Change Becomes Us

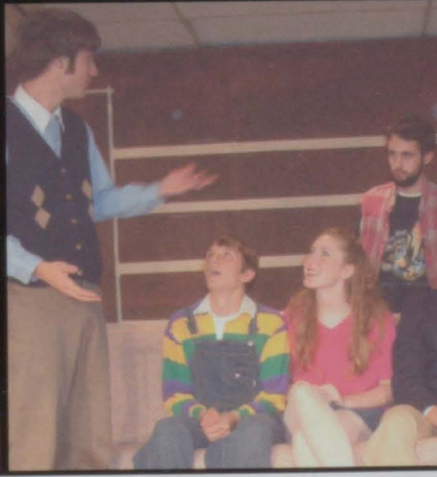

Each and every day is filled with change. The school year of 2005 has been made up with nothing but exciting changes. These changes took on a variety of forms, such as the senior mentoring program which helped the freshmen adjust to high school life easier, televisions in the classrooms, Ohio Graduation Tests, and new classes like History of Rock and Roll. Once again, the year came to end with the seniors leaving to face the real world and the juniors getting ready to step up as school leaders. The seniors through their leadership have left behind their legacy to the underclassmen. In the fall this year's underclassmen will be greeted by a message from the senior class of 2005 whenever they enter the building.

Left behind after the 2004-2005 school year are the memories of change. Change is inevitable. It's something that cannot be changed. Do not fear, let change become you!

*"Life is a succession of moments. To live each one is to succeed."

MHS Spirit Fans

Sophomore Vs. Senior Experience

"I feel that if I can show as much, or even more spirit than some seniors, then I might be able to make others show their true spirit too. It was such a great feeling to be out there with seniors who really support their team," said Jordan Szymanski.

"We had a really great season. It was a lot of fun," said senior Mike Blauman. Mike was later crowned the MVP, after receiving the "Most School Spirit" superlative.

After the Blue Streaks defeated North in the last 30 seconds of the game, senior Tim Brunner led the fans in a victory chant.

The MHS spirit fans led the team and the fans through a winning football season. The varsity Blue Streaks were undefeated at home and so were the fans. Madison's fans are known throughout PAC for their competitive energy and their spirited nature. Their loud cheering has made opposing teams dread playing at Madison. Painting up and being almost naked in unbearable temperatures may not seem smart, but these student pushed the envelope leading us all to show our true spirit. The MHS spirit fans are the heart and soul of our school spirit.

These boys rally together to get the team and the fans excited about the next play. The spirit fans took this as their job, to get the fans all fired up about the game.

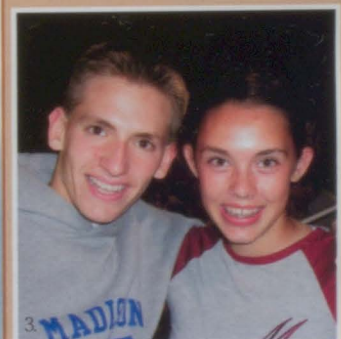

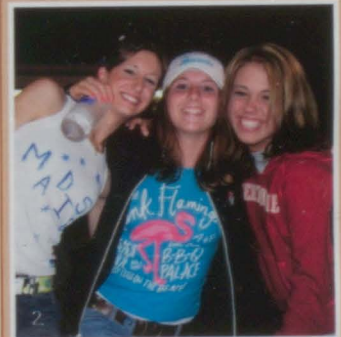

Before leading the Madison Blue Streak fans in another traditional cheer, these spirit fans take a quick moment to bond and catch a much-needed breather.

"One key to successful leadership is continuous personal change. Personal change is a reflection of our inner growth and empowerment."
~Robert E. Quinn

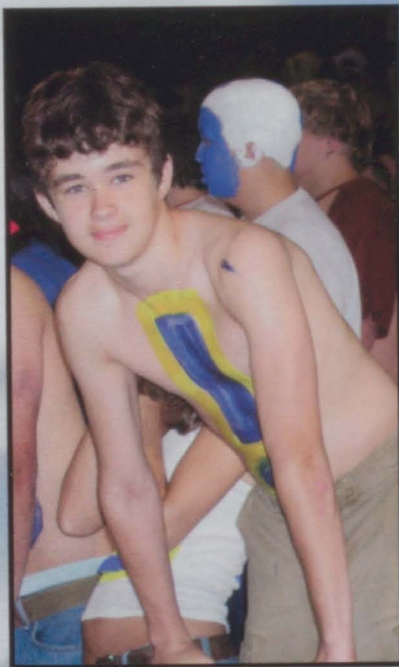

Showing their thunder, the MHS spirit fans stand ready to start an uproar and proclaim their Blue Streak pride. The fans used intimidation to discourage opposing teams, while motivating their fellow Streaks.

Excited to be a part of the Blue Streaks spirit fans, sophomore Anthony Wells wears his MHS pride on his chest.

"Peek-a-boo I see you," say seniors Mike Blauman and Tim Brunner, as they use the megaphones to see the game better. Fortunately they soon gave up and started another cheer.

Our Experience
 Freshman vs. Senior

"It was fun getting all dressed up and seeing all the guys cleaned up too, and it was just as cool as I thought it would be." -Liz Nunnally (right)

"Homecoming was fun but sad at the same time. It was fun being with all my friends, but I'm sad that this was our last one." -Hollie Walker (right)

King and Queen

Each year homecoming arrives filled with its many traditions, things that simply never change. Guys and gals getting dressed to the nines, taking tons of pictures with friends and family, eating at a fancy restaurant, and of course, dancing the night away. It's all just part of the experience. Each year a student adds one more memory from MHS to look back on after graduation. Freshmen will always remember their first homecoming and seniors their last.

Seniors Ashley Estabrook, Stacey Bukovac and Ali Woodworth look like dreams come true at this year's homecoming dance.

I lived a dream life when I was a lad and even now my thought goes back for refreshment to those days when all the world seemed to be a place of heroic adventure in which one's heart must keep its own counsel.

Seniors

Juniors Erin Kuester and Gabe Argo look absolutely enchanting at this year's homecoming dance.

1. Looking spectacular, Bart Ward, Ryan Ward, Brandon West, Kayla Shreves, and Kaleigh Bildstein are having a blast.
2. After winning the dance off at the homecoming assembly, court members Jimmy Smith and Nicole Chernikoff can't help but show their excitement.
3. Sparks fly as junior Randall Tonelli holds his homecoming night princess, Kimberly Haury, close.
4. Senior Jay Pavlinak sits down to take in all of his last homecoming.

We Got Spirit

Spirit Week

Freshman vs. Senior Experience

"My first spirit week was a lot of fun. It was a fun way to show my spirit and express myself in different ways than usual," said freshman Travis Teske.

"As a freshman, spirit week was nothing. I didn't really participate in dressing up or anything. This year as a senior, I was more involved," said senior Jimmy Smith.

Pumping the students up is what sophomore cheerleader Megan Auciello does best. She adds excitement to the crowd at the first pep assembly of the year.

"How 'bout you?" MHS was screaming during Spirit Week 2004. Students showed their pride by sporting retro attire on Monday, acting like pirates on Wednesday, pretending to be their favorite Hollywood stars on Thursday, and wearing blue and white on Friday. The winner was the freshmen with 289 points, followed by sophomores, juniors, seniors, and in last, with honest effort, the teachers with 16 points. Ending the week was a scheduled pep assembly to pump up the football players before their game. This pep assembly was cancelled due to the rain and was rescheduled outside the following week in the Blue Streaks stadium. At the assembly, Curt Rochon announced the fall sports players. Just because Spirit week was over, didn't mean that it was the end of school spirit. It was just the beginning!

Painting his head, in order to show his Streak spirit, was no problem for sophomore Jordan Szymanski. He was one of the few who dressed up on every day of the week.

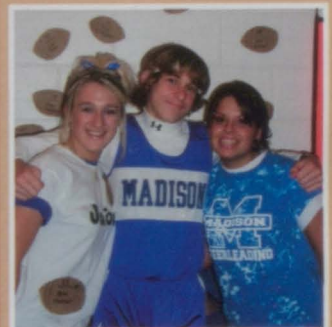

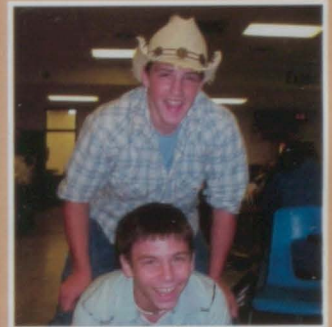

The freshmen put a lot of sweat into their band and cheerleader hallway. Despite all the hard work and dedication they put into it, they came in last place for the hallway competition. Sophomores placed third, seniors second, and juniors won with their outstanding football and soccer hallway.

People don't change, only their costumes do.

~Anonymous

And the crowd goes wild! Mrs. Craig's freshman class prepares for their first pep assembly at MHS. These students spent a lot of time learning the "Woo-Pah" cheer.

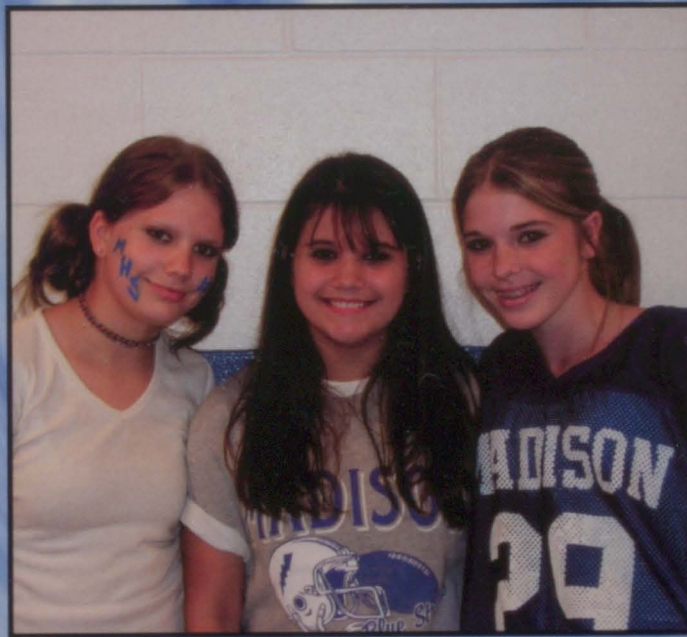

"Ahoy there Mates!" Captain Mikey Nagy is excited to show his spirit on pirate day.

Giddy Up! Sophomores Joey Novak and Dan Wolfe, dressed as cowboys, get excited on western day.

Lucky man Mark Porostosky takes a minute to pull Courtney Chernikoff and Alicia Hess close on blue and white day in the junior hallway.

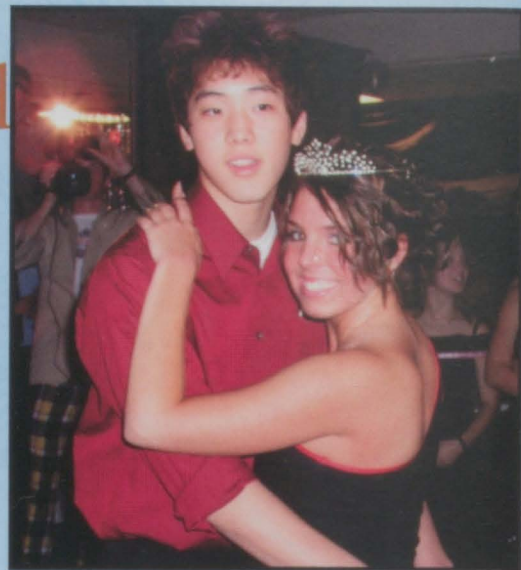

Excited to be seniors, Jordan Herron and Mike Turner proudly show off their graduation year, while in the senior cross country and golf hallway.

With smiles, freshmen Libby Gorman, Tiffany Nicholson, and Cassey Jenkins show their pride for the Blue Streaks on blue and white day. This was the first spirit week for the freshman class, and they were all very enthusiastic about dressing up.

A Winter Wonderland
 Winter Formal 2005

After tallying up the votes, seniors Hee Joon Um and Stacey Bukovac were crowned the 2005 Winter Formal king and queen.

Freshman Vs. Senior Experience

"I thought Winter Formal was a fun experience. I enjoyed dressing up and spending the night dancing with my friends," said freshman Melinda Klug.

"I had a blast at Winter Formal with all of my friends and really enjoyed being on court," said senior Hallie Walker.

What else do you do during a record-breaking year of snow fall? Well, the students at MHS think you should dance. The annual Winter Formal dance was totally cool, given the winter wonderland decor. The cold, drab cafeteria was turned into a warm ski lodge, giving the feeling of just coming off the slopes. Keeping with the theme the king, Hee Joon Um was given not only a crown but an honorary ski pole. From seven to eleven the students danced the night away making the night unforgettable.

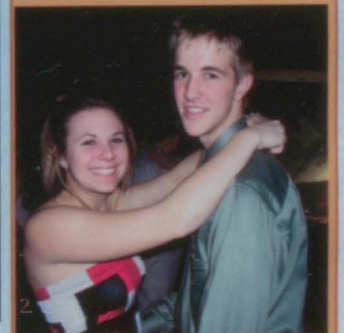

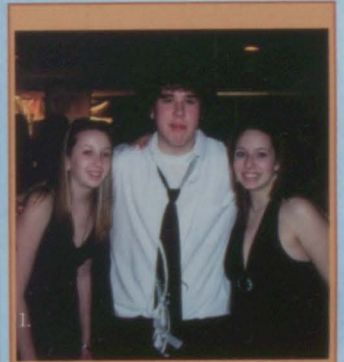

Juniors Jacqi Farrar and Jessica Curran and seniors Alla Dynko and Sayohat Saidnazarova take a break from the dance floor to relax and catch up.

Giving some attitude sophomores Alyssa Judd and Jackie Lovejoy, senior Johanne Pedersen, and sophomore Katja Ryabtseva wear their sunglasses at night.

▶▶ The Foreigner

A Laugh to Remember

The 2005 Fall Play

Beginner Vs. Experienced Experience

"It was over some being a member of the KKK. Everyone was scared of me," sophomore Karbin Lashley says.

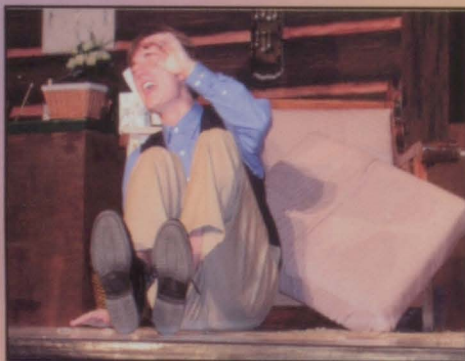

"It was real strange being a Klu Klux Klan member because of what I represented," says senior Aaron Knight.

Torrey Wigfield and his sister played by Rachel Gerard crack-up laughing while Charlie explains "his way of talk".

Not only bringing laughter to the stage, The Foreigner, also brought hope, suspense, romance, and fun to its audience. Director Jocelyn Kilpatrick said, "The Foreigner and its many characters shows us that we can become better people through our associations. If we believe in ourselves and those around us, we can find our own personal inner strength and wisdom." The Foreigner is about a man named "Froggy" LeSueur [Mike Triana] who brings Charlie Baker [Matt Gehring] 'The Foreigner' to Betty Meeks' [Ashley Pitzer] Fishing Lodge Resort in Tilghman County, Georgia. "Froggy" tells Betty that Charlie is a Foreigner, which he is not. Reverend David Marshall [Kevin Hegarty] and his bride-to-be, Catherine [Rachel Gerard] and her brother Ellard [Torrey Wigfield] also stays at the lodge. As the play goes on Rev. David and his friend Owen [Paul Passerell] plot to get rid of Charlie. Charlie ends up having to face the Klu Klux Klan.

Laughing himself silly, Matt Gehring falls out of his chair amused at how Owen said, "Gawk," like a woman.

Acting is a glorious profession. As an actor you are put in a position where you can change somebody's life, you can affect them that much

—Jack Lemmon

Some of the cast and crew take time to relax and wish each other luck. They shared laughs and funny jokes to ease the tension before Saturday night's show. This year the cast performed the play three times, two evening shows and a special Sunday afternoon show.

The try-outs for The Foreigner were highly competitive, especially for girls' parts since there were only two principal female roles. These talented actors were chosen for the lead parts: Kevin Hegarty as Rev. David Marshall Lee, Rachel Gerard as Catherine Simms, Matt Gehring as Charlie Baker, Torrey Wigfield as Ellard Simms, Ashley Pitzer as Betty Meeks, Mike Triana as "Froggy" LeSueur, and Paul Passerell as Owen Musser. They bonded together during the practices and were able to make the play their own.

The rest of the cast is made up of the angry towns people: Aaron Knight, Brandon Egy, Lizzy Petry, Mike Turner, Kira Merrick, Korbin Lashley, and Tabby Zukoski. (not pictured is Justin Mackey.)

The hostile KKK members and the rest of the cast take a break from practicing their lines.

Director: What time is it?
Actors: PLAY TIME!

1. In frustration Paul Passerell threatens his fellow cast members saying, "Put on your pretty dresses women. You're fixin' to meet the Klan."
2. All eager to learn, the other cast members listen while Matt Gehring teaches his own "foreignlanguage."
3. Rachel Gerard reveals to Kevin Hegarty that she is pregnant, not knowing that "The Foreigner" understands English.

Five Acts

Winter One Acts 2005

Student vs. Faculty Director Experience

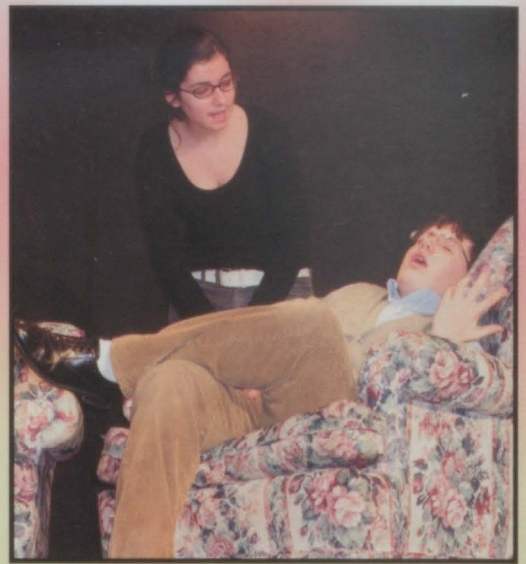

"It was my first time directing a one act and I believe that it turned out to be a success. I was very confident in my cast and crew and had no worries. It was an amazing experience," says Mike Nagy.

"The hardest thing in directing a one act was picking a good play, but I liked working with a small cast," says Ms. Jackson.

During practice Miss Philomena Twiddle startled Mr. Humperdink from his slumber in Miss Twiddle and the Devil.

The 2005 annual One Act Festival took place in February. These five acts were directed by teachers and students. The first act of the night was My Cup Ranneth Over by Robert Patrick, which is about an unknown singer named Yakka who performs at a local coffee shop. The crowd loves her, so Yakka is an overnight celebrity. Her roommate Paula celebrates Yakka's success, while wallowing in her own failure. The second one act was Naomi in the Living Room by Christopher Durang, which portrays the story of a bipolar woman named Naomi. Her son, John, and daughter-in law, Jonna, come to visit her. Naomi finds out John likes wearing women's clothing. The third act was Miss Twiddle and the Devil by Maury Hill. The inconsiderate Miss Twiddle is tricked by Satan into saving her soul because she is eligible to be the devil's supervisor. After a brief intermission, The Plot to Assassinate the Chase Manhattan Bank by Carl Larsen was the next show of the evening. The timid Wilber Fuddle attempts to rob the Chase Manhattan Bank as Mr. Dickinson tries to give Mr. Fuddle a loan and is completely oblivious to Fuddle's plan. The final act of the festival, Appearances, is about Ivy who is obsessively in love with a fellow co-worker and must look perfect for the Christmas party at work. Because all of the acts were so different, no one went home without a laugh.

While the audience is waiting for the 2005 One Acts to start, the casts of all five acts circle up and wish each other good luck.

Remember this practical piece of advice: Never come into the theatre with mud on your feet. Leave your dust and dirt outside. Check your little worries, squabbles, petty difficulties with your outside clothing—all the things that ruin your life and draw your attention away from your art—at the door.
—Constantine Stanislavski

1. Harry, the devil's aide in mischief, tries to trick Miss Twiddle into having her soul saved and repent of her wrong doings. Harry and Nicholas Q. Nicholas did this because she was qualified to be the devil's supervisor, and they didn't want Hell to be Hell for them.
2. Rachel Andres and Matt Gehring star in Naomi in the Living Room.
3. Sophomores Kevin Hegarty and Justin Mackey practice their scene before show night.
4. Senior Shannon Pavlovic braids junior Tabby Zukoski's hair for her part as a bank teller in The Plot to Assassinate the Chase Manhattan Bank.
5. Senior Shana Schrauff helps junior Paul Passerell with applying his eye makeup for his role as Nicholas Q. Nicholas, the Devil.
6. My Cup Ranneth Over: Kira Merrick [Yukka], Kati Burr [Paula], and not pictured Angela Smith [director].

7. Naomi in the Living Room: Matt Gehring [John], Rachel Andres [Johnna], Mikey Nagy [director], and Heather Helms [Naomi].

Oh, the Thinks You Can Think...

When You Think About Seussical!

Who vs. Cat

"It was my first time being in a musical, and I enjoyed the fun times with the cast. Being a Who was fun!"
- Laura Lagoria

"I had a wonderful time being The Cat in the Hat in Seussical and working with such a talented cast."
- Matt Gehring

Hearing the loud Yopp from the tiny dust speck, the Bird Girls and the Sour Kangaroo realize that there are people on that speck. "A person's a person, no matter how small!"

Not only was Seussical the Musical the last production of the year, it broke some records as well. With three standing ovations and four showings which included three evening shows and a Saturday matinee, Seussical will be a hard show to beat. The three evening shows were sold out, and people were even turned away because it was such a huge success. The show was produced by the following: Director Nicole Groah, Backstage Director Jocelyn Kilpatrick, and Band Director Kristy May. Each song had a message. Seussical the Musical has to do with Horton the Elephant, who is basically "Alone in the Universe," thinks dust specks can speak. The Whos live on this dust speck and are put on a clover. The Jungle of Nool creatures think Horton is insane for thinking this. Horton faces many problems like: sitting on Mayzie's egg, being confronted by hunters, trying to locate the missing clover, and going to an insane asylum while the dust speck is to be boiled. However the Whos are not boiled because they were saved by the smallest of small Who, Jojo. He had the biggest think of all, a word that was unthinkable, YOPPI!

Helplessly stuck in Mayzie's nest, Horton puts his hand up because the hunters mean business.

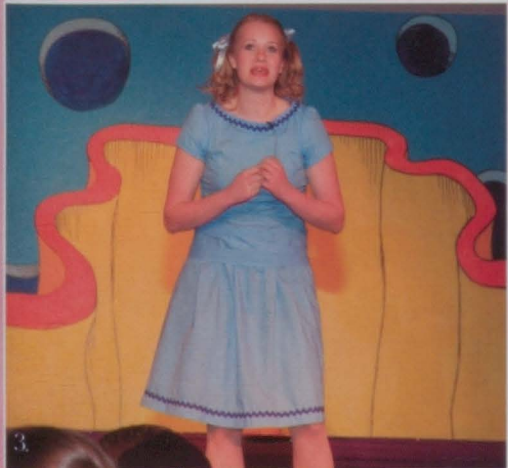

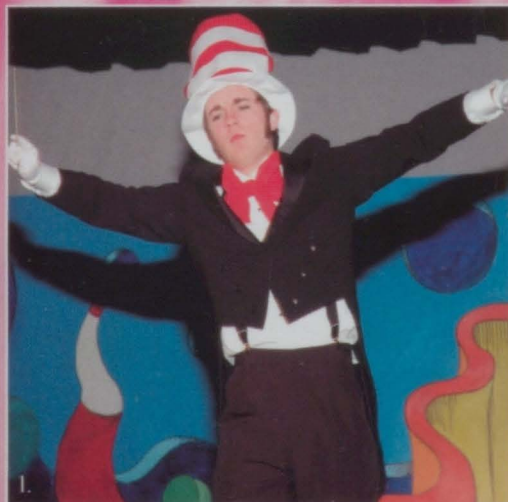

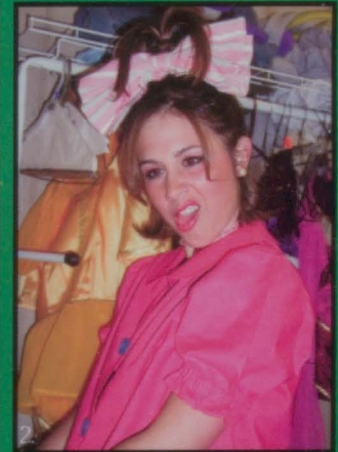

Before breaking into the song "The Grinch Carved the Roast Beast," all the Who families wait and listen to how the Grinch stole Christmas.

"The world is always ready to receive a talent with open arms."
- Oliver Wendell Holmes

2005 Seussical the Musical was made up of 43 cast members and three MHS staff members (Mr. Fisher, Mr. Bezzeg, and Mr. Morgan were Yertle the Turtle.) The rest of the cast included Matt Gehring (The Cat in the Hat), Shannon Pavlovic (Sour Kangaroo), Ashley Pitzer (Mayzie La Bird), Aaron Byers (General Ghengis Khan Schmitz), Paul Bodager, Matt Buchanan, and Curt Rochon (Wickershams), Mikey Nagy (Horton the Elephant), Shara Schrauff, Rachel Gerard, and Heather Helms (Bird Girls), Rachel Andres (Gertrude McFuzz), Torrey Wigfield (Mayor), Lizzie Petry (Mrs. Mayor), Jeb Ziegler (Jojo). Ensemble: Trisha Nolan, Katherine Lashley, Jocelyn Walsh, Britney Wells, Jordan Baldwin, Michael Turner, Justin Mackey, Jacob Bodager, Korbin Lashley, Dustin Goyetche, Sarah Uveges, Brittany Marion, Tabby Zukoski, Laura Lagania, Ken Holcomb, Hannah Baylog, Corbin Lichtinger, and Eddie Carney.

Juniors Mikey Nagy (Horton the elephant) and Brittany Marion (Who) wait on stage for warm-ups with the rest of the cast.

1. Coming back from intermission, The Cat in the Hat tries to get the band under control. With one swift move of the piton, the band silences and they begin to play the first song of Act II.
2. After giving up her egg to Horton, Mayzie flies up to Palm Beach. Being so bored there, she asks Jose (Cat in the Hat) to think of something else she can do. The Cat comes back and gives her a pamphlet from the circus that is coming to town.
3. Gertrude tries to muster up a plan to get Horton's attention. She takes Mayzie's advice and goes to Dr. Dake to get a fabulous tail.

1. The Wickersham Brothers go in style to make their point in "People v. Horton the Elephant" that Horton is indeed insane.
2. Preparing for her role as Cindy Lou Who, junior Hannah Baylog makes a silly face before continuing her makeup.

Prom 2005

A few exciting events wind each school year to a close. Prom being one of the most anticipated events of the entire year makes it that much more fantastic. Students dance the night away enjoying one of the last times they will all be together. Prom brings the amazing realization that high school is one of the most memorable times of your life and nothing will ever be like it. The night carries on with music and moves that represent our generation, leaving seniors with a sense of their legacy and juniors a longing for the next prom. Prom 2005 was nothing less than the time of our lives.

►► Permanent Improvements Lasting Changes By MHS Key Club

This year's key club came together to make a difference in our community. The changes that key club has made are for a lifetime. Whether the members were painting at Memorial or hosting winter formal, every little bit of their work has gone a long way and has made a lasting impression. The club continues year after to year to change the perception Madison citizens have of MHS students. The members prove that teenagers can and do make a difference for the better in their community.

Catching the Spirit

Student Council and FCA

Spreading spirit was a goal that both FCA and student council had in common this year. Student council has been working to get more involved in the lives of the students at MHS. The group achieved this by putting together a spirit week at the beginning of the year. This helped to get students excited about the school year at hand. FCA continued their goal of helping to keep student athletes inspired through a spiritual relationship with God. The group met twice weekly to pray and study the Bible. They also incorporate fun into their meetings by gathering at different area restaurants to make their discussions a bit more tasty.

"Nothing great was ever achieved"

"It was a really great year for student council. We accomplished the goal of bringing spirit back to MHS."

Aimee Dickman,
MHS Student Council
President

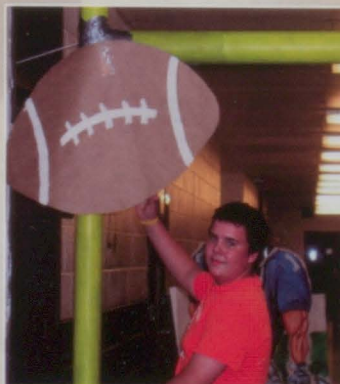

"Student council has become more active. A lot of our ideas came through this year, and we are planning more for the future."

Julia Kershaw,
MHS Student Council
Vice President

Juniors Samantha Krotz and Aimee Dickman show that the seniors next to them aren't the only ones who work hard on their hallway.

This group of seniors gets all fired up trying to help support their class at the pep rally during spirit week.

Always excited and always smiling, teacher Mrs. Vacca shows that teachers can get into spirit week just as much as the students.

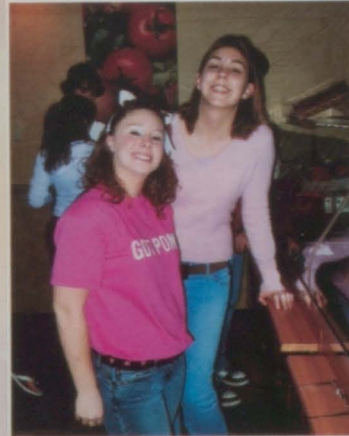

"We had a good year. We did a lot of service work. We went to Salvation Army soup kitchen downtown, and will go to Captains' games this summer."

Sophomore Kate Moore and Jen Davis spread their spirit by decorating their hallway for spirit week which is put together by student council.

FCA members Mike Turner, Kayla Shreves, Kayleigh Bildstein, Danyella Tonelli, and Kory Piorkowski prepare to start their discussion at one of their weekly FCA meetings.

"FCA's goal is to try to try to grow through having a relationship with the Lord."

MHS Academic Clubs

Mrs. Gilligan
-Model UN

Going beyond the basic book work and after the final bell rings, MHS students stick around to participate in the many academic clubs offered at Madison. Students can get involved in MHS Model UN, Academic Challenge, Math Club, Book Club, and for the first time Science Club. The newbie MHS Science Club proved to be a success in their work with fuel cells guided by chemistry king Mr. Fickenscher. MHS Model UN students were also recognized for their achievements at a number of their conferences. MHS Math Club also attended their annual Kent State Math Night. With all these opportunities the students came with more extensive knowledge in specific subject areas and new skills to use out in the world.

the Public

The 2005 MHS Newspaper Staff is responsible for keeping MHS students informed about Madison High and its community. They let us know about issues discussed during school board meetings, Madison controversies, and upcoming and successful school functions such as plays, concerts, dances, and sporting events. The newspaper staff really gets into the newspapers they produce (see senior Brandon Brennen pictured below). This year they put out a quality newspaper but somehow no one could seem to find them working. Even though they could usually be found sneaking away to steal yearbook cake, cuddling up to Harold for a quick nap, or working on their buff muscles, somehow their newspaper magically came together. And the world and the rest of Madison High School may never find out how the staff pulled it off. However, the yearbook staff is going to try to find out for next year so that we can magically produce the 2006 MHS Yearbook without having to work so hard!

Traitor! Mr. Madore, the newspaper advisor, was caught red handed sneaking a piece of ice cream cake in the yearbook room. Isn't there something you should be doing for newspaper, Mr. Madore?

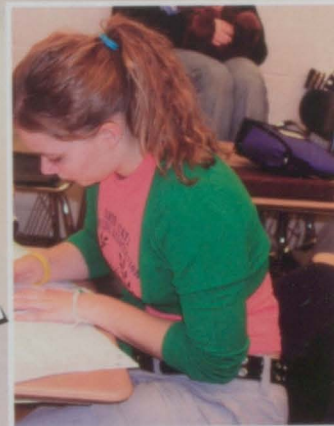

Work? Senior Sam LaTourette and junior Torrey Wigfield not only work hard on informing the public through their articles, but also on their buff muscles.

"The staff did so well this year adjusting to the major changes that we made to the yearbook itself. I'm proud of them."

Business Editor

Annie

"The yearbook this year went through a lot of changes and even though there were a lot of discretions between peoples' thoughts and wants, at the end of the year the yearbook turned out great."

People & Clubs Editor

Tabby

"I was a little skeptical about the change in the book this year, but in the end the book turned out very nice, and everyone worked so hard on everything. I was very proud of the staff this year."

▶▶ IN LIVING ... COLOR! Yearbook Staff

This year's yearbook theme is "Change Becomes Us." The yearbook staff made a decision that will change The Cauldron forever. We updated the whole entire book to color, so now the whole book will be bright and exciting (not that it wasn't ever before). Another thing that was changed about the yearbook staff was, instead of only one or two editors like before we now have six editors, four of them are for each section, one of them to be the head editor, the last one is our business editor and of course our awesome advisor (who we would be lost without, not to mention the yearbook would literally fall apart), Mrs. Vacca. We made it this way so that we can have every little part of the yearbook checked more efficiently. The yearbook also had a little classification this year too. We classified everyone into squares, triangles, squiggles, and circles. Squares would be are very organized, gets everything done on time, and it has to be right. Triangles would be a confident, efficient and convincing. Squiggles are people who can't stay focused and they brainstorm very well. Circles are very caring and loving people who do not get very angry at all. This is only one of the very fun things that yearbook did this year.

1. Junior Tabby Zukoski makes a new calendar for the spring. This helps the yearbook staff to know when the events are so they can take pictures and get quotes.

2. "I love this quote," says junior Josh McFarland, after finding the perfect quote to fit with one of the many spreads he has to complete this year.

3. Yearbook advisor Mrs. Vacca helps Senior Editor Tabby Mullins with a problem concerning the yearbook ladder, which was not matching up with the number of pages in the book. They worked together to fix the problem.

4. Junior Colleen Smith works hard on her juniors portrait spread and hopes to make her deadline.

Yearbook Advisor

This is Mrs. Vacca for those of you who do not know her. She is our yearbook advisor, and she is the only thing that keeps us all focused on what we should be doing. She is like our soccer mom, except this is yearbook and that would make her our yearbook mom. Mrs. Vacca is also a ninth-grade English teacher, and she is the one person that everyone including the freshmen run to when something goes wrong. In all Mrs. Vacca is great and she could never be replaced.

"The staff really worked well together this year, and I enjoyed producing Madison's first all-color yearbook."

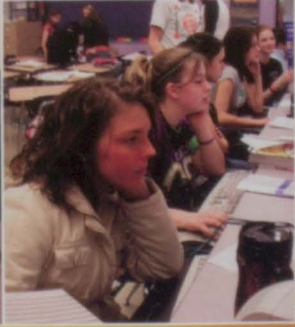

1. Juniors Tiffany Teske and Sarah Uveges help each other find the picture folders for their individual spreads, meanwhile they discuss what they are going to title their spread.

2. Working on the computer is one of the many jobs in yearbook, Senior Ali Woodworth has to do to completely finish her fall sports spread.

3. Junior Tabby Zukoski helps Sophomore Alyssa Judd learn the new yearbook program.

4. Senior Stacey Bukovac works very hard on her spread to make the next deadline during the next week.

►► "The Journey of a Thousand Miles, Begins with One Step"
MHS National Honor Society

Students start high school with hopes of being successful. Each of those students have a fresh chance to be everything they know they can be. Students honored with the award of being in National Honor Society have taken that chance to not only be successful but to take it one step further and be extraordinary. These students have taken their academics, community, and self and made the very best of them all. They have put in the hard work to make their path of school and life better. Characteristics of hard work and diligence got these students one step ahead of the game. Learning and showing these characteristics now will help to make all of their future journeys that much brighter.

"The only people who never fail ..."

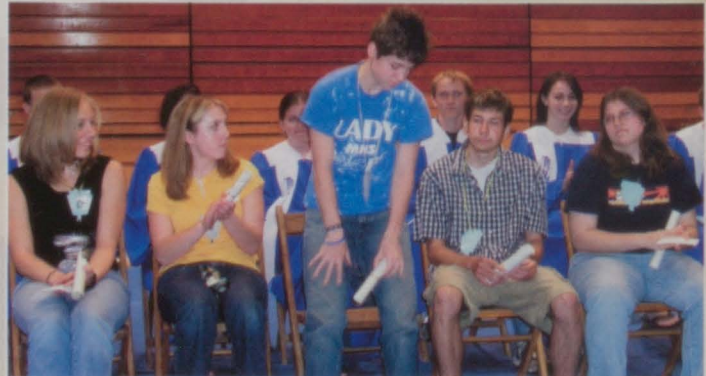

Senior member Justine Harper delivers a touching speech at the NHS tap-in ceremony.

Senior member Mark Nagy emphasizes the importance of the four characteristics NHS represents.

Senior members proudly award Samantha Krotz with her NHS certificate.

Freshly tapped in members Matthew Mauck, Joshua Mickle, Michael Nagy and Bryan Pelich quickly find their seats and take it all in.

Junior Kaitlyn Kerzisnik returns to her seat with an expression of a job well-done.

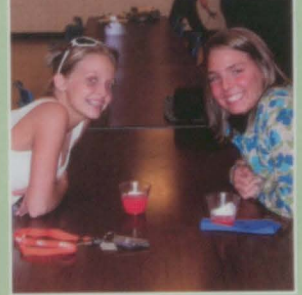

Junior Maggie Mackura stands to be applauded at the NHS tap-in ceremony.

Into a New World

Foreign Exchange

Nadezhda (Nadya) Beltsava

"It was a good experience to live for a year in a world totally different from what I was used to. This school is different: much longer classes, more holidays, and everything is not as strict as at home, especially the dress code."

Ida Berby

"The school system here is very different than mine. I'm not used to dress codes, hall passes, and lockdowns. I'm also used to having different classes everyday, not the same day repeated over and over. Even though I like the organized American school system, I miss the Norwegian system."

Alla Dynko

"In Russia I study all the time. Also, before coming here I didn't think that sports were that important for my life. And I learned that school can be fun! All American holidays rock! I love American food! It's been a long year, but probably the best in my life."

Giovanna (Gi) Gabrielda Silva

"Being an exchange student in America has been a great experience for me. Here I'm doing key club, swimming, and ski club where I have made a lot of good friends. The school system as well as the weather, food, and people are much different than in Brazil. I am really thankful for all the people that have made my "American Life" so great. Kisses."

So Yeong Kwak

"The biggest change between here and South Korea was the food. I like the pizzas and hamburgers, but I like the South Korean food better. Another major difference was the way people talk. It was really hard to understand everybody."

Johanne (Yo) Pedersen

"Christmas was very different, in Denmark. We celebrate Christmas on December 24th in the evening and sleep in on Christmas morning. This past Christmas, I "had" to get up really early with my host family! But I had lots of fun."

Raquel Rosas

"Being here has changed my life in terms of how I see the things. I played soccer, and it was so different and great. I was on the swim team, which I hadn't done before, and track is so cool. Everything has been so challenging for me. The school, teachers, food, and people are so different. But I like to get all my goals accomplished, even though they are hard. I just want to say thanks to all the people who have helped me and I love my host family and all my friends. I liked the American experience!"

Sayohat Saidnazarova

"Being an exchange student has been a wonderful experience for me. It gave me an opportunity to try new things, that I did not do before. Key club for example was one of them. I met so many wonderful people. Thanks again to all the students and teachers for treating me so well."

Joseph Toledo

"Since coming to America from Columbia, I have experienced a different language and many different foods and customs. I also left my family and my friends. But I've had a great experience here. I was very lucky to have a very nice host family. I'll always be thankful for them. I've known a lot of people that have become my good friends. I've had a lot of fun doing new things that I never did before. Holy Toledo! I had fun."

Hee Joon Um

"In Korea, I didn't get to play sports. But in America I played football, wrestled, and ran track. While I was in these sports I made lots of friends. I'm so thankful to those friends, who made me Winter Formal King. I'm so lucky to live with such a great host family. They are wonderful people. So for me, America is a great country!"

What were the biggest changes between your country and America?

Looking Back

Leading the competition, freshman Liz Nunnally participates in the games at the Caring Counts Assembly, which was put on by the senior mentors.

The more heads the better! Senior mentors Tyler Granger, Ryan Lardie, Ben Pniewski, Ashley Wickert, Mike Turner, and Shannon Weber, along with Mrs. Gilligan and Mrs. Smith, huddle together to attempt to get an answer during one of their problem-solving activities.

X marks the spot. Senior Becky Wilson and Mrs. Kilpatrick work with a camp advisor to follow their map to the next checkpoint.

This year Madison High School launched a new program geared towards better preparing freshmen for their next four years. After the freshmen were split into class-sized groups, two senior mentors worked together to teach, tutor, and even befriend these underclassmen. (It's always nice to have friends in high places!) The seniors spent time over the summer learning games and icebreakers as well as group-bonding exercises. These activities were worked into the weekly mentor meetings throughout the school year. Freshmen were made familiar with the basic rules and code of conduct at MHS, motivated to get involved in an extra-curricular activity, and had a chance to ask their mentors questions they had about MHS. With the continuation of this program, Madison hopes to see a school full of involved, intelligent, and well-rounded students making the most of their high school experiences.

Tarzan? Oh wait, it's just Mr. Fisher swinging along with his teammates at camp.

Friends and Madison athletes Tim Lomasney, Tim Reed, Craig Walker, and Ben Pniewski can't wait to get their summer started and look forward to the road ahead.

One thing is certain, we will leave this school today very different from when we entered as freshmen.
- Jessica Dawson

These boys will always remember this moment. They may have left high school after graduation, but the memories that they made here will forever be in their hearts.

Valedictorians Jessica Boonstra and Jessica Dawson along with Salutatorians Meredith Misich and Tyler Hanak gather together with Principal Fisher just before graduation. These leaders have set high examples at Madison High School and will set high goals for their futures.

▶▶ Growing up and helping each other reach their goals in the...

World of Change

Graduation 2005

"All of you deserve to be up here," said Salutatorian Tyler Hanak as he stood on stage in front of his peers delivering his speech to the graduating class. Through our four years at Madison High School we learn so much about people, how each one is special in their own way. After all, where would this year's seniors be if it weren't for each of their abilities. With help from their teachers, parents, principals and friends, each graduating senior can feel proud of their accomplishments and go on to do great things for our world. These seniors were not only an example of our changing school, but our changing world. Each of us has to grow up one day and enter the next stage of our life, unaware of the future that lies ahead but confident that we will make the most of where our path takes us. College and successful career opportunities wait around the corner for each of these dedicated students who will forever be in the hearts of the high school that they helped shape.

The members of the Madison Board of Education and Superintendent James Herrholtz were among the people who participated in the graduation commencement and helped to honor the class of 2005.

FRIENDS NOW AND FOREVER

Seniors Chet DeLong, Matt Nicholson, Tim Brunner, Mike Blauman, Josh Gottron, and Ryan Lardie get together for one last picture before they finally walk across the stage, leaving high school behind and entering their future.

"None of us knows what the next change is going to be, what unexpected opportunity is just around the corner, waiting a few months or a few years to change all of the tenor of our lives."

~ Kathleen Norris

Curt Rochon and Jimmy Smith think about their friendship. They will miss seeing each other in school after this summer when they will go in their opposite directions in life.

The changing of faces over the past 20 years.
Guess who these teachers are from their 1985 staff pictures.

1-3. They say a person's room reflects their personality. Big time Ohio State fan Mr. Hernan proudly models the OSU logo on his classroom wall, and Mrs. Bangerter shows off her very own French cafe. Hmm . . . I wonder why Mrs. Sampson chose to put a witch in her classroom? Is she trying to scare some of her seniors?

4. AV teacher Mrs. Moskowitz hobbles around in her huge witch Halloween costume.
 5. Maxin' and Relaxin'. Mrs. Kilpatrick relaxes at her desk during her planning period.
 6 & 8- An all-out costume battle was waged between the flappers/gangsters from the main office and student center and the deck of cards from the school kitchen. Who did you think won?
 7. Best-dressed custodian Mick Collins models his suit and bow tie at the 2005 Winter Formal.

Q: How has school changed since you were in high school?

A: "No more beehive hair styles with a can of hair spray.
 We had to wear a shirt with a collar, a belt, no jeans, and our hair couldn't touch our collar." -Mr. Loeffel
 "Kids used to care." -Mr. Bezzeg
 "You can't paddle anyone." - Mrs Ashton

▶▶ Stand in line...

Take a Number

Math and Science

As freshmen we start off in high school math learning how to change fractions into decimals and in science discovering how bacteria is formed. The next thing we know we are expected to learn trigonometric identities and do wild chemistry experiments. We think our compost lab was difficult until we try to dissect a cat. Throughout high school, we have to keep up with the changing curriculums. Whether we are moving on from Integrated Math to Algebra II or from Unified Science to Honors Chemistry, we must alter our thinking and work ethic. As the math and science concepts get tougher, we have to toughen up too and take on the more challenging work. Classes get harder as we go on in school just as life gets harder the longer we live. We have to adjust to survive. Thus, our classes, especially in the area of math and science, are preparing us for the future year after year in many ways.

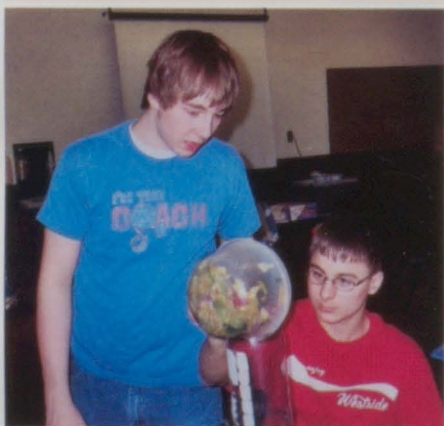

▶▶ MARINE BIOLOGY

What's hoppin' around? Mr. Clark's marine biology class enjoyed creating and studying these waters in order to learn what creeps around and grows in the environment of a pond.

▶▶ MARINE BIOLOGY

Junior Liz Gerboc comforts this squid in order to calm it down before Mr. Hanes makes her dissect it.

▶▶ UNIFIED SCIENCE

Freshmen Davis Stoltz and Jeff Avery try to attract worms and insects by adding salad to their compost pile, which they watched decompose over time.

▶▶ MARINE BIOLOGY

Juniors Erin Kuester and Mikey Nagy are very sad about being forced to dissect starfish. However they were more disgusted by what they saw on the inside.

▶▶ CHEMISTRY

Junior Jimmy Taylor looks carefully at the results of his chemical experiment to make sure that he fully understands what happened.

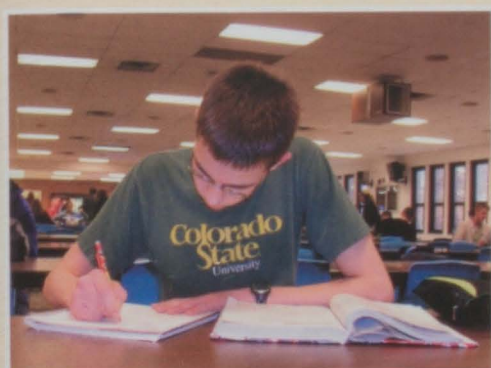

➤➤ PROB AND STATS

Sophomore Dan Wolfe and Junior Matthew Mauck work together in Mr. Hernan's algebra II class. They learned how to program their graphing calculators and tried to understand them the best they can.

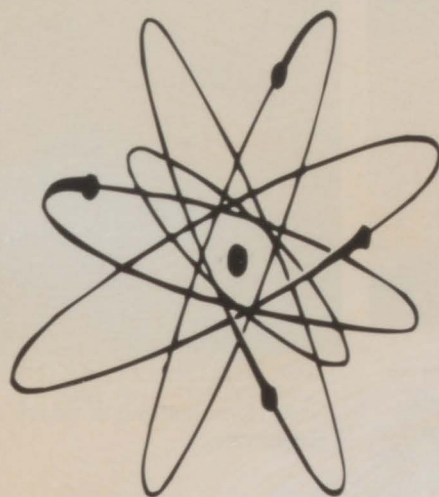

➤➤ GEOMETRY

Juniors Michael Bench, Aleah Samplak, and Kayleigh Yeager are always having fun, especially during Mrs. Egnot's math class.

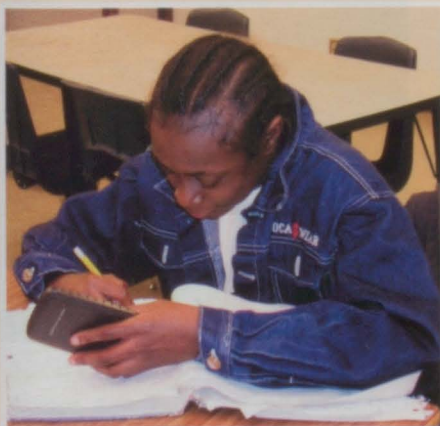

➤➤ ALGEBRA I

Freshman Tyler Hale works hard, even during lunch, to finish all of his math homework so he can have fun without worrying about doing it later.

"Mathematics is the queen of sciences."

➤➤ CARL FRIEDRICH GAUSS

➤➤ ALGEBRA 1

This is impossible! Freshman LaVonte Magic works hard to solve the inequalities that Mr. Brainard explained for the day.

➤➤ ALGEBRA 2

Sophomore Kira Merrick tries not to get stressed out with all the work that Mr. Hernan assigned the class.

➤➤ PRE-CALCULUS

Mr. Morgan helps juniors Brittany Kehn and Tabby Zukoski grasp the concepts of the pre-calc lesson of the day.

►► It may not be a match made in heaven, but

Opposites Attract

English/Social Studies

English and social studies seem to be two quite different subjects. Most people think that English is all about reading literature in depth and writing extensive essays. Social studies is based upon learning the history of our country, government, and the development of every other country on earth since the beginning of time. As we advance into our junior and senior years, we take classes such as American Literature and British Literature. Sitting through English classes, we learn about the history of what you are reading. Although these two subjects are taught and learned differently, they go hand in hand.

►► DRAMA

>> SOCIAL STUDIES

While cluttered behind all these social studies books, junior Sarah Uveges gets caught up in a daydream. Sarah was in government class with Mrs. Bralley this year and learned how our laws were and are made and our officials are elected to serve.

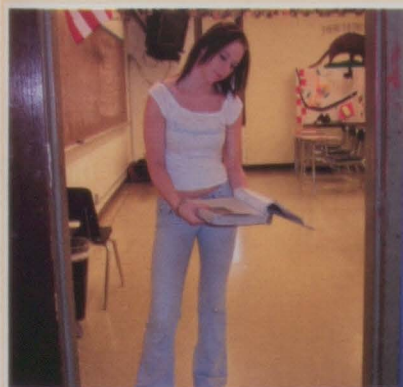

>> UNIFIED SOCIAL STUDIES 9

Freshman Cassey Jenkins shows her great geography skills by pointing out the home of fabulous food, Italy.

▶▶ Though Madison High School is changing, some things will always stay the same

Traditions and Transitions

in the Library and AV Department

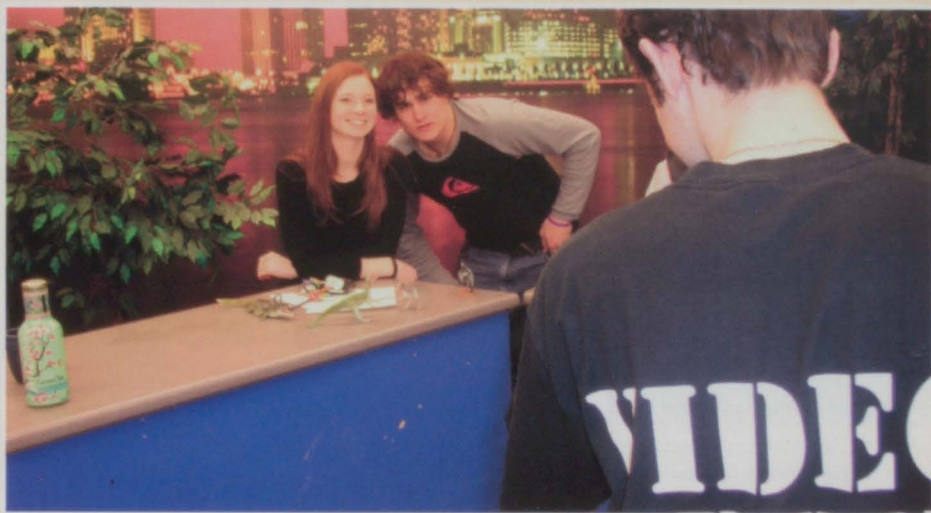

"Change is the law of life." This quote by John F. Kennedy explains the need for MHS to move into the future. This year announcements were broadcasted on TVs instead of spoken over the PA system. The A.V. Department oversaw this new transition. In addition to overseeing this major new change, the A.V. Department continued on with their creative videos by taping happenings around the school. Although new changes can be found all over the school some things in the life of a high school student will remain tradition. The endless hours spent by students in the library researching for projects, papers, and presentations will continue for years to come. Traditions and transitions combined help to make Madison High School complete.

▶▶ LIBRARY

▶▶ A.V.

A transition that took place this year at MHS was the announcements being shown on TV. Senior Sarah Dunkle and junior Brandon Vaidean get ready to go on air while Paul Passerell films.

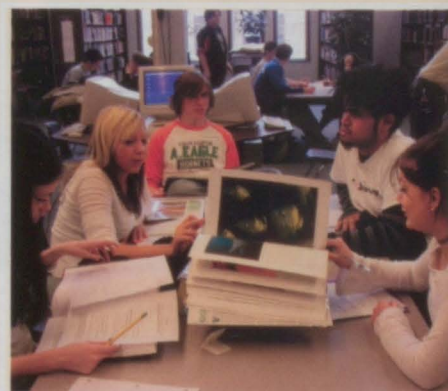

▶▶ A.V.

To raise money for new cameras seniors Derek Daughters and Eric Bennett try to sell candy by "goofing" it up.

▶▶ LIBRARY

Senior Beth Steger reaches for a book so she can continue her research.

2005 Concert Bands

This year's concert bands underwent many new changes throughout the year. They had to adjust to losing last years seniors and find places for this years freshmen. The band got a new assistant director Mr. Soriano who took over for Ms. Groah; she is now directing all of Madison's high school and middle school choral programs. The wind ensemble brought on a great change. For the first time in Madison High School history they qualified and went to the state conference of OMEA. Despite all of their changes the only thing that stayed the same was their awesome commitment and their amazing sound. They accomplished many difficult pieces, favorites include "Light Eternal," "Go West," "Sleigh Ride," "Peanuts Theme Song," and of course the ever classic "Pomp and Circumstance."

>> STAGE BAND

Through all of the bangs, booms, and clashes of his drums sophomore Kevin Hegarty is able to keep his composure, despite the chaotic rhythms.

>> SPECIAL MC'S

Business and Technology

Getting Technical

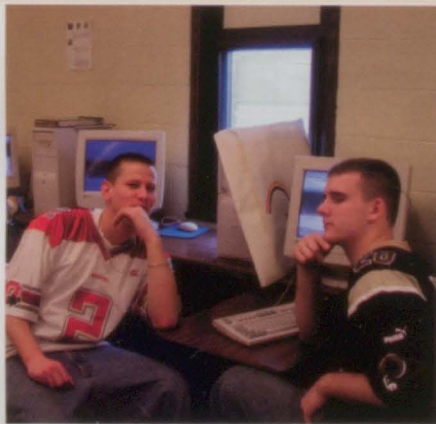

with Technology

Try to imagine life without technology. It's very difficult considering how much life revolves around it. As time has gone on, technology has changed greatly. We have gone from listening to tapes to purchasing mp3s and watching movies on the VCRs to experiencing DVDs. Throughout the school year, the computer classes tried to keep up with technological changes. Students also learned many new skills which will prepare them for the work force and the demands of college. The technology club, which was new last year, also enforced the advantages of technology with different activities throughout the school year, such as running the recycling program, making name plates for the teacher's doors, collecting old cell phones and ink cartridges, and selling compatibility surveys to raise money. All in all technology has changed our lives for the better and the classes and clubs here at MHS prove this.

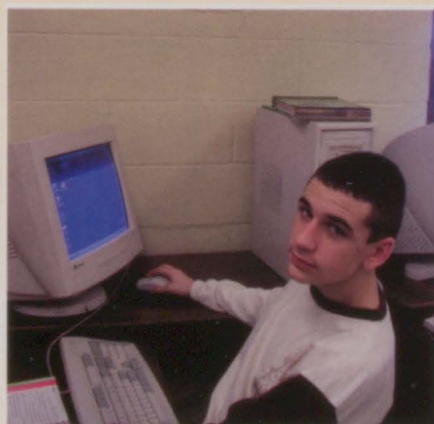

>> BUSINESS TECHNOLOGY

Around the World

Foreign Language and International Club

Here at MHS, students get to experience life's challenges from all around the world. MHS offers three classes: French, Spanish, and German. The students who take one of these classes learn how to converse with others. There are three different classes that range in difficulty. In the beginner classes students learn the basics, like numbers, ABC's, and simple words. In the intermediate class they learn how to write in full sentences and memorize skits to prepare them for the real world. In the advanced classes students learn how to do the day-to-day little things in life, wherever they choose to visit. So when students decide to go to France, Spain, or Germany, they will be knowledgeable and experienced in terms of culture and language. MHS International Club is another program that MHS offers to make this possible. It's a group of students that come together to understand cultures and most of all have fun!

Mind and Body

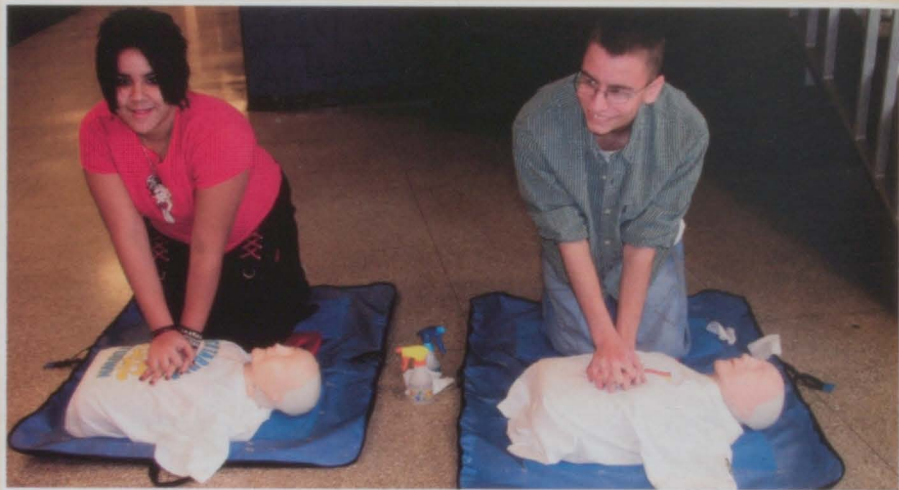

Health and Gym

Gym and health at Madison High School go hand in hand when achieving physical and mental well-being. Health is great for students because understanding how the body works and how it can stay healthy is very important. From attending the health fair to practicing CPR, students receive significant information about staying healthy and gain knowledge about the body. Understanding health is important, but being physically fit and active is key to full wellness. As freshman students must take standard health/gym classes but upperclassmen can choose from a variety of classes such as Personal Fitness, Racquet Sports, and Team Sports. During these classes students exercise and practice an activity they enjoy while staying fit.

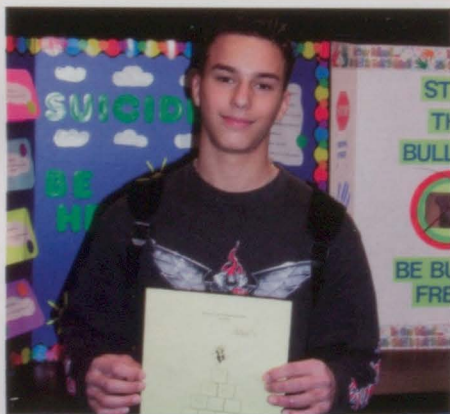

▶▶ HEALTH FAIR

This year's health fair had a great turnout, with many students participating such as Amanda Brown and Angela Padula. They checked out the valuable information in the wonderfully decorated gym.

▶▶ CPR

Juniors Ashley Betancourt and Dustin Brock practice their CPR skills one more time during health class. Ashley said, "Mrs. Craigo is great. She is a wonderful teacher who has helped me through my first year here at Madison. The things I have learned in her health class are very valuable to me."

A Colorful Life

Art/Home Ec.

Whether it is paint, fabric, or food, the students at MHS splatter their talents across the halls. The creators are as varied as the creations that are brightly and proudly displayed throughout the school. The quilts and meals of the home economic classes and the paintings and sculptures of the art classes are nothing short of amazing. The students' hard work surely makes MHS a little more colorful. Beginning with classes such as Life Skills and Art Foundations and ending with Advanced Cooking and Independent Art, students have many opportunities to develop their talents.

You'll Be Successful

Woods and Metals

Work hard you'll be successful. The industrial arts students here at MHS have abided by this rule for many years already and will continue to unless they close the programs down. Hopefully that won't happen.

During the spring scheduling period, these classes are a favorite for students to pick. Even though the industrial arts classes are hard work, they are still fun and rewarding. This is why students enjoy taking them for four years.

Metals teacher Mr. Schonauer said, "Kids like these classes because of the hands-on experience. The students also need to be very adult-like. These aren't machines you would find in any household either." Some students like these classes just because they have a chance to prove that they are mature enough to run the machines and are skilled enough to create quality products.

Same People, New Location

As a freshmen at MHS we are limited to classes here, but as we grow older and more mature our choices become more numerous and our opportunities are unlimited. As an upper classman we can choose to stay here at MHS or we can choose to take vocational classes at Auburn Career Center or classes at an area community college (Kent State Ashtabula, Lake Erie College, or Lakeland Community College). Some students choose to take classes to prepare them for their future careers, while others are just looking to get a head start on their college degrees. Either way they are still apart of the MHS family.

Raising the Bar

in Academic Excellence

Each student here at MHS is very unique from the person next to them. Some students enjoy spending their time winning the big games for our school, while others prefer to spend their time in clubs giving back to the community, a small group of students enjoy meeting to represent our school using academic knowledge, and yet there are still students left over who choose to spend their time talking in groups about something they all have in common, such as a book they just read. One thing which brings all the students here at MHS together is each our hard work and dedication to our school studies. While the way the students have cared about their grades has not changed, the number of students that care has changed drastically. All of the late night studying, hours of homework, and all-nighters to finish the project we procrastinated about really paid off for this year's 9-12 graders. With a record breaking number of students recognized, almost half of the students in the entire school were recognized for their academic excellence. Madison teachers and parents are all equally proud of the accomplishments reached this year and hope each year students continue to challenge themselves even more and continue to raise the bar in academic excellence.

»» FIRST YEAR AWARD

One of the many changes from middle school to high school is the academic awards banquets held at night for family and friends. This year, freshman Miranda Boggs was recognized for achieving academic excellence during her first year of high school.

>> PRINCIPAL'S AWARDS

At this year's academic awards banquet 21 students were recognized for achieving a 4.0 or higher for all four years of their high school career. The students include (alphabetical order): Steve Auciello, Heidi Baker, Katie Baker, Tabitha Blalock, Paul Bodager, Jessica Boonstra, Jessica Dawson, Matt Gehring, Brad Gorman, Tyler Hanak, Justine Harper, Ashley Johnson, Carly Locke, Holly Marion, Meridith Misich, Matt Nicholson, Ashley Ogle, Shannon Pavlovic, Jessica Peplowski, Peter Swanson, and Ali Woodworth. Working hard all four years of high school is a difficult yet rewarding experience in all of these students' lives. Madison staff hopes all the students at MHS carry their study skills over to college in order to achieve academic success during the next big change in their education careers.

>> A STEP BACK IN TIME

For this year's freshmen academic awards banquet, MHS alumni Tara Teshke came and talked to the freshmen. She gave a motivational speech telling them not to be afraid of being different. She even told of her freshman year when she tried to be different by wearing the pants she is holding on the first day of school.

"Few will have the greatness to bend history itself, but each of us can work to change a small portion of events, and in total of all those acts will be written the history of this generation."

>> ROBERT F. KENNEDY

>> THIRD YEAR AWARD

With all the changes and chaos in the lives of high school students, being successful in the classroom is not only hard work but something to be very proud of. Junior Josh Malek is awarded for his hard work over the past three years as he receives his third year letter award.

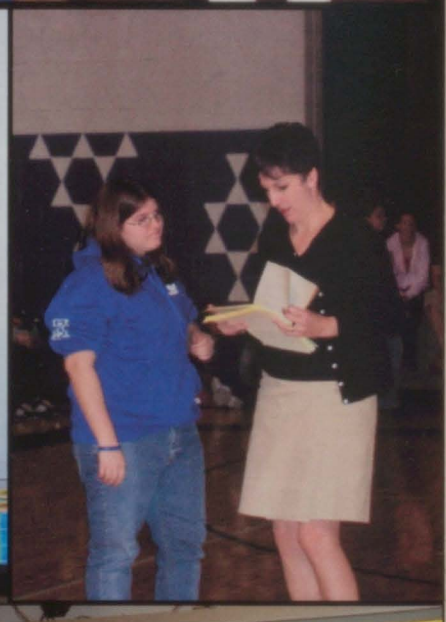

>> FOURTH YEAR AWARD

Hard work and late night studying really paid off for senior Kyle Shuttleworth. For all four years of his high school years, he was recognized for his academic success. This year he received a personalized plaque for all his accomplishments.

>> FOURTH YEAR AWARD

Senior Steve Auciello stands proudly with his parents after receiving his fourth year award. After four years of receiving this award, his parents are very proud of him and hope he continues to achieve academic excellence even after high school.

Though the competition was tough this year the Madison Blue Streaks were able to conquer 19 of their 28 opponents for a combined record of 19-8-1. All three football teams had very successful seasons, with the varsity finishing 7-3, the JV finishing 6-2-1 and the freshmen finishing 6-3. All of the coaches were very excited with the effort of their players, who couldn't have asked for better seasons. Every one of the games was played with so much heart. The excitement of the crowd filled the air with every hit, kick, and pause in the game.

Thoughtout the Season!

Even though he moved here from Riverside, junior Ryan Rehmer became very familiar with the Madison offense, starting most JV games for the Blue Streaks.

Junior Kurt Gardner lines up at his position ready for the next play, which looks to be a pass.

Junior Sean Gerred is down and ready to counter anyone who tries to block the extra point.

Although the real referees never showed, that didn't stop the players from playing. Coach Bradley and Coach Gilligan take time out of their busy schedules to referee the last JV football game. Coach Johnson and Coach Martin also took over the coaching for this game.

Sophomore Brad Seibert looks for a hole following a nice block by fellow sophomore Joey Novak. Seibert gained eighteen yards on the play.

Capturing Memories

Winning on a Wednesday helps you win on a Friday, and winning on a Friday helps you win at the end. The Blue Streaks started off their season with a 3-0 record at home. They received their first loss against 2003-2004 State Playoff qualifier, Lake Catholic. The Streaks went on winning the next two consecutive games, making their record 5-1. They continued playing a tough schedule and finishing their season with a final record of 7-3. "It was a season that went well, but a season that you wish would have went a little better because we had a great group of seniors, but it was still a great season. With such a good group of seniors, I wish we could have made it a little farther or at least made it to the playoffs," said Coach Martin.

Changing Attitudes

Varsity and JV Cheerleading

We're Cheering for the Big Boys
Now!

Sometimes cheerleaders can be unappreciated. But imagine a game without cheerleaders. Where would the spark and the enthusiasm be? Who would put that extra attitude into the spirit of the game? Not only do our Madison High School cheerleaders practice hard to achieve all these things and get the great feedback from the crowd as they do, but they are also awesome trendsetters at our school. It was hard to go a day during homecoming or spirit week without hearing someone chanting that catchy cheer, "Woo-pah!" These hard working athletes never fail to make football games more spirited and the crowd's attitude more positive. This fall season has added to the great reputation our Madison High School cheerleaders already hold as great athletes and positive people.

After a great time at camp last year, the Madison cheerleaders were asked to cheer for the Cleveland Browns football team at their home games. Captain of the varsity cheerleaders, Ashley Estabrook could only explain cheering for the Browns as an "experience of a lifetime," and the team will remember it forever.

Cheerleaders Speaking Their Minds

Ashley Estabrook

"We're off to a great start, and I'm looking forward to a great season. The team has great potential and this year is going to be a lot of fun."

Courtney Chernikoff

"So far, we have had a great year. We have a lot of competitions ahead of us and a lot of work. I just hope our seniors can look back on their last year and be proud of our squad."

Katie Shreves

"Next year is going to be a lot of fun. Hopefully, I will be on varsity."

Be the Band

2004 Marching Band

Halftime Performances

Each marching season that comes is accompanied by change. The biggest change that came this year was that of the directors. Returning for her third year, Mrs. May was assisted by the new-yet-familiar face of Mr. Soriano. This year Mrs. May framed into the band's minds, "Set the attitude and be the band," and that is exactly what they did this year. The Marching BlueStreaks performed two different shows this year, one themed 50's and the other Beatles. During the first game and LCMEA band festival, the band dressed in their best "sock hop" outfits and played their hearts out. As is tradition, the band closed the season with the senior show. The seniors chose "Mr. Roboto" as their last song to perform on the football field. The band played, worked, and, of course, had fun together from the beginning of August to the end of October. Many good things are expected in the future from the band due to their new attitude.

This year there were six majorettes, five of which were returning. The line lost four of the six twirlers at the end of the season.

2. The attack of the Marching Blue Streaks: the band brings back the British Invasion with their Beatle's show. The band played the hits "Hard Days Night," "From Me to You," and "Can't Buy Me Love."

3. "Heyyy, heyyy baby! I wanna know if you'll be my girl." These five bachelors, Danny Summerhill, Ben Knight, Phil Ward, Mike Morris, and Matt Gehring serenade their girls as the band dances, sings, and plays the 1950's hit "Hey Baby."

An Elvis impersonator was sighted during the band's first performance of the season. It was senior Sammy Leonard dancing across the field as the band performed his 1950 hit "Hound Dog" as a part of their 50s theme show.

►► Starting Fresh

From Old Roots... New Beginnings

JV Girls and Boys Soccer

Caught in Action

Starting from scratch, the junior varsity soccer teams did not have much in the way of experience as they began their seasons with a pair of new coaches. Regardless, both the girls and boys came out kicking with teams built for success. The girls soccer program had a rough start after losing both their varsity and JV coaches, but that didn't stop them from having one of their best seasons ever. Debbie Wyant stepped up as JV coach and led the girls to a 9-5 winning season. The boys also came out tough and ready to play as well. With a team made up of mostly freshmen, the hardest part of their season was learning to play together.

With the struggles of rebuilding their teams, both the girls and boys came out of their seasons with more than just teammates, they gained a team full of friends. After this year's experiences, next year's seasons promise to be even better.

Speaking from Experience

Boys' Coach Jason Collins

"I don't even know what our final record was, but it doesn't matter to me. As a coach you can't always look at your record to see how good you did. It's more important that you look at the progress that was made, both as individual players and as a team."

Girls' Coach Debbie Wyant

"Overall the season went very well. The JV and varsity practiced together which really brought up the JV's level of play."

Becoming Varsity Boys Soccer

Losing a majority of the varsity team from last year never is a plus for the returning players, but despite this, this year's boys soccer team would not give up hope. They knew that the only way to have a successful winning season would be to overcome this loss and begin the season themselves. Each game they put themselves to the test giving it their all as Coach Adam Vigon and fans cheered them on. As their season came to an end after a disappointing loss during a playoff game against Mentor, they realized that they can be proud of what they have accomplished this fall. Despite the losses that they had, they had a fun season and stuck together to reach their goals.

Josh Gottron

"We had a good season. We lost some games that we could have won, but in the end we realized that we all had a great time," said senior captain Josh Gottron at the end of the season.

Josh Mickle

"This year we didn't have the depth, speed, or experience that we had last year. Because of this we had a few disappointing results; however, in the end, it was still a successful season," said junior captain Josh Mickle.

Joe Naso

Senior captain Joe Naso said, "My expectations were high being a senior captain, but I found that in order to have a rewarding experience, you don't have to win every game."

1. Just a step behind, junior captain Josh Mickle is quick to catch up to the Kenston opponent. Despite a game well played, all that Madison could come up with was a tie. 2. Freshman Erik Beatie doesn't have the ball at the tip of his fingers, but at the tip of his toes. He won't let this frisky opponent steal the ball or the win. 3. Senior captain Josh Gottron shields the ball from his opponent. He knows just how to escape without a problem. With help from the rest of his teammates, the Blue Streaks managed to put on a great show. 4. Throwing the ball in bounds, sophomore Alex Ungers looks for his teammates as they manuever around to find open area. During this intense game against the rivals of Conneaut, Madison came out with the win.

Adapting

Varsity Girls Soccer

It's always tough to begin your soccer season with a major change like getting a new coach, which is exactly what happened to the varsity girls team this year. They had to run their season off few summer practices and little preparation. What they found that would get them through this alteration was that they had to adapt to the changes if they wanted any chance to have a competitive season. Together the girls did the impossible. They put together a winning season that proved to teams like Chardon and Riverside that they were not to be taken lightly. The girls hung together through tough games and finished off the season with an awesomely played game against South that left the fans and coaches in awe. The girls kept up with the fierce South team taking the game into three overtimes, and a memory that they will never forget.

2004 Varsity Captains and Coach

Alicia Weiss

Senior captain Alicia Weiss was everything that the team needed this year to have a positive successful season. Alicia was the team's top striker, keeping the points on the board.

Jessica Boonstra

Senior Captain Jessica Boonstra kept the team together through tough games. The girls could always count on her to find the best in every situation.

Coach Chovan

This year the girls began their first season with Coach Chovan. She and her team learned to dedicate themselves to the sport and work together to accomplish their goals.

1. There is no chance for this South player as Juniors Morgan Galloway and Alicia Weiss double-team her. It takes a lot for an opposing team to beat Madison's determined players.
2. Speed is all that it takes for freshman Jill Dickman to bypass this unprepared opponent. The team counted on Jill as one of their speedy midfielders to work around the defense of the other team.
3. Adapting to the opponent's change in direction, sophomore Liz Misich heads toward the goal as she prepares to send the ball up to the forwards.
4. "Let's go JVT" cheer the girls as they support the JV team before their last PAC game against Chardon.

We can only hope for a season similar to the 2004 season next year, only more successful. The Madison girls JV and freshman volleyball teams are more than what meets the eye. From looking at their scores one might not be impressed, but by taking a closer look, one would see that being successful doesn't mean just winning. The girls play with heart and have an undeniable work ethic. First year coach, Teresa Brown, agrees that they all had positive attitudes and always gave her their best efforts. Coach Bartlett and Brown were both pleased with the huge improvements made by the girls. The main focus was on transitioning from offense to defense. The girls picked the concept up fairly quickly and were perfecting it by the end of the season. There's a saying that players are made in the off-season and Bartlett and Brown plan to take advantage of that. The coaches see great potential in all of the girls and are expecting only the best from them in the off-season and throughout next year.

Going to the Hoop

JV and Freshman Boys Basketball

Balancing It

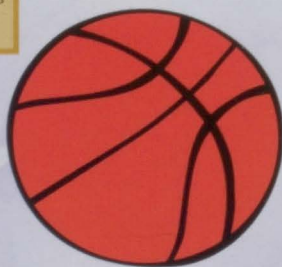

Balancing a basketball on one's finger is one of the many skills that basketball players develop. Freshman players Eric Monty and LaVonte Magic and JV players Jason Zupan and Jonathan Harp show us how strong they are by balancing these balls on their fingers.

Basketball is more than just tossing a ball back and forth, shooting hoops, and dribbling up and down the court. It takes skill and hard work. Put these two together and you get team work. Team work is important in sports and these players do a good job at showing it. As a little child, we learn what we are good at and these players realized that they were good at basketball. The coaches work extremely hard to prepare their players for a good game and season, with practice after practice. Remembering all the plays, not only how to do them, but their name as well, takes a good memory. The players in the game, scoring point after point, must feel excitement for what they are doing. Hearing the yell of the crowd pumps them up, giving them more "umph". Both teams, JV and freshman, did well this season, using the difficult skills they learned during practice. They were always working together to not only make their fans and coaches happy, but themselves as well.

A Glance Back

Varsity Boys Basketball

Madison basketball is not just about winning games or having a successful season. It's about playing together as a team. And that is exactly what the Blue Streaks did this year. They lost some games and won some games, but they always kept going strong. With Tim Lomasney as their senior captain, the boys took a major step in their season by beating their arch rival, Willoughby South, three times. The Streaks took them twice during their regular season and one last time during the Sectional Semi-Final with a final score of 50-40. The boys ended their season with an overall record of 7-15. Looking at the loss column, many assume that we had a bad year. However, I feel like we played solid basketball most of the season and we were competitive in the majority of our games," said senior captain Tim Lomasney.

The Girls
Rise to the Occasion

JV and Freshman Girls Basketball

The JV and freshman girls began their journey on the way up with seasons that reflected their drives to succeed. One of the goals both teams shared was to build on the skills they already had to help them work toward their goal of being on the varsity team in the future. Mr. Crawford's goal for the JV girls was to become a better defensive team. Their success at this was shown in their wins against Riverside and North, which were two of the team's biggest rivals. Mr. Morgan was impressed with the strength and aggressiveness that the freshman girls showed. Not only did the girls accomplish the goals set for and by them, but they became friends in the process.

Sophomore Miranda Boggs looks to pass the ball into one of her Blue Streak teammates. 4. "One, two, three, team!" yell the girls after their warm up. They know that the truth is, and always will be, that the team with the most heart and determination wins the game.

Throughout our years in high school, we all find that with new times come new opportunities, new friendships, new goals and new accomplishments. One thing that hasn't changed is the truth that the girl's varsity basketball team held throughout their years at Madison. No matter what the circumstance, winning or losing, they discovered that teamwork and dedication lead to positive results. This year, though the team struggled with youth, they somehow continued to strive for the goals that previous teams had left them. They felt that playing for the name on the front of their jersey and doing their best each and every game showed Madison's pride and power. They managed to beat top-ranked team, Jefferson, by striving to do their very best in every situation. This win was just one example of the many accomplishments the team had on and off of the court.

Spirit of the Game

The Fans Pump up the Crowd

Winter Cheerleading and Spirit Fans

The spirit during the basketball season of 2005 has been recognizable through the great fans and especially our Madison High School cheerleaders. They always represent our school positively through rain and sunshine. The squads cheered undoubtedly and the undying fans kept coming back to see more. Madison High School students and staff are proud of the cheerleaders' accomplishments and appreciative of their awesome attitudes and personalities. We are lucky to have such great people represent our school and boys sports. We will always remember the spirit that held the heart of the 2005 Boys Basketball Season.

The swim team was able to have a wonderful season, considering most of the teams they faced practice twice as much as they did. There were two swimmers that did qualify for Districts and even broke school records. Senior Chet DeLong qualified for 50 free, placing 19th overall in eastern Ohio with a time of 22.74 seconds and beating the school records at MHS in the 100 Free with a time of 49.76 seconds and the breast stroke with a time of 1.05.28. Senior Tim Brunner also beat a school record in the butterfly event with a time of 59.64 seconds. "Although the records may not show it, I thought we had a great season this year and we all bonded well as a team. There was a lot of improvement. Good luck to next year's swimmers," responded senior Meridith Misich. They did have a few meets canceled including PAC which they were bound to win. "Boys, stay competitive and strong, you all did wonderful this season. To the girls, love the sport of swimming or it tends to go away. You all had a great season make sure to carry it on with yourselves always. To the team, walk away with great memories you won't forget and give everything you have and leave it in the water," said Coach Tom Sill.

“If You Have The Artillery 2004-2005 Wrestling

Seniors

“This is the only sport where a coach can hit a kid left cheek, then the right cheek and then hit his butt before sending the kid out onto the mat. This is the only sport where a mother can sit in the stands of the gymnasium and scream at the top of her lungs; pound his head in.” (This was quoted out of the Plain Dealer). This year the varsity wrestling team welcomes back their long time ago coach, Mr. Hernan. The team has been given the chance to build up again. All year the boys took their turns winning and losing. The boys’ team conquered P.A.C once again, taking their coaches to Sectionals, Districts and State. Proving just how well they performed under pressure, with practice, conditioning and hard work, the team’s moto was, “If you have the artillery then use it.” This means that if you have the will and the power in you to do something, then you should use it.

Hanging

the Game

Although the season always starts off rainy, that didn't water down their spirits. The freshman and JV baseball teams may not have had winning seasons, but they were successful none the less. The new freshman coach, Mr. Filby, said "We had a talented young group of freshman players who showed promise for the future of the baseball program. Since the beginning the players worked hard to minimize errors defensively and improve fundamentals in the areas of hitting and base-running offensively. The players have shown a commitment to be team players and have a strong desire to win." With their heads held high the Blue Streaks finished with an 8-11 record. They will carry their new-found pride into next season when some of the players will graduate to playing JV and some will be challenged by playing varsity. Either way they will be movin' on up and putting to good use their new skills.

The Change Up

Varsity Baseball

Glance
at the Season

The secret of the "change up" is to reduce the velocity of the ball without appearing to change the pitch of motion. The team certainly used this pitch to leave their opponents speechless while staring at a strike out at a few games this year. They beat their PAC rival, the South Rebels, during three of the games played against them. One of the team's major assets this year was the number of seniors that they had playing on the team. Their leadership molded the underclassmen into great players that transformed their team into a dedicated and competitive group of people. Like throwing a "change up" at Madison sports, the team stepped up to the plate and had an awesome season. Now the pressure is on for next year's players to fill the shoes of this year's leaders that are moving on. Coach Dragas and Wolfe have been training their team to go for their goals and to make those crucial plays, and they hope for a PAC Championship in the years to come.

In any sport that has a varsity and JV team. They always go hand in hand. The varsity team sets the example for the less experienced team behind them, while the JV players train for next year's tryouts for varsity. As for Madison High School's JV Softball, this is true. While the JV team slowly gets better and more prepared for next year, many of the players look forward to hopefully being on the varsity team. They practice hard and continue to prepare for being even better on varsity in years to come. All in all the JV softball team had twelve dedicated players on it who achieved a total of eight wins. During the season, the girls practiced their skills in hopes that next year they will earn that varsity letter.

Unfortunately, the varsity softball season started off slow with a number of losses. The team had few experienced varsity players compared to other years. However during the season, the girls began to work as a team and things started to look up for Madison High School Softball. Practice makes perfect is what the players learned this year with only one senior and mostly sophomores on the team. Although it took some time, they continued to progress through practice and dedication. They came together as a team even though they weren't the best in their league. Their accomplishments this year will pay off in the end because there is always next season to grow more as a team and become even better players. Since they will have more experienced players who know the benefits of teamwork and practice, they are sure to begin next season where they left off this year.

1. Sophomore Amanda Shafer isn't sacrificing by playing nice in this home game as she gives it her best shot to get an opponent out.
2. Swing Batta Batta Batta! That is exactly what Senior Shannon Weber did this year to try her best to guide the team to victory.
3. Sophomore Nikki Stone swings that bat with all her might while she gets ready to race her way to first base.
4. Just before she shows that ball what's up, sophomore Jen Davis starts to play big for this home game.

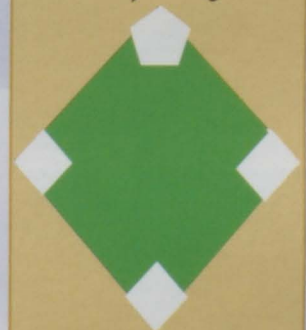

In Their Own Words...

Sophomore Nikki Stone

"The reason we had a slow start because we had inexperienced varsity players, and the more we played together the better we became. I think that next year will be better."

2004 - 2005

Varsity Softball

Coach Pinelli

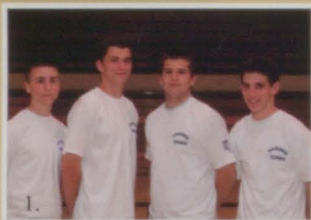

"This year's season went all right, but it could have been better. We had a lot of sophomores and juniors compared to other years. There's next year to improve."

Serving It Up

1. Seniors Matt Nicholson, Chet DeLong, Mikey Blauman, Joseph Toledo and (not pictured) Aaron Cottos not only served it up this season but also stepped it up and led their team to another PAC Championship. 2. Trying hard to win his match and do his personal best, sophomore Anthony Wells is careful as he slams his serve over the net. 3. The cold, windy day did not stop senior Matt Nicholson from heating it up on the court. He relaxes after his ace serve went over, ending in a Madison victory. 4. Putting on his game face, junior Bryan Pelich follows through with his game-opening serve.

While spring may have arrived a little late this year, it did not stop the boys tennis team from getting an early start on another winning season. Being PAC champions for the past five years, the varsity team picked up right where they left off from last year. Despite the cold wind, freezing temperatures, and at times endless rain, the varsity team successfully completed their season with a record of 11-8 and sharing the PAC with Willoughby South. The JV team also accomplished a winning season. With six new players, and the rest experienced sophomores, JV ended with a record of 8-4. Losing five seniors this year, it will result in many of the JV players having to step it up, and bring Madison home another PAC championship. According to three year varsity player Ryan Miller, "This JV group has a lot of potential; therefore, they should have no problem filling the shoes of the lost players." With hard work and dedication, the boys were able to achieve their goal once again. This team shows us all at MHS that some things never change.

2. Concentrating on having a game of no faults, freshman Tony Fiorello is careful as he hits the ball back over to his opponent from North. The JV team beat North in a 5-0 victory that night.

3. Bandanas and plaid shorts are a game day ritual for JV co-captains Matt Messenger and Chris Judd. Dressing alike, having fun, and playing first doubles together all season, they led the team in two ways this year: uniting everyone as a team and accomplishing an undefeated season as a pair.

4. Putting all his strength into his serve, junior Ryan Miller powers his serve over the net for the game winning point. His win over the Chardon opponent helped the team become "back-to-back-to-back" PAC champs!

Changing Level of Leadership

Freshman Ethan Dunkle

"A lot of the freshmen, including myself, started out this year picking up a racket for the first time, but we still had a great season. We also had an awesome coach helping us along the way."

Sophomore Alex Taylor

"Thanks to the seniors stepping it up this year. We were able to win another PAC Championship."

Junior Keith Anderson

"Back-to-back-to-back champs. That says it all! Must be me!"

Senior Mikey Blauman

Mikey has been a tennis player since his freshman year here at MHS. With the most experience, he was able to lead the team to win after win after win.

A Change of Pace

Boys and Girls Track

The boys and girls track team lost many valuable seniors last year. The boys team lost the majority of their sprinters and the girls lost the majority of their mid-distance and distance runners. With the loss of these seniors and the gain of some very talented incoming freshmen, the track team had a change of pace. This year the boys dominated in distance but ended up 1-3 in the PAC. The girls dominated more in sprints and mid-distance and ended with a record of 3-1 in the P.A.C.. In having the success that the teams did everybody stepped it up. Derek Daughters went to State in the mile. Sabrina Forestein broke a school record and PAC record by vaulting 10 feet. Along with Derek and Sabrina, numerous runners advanced to District Finals and some to Regionals.

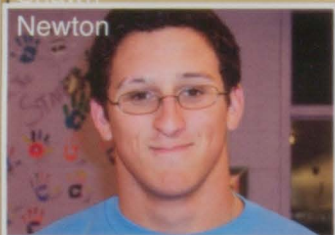

Senior Captains

Derek Daughters

"I had a lot of fun and had some great times. I can't wait to continue running in college."

Shawn Newton

"The season went well, and I had a lot of fun."

Alicia Weiss

"I'm really sad this was my last year, but I had a great time and wish the team the best of luck."

Aleesha Sprafka

"This season was a lot of fun! I made awesome memories that I won't forget! I would like to wish all upcoming track athletes good luck! Go Grandfather!"

Changes in Our Lives

Throughout the past year and even the past four years, the students and staff at Madison High School have experienced changes. Some students earned their driver's licenses and gained a new sense of freedom and responsibility. Other students prepared to make a change in their lives by studying for their college entrance exams. Others earned their high school diploma and a chance to enter the real world. Several members of our student body and staff experienced a change in culture while visiting Hawaii and Australia. After returning from the trip they had gained a new insight that changed their lives forever. Finally, our faculty and staff were able to influence students. Some even helped their students to make their dreams come true. Although the changes we experienced while part of the MHS school community varied, each change will leave a lasting impression on us and ensure that we can never go back to what we were before. We must embrace the changes in our lives for they ultimately determine what we are and will be in the future.

During a summer trip to Hawaii, these students from MHS experienced a whole new part of the country and a change in climate. Lucky man Josh Rindin is surrounded by the following beach beauties. Tabitha Blalock, Ashley Estabrook, Chessa Pikor, Michelle Mayer, Mackenzie Johnson, Carley Locke.

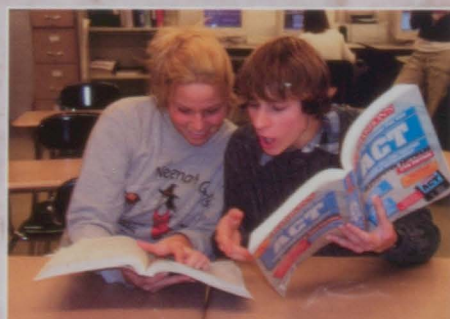

Dream come true for a true racing fan! Science teacher Mr. Mark Fickenscher gave senior Mark Nagy a farewell that he will never forget. On Nagy's last day of school, Fickenscher drove his race car to school and showed it off to Mark. Fickenscher also presented Mark with a race flag and a dvd of a race that he recently won.

Sophomore Ashley Gillenwater shows her temporary driver's license off with pride.

Senior Shannon Weber and her fellow classmates head out of the lecture hall before the start of commencements and the rest of their lives.

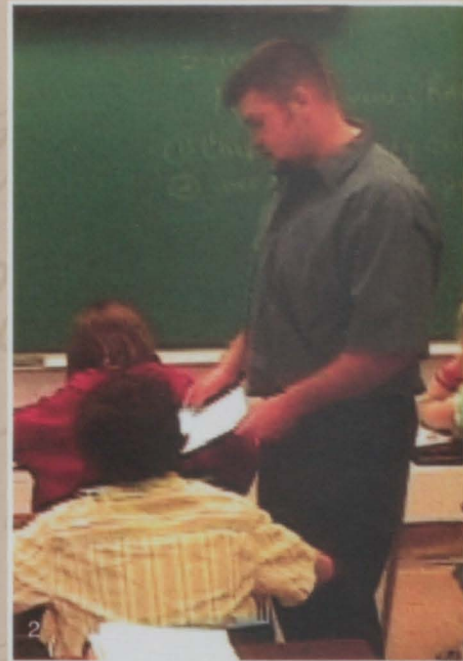

Juniors Brittany Kehn and Mark Porostosky study for the most important test of their lives so far, the ACT.

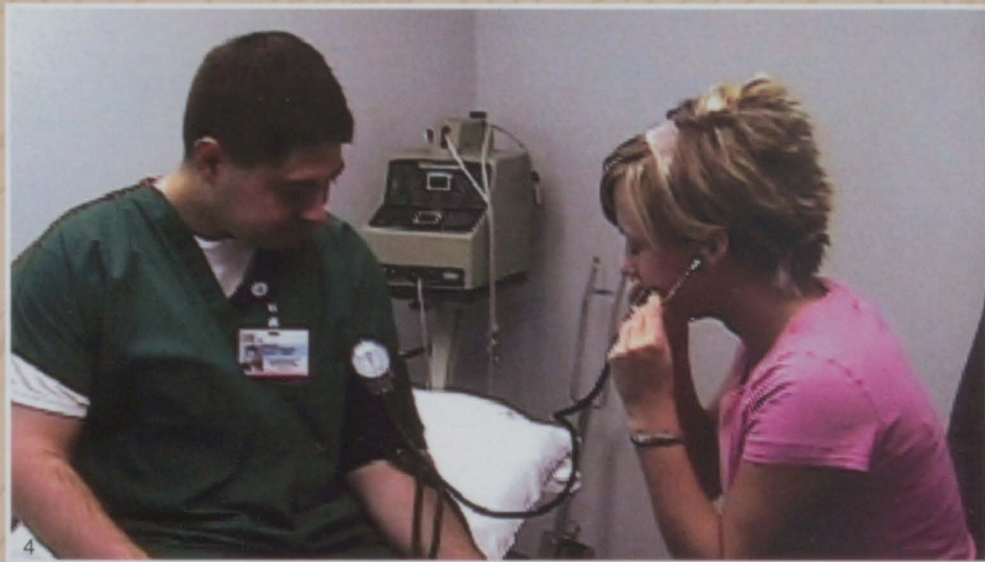

1. Educating future MHS students, Andrea Oliver spends time with her young students. She ended up loving her senior project.

2. Future MMS teacher? Jeffery Dodd helps the middle school students with their homework during his senior project.

3. While spending his senior project at a Christian camp, Joshua Gottron demonstrates the next activity.

4. Morgan Galloway practices what she has learned on one of the doctors she worked with during her senior project.

5. Working hard, Brittany Burkholder spends quality time at the Lake Farm Parks for her senior project.

▶▶ Even though they still had a month of high school to go, some seniors choose to enter the

World of Work

Senior Project 2005

"Thank you for taking the challenge and doing senior project," said senior Alicia Weiss while welcoming everyone to the 2005 Senior Project Dessert. She and Ali Woodworth served as MCs for the event during which videos were shown of the seniors participating in their projects and the seniors came up to be honored. A wide variety of careers were chosen and tried. Some seniors decided that they had found the job of their dreams, while others realized that they must come up with a new plan because they no longer are interested in a certain vocations. No matter what the seniors decided after participating in senior project, they benefitted from the experience and got to see what the world of work is like and what changes will take place in their lives when they leave school for this new world. A special thanks to Mr. Brady and all of the senior project advisors and sponsors who guided these seniors and made their projects possible.

1. Brittany Manypenny puts together a bouquet of flowers at the florist she spent her time at for senior project.
2. Here she comes to save the day! Ashley Wickert participates in her senior project while helping the firemen put out a fire.
3. Alex Harper learns how to do paper work while doing his senior project at Dickman Landscaping Inc.

Junior Tabby Zukoski teaches new staff member Sarah Uveges how to crop pictures for her pages. After the theme was chosen, the editors spent the next two weeks training all the new members to give them the skills they would need to make the book a success.

Senior editor Tabby Mullins tells the rest of the staff about the choice to switch to an all-color yearbook. She also explained the few changes they would need to make to do this.

After getting the pictures she needed, first year staff member Alyssa Judd takes care of her unused pictures.

At the start of each year, the MHS yearbook staff must begin another yearbook. This means they need a theme for the cover, format, and pages. In the past, the student editors, along with Mrs. Vacca, attended a yearbook camp during the summer where they picked the yearbook theme for the upcoming school year. However, this year the staff used a different approach. The first week of school the entire yearbook staff broke into groups and each group came up with a different theme. After each group presented its theme, each staff member voted on one of the five different possibilities. The theme for this year's book, with a landslide win, is the showing of changes throughout our school. The book chronicles the changes that take place as we progress from being freshmen to seniors, taking introductory classes to advanced classes and playing freshman sports to varsity sports. Another big change for this year's yearbook was becoming an all-color yearbook for the first time ever. We hope that you have as much fun reflecting on these changes as we had on capturing them.

Change Becomes Us

Volume 76 of the Madison High School Yearbook,

The Cauldron

Published during the summer of 2005

420 copies of the book were printed by Josten's Publishing Company in State College, P.A.

Total cost of each book was $65.00.

"All change is a miracle to contemplate; but it is a miracle, which is taking place every instant."

~Henry David Thoreau

How will life change

have more independence

have to grow up

have more work

I don't know

get rich

live on my own

have to be more mature

have more fun

party harder

meet new people

be in the military

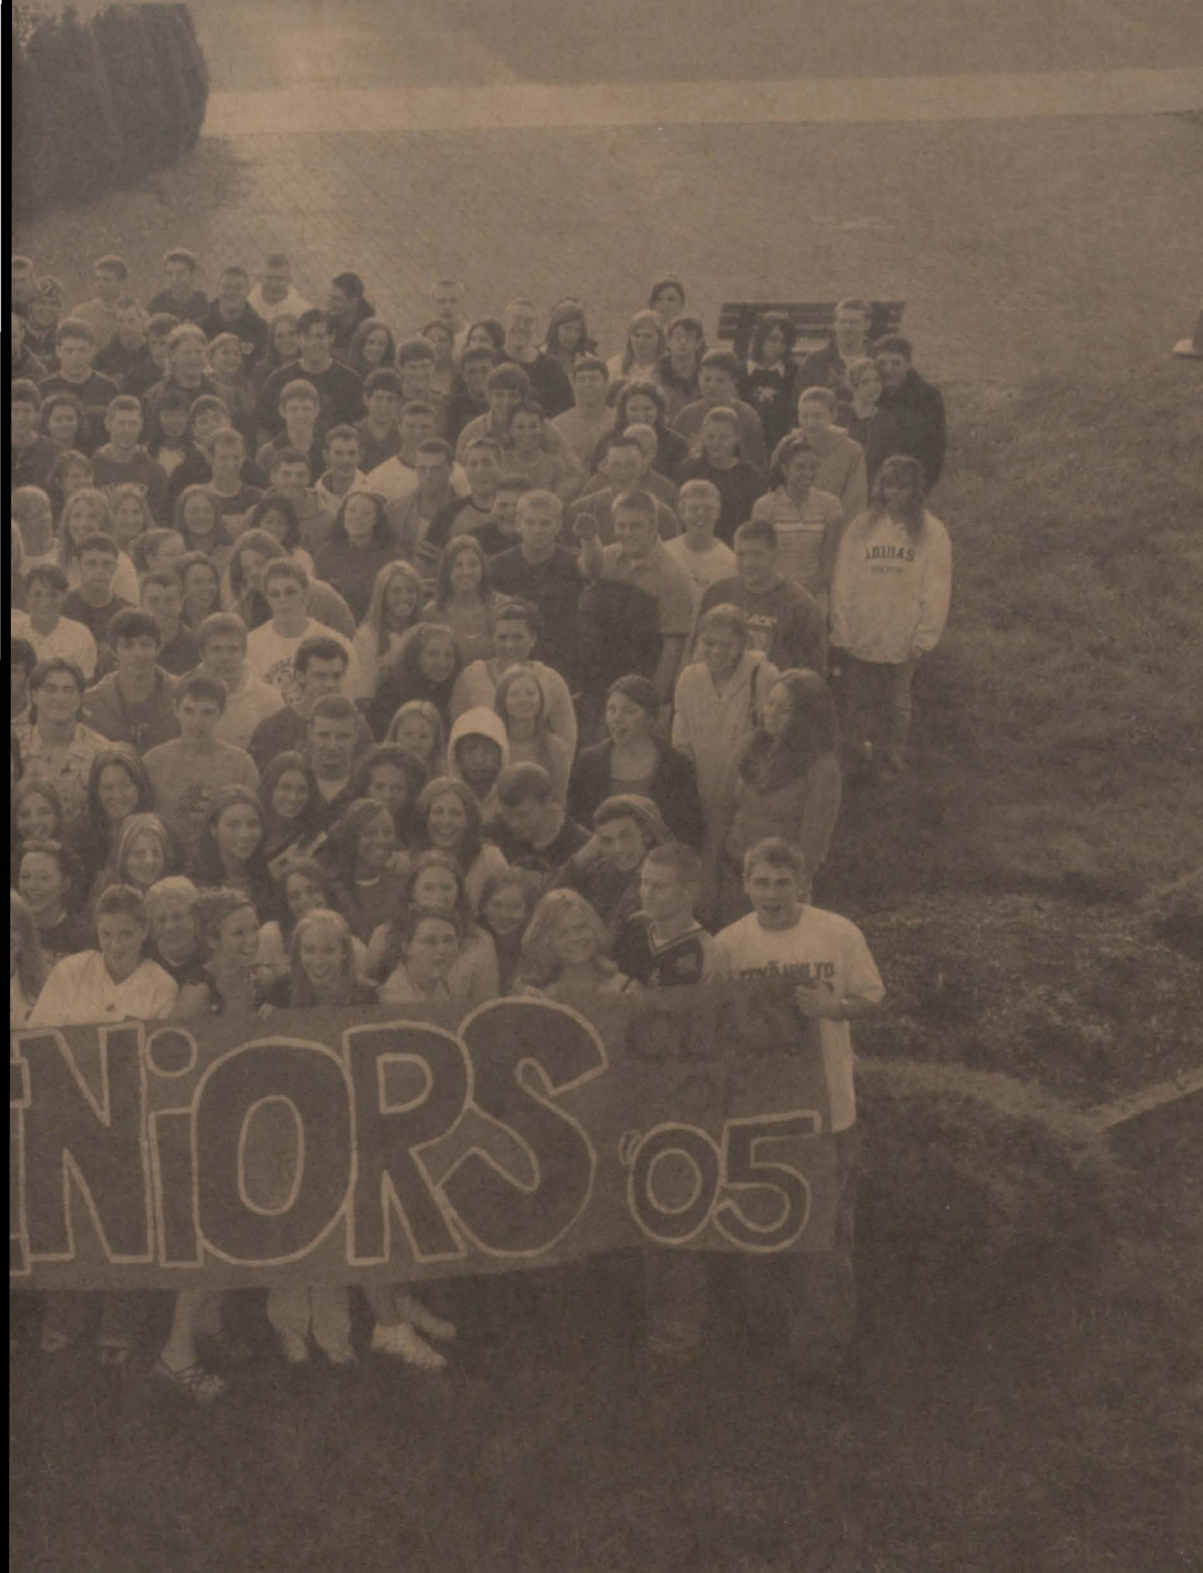

be more serious

have to wake up on my own miss all of my friends.

After graduation? I will...

go to college

enjoy more freedom

take harder classes

have more responsibility

get married

apply myself

be on my own

be more accepting not be in Madison

be proud of what I've done

have to study
