Aaron Byers, Torrey Wigfield, and Matt Gehring did a great job in their production of "If Men Played Cards As Women Do."

It's Play Time !!

Sophomore Rachel Gerard played the most characters in this year's one acts. She was Hermione the maid, an alien, and the voice...all in one act!!

Seniors Brandon Lichtinger and Amy Findak, Freshmen Corbin Lichtinger, and Heather Helms enjoy a nice Christmas morning as the typical American family.

Kristen Cassity knows how to act more than her age.. She played a woman in her 80's.

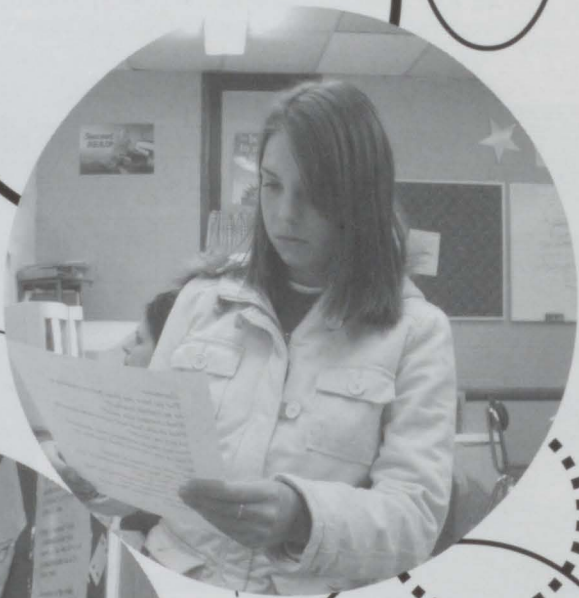

Bailey Venable and Katja Ryabtseva have a cup of tea as they plot to kill their mother.

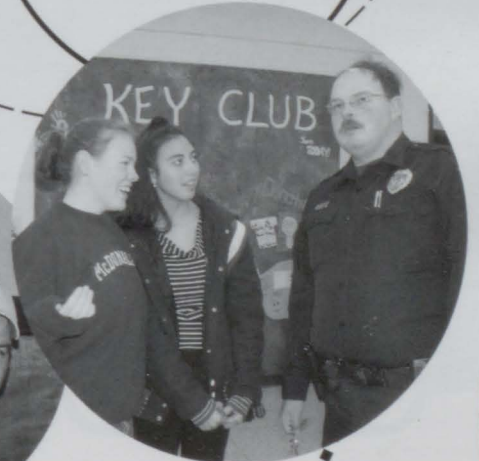

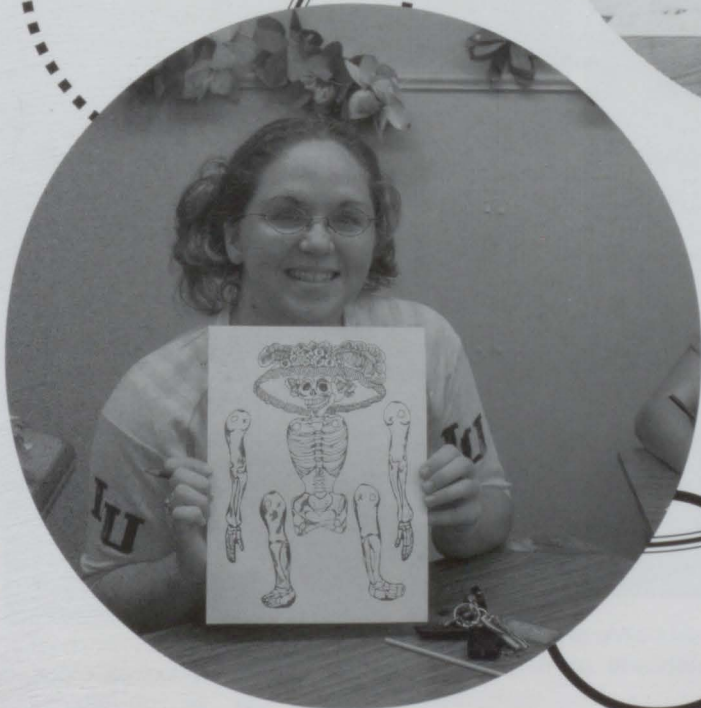

Senior Brandon Lichtinger ponders the meaning of a luxury item.

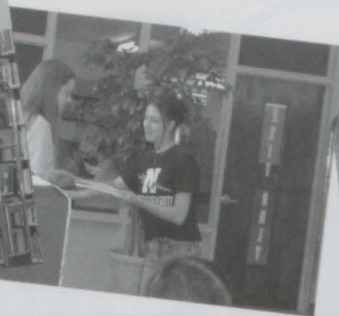

Senior Amy Findak takes a little time out to talk to the voices in her head.

Expecting Nothing

Doing something nice without expecting something in return. All the clubs at Madison High School seem to follow this motto. From FCA volunteering at a soup kitchen to key club sponsoring a blood drive to drama club entertaining its audience to The Streak staff providing the student body with free newspapers to NHS holding its annual Toys for Tots collection, the clubs were very active in the school and community this past year. All these club members put their efforts into helping others and expected nothing in return.

And thanks to the International Club for showing us a new world.

Seniors Silje Olesrud, Guilherme Ferline, and Jose Chavez Hernandez enjoy the break in their day for lunch.

MHS Yearbook

Mrs. Vacca

As our favorite adviser, Mrs. Vacca worked hard to pull us together. Handling a staff of 18 was not easy, but she got the job done.

Jessica Scott

As one of the two main editors, Jessica kept all the spreads looking the best they can. She worked hard and was dedicated to making the yearbook staff the best it's ever been.

Amanda Titman

She was the second of our editors whose work was no less importance. She tried to make sure everyone was doing their part to make the spreads look their best.

More Fun and Hardwork Than You Would Expect!!

2004 Yearbook Staff!

Even when she's not at home, Misty Perkins is still on the phone. She said she was selling ads, so we'll just have to believe her.

Sophomore Andrea Nolen works hard to do all she can to make the deadline for her spread.

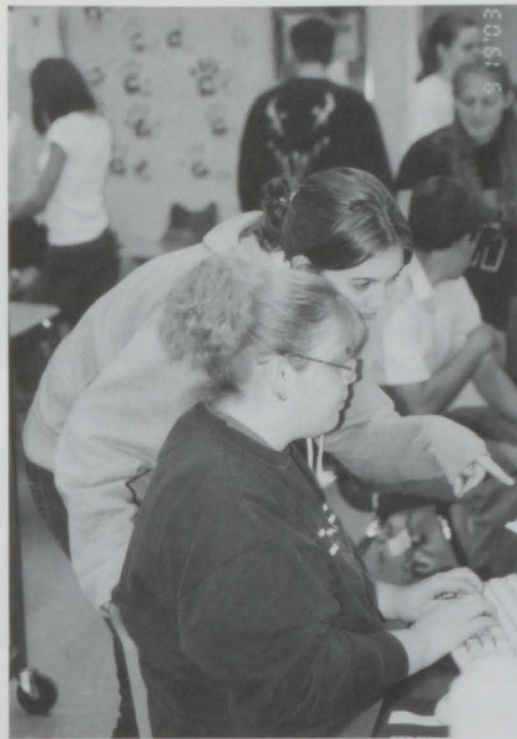

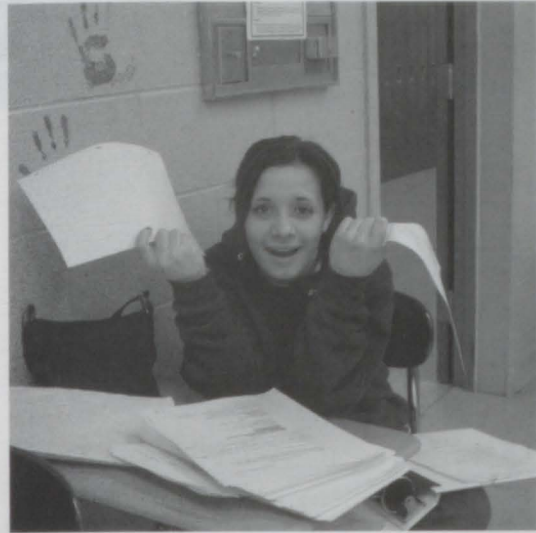

Sophomore Josh McFarland reloads the camera so that it's ready the next time he has to go out and capture unexpected memories.

Sophomores Vanessa Richmond and Rachel Burnette look over the pages they created one last time.

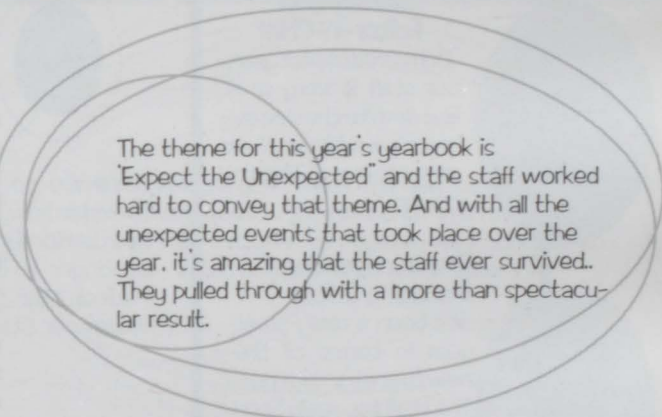

Look at all these surveys poor sophomore Annie Kinney has to tally.

The theme for this year's yearbook is "Expect the Unexpected" and the staff worked hard to convey that theme. And with all the unexpected events that took place over the year, it's amazing that the staff ever survived. They pulled through with a more than spectacular result.

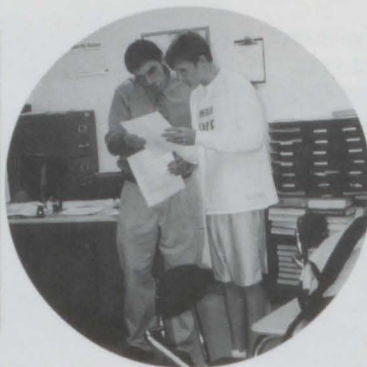

Sophomore Tabby Zukoski proves just how flashy the yearbook staff can be. Did you ever expect the staff to be so cool? Sophomore Aimee Dickman looks through past yearbooks to see how she can improve the look of this year's book.

Mrs. Vacca works hard to double check the spreads and make sure that there are no mistakes.

Mr. Madore
Advisor

"This year we are a very small staff. We worked very well together and always came together at deadline time."

Ashley Elder
Editor-in-Chief

"Compared to past years, our staff is very small. But despite the size everyone works very hard and pulls everything together."

Brandon Lichtinger
Managing Editor

It's been a really great year in terms of the newspaper's output. The staff has really been able to cooperate and produce something that both the staff and the school can be proud of. This year The Streak has truly become a student paper."

Amy Findak
Assistant Editor

"Newspaper has been really great this year and I'm really sad to not be able to come back next year."

Mark Nagy
Sports Editor

"Compared to other years, we have improved greatly. I feel that this is the strongest staff we have had ever since I have joined the staff. I think it was a great year."

HUGS NOT DRUGS

These girls show us how to have a little fun at a SADD and TI sponsored dance.

SADD members Mike Turner and Ashley Wickert show off their handy work in the courtyard before Christmas break

Juniors Ashley Johnson, and Alyssa Hill display a board promoting awareness of smoking and the dangers.

TI Members Brandon Lichtinger and Sammy Leonard show just how festive they can be.

Mock crash victim junior Tiffany Crisostomo didn't expect to look this bad, but most people who drink and drive don't expect this to happen either.

SADD and TI work hard all year to make a difference. Changing the world is a difficult job, but someone has to do it. The members of SADD and TI have decided to take up that job, hoping that others will come to join them.

Do think that this looks like a good pose for your senior picture? That was the point that TI and SADD was trying to make with this display.

TI members team up to build the set of the Christmas display of the consequences which should drinking and driving.

Expecting Smiles

As we turn through these pages we all expect to see the smiles of people we know, but we will also see faces of strangers. Everyone pictured has his or her own stories to tell about high school life. Stories of friendship, sleep-overs, enemies, fights, relationships, and love. Together we all experienced the expected and the unexpected, and this changed our lives in one way or another. Each face, whether we know it or not, is an important part of the legacy of Madison High School. The faces of our friends are ones we expect to know forever. In fact, we hope the memories we've made with them will live on beyond our high school days.

Memories of a Lifetime

On my first day of school, in 9th grade, I walked into the guy's restroom. - Brittany Felleisen

When my friends and I met in kindergarten and how much we've grown together throughout the years. - Sara Bradley

I remember when I got hit in the head last year with a bosco stick. - Megan Auciello

I was in my cheerleading skirt chasing someone around the football field in 8th grade when I tripped and my skirt flew over my head, and I just laid there totally embarrassed. - Amanda Howard

I remember the time when I was playing football in 5th grade, and I tripped over a cement block and went right into a creek. - Brad Seibert

Expecting Success

The expected all-nighters, not-so-pop quizzes, the never-ending note taking, and the forever-dreaded finals are what fill our days and years as we journey through our high school careers. From the first day of school to the last, our lives are crammed with reading, doing homework and studying--all leading to the unexpected feeling of achievement when we finally get that A or the award that we worked so hard to receive. National Honor Society, honor roll, and the award banquets only exist because students do the expected to achieve the unexpected.

Drawing the future

Artwork by MHS Artists

"This year has gone really well. Every year has something different, which keeps it interesting."

- Mr. Grier

"This year has been very colorful."

- Mrs. Oravez

"My favorite part of art is just picking on Mr. Grier."

- Scott Bellan

"My favorite part of art is learning all these different things on the computer."

- Dana Cavallaro

"My favorite part of photography is getting to take the pictures."

- Andrea Nolan

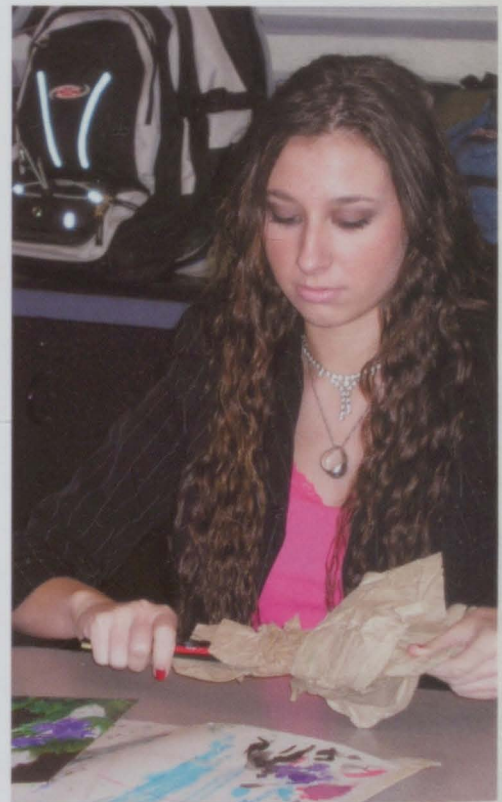

Freshman Brittany Reid makes sure her work is all done by putting some small finishing touches on her beautiful, but simple, painting.

Sophomore Erica Slater takes a moment to think about the next step in her drawing.

Watch out art world here they come! Mr. Grier's artists start class by continuing their grade-A work!

Freshmen Shane Brown and Leanna Byers and senior Jerry Young work skillfully on their art projects.

Freshmen Sarah Nasca and Kristopher Williamson get the paint they need to complete their artwork.

Senior Adam Oudomlith takes the time to create a picture-perfect drawing that may someday earn him an A.

Freshman Staci Minshall makes sure her artwork is complete and kept in mint condition.

Future Van Gogh? It's possible! Senior Sherry Bump is working hard on her latest and greatest art project.

Exploring the world

In Social Studies

"All of my classes were wonderful and I hate to see them go."

- Mrs. Gilligan

"Any [teaching] moments are great moments as long as you light up brains."

- Mr. Loeffel

"I had two great classes! The kids in my classes were great."

- Mr. Martin

"In 1993 I was granted teacher of the year of the seniors of that year. I just brought my son from Geneva and he was in the stands watching me receive the award."

- Mr. Deering

"My students have been good this year."

- Mr. Gilligan

Sophomore Kelly Mandato smiles because she LOVES school, especially social studies.

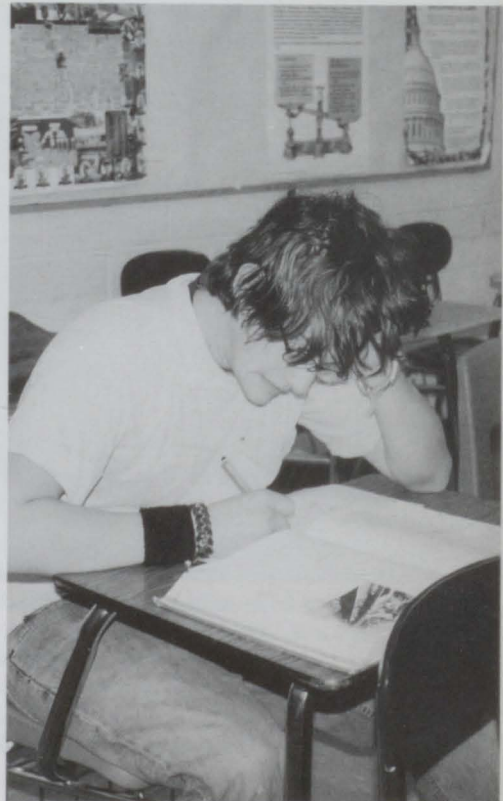

Freshmen Joel Kelly, Tim Allen, and Dan Wolfe use their creative collage to show how the Japanese live.

This class pays close attention by hanging on their teacher's every word.

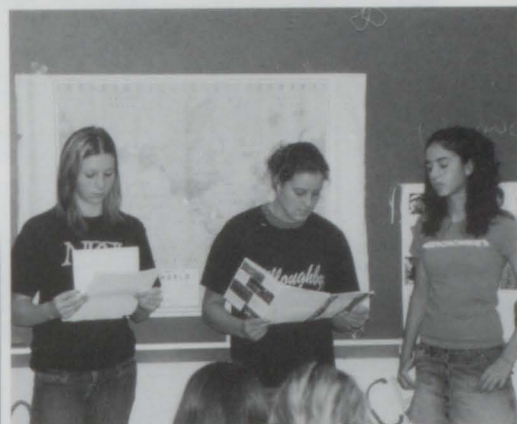

Junior Brandon Brennen works his brain to the max to find the correct answer in his social studies class.

Seniors Andy Stoltz and Adam Burney and sophomore Kelli Keenan get wild in the classroom.

More and more problems

In Everyday Math

Sophomore Loraine Turkenburg watches intently as the teacher explains the problems.

Junior Jeff Dodd enjoys his math classes because he knows he will need them for college.

Teacher Mrs. Meshginpoosh is probably the most energetic teacher in the school as she explains bargraphs to the class.

Miss. Egnot tries to be the best math teacher she can be by helping her students when they don't understand something.

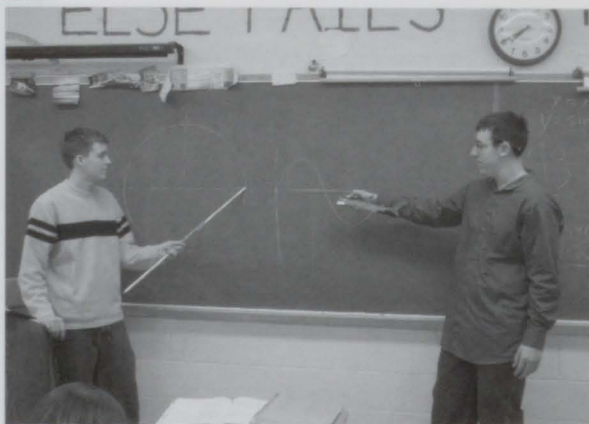

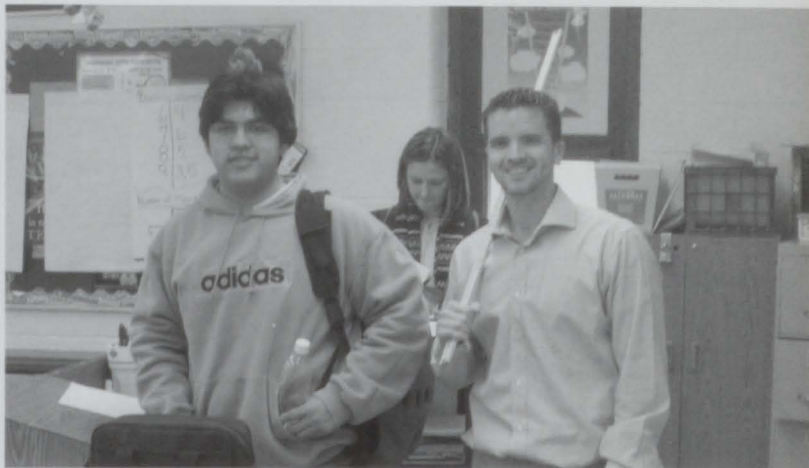

Mr. Peterlin always tries to add the latest technology to his everyday lesson plans.

Teacher Mr. Brainard expects more and more correct answers from math genius Javier Cervantes.

Junior Ali Woodworth and senior Monica Porostosky see who needs help with their pre-calculus homework, since they are ahead in that class.

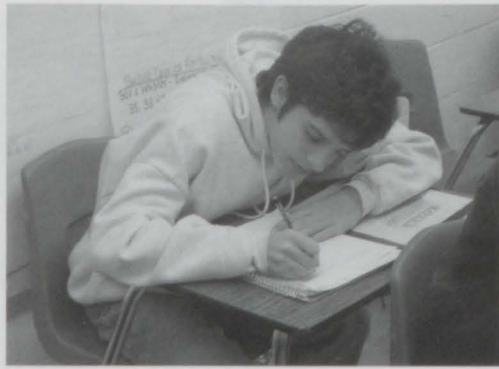

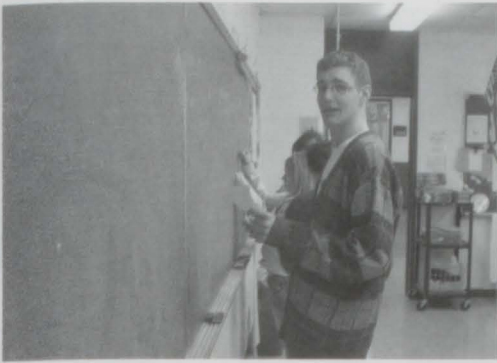

Seniors Jason Wild and Stephen Epple demonstrate the proper way to work the problems on the board.

$$2+2=5?$$

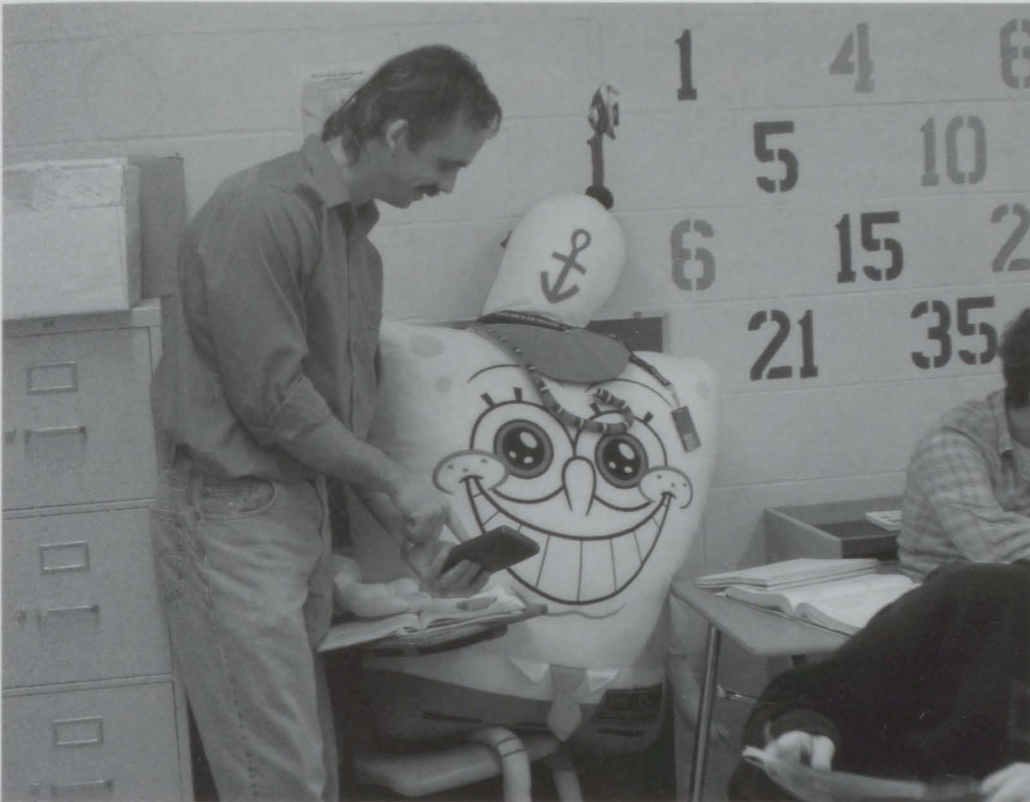

Junior Kevin Watts enjoys going to the board to figure out the problem Mrs. Mesh has supplied for him.

Kory Pirokowski works ever so diligently on his math work so he won't have to do homework that night.

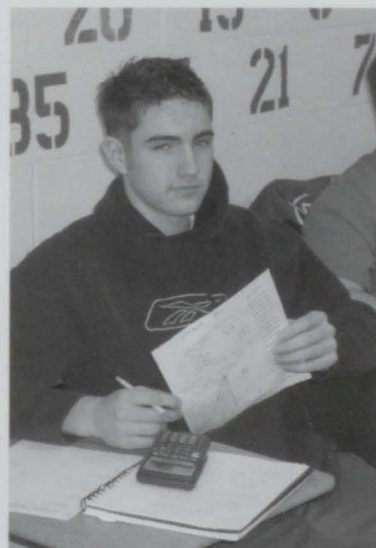

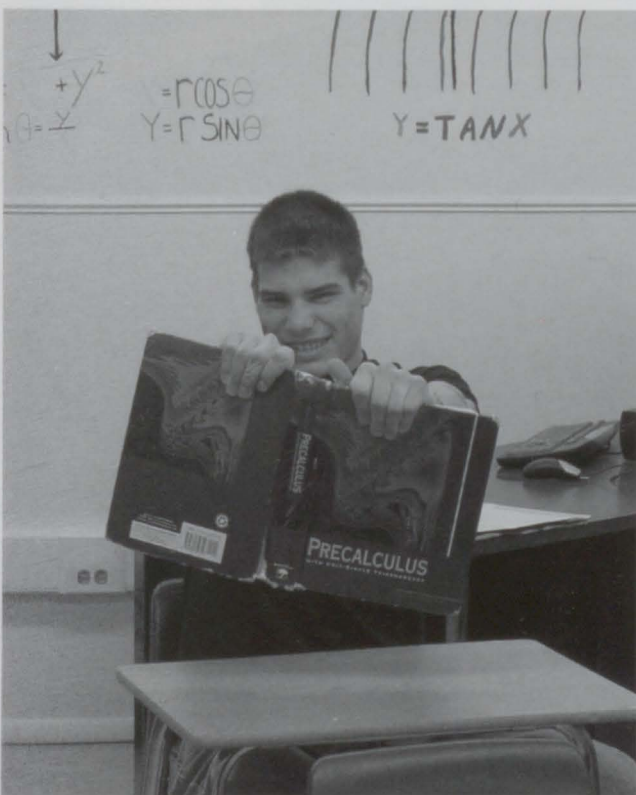

Teacher Mr. Wagner wonders why his student is in such a high class and won't do any work and where in the world he got those pants.

Junior Caitlin Kawalec looks like she can expect to have her homework done by the due date.

Frustrated with his work, Senior Joe Deak considers using his big muscles to rip his book to shreds.

Freshman Antonise Crawford knows that it takes a lot of nerve to go up and try a problem in front of the class.

"My favorite class would be my last block class. They are a good group of kids that make me laugh, but they don't get much done."
 --Mr. Clark

"Most memorable moments would be when my AP Chemistry class does the liquid nitrogen lab."
 --Mr. Fickenscher

"I love teaching so I would have to say everyday is my favorite."
 --Mr. Pelich

"My favorite class is third block. These kids are great students who have to overcome great adversities to achieve success."
 --Mrs. Pikor

"Being able to teach subject that I like is a basic pleasure that I think I share with all educators. The special thrill of this profession though is when something I do or something I say changes the direction of a young person's life for the better."
 --Mr. Daly

"My favorite class would have to be chemistry because we get to blow stuff up!"
 --Mr. Bradley

Testing a new idea...

In the Science Department

Working together juniors Neena Waybrant and Becky Myers create the yummy treat that was assigned by Mrs. Pikor.

Senior Joe McFarland and sophomore Bart Ward work together.

Chemistry teacher Mr. Bradley is taking time from his class to help sophomore Miles King.

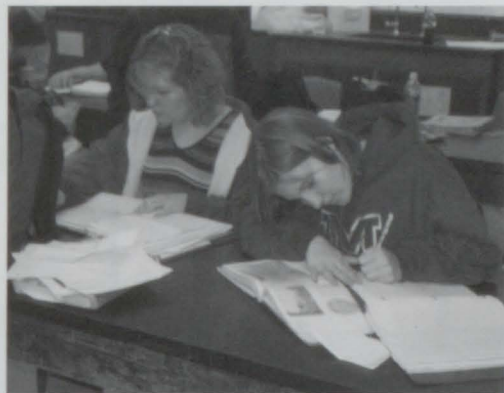

Juniors Kori Egeland and Jon Occkial, along with sophomores Tiffany Teske, Mike Booth, Aric Blackie, and Tara Longo, work as a group to get the answers for the test review.

The fastest way to heat up a cup of soup or any chemical is to go visit Mr. Bradley's chemistry class. Just ask senior Charlie Novak.

Freshmen Rachel Cowger and Lauren Pavlovic are working hard to finish a last review for Mr. Clark's test.

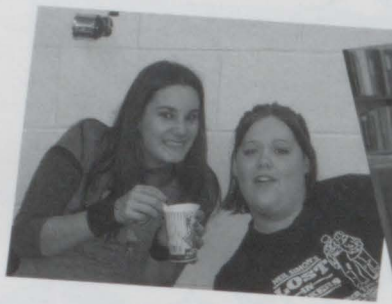

Eagerly working, freshmen Nathan Knapp and Anthony Terriaco try to finish their science projects.

Chemistry teacher Mr. Fickenscher helps juniors Sarah Nemanic and Brittany Nowakowski set up their lab.

While dissecting a squid in Mr. Fowler's biology class, junior Jimmy Smith covers his nose because the odor is too strong.

Speaking properly

MHS English & Drama Departments

"My greatest teaching moment ever is the time I taught English."
- Mr. Madore

"It's always fun to infiltrate the souls of youth."
- Mr. Bezzeg

"My teaching greatest moment ever was when I was conducting a lesson and my students were so mesmerized and hanging on my every word. It turned out that I had ink on my face from the copier."
- Mrs. Vacca

"My greatest teaching moment ever is when I receive emails from ex-students asking for help or advice."
- Mr. Smith

"My favorite moment happens a lot. It's the moment you know that a student gets what you are teaching them. You know you made that happen."
- Mrs. Kilpatrick

While presenting information on puppets, freshman Caitlin Grand uses her best speaking skills.

After administering this love potion to fellow freshman Theresa Dooley, Alyssa Judd will get to see the hilarious results. The two acted out a scene from A Midsummer Night's Dream.

Freshman Mario Lombardo flexes his muscles to get pumped up for his book presentation.

Kira Merrick and Katja Ryabtseva put on a show for their excited audience.

Can a wall separate these two lovers? Never! Freshman Ethan Johnson, junior Holly Marion, and freshman Crystal Sansoucie perform a scene from Pyramus and Thisbe in Shakespeare class.

“look who’s” TALKING

MHS AV & Library

Spreading Information to Our Students and Town

A.V. teacher Mrs. Moskowitz takes the time to look at a calendar of upcoming events to see what her students need to cover.

You can tell by the smile on librarian, Miss Jackson's face that she loves her job here at MHS.

Mrs. Leonard makes a phone call while she keeps things organized in the library.

Junior Brendan Bittner looks for a book that might peak his interest.

A.V. students Kim Grabel and Stacie Bukovac put together a story line for a movie that they're going to make.

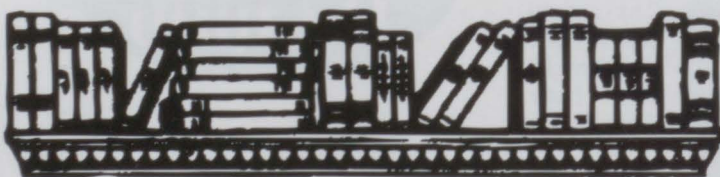

Trying to learn a little something about what women want, Jordan Reed kicks back in the library while reading Seventeen.

Josh Gortton and Morgan Galloway help Sarah Nemanic find the books she needs to finish her project.

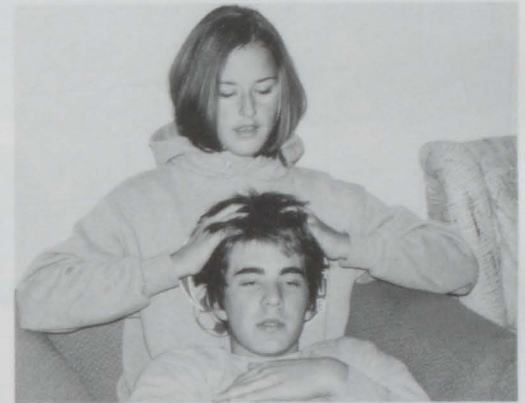

Taking AV seriously, senior Britton Nicholls does his work outside of school time.

Making important arrangements, Sarah Dunkle calls for more camera equipment.

Jason Verdi works on editing his latest film.

Kory Piorkowski chills in the A.V. lounge area and eats his lunch.

Mrs. Moskowitz takes a final look at Dimitris Kourelis' film before it airs on MTV 29.

Stephanie Golding enjoys one of the perks of book club—the delicious cookies and cold drinks.

Eagerly Ian Steger asks Rose Gluva to check out his books.

Expect a load of fun

In Health and Phys Ed

"I think that the new physical fitness courses that have been added, as long as they involve physical fitness, are ok by me!" exclaimed Mrs. Mullan

Mr. Willis is ready for anything as he instructs his seventh period health class.

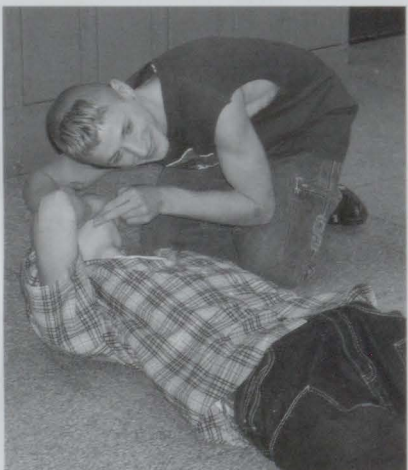

"My favorite part of health is teaching CPR because it is a skill that could save someone's life. If someone was ever faced with an emergency situation, they would know what to do," stated health teacher Mrs. Craigo.

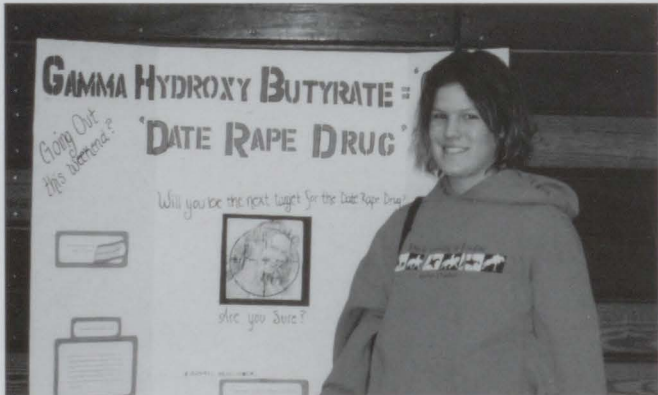

Sophomore Keith Fiorino looks as though he is really going to lay into his serve as he enjoys his time in racket sports class.

These students, Derek Oelbracht, Brittany Felleisen, Jared Petry, Bridget Clough, and Dan Soukup, look ecstatic as they visit one of the many stations at this year's health fair.

Hello is anyone there? Sophomore Mike Bench practices CPR in his first aid class this year..

Kelly Ogle stands by a poster during this year's annual health fair. The poster behind her urges people to travel in groups when they go out because, they never know where a predator may be lurking.

These freshmen anticipate their time with the new weights in the Madison High School weight room. They lifted every other day in their gym class.

Sophomore Shane Morrison would have saved this man's life with his CPR expertise if only the victim was not a dummy!

Cortney Crane and Kori Egeland demonstrate the proper way to do the Heimlich maneuver.

Sophomores Reanna Blake and Cassie Donahoe are having the time of their lives as they participate in a racket sports activity.

Looks like no one informed sophomore Brandy Pudder that the body she's practicing CPR on is a dummy.

Expect something foreign

Please Excuse My French

Freshman Allison Titman enjoys both the verbal and the audio parts of her second semester German class.

Ahhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhhh too many words! Mikey Nagy looks like he can't quite understand what his Spanish teacher is saying.

Last Block French Class

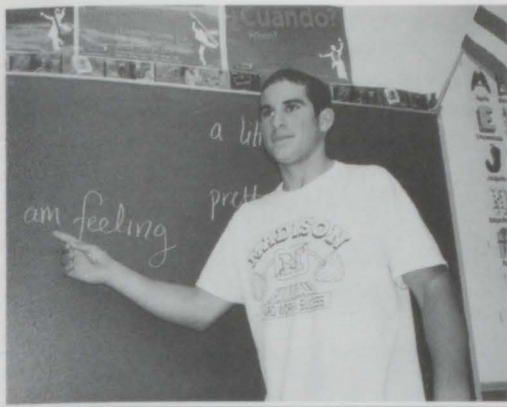

German teacher Mrs. Eichelberger and junior Alicia Weiss go over the German text to prepare for the first semester final.

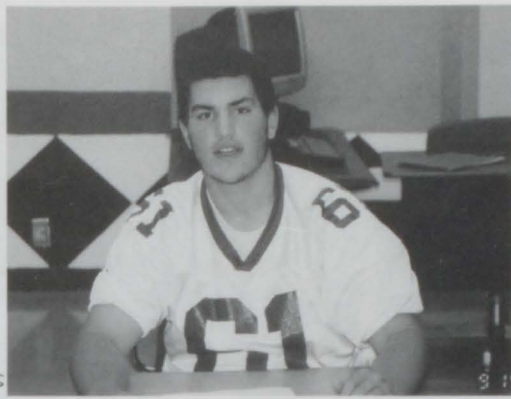

Tori Earl looks as though she is going to enjoy eating the Spanish food her last block Spanish class made.

Sophomore David Sweeny points at the board to ask the teacher what it says. (What he didn't realize is that it is in English.)

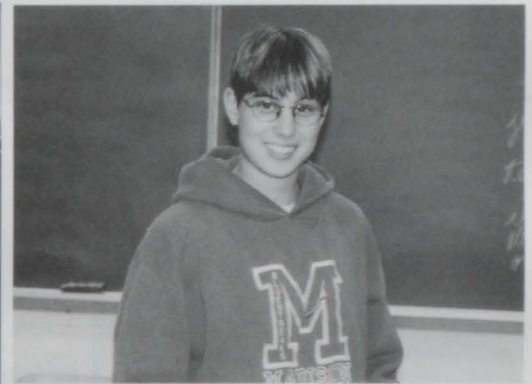

Last Block Spanish Class

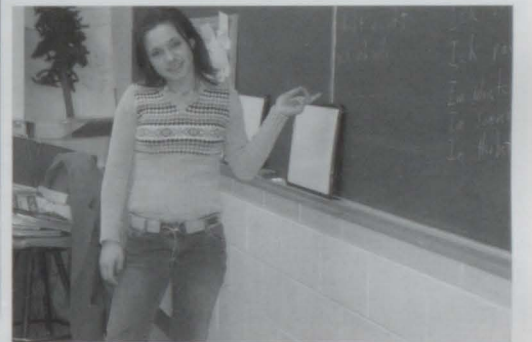

Looking dazed and confused, sophomore Dominic Szabados tries to understand what his French teacher is saying.

Last Block German II Class

During her last block German class, sophomore Annie Kinney explains to the class what exactly is written on the board.

The best cooking ever

In Home Economics

Sophomore Courtney Hale looks like she's having the time of her life in her Life Skills class.

Teacher Ms. Craven anticipates her next class as she prepares for their food lab.

Seniors Monica Porostosky and Jason Verdi work together with junior Michael Blauman to make the best cake ever.

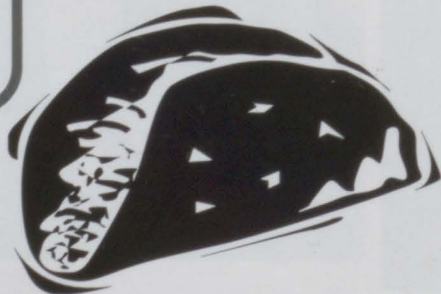

Juniors Kelly Loughry, Michele Pfingsten, and Melissa Hickerson team up to make the best-tasting cookie ever.

Freshmen Alec Richmond, Tim Allen, Alex Dulac, and Josh Chapin team up to make the best chicken noodle soup ever.

Senior Ryan Burr tastes the cookie that he baked in his fifth period home economics class.

Seniors April Batalion and Jessica Berlin show off the right way to make a cake in their home economics class.

Sophomores Jo-Marie Wills and Kristen Doherty make Stephen Epple do all the dirty work as he holds all three of the group's cookies.

Expect to excel

In Life And Microsoft

In the Music Department

One unexpected event that happened to me was when one of my freshman students, Trisha Nolan, hid behind my piano and jumped up and scared me!

- Miss Groah

An unexpected event that happened to me was when the bus broke down an hour out of Madison on the way to Disneyland.

-Mrs. May

I had tried out for drum majorette the last two years and hadn't made it. This year I chose not to try out, but then changed my mind at the last second. I'm glad I did because I made it! That was so unexpected!

-Jessica Fleischer

Well I have been twirling since the age of four and I have always looked forward to being a majorette for MHS. I not only wanted to twirl for MHS, but I wanted to be feature majorette. Guess what? This year I got it!

-Alicia Hess

One unexpected event that happened to me this year was when I went to the pop machine to get a Dr. Pepper and it gave me a Pepsi.

-Allison Titman

Seniors Tom Weiss and Jodie Toward listen to the unexpected notes of music coming from the band director, Mrs. May.

Senior Regine Ockelmann and freshman Joe Phommavichit make some music as the percussion section.

The choirs and band come together for a great show before the homecoming game.

The choir follows the lead of their director, Miss Groah, for a very positive practice.

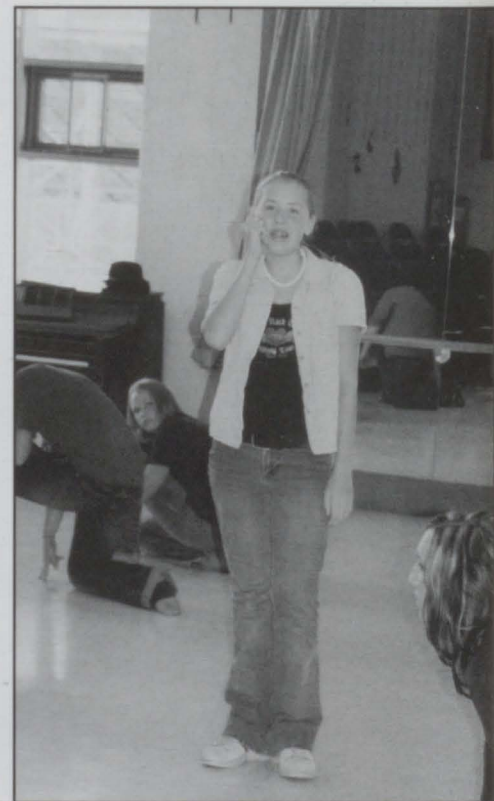

The MHS Concert Choir sings its best for the last concert this year.

Freshman Tom Simecek is carefully measuring for a project to get a good grade.

Safety is a high priority in metals class. Freshman Ed Mackovjak keeps his hand out of danger and his eyes covered while he works.

Sparks are flying

In the MHS Industrial Arts Classes

Really making sparks fly in metals class is junior Scott Pace. All of the industrial arts classes were on fire creating projects that show the skills they will take with them to use in the future.

Since it is Aaron West's last year in high school he wants to prove that he knows what he's doing in metals

Senior Joe Deak helps out fellow classmates with their tool box projects.

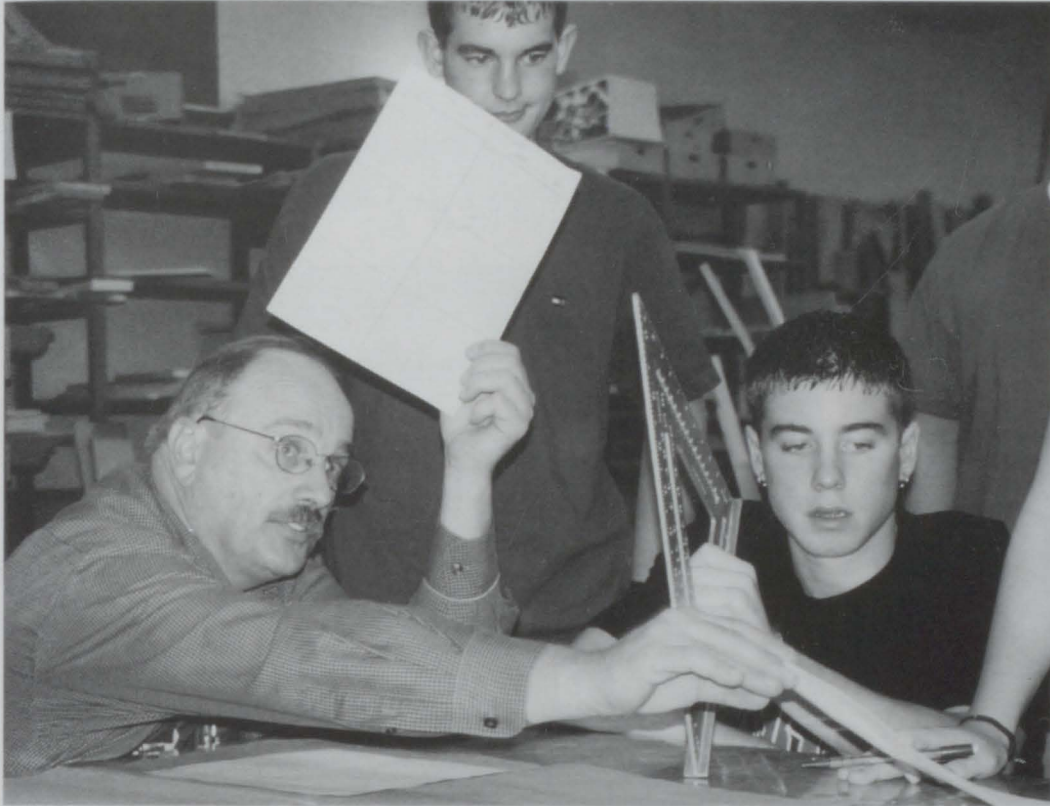

"There's lots of work that goes into metals class," said junior Scott Pace. Junior Jared Petry is really looking forward to getting his go-cart up and running.

Ben Phiewski (top), Marc Norman, a fellow Auburn classmate, and Brian Bowman learn that putting shingles on a house is a lot harder than it looks.

Raising the Bar to higher education

Expecting Victory

The years, as we could all agree, fly away. One minute we are freshmen, learning that the keys to our success are dedication and love for the game. A few moments later, we have become seniors walking out onto the field or court knowing that it will be our last time. The best advice to give is to make every game, meet, or match memorable because everything seems to be over as soon as it has begun. This year as athletes got to experience victory in all sports, from the boys soccer team unexpectedly beating North to win the PAC to the wrestling team pulling through in the conference championship for the thirteenth year. Expected or not, each season brought victories, but more importantly memories that have made hardwork and dedication worth the athletic time.

Competing to keep his place on the field, freshman Trever Breeding plays short stop as efficiently as he possibly can.

Breathing heavily, sophomore Doug Deak takes a break during the next inning so that he can get ready to bat.

Getting ready to go up to bat, sophomore David Sweeney brags about his last triple to his team hoping to make the opposing team nervous if they overhear him.

Sitting in perfect position, Brad Seibert quietly awaits the pitch.

Taking over the coaching spot this year, Coach Pinelli stands next to third base giving his player the sign to steal to second base.

"I had so much fun playing this year. We grew as a team and as individuals. I wish next year's team good luck and hope that everyone sticks with their softball goals," said senior center fielder Kristin Spetich.

"This year turned out to be a learning experience for our team. Winning became less important, and we realized that playing together as a team was our goal," said senior second baseman Amber Nowakowski.

"If I learned anything this season, it is that the most important part of the game is having fun while trying your hardest," said senior first baseman Kim Grabel.

Senior Jessica Rose was a major asset to this year's team. She was a part-time right fielder and designated hitter throughout the season.

Remembering "Now" matters

Varsity Softball Works Through a Tough Season

Starting off young, the girls struggled through a tough season this year. The team learned that it isn't the scoreboard that is important, but the dedication and team unity that they possessed, shown here before their last game of the season against Eastlake North.

Together for one last time, the four seniors, Kim Grabel, Kristin Spetich, Amber Nowakowski, and Jessica Rose, get ready for one more big PAC game with their North rivals.

Filling in at third base during the last game of the season, Junior Morgan Galloway was determined to play her hardest as she led the team defensively throughout the game.

The team's senior lefty slap-hitter Kristin Spetich hits a ball down the right field and advances the third base line and sprints to first base during the game against Riverside.

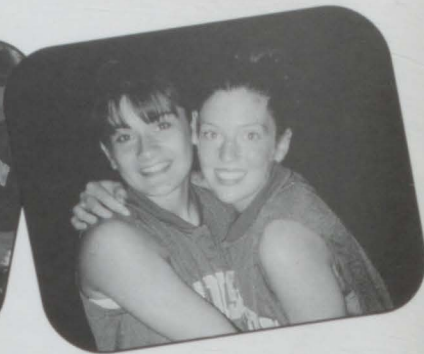

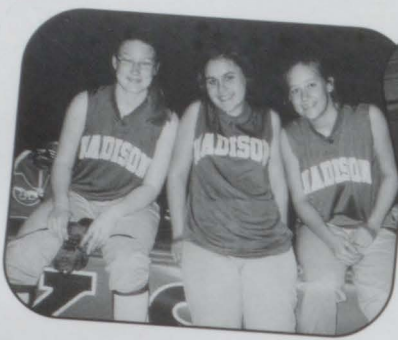

Maggie Mackura smiles about her awesome hit to right field as she stands on first base getting ready to run to second base.

Senior Kim Grabel prepares to throw the South runner out as she plays first base this year for the team. A tough loss left the team behind in the PAC. This pitch seems a little high for sophomore Jennie Grabel as it almost hits her helmet. The key to hitting is to patiently wait for that perfect pitch.

Mind over Matter

Working together the two older girls on the team, sophomores Cortney Smith and Mikah Allen, lead the younger girls in last year's footsteps, hoping to teach them a trick or two.

Coach Hada said that she believed that the JV girls did very well considering that most of the team was just introduced to fast pitch softball.

Practicing before going into the game, freshman Kate Moore warms up her arm trying to catch up to her fellow pitchers on the team.

Junior Varsity Softball

Sophomores Cortney Smith and Mikah Allen lead freshmen Nikki Stone and Sara Bradley in cheering their team on for the big hit.

The team loads all their gear up to go on the road to an away game. They were putting on their straight faces and concentrating on how they were going to win.

Awaiting the pitch, freshman Liz Misich concentrates on making sure she gives her pitcher a good target.

Sophomore Mikah Allen demonstrates the stance she uses to make her batting performance at the plate perfect.

"To give less than your best is to sacrifice the gift," said senior Anthony Gustin reflecting on a great season of track.

Senior Nate Mix and his relay partners Joe Lander, Chris Anderson, and Andy Dawson beat the school record for the 4x200 with the time of 1:34.57.

Dan Gund had a very impressive season this year. He broke the record in shot put with a throw of 52'9" and was a valuable asset to the team in discus with a throw of 150'.

Senior Anthony Gustin keeps a good length ahead of the rest of the runners as he runs the 4x800. Sophomore Josh Mickle looks so smooth as he finishes out his four-by-four relay.

Junior Derek Daughters keeps a good pace as he runs in the two-mile race. He was the District champion in the 3200 meter run. Senior Joe Lander gets as far as he can while doing the long jump event at the P.A.C. meet.

Sophomore Josh Malek strives to jump farther and longer than the opposing team members.

"We were a young team this year. I think in years to come the girls team will be very good with all the young talent moving up," said senior Kathryn Fedele.

"I thought the boys and girls showed improvement and that their times went down, and they acted more as a team," said senior Nikki Chaves.

"Track was really fun this year. We had good freshmen and everyone worked well with each other," said senior Monica Porostosky.

"I thought this season went well. We had a lot of young girls that gained good experiences for future years," said senior Jen Butram.

"I've never done track before but now I'm addicted to running. I love hanging out with the track team," said senior foreign exchange student Reggie Okelmann.

Preparing for the future

Girls Track

Tired from their events, this group of girls relax with each other as they watch the rest of the events for the day. With 20 freshmen and only 5 seniors, the girls took this year as an opportunity to prepare the younger girls for future years.

Running ahead of the rest doesn't bother freshman Jessica Daughters. As the anchor of her 4x4 relay team, she was always the last one you would see run, but the first to cross the finish line.

Sophomore Jordan Baldwin shows us that even practice can be fun. She had a ball as she prepared to begin her shot-put workout of the day.

Getting a good running start, freshman Kristin Brewster sprints with all her might as she focuses on the jumping point in the long jump event against Chardon. Madison was defeated 79-58 that night by Chardon.

Preparing to take the lead, sophomore Julia Kershaw sprints to the finish line to receive a first place finish and points for Madison. Unfortunately, Madison fell short to Collinwood 98-35.

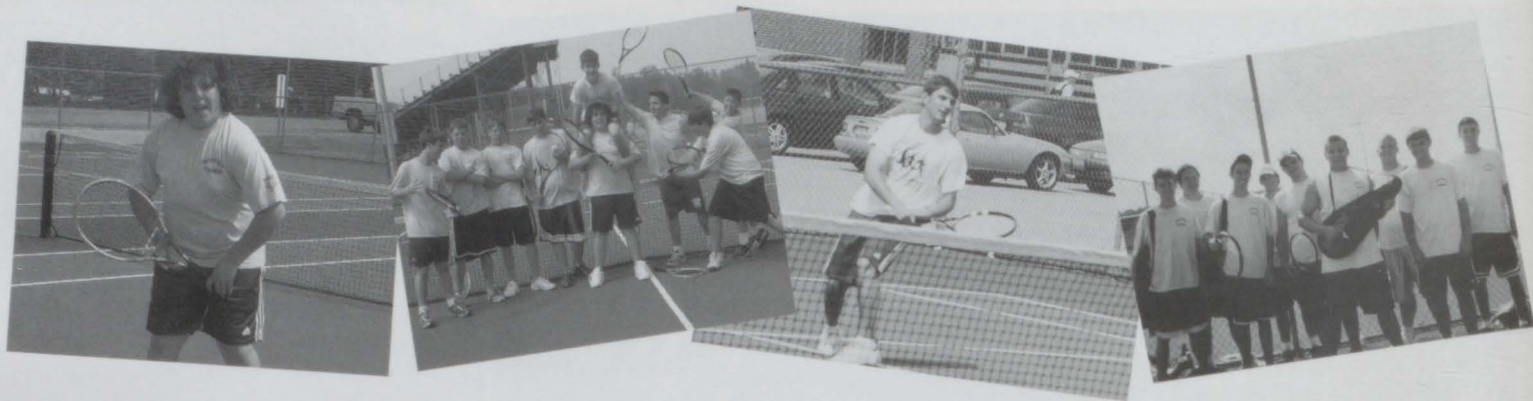

Sophomore Sam Wharram smiles in approval of her results in the disc event. Sam has thrown disc for two years and hopes to continue to do so in future years.

Striding towards the finish line, junior Amanda Hirsch pushes herself to end her race in a personal record time.

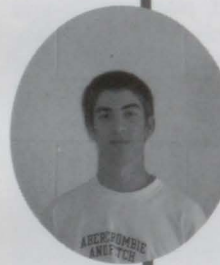

Leader of the pack freshman Sadie Britton keeps a steady pace as she starts the 4x8 relay out strong by taking the lead against her opponents.

"We had success because of the newer guys stepping up and playing better," said senior Todd Anderson.

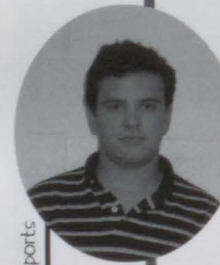

"We had a really good team because we had a really good coach," said senior Chip Whipple.

"If there is one thing I learned from tennis it's always aim for the mouse head," said senior Greg Church.

"I'm glad our team played as strong as last year," said senior Andy Summers.

"It was a good year. The team only lost one game. It was lots of fun," said senior foreign exchange student Jeremie Blas.

Concentrating on making a good serve, JV player Lucas Easterbrook is careful not to have any faults as he serves the winning point to his opponent.

Satisfied with their successful match, doubles partners Mike Blauman and Chip Whipple relax while they watch the team advance over North, allowing Madison to win the PAC for the fifth straight year.

"This year I was disappointed in some of our losses, but we had a young team, and I expect them to work very well with each other in the upcoming years," said head coach Mike Smith about his team at the end of the season.

Senior Bethany Moles led the team through a rough rebuilding year by scoring a total of 185 points. She became a valuable asset in the eyes of her team and her coaches.

"Teamwork was our number one priority throughout the season. Nothing could get in the way of that," said senior Amber Nowakowski about the team.

"I had a great time this season, and I had so much fun becoming a part of the team and getting closer to the girls," said senior Jen Butram.

Every end has a new beginning

Girls Varsity Basketball Starts Young

The girls certainly proved that every end has a new beginning as they fought through their season this year. The team had a range of starters from freshmen to seniors, but that didn't stop this young team from fighting until the end. Their teamwork and dedication carried them through a long season.

The team warms up before their game against North, but by the looks on their faces, it seems as if the ball may never come back down from the hoop.

"Throughout the season, our team was like taking a foul shot. We needed to aim at our goal before we shot at the hoop for the win," said sophomore Colleen Smith.

What a tough fall! Sophomore Brittany Kehn is already getting up after she got tangled up with the opposing team. She knows that in order for her team to be successful she needs to give it her all.

Playing point guard, sophomore Maggie Mackura looks for the pass into the key. During this game, Madison beat Edgewood by only one point, but their determination led them to the win.

Even though this Riverside player has a few inches on sophomore Jordan Baldwin, that doesn't stop Jordan from successfully guarding her from the hoop.

A new beginner to the varsity team, freshman Jessie Daughters was one of the many young team members who led the team in high scoring and rebounding.

This Chardon player doesn't stand a chance against senior Amber Nowakowski. She gracefully escapes trouble near Chardon's basket as teammate senior Bethany Moles watches over the falling opponent.

Coaches

This year the Lady Blue Steak basketball coaching team was joined by a new JV coach, Mr. Crawford. The girls enjoyed having Mr. Crawford as their coach, and they really liked his cheery personality.

"This year's team has probably showed the most improvement than any other team has ever shown," said freshman basketball coach Mr. Morgan.

Senior Josh Farren passes the ball around his defender, hoping for his teammate to make a lucky shot.

We're #1

"Mr. Brainard inspired me to work hard in not only basketball but in everything I do. He prepared the team both mentally and physically for the game," said sophomore Josh McFarland about the head JV coach.

The freshman boys coach Ted Wagner gets the boys ready for next year. His team relies on him to prepare them for their JV and varsity dreams. Although the scoreboard may not have always been on Madison's side, the boys still learned the basic fundamentals of the game.

JV assistant coach Jeff Gehring helped the team succeed this year in reaching their goals. He taught them that the most important part of the game of basketball is to never give up, whether on your game or on your dreams.

JV & Varsity Cheerleading

The girls get the boys and the crowd pumped up for another great game, helping the boys defeat Chardon.

Yea! Yea!

Defeating some of the top teams this year, these girls really showed off their talents. With an all tumbling squad, the girls placed first in almost all of their competitions.

Senior Stefani Hines shows us some spirit during the game against South. Stef was a four-year letter winner and qualified to be in the National Cheerleading Association.

Cheer the Pep Band and Spirit Fans

Sophomore Scott Fahle helps pep the crowd up during the varsity boys basketball game by playing the "Fight Song" with the rest of the pep band. Every year the band splits into three groups and takes turns cheering on the varsity boys basketball team.

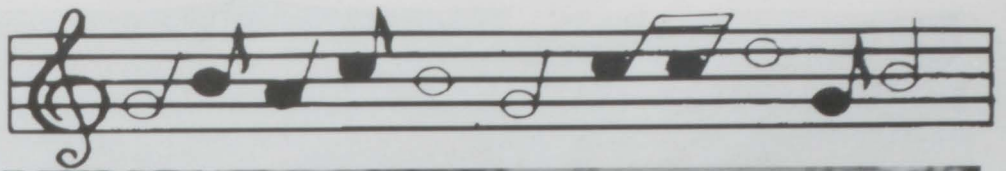

Freshmen Linnea Swanson, Tina Smithberger, and Liz Misich enjoy a food break before going back to play in the pep band.

Returning the support he gets during football season, senior Joe McFarland takes his turn painting up and cheering on the boys basketball team along with sophomore Carly Neubert.

These cheery girls enjoy spending their Friday night at the varsity boys basketball game cheering on the team.

Junior Jay Pavlinak honors the flag while playing "The Star Spangled Banner" prior to the start of the game.

The smiling faces of sophomores Brittany Kehn, Sam Krotz, and Chessa Pikor are extra bright tonight because they caught shirts thrown by the starting line up.

Coach Becca was really impressed and proud of his team this year. He had three players make it to State and Coach Becca himself was the coach of the senior meet.

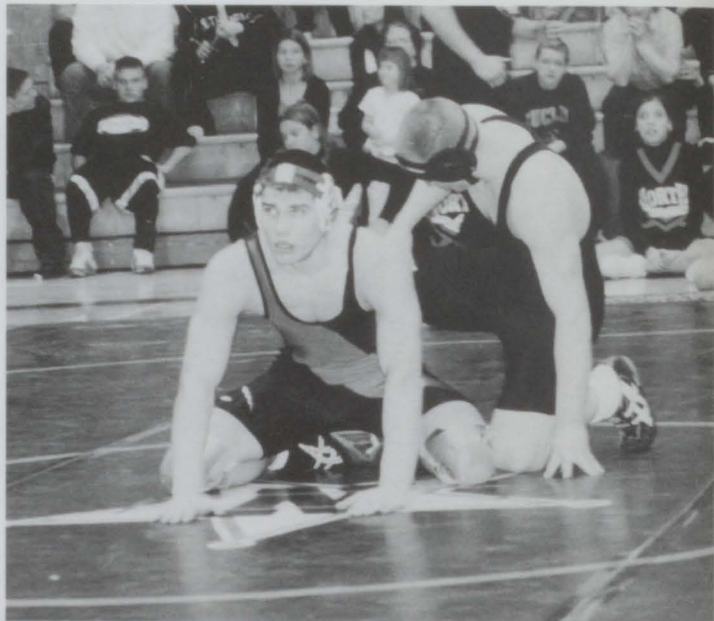

Coach Fortuna ran a great team this year. His leadership brought his wrestlers closer together as a team and helped them to have a winning season.

Senior Joe Deak has been wrestling for MHS for four years. This year he helped the Streaks win the PAC Championship title.

Pinning down victory

Varsity Wrestling

Senior Joe Deak waits for his opponent to make a move. Joe had a great season this year. He made it to the State wrestling matches in Columbus. He didn't win, but he represented Madison with pride.

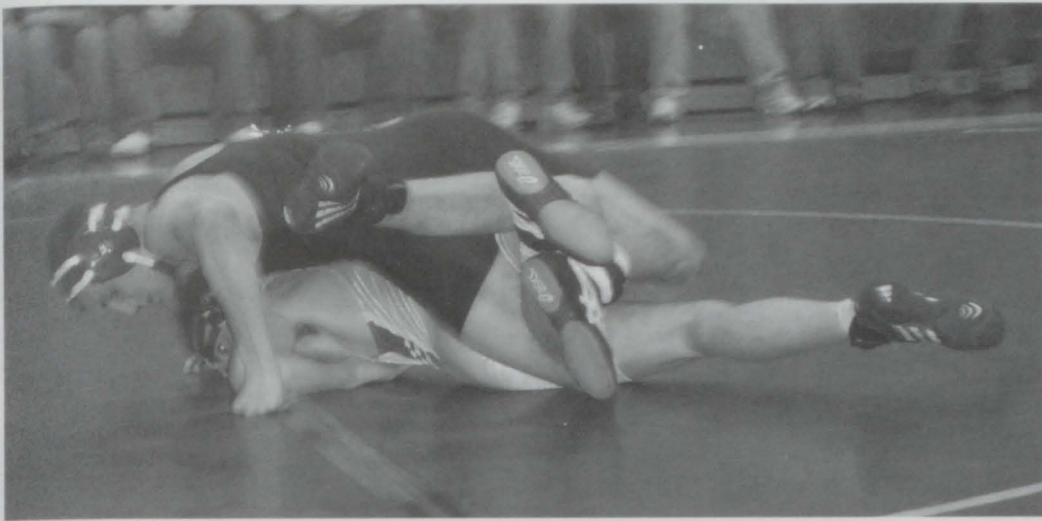

Junior Clint Walker clinches his hold and waits for the referee to call the pin.

Warm up partners junior Doug Deak and senior Benny Barrette work hard to prepare each other for the match against South.

Trying to pin his opponent, sophomore David Sweeney works for his six team points. He later got rewarded by being chosen to wrestle the 189 spot on the State line up.

The JV team lines up to meet their opponents from Chardon. Most of them are probably thinking that this will be breeze.

"The boys did really great this year. The girls did pretty well. Due to losing a big quantity of our girls team, they now are in a building state of mind. The boys on the other hand did very well, but next year they also will be in a building state of mind. Overall the whole team did very well, said Coach Cindy Walters."

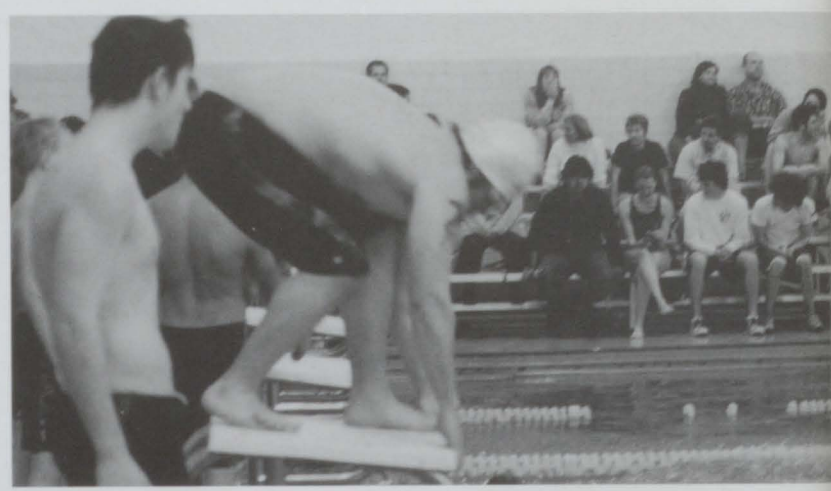

The senior boys captain Jedd Powell says his most memorable moment was when he and Greg Church sang "Roboto man" by the band STYX in the shower room.

The senior girls captain Val Johnson says "that this was the most memorable year of her high school career because she took part in coaching and improving her peers swimming abilities"

Blue Streak Football Dominates the Field

"We had a fun season even though the end was a little disappointing. I know I'll miss it though," said senior Joe Deak.

Joe Franczek was a big asset to the Blue Streaks. We had a little scare mid-season when he injured his knee during the Lakeside game. Luckily we only lost him for one game and he came back ready to play hard.

Joe McFarland enjoyed his last season. Being able to share the field with his younger brother was a great experience.

Senior Dylan Morris was a great captain for his team. With his positive attitude he could always pick his teammates up.

Senior QB Joe Deak feels safe behind his huge line as he commands the "Big Blue Offense" on the field. Deak ended the year with great stats by keeping the ball in control and out of the hands of his opponents and throwing no interceptions. Joe also gained many helpful yards by running the ball himself. He earned high ranking in our area's rushing stats.

Jim Smith goes both ways as a place kicker on our football field and a forward on our soccer field. He is a big asset to the Blue Streaks.

Junior running back Dan Nebraski is patient as he waits for his line to make a hole. Many holes were made on the field this year for Dan. He was one of the top rushers in the area.

Getting taped up so he can head back on the field, sophomore center Tim Reed gets help from trainer Paul Smith.

As a starter for special teams senior Charlie Novak is extra pumped as he gets ready for a big game.

A new face to the Blue Streaks line up, junior Zack Brown worked extra hard to gain a starting position on the Madison defence.

JV head coach Mr. Martin stressed to his team that even when you reach your highest, there is always a way to reach higher. This concept helped them get through the season with a great record.

Just as dedicated as the players themselves, freshman Samantha Thomlison was the girl who kept the team watered all season.

Looking determined to step back on the field, freshman Scottie Evans gets advice from one of his coaches.

Freshman head coach Mr. Hernan watches his team from the sideline. During the season he brought the boys together to become more than just teammates, but good friends as well.

JV quarterback Clint Walker warms up again during half-time of the North game. His awesome passes this season have led the Bluestreaks to a winning record, and to a tie against their rivals, the Rangers.

Giving just 2% more

JV and Freshman Football

The freshman football team gathers in the endzone after defeating V.A. St. Joes. Their efforts reflected their coaches' hopes for them giving it everything that they had during the game. Even when the boys gave 100% they realized that to win they needed to give 2% more.

These JV football players seem to be learning everything he has into a new line dance for the homecoming instead of leaving the field for a quick time out after trying for a second touchdown against Lakeside.

Junior Clint Hardy puts everything he has into the kick during the game against North which, despite the struggling Blue Streaks' best efforts, ended with a tough O-O tie.

Reaching that extra inch for the ball, sophomore David Hobson hauls in an awesome pass from onlooking JV quarterback Clint Walker.

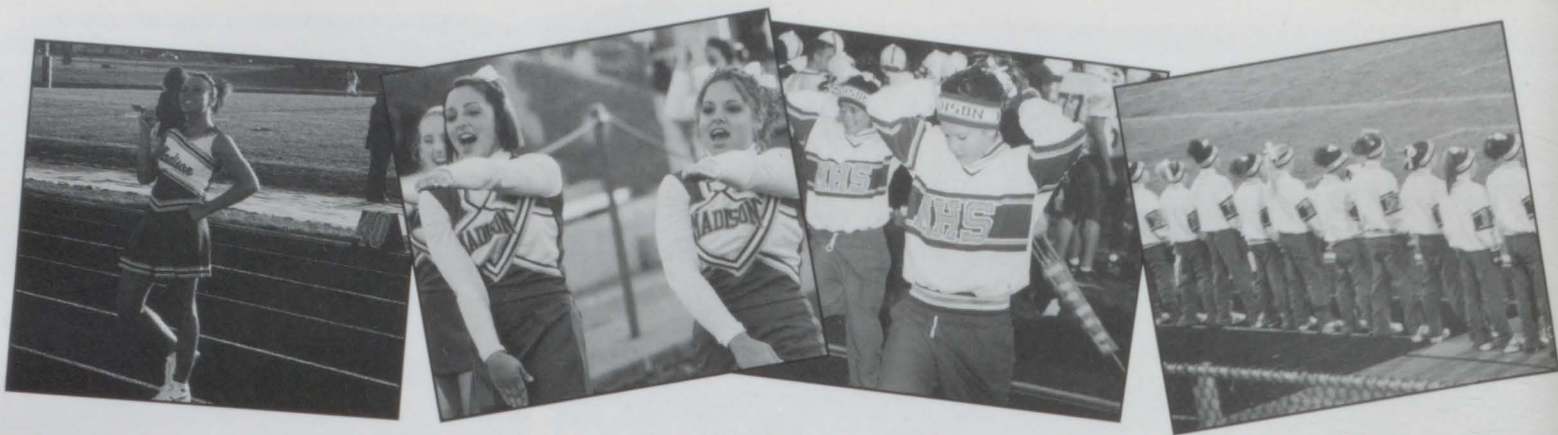

What's the next play? Bent over and standing up, the JV offense gathers on the field as their quarterback, Clint Walker gives them their orders for the upcoming play in the game.

Freshman Brad Seibert goes down during a mix up in the Riverside game. The score was a well fought 0-8.

THE NEW COACH AND THE SENIORS SPEAK OUT....

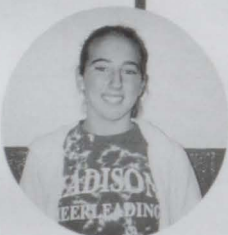

"I really didn't know what to expect when I decided to coach cheerleading! The season went great: our captains did an excellent job leading the squad. All the girls worked really hard and accomplished a lot! GREAT JOB GIRLS!" new fall cheerleading coach Miss Craven exclaimed.

"The year went well, the new coaches were a blast!! It was a good change and great season," said senior Stefani Hines.

"This was a great year to start off new with our new coaches. Everyone worked together so well, and we had tons of fun!" said senior Lauren Kidder.

"This year was a lot of fun and we had a great time cheering for our team. I'm really glad my senior year got off to such a great start!" said senior Erin Coughlin.

"I thought cheerleading would be easier than it was. I suppose I had fun," said senior Kelly Barnhart.

Spelling the way to victory

Fall Cheerleading

Sophomore Mikah Allen claps to the beat of the band's high energy music and the football player's chants.

You can tell junior Ashley Felleisen is expecting a big win from the football players.

Expecting a great game, junior Ashley Estabrook gets the crowd going and ready for an unexpected turn that sends Madison ahead.

Looking puzzled, junior Ashley Felleisen, senior Erin Coughlin, and sophomore Mikah Allen look around for some cheer ideas. Senior Lauren Kidder and freshman Megan Auciello start the rest of the girls off with a wild cheer that will definitely get the crowd going.

"Lets get fired up!" yells freshman Sarah Holbrook, as she shows how fired up she is about the big led Madison has!!

Juniors Mackenzie Johnson and Ashley Felleisen, along with senior Erin Coughlin, hit their pose and smile.

"There was a lot to get used to this season, personally and as a team, such as coming off a foot injury, having a new coach, and losing almost all our starters. We may have struggled a bit but it was a fun season and I enjoyed it."

Amanda Titman

"There were a lot of up moments and a lot of down ones. But the bad experiences made us come together as a team and as friends."

Jenn Dulac

Alison Fisher was a two-year returning letter winner. She was also a co-captain and a great asset to the team.

Senior setter Vicki Smith had to go through a lot of changes, this season. It was her first year as a varsity player, and the team made many lineup changes that she needed to adjust to during the season.

Carolyn Fisher really came out of her shell this year. She also was a very supportive and positive co-captain for the new Blue Streaks.

A new start for the Streaks

Varsity Volleyball

Keeping her eye on her target. Senior Vicki Smith knows the value of a good pass. In her first year setting varsity, Vicki showed her stuff. Always keeping herself together, she became a great leader for the team not only offering her sets but great serves as well.

Senior Co-captain Alison Fisher shows her agility while moving her body to get to a hard dig. As a second-year starter and third-year letter winner, Allison brought her leadership and experience to the team.

Showing good form senior Brittany Phelps is an all-around player. Britt served as a utility player for the Streaks by always playing different positions and doing it well.

Getting low to make a good pass sophomore Sam Wharram, also known as Ed, shows that she's not just a tough front row player! She's a tough all-around player, showing her skills as the only sophomore starter for the Blue Streaks.

Sophomore Jordan Baldwin makes a great pass to show that hard work does pay off. Jordan began the season as a starter for JV, but earned herself a spot on the varsity floor. Great work, Jordan!

Showing their fun sides

JV & Freshman Volleyball

"Freshman volleyball was a lot different than it was in middle school, but it was also a lot more fun. I cannot wait 'til next year," said Danielle Osborne.

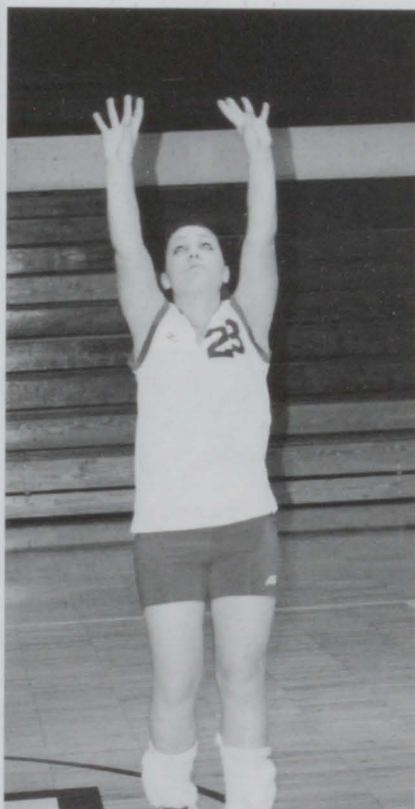

Keeping a good eye on the ball Jen Stauffer knows how to make a good pass.

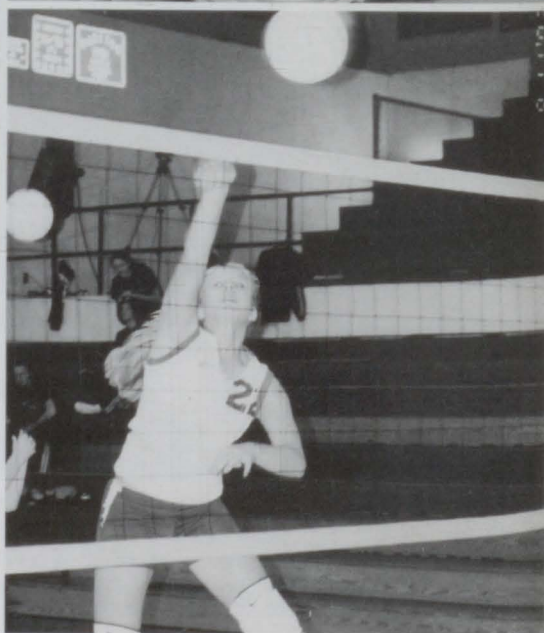

Alyssa Hill was one of the juniors on JV. This meant she had to step up and become a great leader. She did so and looks forward to being a leader on varsity next season.

Don't expect our freshmen to be shy! This first year team shows their wild side before a big game.

"I knew that we had a young team coming into this year, and I wasn't sure what to expect, but as the season progressed I saw a lot of improvement and potential," said head coach Chad Burgard as the season came to an end.

Captain Kim Grabel is the team's only senior. As captain, she helped the team stick together through the rough season.

"Playing midfield means running all over the field, and our midfielders did a great job this season," said junior captain and midfielder Jessie Boonstra.

"This year one of our biggest successes was our push up front. We finally got the right combination of people to play forward, and we rocked!" said junior captain and forward Alicia Weiss.

"Our defense came pretty far considering three out of four defenders were new. Next year we will be even better," said junior captain and sweeper, Ali Woodworth.

2003 Varsity Girls Soccer

The girls hang out on the Chardon bleachers cheering on their JV team. Later that night they came home with an awesome 1-0 victory against the Chardon rivals.

Freshman midfielder Alyssa Judd was certainly the comedian of the team that kept them laughing even in bad times. Her quote, "Beat this buddy," became their slogan for the season.

As you can see, each member of the girls team works hard to help each other "reach their goals." The most important part of the season was not the score board but the fact that the team bonded and had an awesome time while doing so. "You can't beat that, buddy!" said goalie Brittany Kehn.

Junior Captain Alicia Weiss takes a few shots on goal before the North game. Alicia stood as the top striker for Madison throughout the season with a total of nine goals.

Freshman Liz Misich strays away from her normal forward position and finds that goal-keeping is a tough and dirty job.

Junior defender Shannon Weber prepares to get rid of a loose ball before it gets any closer to Madison's goal.

Junior Sarah Nemanic beats the opposing team to the ball. The girls went on to beat Geneva that day with a final score of 2-1.

Although tired from their game, these JV girls try to stay warm as they cheer on the varsity team to a victory.

Walking on sunshine

JV Girls Soccer

Gathering into the goal before their game, the team was all smiles. They reflected on the goals that wanted to accomplish during the game and those they already accomplished that season. The girls had a record of 5-10.

Using her speed, freshman Emily Nemanic sprints to the ball before it rolls out of bounds. The girls lost a tough game that night against Chardon 3-0.

Foreign exchange student Silje Olesrud guards her opponent. Silje is from Norway and enjoyed playing soccer during her stay here as much as she does in her country.

2003 MHS JV Girls Soccer

Bringing her dance skills onto the field, junior Rachel Andres gracefully swings her arms as she moves the ball up the field for Madison.

Coming together for the last time this season, the team follows their pregame tradition and sings "Walking on Sunshine" together before walking onto the field to begin playing.

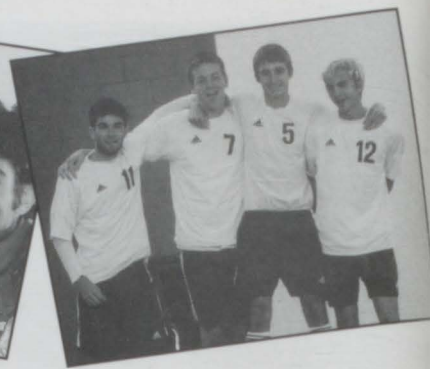

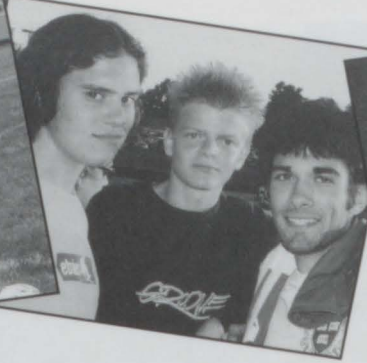

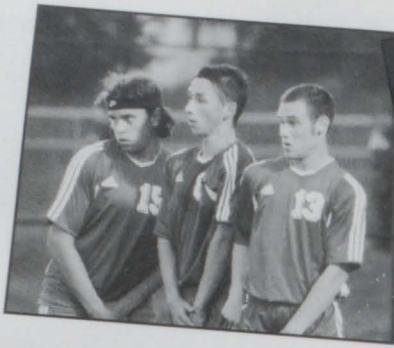

Walking to get a ball, junior Nicole Meeker gets ready to warm up for the girls' game that day.

With a combination of speed and skills, freshman Asia Kellerman gets past the defensive player and makes her way to score a goal.

The boys' new coach, Adam Vigon, came all the way from England to share some of his skills with Madison this year. His determination and coaching approaches have helped the boys become more than just PAC champions, but a team that will live on forever.

"I'm really glad with the way that our season turned out this year; we were very successful. I couldn't have chosen a greater bunch of guys to end my high school soccer career with," said senior captain Chris Anderson.

Senior captain Jeremy Woodworth says that "offense sold our tickets, but the defense won the championship."

Junior captain Josh Gottron points for the pass of the ball. His goal in the last minutes of the North game won Madison the PAC championship and gave them a memory that will never be forgotten.

Senior captain and forward Steven Epple is in his kicking stance as he warms up before the big Riverside game.

The Adam approach

Varsity Boys Soccer

Opponents stand back! The Madison Boys Varsity Soccer Team doesn't have enough room for you in this circle of trust. The team unites and acts like a family hoping their determination will carry them far in their goals for the season.

Senior defender Ray Garcia pushes the ball up field as sweeper Jeremy Woodworth does more than just look on. Jeremy wants to be sure that there will be no risk on goalie Flo Loesser.

Junior Joe Naso starts off on the right foot and bypasses the Riverside forward in a home game that left the score boards shattered on Madison's behalf.

Looks like it all came out Oh that smell! Sophomore Josh Mickle again in their big PAC cringes as Riverside's game against North. Their shoes get too close for shirts were hung on the comfort. Winning this game put Madison one for good luck as the boys more ahead in the PAC, warm up.

Way to go Flo! German foreign exchange student Flo Loesser saves a few practice shots during warm up. Making quite a name for himself on the team, Flo strived as goalkeeper to make it impossible for the opposing team to score.

The boys risk their lives to stop the "Adam-Bomb" before it blows up in Flo's arms. Their wall stops the incoming ball that could have given the Hilltopers the lead.

As usual, senior Chris Anderson races past the Riverside defender. Chris remained the top striker on the team throughout the season.

Senior captain Jeff Stawick throws the ball into his team. Captain Stanwick was proud to say that his team "improved a lot."

Sophomore captain Bryan Bennett fights for possession of the ball. "As captains, we tried to improve the team with positive attitudes," Bennett said.

"The 2003 soccer season proved that a team does not need a winning record to have a successful season. This season was more a learning experience than anything else. Coach Dave gave many of us a firm grasp of what high school soccer is all about," said sophomore captain Torrey Wigfield.

A new beginning

JV Boys Soccer

Putting on their game faces, the JV boys team show that they won't be intimidated during their last game. Their season ended 3-10, and they came together in the beginning of the season with 15 new players and a new coach.

Freshman forward James Pristov uses his speed to move the ball up the field. Pristov had a great beginning year, being a JV starter and a varsity bubble.

Freshman Cory Blabolil takes advantage of a loose ball and dribbles up field towards the goal. The boys were defeated that night by North with a final score of 4-0.

2003 JV Soccer Team

Running with all his might, Junior Brendan Bittner races this opposing Beaver to the ball. Bittner is one of the few JV players from last year.

Freshman goalie Scott Epple places the ball into position during a victory over Geneva. Madison began the game strong and it showed with a 4-0 final score.

Junior Eric Bennett clears the ball away from Madison's goal while playing defense. The Blue Streaks were defeated that night 0-2 by Kenston.

After a tough game against Riverside, these JV boys relax on the bench while their varsity team plays. The boys fell short 0-5 against the Beavers.

Foreign exchange students Gui Ferline and Tony Chavez joined the Madison JV Boys Team. Gui is from Brazil and Tony is from Mexico. They both enjoyed playing soccer here and in their home countries.

"All of us girls had a lot of fun this year. We bonded at times and not at others, but we were always there for each other," says senior Captain Nikki Chaves.

"Hopefully the tremendous three can help bring the team farther into Regionals and beyond," says senior captain Kathryn Fedele.

Captain Senior Jen Butram says the season went pretty well and hopes in the future the girls do even better.

Take a mile at a time...

'Til You Reach The Top

The girls of the cross team give a quick smile at the fall pep assembly.

Warming up, the freshman and sophomore girls get ready for a race on a field of Walsh.

Senior Nikki Chaves and sophomore Priscilla Barnes hug to try to keep each other warm before running.

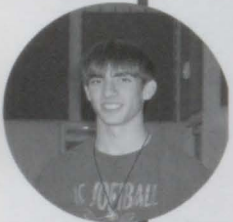

Senior Monica Porostosky works harder than ever to finish the race at Districts.

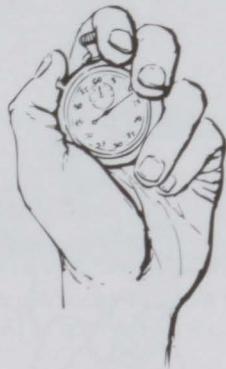

Senior captain Kevin Craig has come back with a good season after not running last year because of a leg injury.

Senior Captain Mike Romono says that the season went well, even though they didn't totally achieve what he hoped they would.

Senior captain Greg Church says that the season went pretty well with a couple mistakes, but overall they had a great record.

A lasting glow

Boys Cross Country

These boys of the cross team stop having fun for a moment to give a quick smile.

Sweat, spikes, and dirty Junior Tim Brunner tries to stay ahead of these two runners, while hoping to get in the top twenty.

Timely running his first lap, Steven Schultz tries to get ahead at his last race of the season off his freshman year. Sophomore Josh Malek gives everyone a thumbs up right as he ends his best race of the year.

Sighing for relief, senior captain Greg Church, runs faster than ever towards the finish line.

"The season went extremely well and we hope to do even better next year," says Mr. Beans, the coach and a seventh grade social studies teacher.

Coach and sixth grade science teacher Mr. Hughes, says that the season over all went pretty well and he hopes that they do this well next year too.

Junior Chet Delong gave advises all future golfers, to remember to always "get low."

"This season was the funnest of all the other seasons that I participated in," says senior Greg King.

Senior Brad Brueggeman says that the season went better than expected.

A day in the life...

Attempting to make a perfect par, Senior Brad Brueggeman gives his club a big wack. Ian Slagle watches his club closely to make sure he gets the perfect shot.

Trying to find his target, Jeremy Schneider tries to make his freshman year his best yet.

During the first practice of the season, Junior Scott McIntyre swings away at as many balls as he can. Taking a guess at measuring the distance away of the hole, Senior Wade Arnold strives to putt the ball in the hole.

Honoring our country's flag, junior majorette Barb Bradaich twirls her baton to "God Bless America" during the band's pregame performance.

Junior majorettes Kelly Loughry and Meridith Misich hit the ending pose while leading the band dance to "Atomic Dog."

Showing off her own jive, senior trumpet player Sara Holl kicks it up a key while playing "Atomic Dog" during the half-time show.

Kicking it up a notch

In Marching Band

Showing off their new tops, the majorettes make their way back to the stands after changing into their halftime uniforms.

The band stands in their "M" formation while playing pregame show. At this game, the marching band welcomed back the alumni band members.

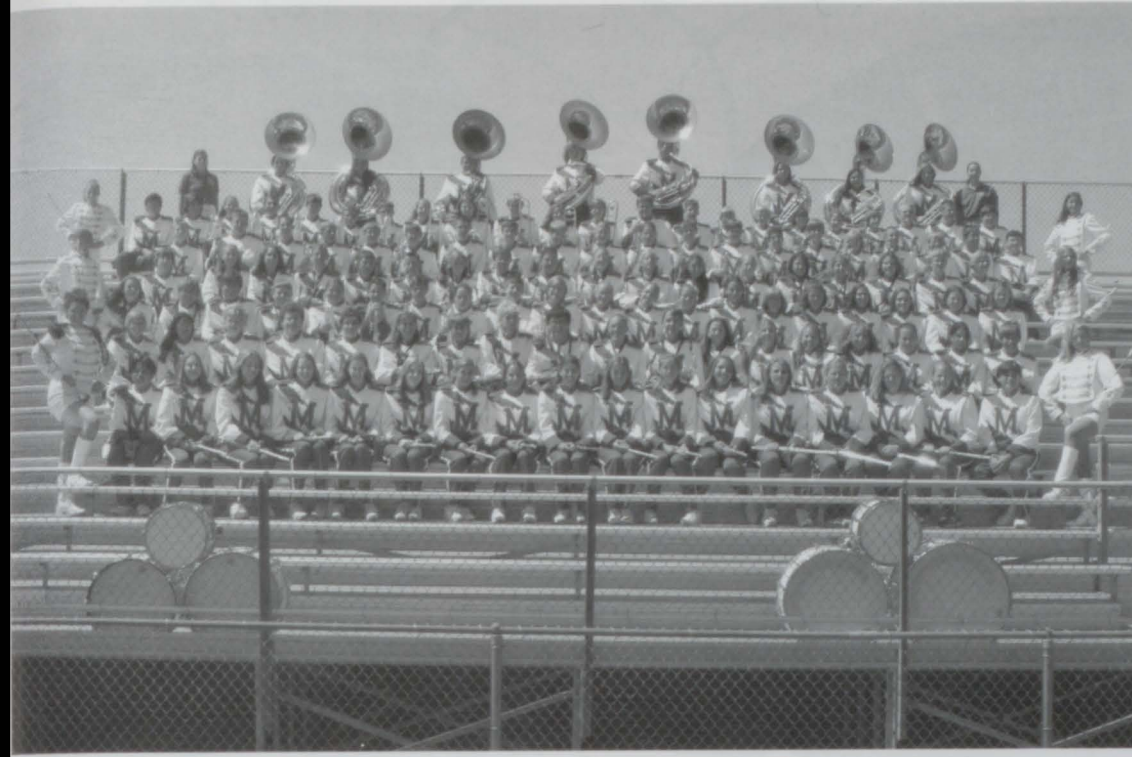

Leading the band all the way, senior drum majorette Viv Bentley commands the band onto the field for the halftime show.

[top row:] Mrs. May, Kristen Cassidy, Katie Bevan, Doug Bittner, Paul Bodager, Jason Wild, Jacqueline Bender, Amy Findak, Ashley Elder, and Miss Groah.

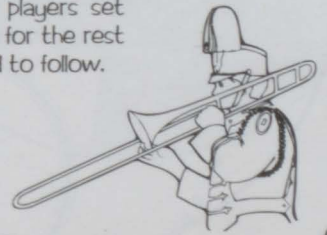

The heart and soul of the band makes the Marching Blue their way onto the field playing the funk hit "Bend Me, Shape Me." The game before going out for halftime.

The band starts the game by playing "The Star Spangled Banner." At the homecoming game, the band was accompanied by the choir.

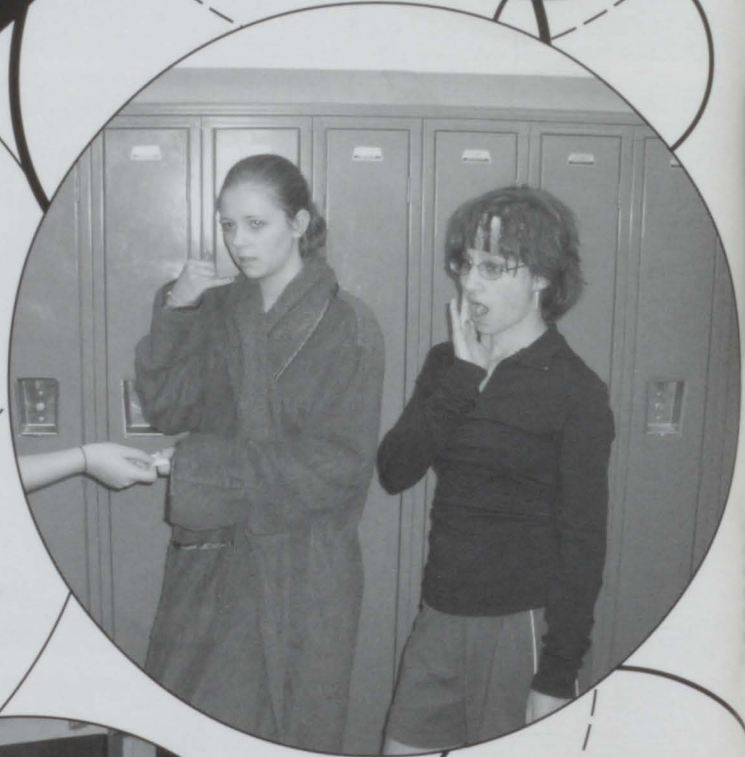

Getting down to the music, sophomore Mark Porostosky gives on the football field during the band's funk themed halftime show.

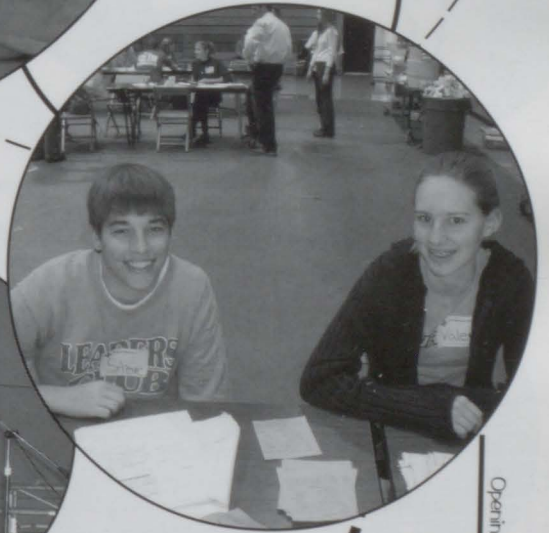

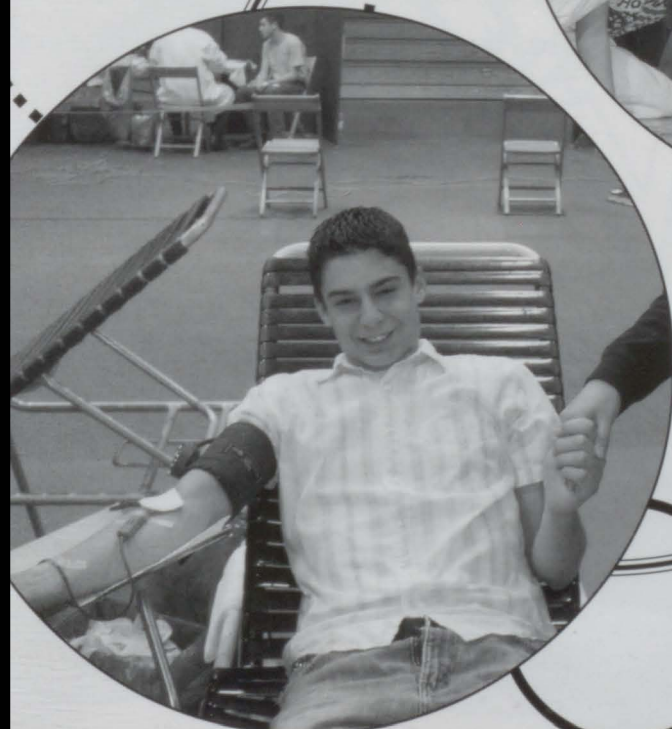

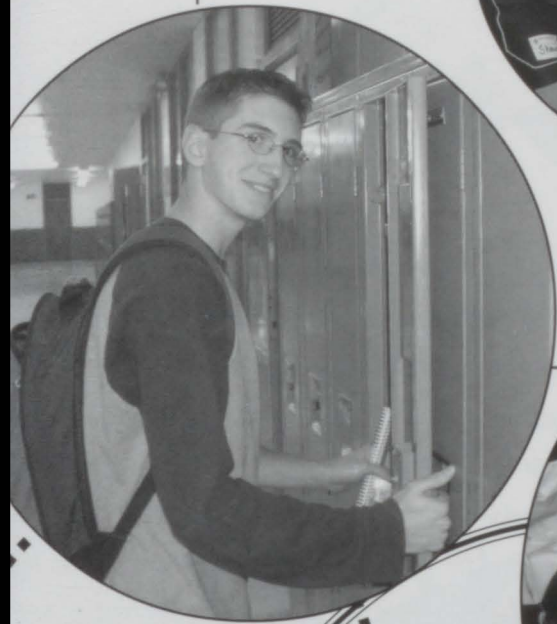

Keeping the beat, the percussion players set the rhythm for the rest of the band to follow.

Expecting Togetherness

MHS students strive daily to take an active part in their community. We contribute to the Madison community by participating in canned-food, school-supply, and blood drives. Others of us join clubs with outreach programs such as MHS Key Club, Teen Institute, SADD, and FCA. We also provide entertainment to the Madison community by performing in athletic competitions, concerts, and theatrical productions. Whether you look for us acting in the theatre, playing on the ball field or volunteering at the nearest shelter, you will find one of the many ways Madison High School students continue to influence their community.

Graduation 2004

The 2003-2004 school year came to an end with the graduation of the class of 2004 on Saturday June 5. The following top five seniors spoke: Jodie Toward, Hayley Kilroy (co-valedictorians), Alison Fisher, Carolyn Fisher, and Kevin Craigo (tri-salutatorians). They gave advice for the future and reflected on the past four years during their speeches. Also the senior class president Ross Chasko spoke about the class gifts. At the end of the school year, the senior class had presented the new wall mosaic outside the student center and sign on Burns Road to the school. At the conclusion of the ceremony, the graduates threw their hats into the air and walked out of the gym for the last time.

One foot in the future

Senior Project 2004

What a way to show it off! Bridget Clough displays all the fun she had doing her senior project at Stepping Stones Preschool.

Senior Val Johnson talks about how interesting her senior project

turned out to be. she definitely didn't expect any of the things that happened to be something she'd experienced.

These seniors definitely have one foot in the future, after choosing senior project as their last high school event before going out into the real world.

Showing off his ability not only in the studio but behind the camera, senior Chris Schuur presented his DVD created at Scorpio Productions Recording Studio where he worked at during his senior project.

Seniors Amy Lease and Brittany Rowe brought in the animals from the Ashtabula Animal Protective League where they worked to show people they indeed made a difference for the animals.

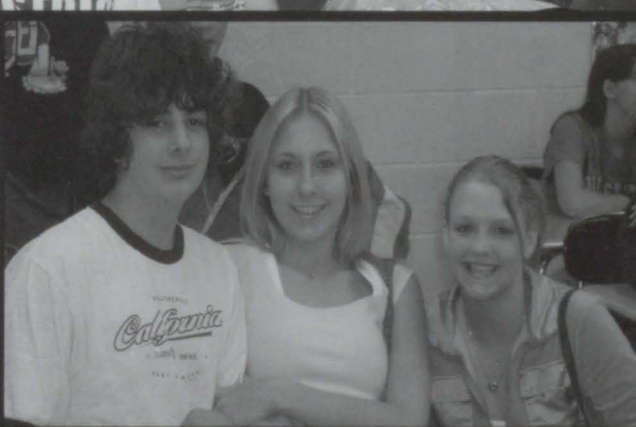

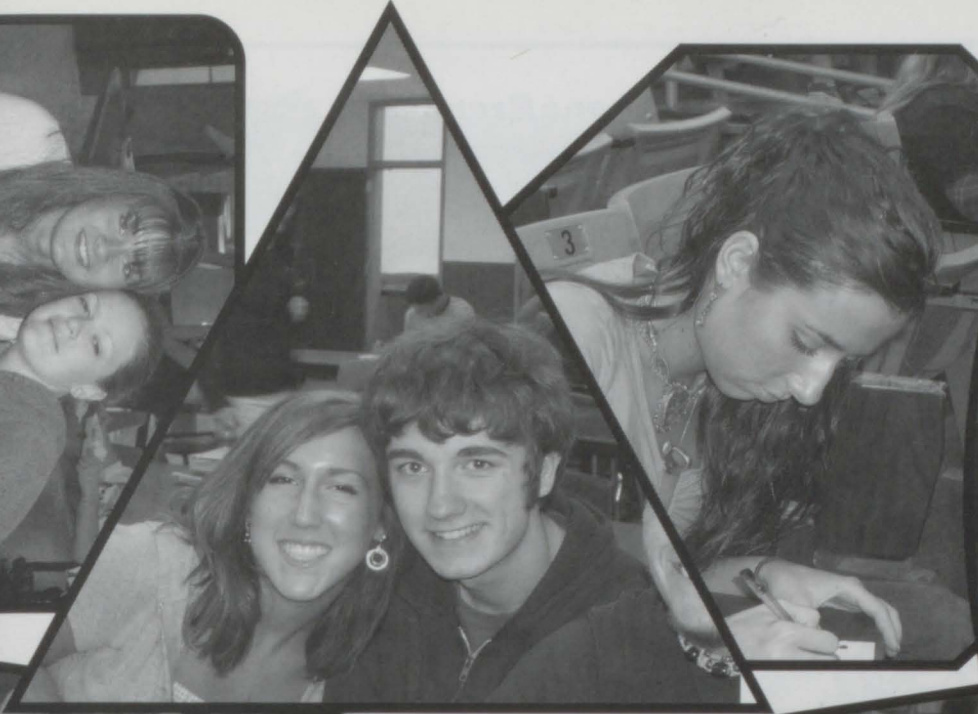

After dedicating her four weeks to the children at Ledgemont Elementary, senior Victoria Smith tells us all about her experiences through this creative display.

Seniors Alison and Carolyn Fisher give us a big smile after a job well done. These sisters are truly talented. They enjoyed splinting their senior project between a framing shop and an actuarial office.

The 2004 yearbook theme 'Expect The Unexpected' was decided on during yearbook camp by the editors and advisor. After discussing numerous themes with no success the three were convinced that they needed to come up with a theme that was totally unique. The idea to make the yearbook unlike any other yearbook was born. We hope that you have had as much fun reading this unexpected book as we had making it.

Expect the Unexpected

Volume 75 of the Madison High School Yearbook,

The Cauldron

Published during the summer of 2004

550 copies of the book were printed by Josten's Publishing Company, in State Collge. P.A.

Total cost of each yearbook was $56.00
