Rewinding the Years

Like every yearbook Madison High School has created, this year's opening pages capture the theme of the book. In the 2008-2009 yearbook, the yearbook staff decided to go with a movie theme, Just Press Play. However, these two pages are just about pressing rewind and reflecting on a few of the favorite memories of students in this school such as, the first day at a new school, an embarrassing moment, or that favorite dance. Just like rewinding in a movie, rewinding over these pages can replay moments in some of the lives of Madison High School students. As we continue to grow and mature, we have more things that we can rewind about. This is why the opening pages are dedicated to rewind. While reading this book, the yearbook staff wanted you or anyone else reading this book to be able to rewind and think of their own special memory that they had when they were in high school. After all, the yearbook staff created this book but remember that your high school years are your own movie, with your own title.

Senior Patrick Styblo recalls that his favorite high school memory was making junior Jam Panyathong spill coffee on his art project.

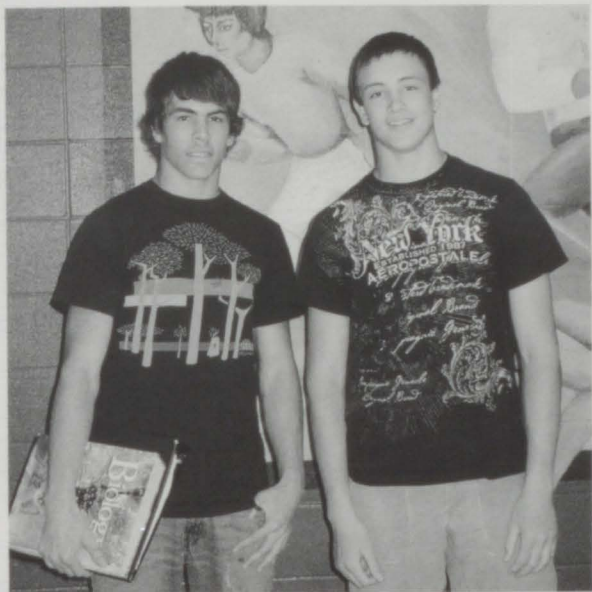

Sophomores Maria O'Grady pauses with Nicholas Buehner before going to class. Maria's favorite memory so far is her lunch period.

Senior Paul Gain takes a minute from his lunch to reflect on his favorite memory. "Football was my favorite. I had a lot of fun and making it past the first round was cool."

Before going to Advanced Biology, sophomores Brandyn Alley and Austin Beck talk about their school year. "So far, our favorite high school memory has to be the JV football season this year. It was a lot of fun."

On a break from her Spanish class, freshman Erin Burke says that her favorite memory is her Spanish 1 class this year.

Juniors Steven Richards and Kaitlyn Oberstar get ready for lunch. Kaitlyn's favorite high school memory was this year's Precalculus Honors class with Mrs. Collins.

Kevin DiRusso and Carly Clark feel that their favorite memory of their high school career is that they have many memories with their friends.

Record

Some of us may want to record our high school career while others of us may not want to. Either way, recording something would keep the memories still alive. For this portion of the yearbook you will find dances, class pictures, the award ceremonies, and even Graduation. By recording this section, we hope that you would remember everything that this 2008-2009 high school year at Madison High School has brought to you, even if it was something small or even something big. As you look throughout this section, we hope that you flashback and remember what you've recorded this year.

Full of excitement, the students in Western Civilization from first semester won a class trip to the Cavs game after getting rewarded for their video. On his class, Mr. Titman quotes, "I hope all of my classes are as fun as my first class teaching. They were the best."

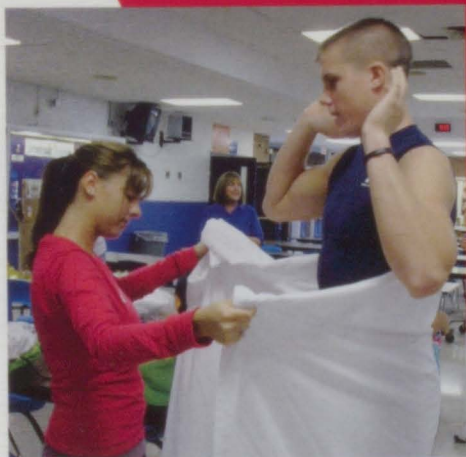

During seventh period, these sophomores are all smiles as they hurry up and finish eating their lunch before the bell rings.

Freshmen football players make sure that they are all fueled up before their game later that night.

Before going back to their class, some faculty members take time off to show their support for "The Cure."

Dressed up for Halloween, seniors Amber Rife and Amy LaTourette show off their costumes of a bunny and a kitty during Spirit Week.

2008-2009

Elvis was definitely in the building! The cafeteria ladies always get into the holiday spirit, especially for Halloween!

Making up the Administrative team, Mr. Potts, Mrs. Triana, and Mr. Fisher take a break from their morning duties in the cafeteria.

"Midnight at the Mediterranean" Class of Two Thousand Nine

A Hundred Years to Live

On June 6, 2009, it was time for everyone to join-in on the celebration for the seniors graduating from our school, the Class of 2009. While arriving to the Lecture Hall at 9:00 am, the graduating seniors got together for one last time to prepare themselves and to proceed into the gymnasium to graduate. As "Pomp and Circumstance" started to play, the celebration officially began. Co-Valedictorians, Elisha Swindell and Kenneth Fahle, started the ceremony saying their speeches. Both expressed the need to strive in high school, as well as stay close with friends. The five Salutatorians each came together and unified a speech that was titled, "How to Succeed in High School Without Really Trying". Jordan Dickman talked about being on a team; Elizabeth Elmore talked about friends; Taylor Southall talked about success; Gina Puleo talked about humor; while Michaela Klco closed the speeches by talking about reflecting over the past and looking to the future. This high school commencement lasted just over two hours and ended with a lot of laughter and celebration, along with some tears.

Co-Valedictorian Kenneth Fahle talks about the social aspect of high school in his speech to the 2009 graduating class.

New members of the Madison Alumni Association, Nicholas Miller, Kevin Joyner, Bryan Hill and Alexander Payne get together in the cafeteria after the ceremony to celebrate that they are graduates.

Preparing to walk across the stage, seniors Frank Wrobleski, Steven Yoe, Taylor Blystone and Terrence Harmon all gather for one last snap shot.

While waiting for their medallion from Mr. Fisher, Salutatorians Elizabeth Elmore, Taylor Southall, Gina Puleo, and Michaela Klco all watch as Jordan Dickman is the first to be recognized by the Principal.

Walking across the stage to receive her diploma from Mr. Reigert, Katie Croyle continues on with the final journey as a high school student.

Senior student council members Elisha Swindell and Michaela Klco present the senior class gift, a new electronic sign for our school.

Singing "Whenever You Remember" by Carry Underwood, senior Tiffany Andrews entertains the graduating class, along with the audience.

Junior Survey Results

Every junior has their own opinion on what they enjoy. When tallying up the survey results, they may or may not be what you expected. The ever popular movie Step Brothers took the favorite 2008-2009 movie spot. Vin Diesel and Jessica Alba swept the board with favorite actor and actress. As far as comedians go, Mr. Dragas is the top teacher most likely to star in a comedy. While sitting in the most popular spot, the middle of the theater, the Class of 2010 could be found munching on Sour Patch Kids which was the favorite movie candy. New movies come out almost once a week but the junior class chooses to mostly go once a month. Overall, the all-time favorite movie was The Notebook.

Eric Gavorski and Jenna Mackey wait to be given further instructions after finishing their other work.

Taking a breather and letting in another teammate, Tyler Richmond steps off the court during a game of speed ball in Team Sports.

Survey Says...

According to the Class of 2012, the survey results show that their all-time favorite actor is Johnny Depp, and their favorite actress is Jessica Alba. Freshmen voted that the star of a comedy at Madison High would definitely be English teacher, Mr. Herald who just barely beat Mrs. Gilligan by one vote. While sitting in the middle of the movie theater might be their favorite spot to sit, their favorite candy to munch on at the movies is the one and only Sour Patch kids. Twilight was not only the favorite movie of the year for the class of 2012, but it was also voted their all-time favorite movie.

Coming to America

Guilherme Vedovato

Guilherme said that Christmas was his favorite part of the year. He could have a "White Christmas" and he could even see how Americans celebrate it compared to his native country.

Stuart Gallacher

When asked what Stuart will miss most about Madison, Stuart said, "I will miss my new friends, my host family, and my girlfriend!" Stuart came all the way from Scotland to America.

Sirawith Jongsirichoke

"In my country, I can go everywhere by bus or taxi, but here, if you don't have a car it's harder to get around in town," quoted Sirawith about the difference of being in Madison.

Eduardo DeLevega Hernandez

Eduardo told us the thing that he misses most about his native country, Mexico, is the nightlife and all of the fun that he had in his country.

Franziska Boerner

Franziska stated that her favorite part of this year was meeting a lot of good friends, and being able to still participate in the sports she did at home like soccer and swimming. She also brought a lot of candy from Germany to help her remember the taste of her country. Unfortunately, her schedule only allowed her to enjoy one semester at Madison.

Lucy Caldecourt

While traveling to America, the thing that Lucy misses the most is her friends and family. Lucy, along with Stuart, came from Scotland.

Poochita Yensuang

The thing that Poochita misses most about her country is all of the Thai food that was available to her when she was still in Thailand.

Luma Labanca

"The thing that I miss most about my hometown is my friends and family," quotes Luma Labanca. Luma comes all the way here from Brazil.

Luis Hernando Cruz

Before smiling for the shoot, Luis said that the thing that he misses most about his country was his friends, families, and his country. Luis came here from Spain.

Magdalena Gippert

When asked what her favorite class was this year, Magdalena responded that her favorite class is Study Hall because they do not have anything like that in Germany.

Thomas Scheurich

Compared to the little town that Thomas is from in Germany, Thomas says that there is a lot more people in his town in Germany than there is in Madison.

Vladimir Tretyakov

Arriving from Russia, Vladimir came to Madison for the whole year. He enjoyed playing sports. He was involved in the winter sport of swimming, and in the fall sport of soccer. The thing that Vladimir missed most about coming to America was that he had to leave all of his family and friends in his native country of Russia.

Mr. Potts proudly accompanies and honors the students who received perfect attendance for their freshmen year.

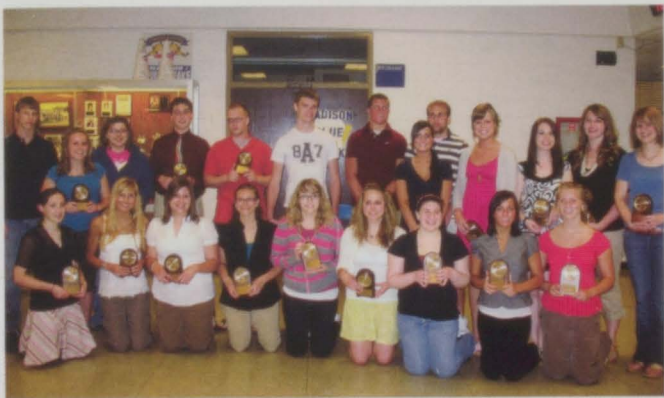

Juniors Holly Butcher, Mellissa Minello, Jaclyn Curran, Zach Girton and Mateusz Ostrowski receive acknowledgement from Mr. Edward Blind for writing essays to the Fleet Reserve Association Essay Contest.

Earning the highest IT award offered at Madison, Jacob Davis and Josh Lefelhocz take time to be acknowledged for this accomplishment.

And the Award Goes to....

As the academic year comes to a close, there were three nights dedicated in May to celebrate the accomplishments of the students at Madison High School. Students were presented with awards ranging from pieces of art to academic achievements. Some students were awarded academic excellence, scholarships or awards for extracurricular activities. Depending on the level of achievement, the awards varied from certificates, plaques, medallions and scholarship M's for letterman's jackets. Each banquet had desserts prepared by the cafeteria staff including an explosion of finger foods at the senior banquet. The awards were a success for both students and teachers and would not take place without the financial support from the Madison Booster's Club and Mr. Fisher's dedicated time spent working bingo each Monday evening at the high school.

Our Big Fat Greek Homecoming

Homecoming never has the same experiences at Madison High School, and this year was not any different. With the theme of "Midnight at the Mediterranean," the two thousand eight homecoming kicked off like all the others with the annual Homecoming Assembly. With the couples of Dominique Allen and Alexander Geddes, Clare LaTourette and Patrick Messenger, Dixie Morgan and Robert Braidich, Taylor Southall and Jordan Dickman and Nicole Theodore and Mitchell Krotz, the Homecoming Assembly consisted of our own "Mini-Olympics." Later that week, this year's football game was played on Thursday evening against Eastlake North. It turned into a domination with a final score of 41-14. During halftime, Dixie Morgan was crowned the Homecoming Queen while the candidates for King still had to wait until the dance. On October 17, 2008 at 7:00 pm, the doors opened and everyone piled into the gym for a night of dancing, laughter, and pictures. Finally, when it was time to announce who Dixie was to dance with, Robert Braidich was announced Homecoming King for 2008. As the song, "Fall For You" started to play, everyone on The Court joined in and slow danced to the song by Secondhand Serenade. The night was wrapped up with even more dancing and fun, and at 11:00 pm the evening ended. It may not have been in the Mediterranean, but this year's Homecoming was definitely full of fun and imagination.

Showing that she's a "Thriller," senior Gina Puleo shows off her dance moves as she flaunts them during homecoming.

Senior Taylor Southall smiles after taking a rough ride in the hamster ball for the Homecoming Assembly "Olympic Games." When asked about her senior Homecoming experience, Taylor said, "The assembly was great. The homecoming committee did a good job putting everything together. The theme was cool and I especially liked being a 'greek goddess' for a day."

2009 Winter Formal Court

Row 1: Jacob Fedor, Zachery Schraufli, Balin Mozek

Row 2: Madilyn Maruna, Erin Andres (Queen), Dan Heidenreich (King), Lauren Hutchison and Jaimie Wachs

"Being King of Winter Formal my senior year was a fun experience and Winter Formal was a hoot and holler; like a Joody Chop!" says Dan Heidenreich.

Senior Ryan Markgraf rocks some aviator sunglasses and busts a move on the dance floor.

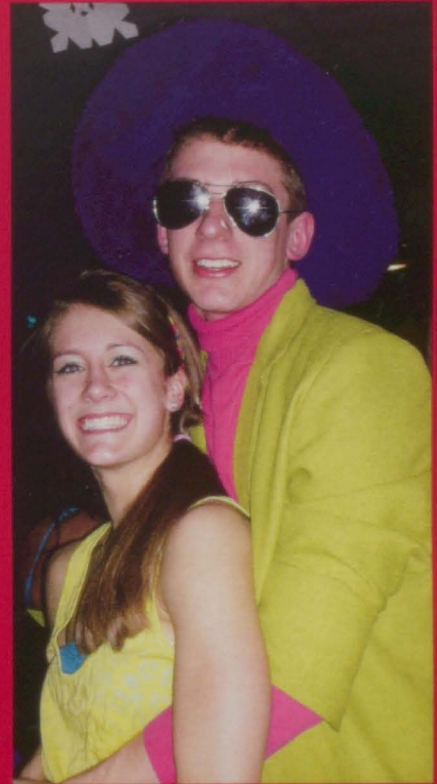

Seniors Blanca Masera, Kayla Davis, Michaela Kico, and Alexandra Ozello represent the 80's era as they take a break from dancing for some refreshments.

Through the Wardrobe and Into Narnia

The Key Club came together once again, to produce another Winter Formal dance for students to enjoy. This year was a major success with an all time high attendance. "The first year that we hosted the dance we had around 80 students arrive. This year however, there was an all time high of 374 kids, even more than last year! I think that it has grown in popularity and more upperclassmen are taking the advantage of having fun with it by dressing in quirky outfits," says Mrs. Vacca, the adviser of Key Club. The cafeteria was decorated to represent the book and newly released movie, Narnia. Starting at 7:00 p.m., the entrance began to flood with the many people who chose to dress in outrageous and unique outfits. A popular theme was 80's retro, while others chose to go to Good Will and pick out any crazy item on the rack. "This was my first time going to Winter Formal and I had a blast! My favorite part was getting ready. My friends and I rode out to Salvation Army and we bought insane outfits. It was pretty amazing," says sophomore Garry Zehe. As seniors began to show up at the dance, they would cast in their vote for the 2009 King and Queen. DJ Jeremy James busted out some new and older songs for the crowd to dance to. Incorporating something new, DJ Jeremy James formed a "cat walk" to get the sea of people moving to the groove and strutting some Blue Streak sass. Later in the night, Dan Heidenreich and Erin Andres were crowned King and Queen of the 2009 Winter Formal dance. Next year, the Key Club has high hopes for another great success in order to raise money for their club.

In normal formal attire, freshmen Rebecca Valvoda, Lillian Shepherd and Cassidy Dekotch take a break from the wild dance floor and attempt to take a breather before going back out on the floor.

2009 Prom Court

Row 1: Curtis Weiss

Row 2: Stephen McGuire, Daniel Heidenreich, Jordan Sandidge

Row 3: Bianca Masera, Jade Querry, Amy LaTourette, Ryan Markgraf, Alexandra Ozello, Breanna Wilson

Couple and seniors Tyler Coolbaugh and Jennifer Bush are ready to dance after their dinner at LaMalfa Party Center.

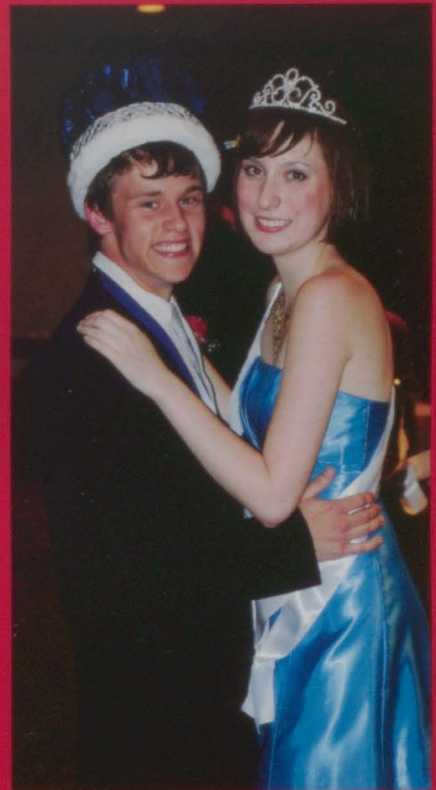

With a mix of juniors and seniors, these students get together and get ready to start dancing.

Dancing Until "Forever Tonight"

There's nothing like going out of high school with a dance. This year's Prom had the theme of "Forever Tonight". After all of the hard work and dedication that the junior class contributed to Prom, on May 7, 2009, with a total of 335 tickets sold, at six the doors opened to LaMalfa Party Center. By 6:30, tables were getting dismissed to a huge buffet to grab their food to eat. There were many varieties of food this year that included roast beef, pasta, popsicles, ham, and of course, the infinite desserts. By 7:30, everyone was up and ready to dance. The dance opened up with Flo Rida's hit song "Right Round" and by the end of the song, everyone was out on the dance floor. While the night progressed, it was all too soon time for the most anticipated crowning of the king and queen.

The 2009 Prom court included Curtis Weiss, Stephen McGuire, Daniel Heidenreich, Jordan Sandidge Bianca Maseri, Jade Querry, Amy LaTourette, Ryan Markgraf, Alexandra Ozello and Breanna Wilson. When the time came, Amy LaTourette and Ryan Markgraf were crowned as king and queen. As Eve 6's song "Here's to the Night" started playing, the new royalty took the dance floor and with a few other party songs playing, the night came to a close. On the whole Prom process, junior class adviser Mrs. Kaminski reflects, "Prom is like a group process. Everyone gets together as one and we brainstorm things together. We have to decide certain colors and appearances. If we don't have all of that then our theme and our Prom would be nonexistent."

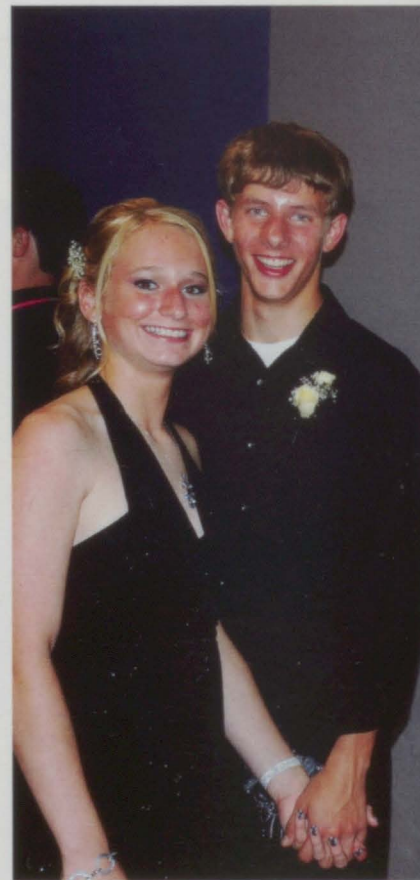

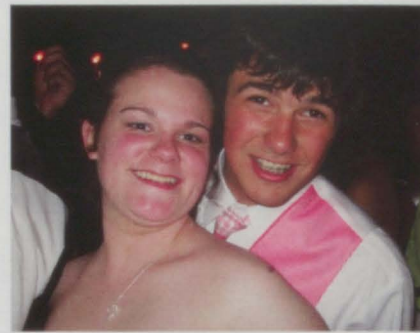

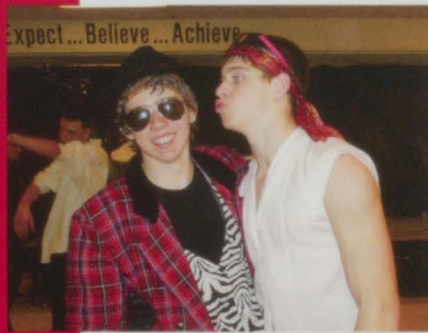

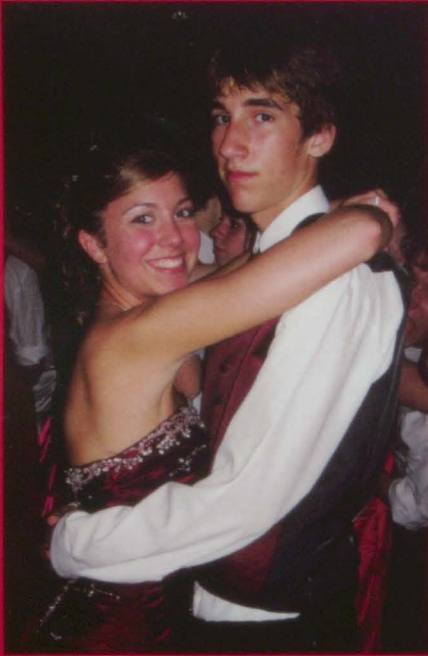

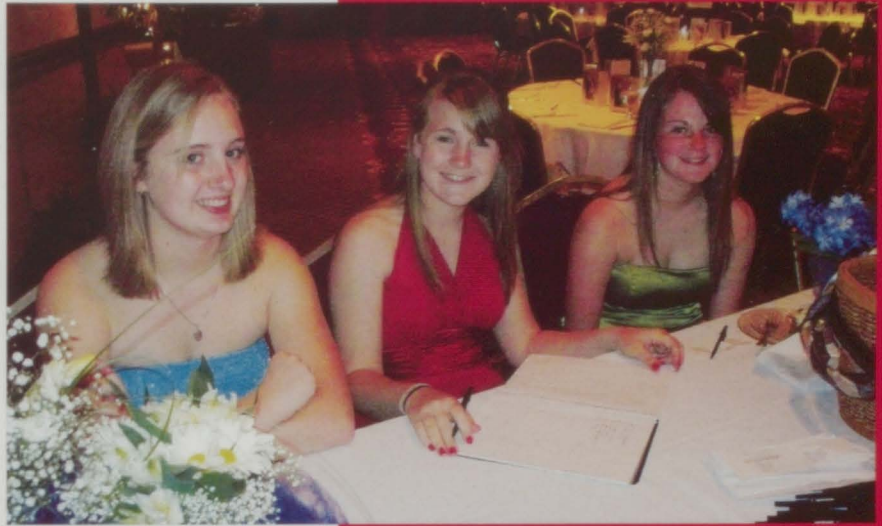

Dancing as King and Queen, seniors Ryan Markgraf and Amy LaTourette enjoy their dance to "Here's to the Night."

Juniors Julie Cottos, Alexandria Gregory, Ashley Miller, and Matthew Crosley decide to capture a moment from their 2009 Prom. About Prom and being on Prom Committee, Ashley states, "Throughout all the stress of planning Prom, the dance and end result was a blast. I was so pleased with how everything turned out."

Pause

Here at the "Pause" section of the yearbook are the many types of clubs that you can get involved in at Madison High School. We have clubs that range from National Honor Society to Technology Club, or from Students Against Destructive Driving to our very own Yearbook Club. This section is not only about the clubs that you can participate in, but also about how you can express your own individuality throughout your years at the high school. This year, we finally added Ski Club into the yearbook. With a wide selection of clubs at Madison High School, there surely is one that can suit your personality and style.

Sophomores Jamie Tucker and Courtney Smith sit at the carnation table during red ribbon week to sell carnations to raise money for the SADD and TI club.

Don't Drink and Drive. Be Safe.

The SADD and TI club is a group of students who stand for the safety of people. The club helps students make positive decisions about their everyday life. The SADD and TI Club tries to deliver messages to their peers about focusing on their education and not on their problems at home or outside of school. This club shows their positive decisions through the activities that they do in the community. Drinking and driving awareness, the Mock Crash which only takes place every other year, and Mixers and Shakers are some of the activities that they do in the community. The SADD and TI club is a great group for Madison High School.

During Homecoming week, members of SADD and TI Allison Novotny and Jessica Holcomb along with adviser Officer Ackerman show the affects of drinking and driving with a wrecked car and signs.

Sophomore Kelsey Koskinen and Junior Chris Wilson take time out of their evening to go to Mentor to be part of the Mixers and Shakers Mocktail event.

Sophomores Lanie Steigener and Josh Wiles pack up the many bags that were donated by the student body during the fall food drive.

Enjoying this beautiful fall day, members of Key Club play dress-up at the Farm parks while helping all the young children who attended the event.

After donating his blood, junior Cody McKinney gets a snack to replenish his energy with the help of sophomore Haley Jurick.

Volunteering Is Great

Key Club has had another successful year. This year, the members of Key Club had a change in advisers. Mrs. Vacca has taken on the responsibility of being the Key Club adviser. When asked about how she transitioned Mrs. Vacca replied, "With the help of the officers, they have made my first year less stressful." Key Club has been responsible for running the famous blood drives. The members set goals for how many pints of blood would be donated for each drive and successfully completed them. The students enjoyed volunteering at the Lake Farm Parks for the Haunted Hayride allowing them to dress up and perform skits. Overall, Key Club has set records for how helpful they have been to the school and community.

The officers of Key Club are: Kenneth Fahle, Public Relations; Allison Novotny, President; Kaitlyn Smith, Secretary; Elisha Swindell, Vice President; Heather Rice, Treasurer.

Juniors Allison Novotny and Myrissa Yokie along with sophomore Amanda Fedele man the cantina area for the blood donors.

Members of Ski Club sit and wait on the hill side to watch friends as well as other snow boarders and skiers hit the bus, rails, jumps and other obstacles in the 360 terrain park.

Chad Wienhold, a member of ski club for three years, perfects jumping in the many terrain parks at Peak 'n' Peek.

Sophomore Kaitlyn Smith rests on the slope while she watches others in her group during their first lesson provided at Peak 'n' Peek.

Senior Daniel O'Connell braces himself for a rough landing as he attempts to board slide the bus. After many tries, Dan never gave up and showed the true meaning of practice makes perfect.

Tearing Up the Terrain

Whether you ski or snowboard, Ski Club is a great way to get the most out of the winter season. Every Saturday a bus provides transportation to the snowy slopes of Peak 'n' Peek in Findley Lake, New York. Departing from the school at 2 o'clock p.m., arriving at Peak 'n' Peek between 4:00 and 4:30 p.m. All members have the opportunity to snowboard on their own without the advisory. Ski club members get to spend around 5 hours on the slopes, where new freshmen Daniel Zdraveff would say, "Go big or go home." Once it hits 9 o'clock, some members head toward the main lodge to start loading the bus while others make their way to the little convenient store to get snacks for the long bus ride home. Planning to be a member again next year, junior Chad Wienhold said, "I'm looking forward to next season and hopefully they will bring back the PB & J pizza." The bus arrives back at the high school around 11 o'clock. As everyone heads home, they will all be back the following Saturday to do it all over again.

Members of Ski Club: Beth Whipple, Jared Zuege, Jamie Wachs, Bradley Domanovics, Alyson Deak, Daniel O'Connell, Tad Davis, Drew Vince, Ashley Miller, Curtis Weiss, Chad Wienhold, Danny Ungers, Collin Engler, Robert Karlson

Sophomores Nathan Smith and Domenic Martorana start getting ready for the slopes by putting on their snow pants and boots as the two hour bus ride to New York comes to an end.

After being outside in the cold for hours, sophomore Collin Engler and junior Jared Zuege head inside one of the many lodges at Peak 'n' Peek to warm up next to a warm fire.

Seniors Drew Vince and Curtis Weiss sit high above the slopes as they pass overhead on the ski lift waiting to meet up with the rest of the group that they snowboard with.

The old and the new members of National Honor Society enjoy their breakfast before the induction ceremony later that day.

At their traditional breakfast, senior Ryan Markgraf jokes around with junior Taylor Raines as she gets video taped as being a new inductee.

Before getting on the bus to go to the Alzheimer's Walk in Cleveland, the NHS members get together for a picture showing their support for Alzheimer's. On the walk, a participant Megan Boggs reflects, "The Alzheimer's Walk was a lot of fun. We walked through Cleveland and by the Brown's Stadium. It was just a good time to come together for a good cause."

Senior Nicole Theodore makes a speech about character to encourage the audience to be different and make their own character traits.

Serving the Community

Between the Induction Ceremony, Buy-A-Brain, and anything voluntary this organization can do, the members of NHS always seem to keep busy. This year's ceremony was held on March 17, 2009. As a tradition, the President, Vice-President, Secretary and Treasurer all spoke to welcome the new members. Each speech explained what each prong of National Honor Society means to them. National Honor Society members better the school and community as further explained by co-adviser Mrs. Replogle, "We try to have these students become role models for the entire student body, not only through their academic accomplishments, but also in their role as servicing the Madison community- both in and out of school."

The new inductees include: Juliana Brotzman, Jessica Browning, Matthew Bruening, Holly Butcher, Lucy Caldecourt, Kyle Coxe, Jaclyn Curran, Benjamin Curtis, Margaret Demko, Ashley DiLillo, Bradley Domanovics, Stuart Gallacher, Zach Girton, Brittany Hinz, Becca Hord, Emily Kiess, Ty Law, J.W. Leitch, Jenna Mackey, Erin Maresco, Stephen McGuire, Ashley Miller, Erin Miller, Melissa Minello, Allison Misich, Maria Nar, Allison Novotny, Mat Ostrowski, Ashley Owen, Joe Pietrzyk, Sheryl Powell, Perry Quayle, Taylor Raines, Abigail Reigle, Hannah Reynolds, Heather Rice, Marianna Smith, Ryan Spangenberg, Kyle-Michael Teahan, Kaitlyn Thompson, Linda Tomajko, Guilherme Vedovato, Tawna Whited, and Myrissa Yokie.

Juniors Maria Nar and Brittany Hinz wait to get video taped. Brittany says, "This is a great accomplishment, I'm really glad I got into NHS."

Caitlin Delzoppo, Tristin Burr, Juliana Brotzman and Perry Quayle wait for their turn to go up and get their breakfast. The breakfast before school was catered by our own cafeteria ladies.

The junior and senior girls battle each other for the touchdown to take control of the game. Junior quarterback, Maggie Demko, tries to run the ball as she is stopped by senior Dixie Morgan Dressing to impress the Oktoberfest competition, sophomores Haley Bodager and Caleb Hord dress up as Little Bo Peep and her sheep.

Bobbing for apples in the courtyard is just one of Student Council's festive Oktoberfest activities. Senior Thomas Grenier throws an apple out of the bin to beat his competitor.

Without taking a breath, sophomore Zachary Wilkie participates in the annual pie eating contest during the Oktoberfest activities held in the cafeteria.

Entertainment = Success

From organizing the Annual Powder Puff Football game, to setting up all the fun lunch activities during Oktoberfest, Student Council is a very active club at Madison High School. This year, Student Council held a Chinese Raffle and gave away very nice, donated prizes such as prom tickets, dental care, and candles. Student Council also held Oktoberfest which is a bunch of Halloween activities involving students during their lunch periods. Competitive activities that took place included apple bobbing, pie eating, donut eating, pumpkin carving and costume day. Student Council also organized fun theme days for homecoming week as well, such as a blue and white day, toga day, hat day, pajama day, and the hallway decorating contest among all grades. This year, the juniors won the hallway decorating contest. Student Council hosts the annual Powder Puff Football game in which money is raised to be put towards Senior Scholarships. This scholarship is for seniors who have participated in Student Council and are chosen to receive a $500 dollar scholarship. Finally, the juniors took victory in the Power Puff Football game.

Showing that they're number one, the junior class defeated the senior class during the Annual Powder Puff football game with a score of 7-0.

Trying to get the school excited about Homecoming is another Student Council priority. Volunteering her time, Alexandria Gregory paints a poster to hang in the Junior hallway for spirit week.

Student Council Members: Michaela Klico, Rachel Lomurno, Ashely Palmer, Taylor Southall, Hannah Reynolds, Mat Ostrowski, Rachelle Repinski, Brittany Hinz, Ashley Miller, Taylor Raines, Jade Querry, Cooper Legeza, Sheryl Powell, Mishanda Hissim, Nichol Gabor, Julia Szekeley, Tyler Kensinger, Cassidy Dekotch

Cutting flowers out of tissue paper, freshman Lauren Davis works on perfecting her Spanish flowers for Mother's Day.

At the 19 Minutes book club meeting, senior Elisha Swindell discusses the book by Jodi Picoult with fellow book club members. Elisha says, "Book club is a perfect opportunity to discover amazing books and to talk with people who also love to read."

Book Club Members

 Row 2: Lillian Shepherd, Sarah Rojas, Elizabeth Eimore, Brandi Gossard, Jessica Cogar, Jessica Barone, Myrissa Yokie, Brianna Anderson, Caitlin Rose, Clare LaTourrette, Julia Kuhlman, Amelia Mihalik, Ms. Jackson
 Row 3: Nichol Gabor, Rebekah Laws, Jessica Durey, Gabby Fedele, James Parsh

International Club Members

Row 1: Lauren Davis, Tessa Hemmi, Halle Gerboc, Kelly McDonnell, Ms. Taylor
 Row 2: Cynthia Munshower, Maria Nar

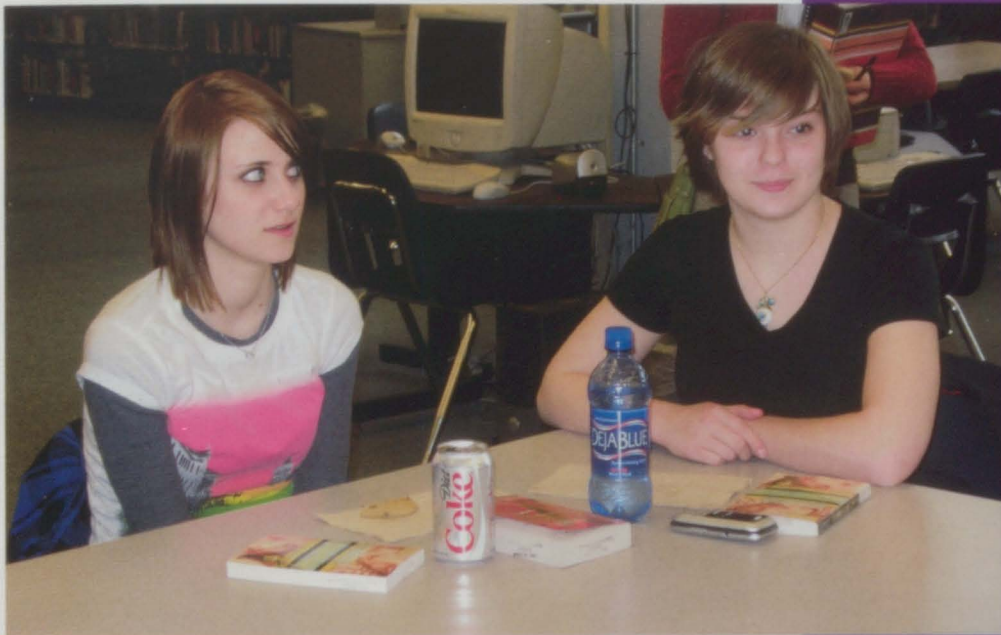

Around the World in 180 Days

Book Club members try to get together at least once a quarter to discuss the book that the members picked to read. The books that are picked to read are books that members recommend or ones that have had good reviews. In Book Club, Ms. Jackson says, "We discuss the book selection but we also take the opportunity to share suggestions or other books to read or good movies to see." Book club is a group of students that love to read books and discussing them is just a plus. International Club usually meets the third week of the month in adviser Señora Battes' room. The club is offered at Madison to help make students aware of other cultures. Students learn about other cultures' customs, crafts and how different (or the same) foreigners' lives are from Americans'. Some highlights from this year included foreign exchange students doing show and tell, foreign exchange student speakers and crafts from other countries.

Juniors Gabrielle Fedele and Jessica Durey listen to other students talk about their opinions of Rebecca by Daphne Du Maurier.

Junior Maria Nar and sophomore Kelly McDonnell proudly display the Mother's Day flowers they created during the Cinco De Mayo International Club Meeting.

Foreign exchange student and junior Poochita Yensuang holds up a pair of professional boxing shorts and shows off other items from her home country of Thailand. In Thailand, boxing is a very popular sport.

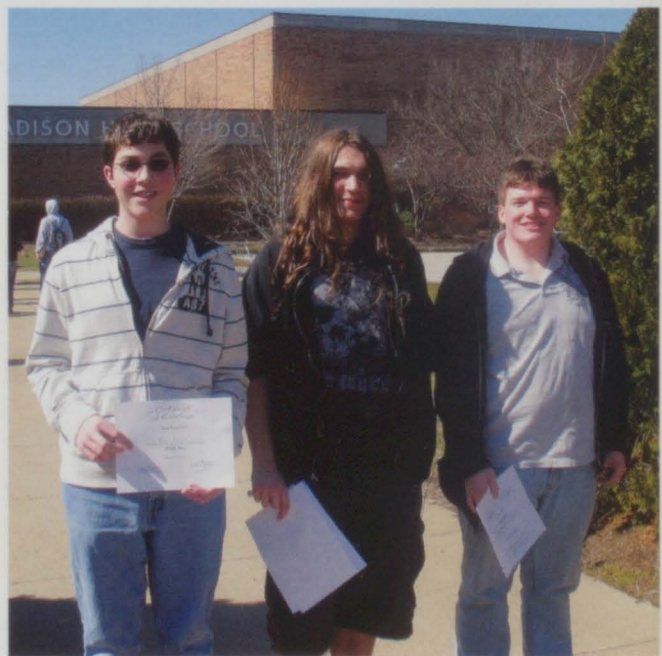

In hopes that all their answers are correct, Alexander Geddes, Lanie Steigener, Emily Summerhill, Kristen Lease, Garry Zehe, Mitchell Krotz, Matthew Bruening, and Kaitlyn Smith check their answers to the Ohio Math League test.

Freshman Casandra Hudson, tries to focus on her Ohio Math League test as Mrs. Collins breaks out the cookies for the January 27 meeting.

Sophomore John Quirk, seniors Garrick Robertson and Tyler Coolbaugh hold the rocket they built for Science Club after school.

On March 13, 2009, Kenneth Fahle, Andrew Iannini, and Garrick Robertson display their Certificates of Excellence for being part of the top 20 competitors during the Kent State University Math Competition.

Preparing for the Future

After hours of test taking, Math Club was prepared for the Kent State Math Competition, in which Andrew Iannini and Garrick Robertson were the top competitors. At KSU, the students enjoyed meeting people from different schools and eating pizza. According to

Mrs. Collins, this club provided challenges and opportunities for the students to overcome, making for a successful year of math. The Rocket Club, hosted by Mr. Fickenscher, takes place after school with a small group of students. The students of Madison High have advanced once again this year. On May 16, 2009, some of the students are going to Nationals with their rockets to see how they place and how the rockets fly. Rocket club is a great after school activity for students who love to build rockets and enjoy science.

Row 2: Jade Querry, Elizabeth Elmore, Brandi Gossard, Tara Duff, Tyler Coolbaugh, Joshua Ray, Zachary Girton, Dorothy Zvosecz, Marianna Smith

Row 3: Thomas Scheurich, Kenneth Fahle, Alexander Geddes, Andrew Iannini, John-Elliott Brown, Robert Pollard, Matthew Bruening

During a Tuesday Math Club meeting, sophomore Lanie Steigener works on her Ohio Math League test along with the rest of the students.

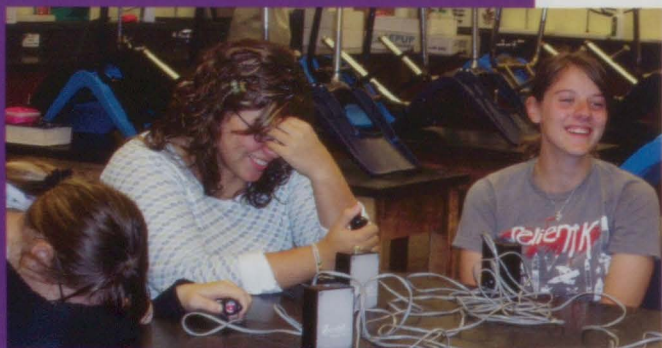

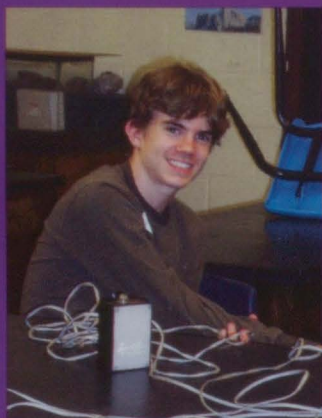

Rocket Team Adviser, Mr. Fickenscher, along with juniors Jaclyn Curran and Zach Girton, display the rocket that earned them 23rd place in the competition. A distance of only 5 feet separated them from the top 20.

Senior Kenneth Fahle laughs nervously as he tries to think of an answer to buzz in before the rest of his teammates do.

During his first year, freshman Heath Richardson listens to the advisers read questions on different trivia subjects.

Seniors Tara Duff, Brandi Gossard and Marilyn Weiss laugh as they try to think of possible answers for a silly question.

Representing Madison at the ABC Academic Challenge competition, seniors Elizabeth Elmore, Kenneth Fahle and Kristen Lease competed in the televised event and placed third.

Intelligence Allowed

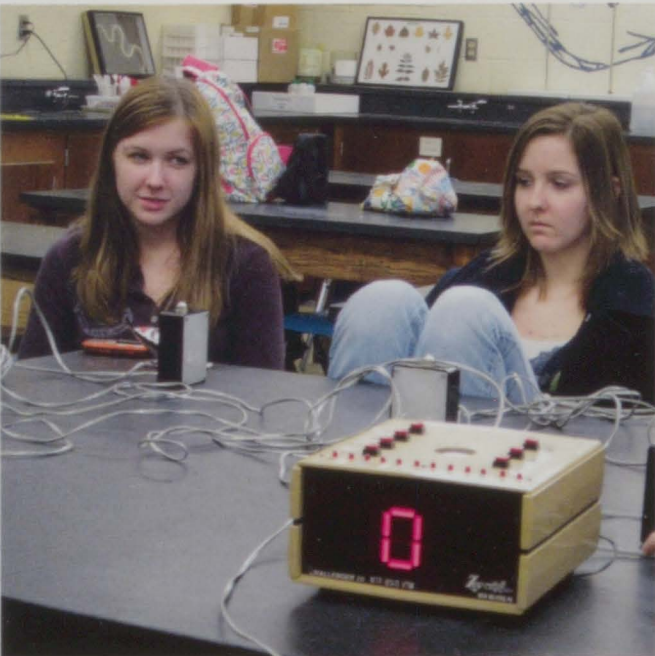

Academic Challenge is a club offered at Madison that exercises students' brains and lets them compete in friendly competitions. The club typically meets every Thursday to practice answering trivia questions and to prepare for tournaments against other Cleveland teams. This year, they competed in an Academic Challenge show in October at the ABC studios and placed third. Senior Marilyn Weiss said, "It was a great year. Seeing our team on TV was really cool. We are a really close group and we had a lot of fun. I'm really going to miss it next year!" The members range from freshmen to seniors giving the club many talented, versatile brains. In Academic Challenge, intelligence is not only allowed, it's required!

Adviser Mrs. Kemper quizzes member senior Sarah Land on pop culture questions to see how much she knows.

Seniors Kristen Lease and Sarah Land contemplate answers before they buzz in during one of the after school meetings.

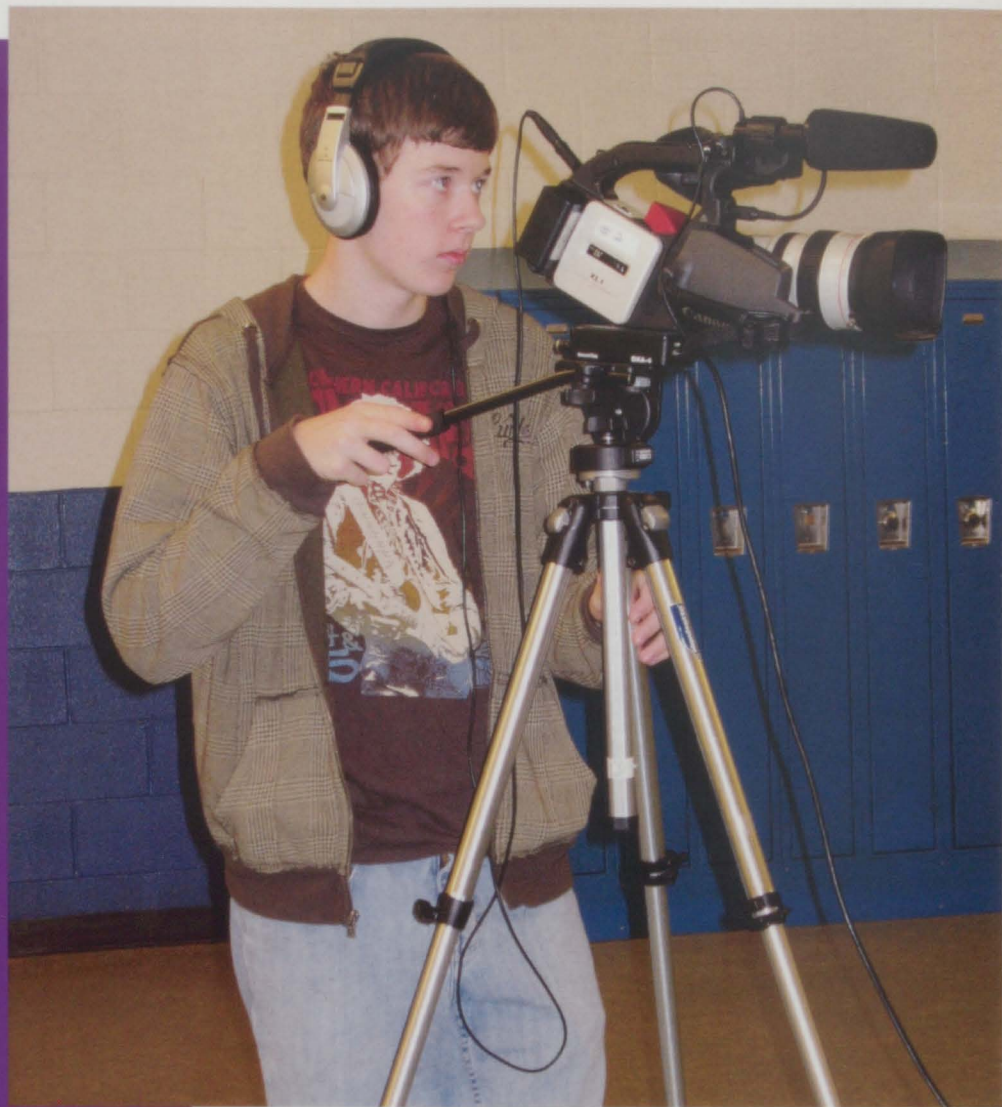

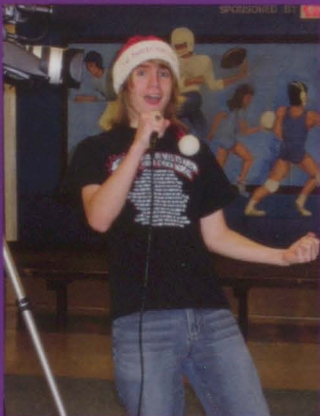

Concentrating very hard, seniors Elizabeth Elmore and Elisha Swindell try to put their brains together to get an answer.

Having a blast at the LAN party hosted by the Tech Club, sophomore Joshua Lefelhocz enjoys the night full of games and all kinds of technology fun and food.

The Tech Club puts together the Love Surveys to sell to students for $2. Here, freshman Mary Stephens purchases her Love Survey to see who she is most compatible with both in the school and celebrities.

Putting on the Show at Madison High

Madison High School's Tech Club is advised by informational technology teacher, Mrs. Cueni. Tech Club is a small group of dedicated students who meet on Tuesday mornings. Tech Club caters to a small group of students who truly enjoy and appreciate technology. This group is responsible for the paper recycling program at Madison High School. They hosted three LAN gaming parties, and they conduct and sell the Love Surveys at Valentine's day. This year's club built and raffled off a brand new computer worth $750.00. The winner was announced during half time of the Powder Puff Football game. Another group dealing with technology is the Audio Visual-Media Department, taught by Mrs. Grau. These classes are typically filled with anywhere from 20 to 40 students each semester. AV tapes many programs for the Madison District schools. AV creates public service announcements, documentaries, and music videos. Further, they conduct interviews and write scripts. AV hosts the Blue Streak Revue. They put together a nice Senior Showcase DVD to sell to the graduating class. Didn't get to see your program on the Madison Productions channel? No worries, the AV department sells all the programs they tape throughout the year on DVD.

Junior Victoria Ness records the winter Choir Concert to show it to the community on the AV Department's Madison Productions channel.

Working together for their AV project, Kelli Avery and Julie Sauka record a video time capsule on their classmate, Danielle Scheidecker.

Capturing The Memories of Madison High

Yearbook and Newspaper are just a few of the exciting classes at Madison High School for students to be involved with. This year's Yearbook staff consists of 10 members while the Newspaper staff has 9 members. Newspaper is advised by English teacher, Mr. Madore and Yearbook is advised by math teacher, Mrs. Meshginpoosh. The Yearbook staff is in charge of creating the yearly publication, selling copies to students, staff and the community and raising funds through advertising sales. The Newspaper staff writes and distributes a monthly paper to the entire student body. Without either of these classes, one would not be able to replay the memories that occurred during the school year.

Senior Editors: Taylor Mulan and Shannon Timperio show off the first two yearbooks they helped create.

Thrilling the Crowd

Madison High School features four different choirs that are all arranged by teacher and director Ms. Groah. The Women's Choir is made up of only females from all grade levels. The Concert Choir consists of both men and women of all grades. The smallest choir at Madison is the Chamber Ensemble. Lastly, Eclectica is made up of many auditioned students who not only sing but also dance to many different styles of music to "wow" the crowd. Foreign exchange student Lucy Caldecourt stated, "I loved choir! I love to sing and I met a lot of wonderful people in the two choirs I was in. I had a lot of fun and I learned a lot of great songs."

Ms. Groah directs the Concert Choir while they perform, "Wade in the Water" during the Fall Choral Concert.

Starring Mr. Fisher as the lucky audience member and guest performer, Eclectica struts across the stage during, "Walk Like an Egyptian".

Concert Choir soloists Amelia Mihalik, Julie Sauka, and Christine Fulkerson belt out the notes of Mariah Carey's, "Christmas Baby Please Come Home".

Consisting of only 18 members, Chamber Ensemble impressively has no problem charming their audience with their small but powerful group of voices.

Play

Think of it this way, without the Play button on a DVD player, one would not be able to watch the movie. Without playing a sport, one would not be able to enjoy it. Without being involved, or "playing" through high school, one would not be able to enjoy high school to its full potential. In this section of the yearbook, we want to show that throughout our own sports seasons, everyone "played." Whether it was in football, soccer, tennis, basketball, swimming, cheerleading, baseball, softball or wrestling, this section of our yearbook is devoted to everything one does in the high school that lets us get up, and play.

"Are You READY?!"

This year, the Madison Blue Streak's Football team really gave the fans and spirit crew something to cheer about as they made it to semi-finals in the playoffs. Along with this great success, the football team had a wonderful season that really pumped the crowd up. The spirit crew really enjoys spending their Friday nights painting up and cheering the boys to their many victories. For a majority of the games, senior Daniel Heidenreich led the crew with an "Are you ready?!" cheer as the team kicked the ball off to their opponents. When Heidenreich was not doing this, junior Joseph Pietrzyk stepped up and took over the duty and got the job done. After a Blue Streak touchdown, one of the favorite things to yell for most of the spirit crew is the usual "BAM!" which continues to spread through the line of fans. The spirit crew is not the only group of students who show their school spirit, as many members of the student body dress up in blue and white and attend the football games as well. No matter the weather conditions, the Blue Streak football team always had a stand full of fans to support them throughout the season.

Spelling out "Destroy Edgewood" the spirit crew lost most of their enthusiasm after the Blue Streaks demolished the Warriors with an ending score of 34-3. These students hung around until the end of the game to see the final score and watch the boys continue to dominate over Edgewood and come out strong with a victory.

Excited for the football game, junior Zachary Fedele supports his team. Fedele comments, "This year's spirit section was very exciting and entertaining. I had fun even at the freezing cold games!"

1. Showing their school spirit, the spirit crew encourages the Blue Streaks to score more points by spelling out "Go Blue!"
2. Juniors Keirstin Longstreet and Wesley Folsom express their blue and white pride for the Blue Streaks.
3. Getting ready for a big game, spirit fans begin their weekly routine. Senior Holly Boggs gets her letter painted on her tank top by senior Amanda Perkins.
4. Loud and proud! Seniors Gregory Hildebrand, Gregory Pristov, Nicholas Miller and William West enjoy their last year of painting up.
5. Waiting to watch the Blue Streaks take on the Warriors, super "Streak Freaks" Dan Heidenreich and Andrew Gasber show their pride for the football team.
6. Very excited for the Homecoming game against Eastlake North, Kenny Janz, Bryan Hill, Gregory Pristov, Gregory Hildebrand, and Zachary Fedele helped cheer our boys in blue to a 41-14 victory.

Madison Kicks Off a Historical Season

This year, Madison Football went down in Blue Streak history. Alongside a great record of 8-4, the Blue Streaks won their very first playoff game in Madison's history. Senior and captain Terry Harmon expresses, "It's been fun playing football for the last four years and what a way to end it making history for our school! I wish all the future Streaks good luck. Go Madison!" In addition to a great year, Head Coach Tim Willis adds that all the seniors contributed to the success this year and showed great leadership towards the team. Offensively, there was a nice balance between running and passing the ball. Defensively, the Blue Streaks had speed to their advantage along with a swarming defense. Another factor that helped the Streaks this season is the addition of senior Jordan Sandidge. All together, there was a fantastic effort distributed by the coaches and players this year. It shows that with hard work, dedication, and a little bit of sacrifice great things can be accomplished.

"Ride the Wedge"

With a very successful season this year, our Blue Streak's Freshmen Football team only lost one game. The freshmen scored 372 points this year and only allowed 108 points to be scored on them. This freshmen team is very talented, have a great deal of character and understand the team concept. The offensive line opened many holes and rolled their opponents over for the Streaks very talented running backs. Joshua March carried the ball most of the time. However, when he was not carrying the ball, the freshmen team had two very talented receivers, Jacob Skelton and Jason O'Bryan who made big receptions from their quarterback Andrew Karlson. Very confidently Coach Bradley adds, "In summation of our season, I would say that we were a power football team that could run the ball against anyone." The freshmen led their games by Coach Bradley's three most important words, "Ride the Wedge". This simply meant that the boys were going to make a formation like a wedge and plow as many opponents over so that they could run the ball. Unfortunately, the JV season was not as successful as the freshmen. The JV completed a season with 4 wins and 5 losses. Some of the key players on the JV team were Wes Heath, Robert McDivitt, and Tito Anaya. The most memorable game of the season was Chardon, when the Streaks came back to win. Coach Herald's most motivational saying is, "Be a better football player when you leave." Coach Herald also said that he would miss how well the JV players improved as he watches them move up to the varsity level next year.

How Far We've Come

This Marching Band season brought the students, parents, administration and the community together to truly show their Blue Streak spirit. The ever popular band dance and percussion feature was yet again a huge hit among the crowd. This year, the band was led by senior Gina Puleo. She gained the respect of her fellow students along with the other seniors. All of the seniors took the responsibility to help teach younger students the traditions here at Madison High School. Gina describes, "Being Drum Major this year was a blast. This particular group of my peers was great too because they all were so hard-working.

I can look back on this year and my previous three and say this is how far we've come." When asked about what she would miss about high school Marching Band Jessica Holcomb responded, "The fun of having a 135 person family and definitely, high stepping." The seniors showed off their hard work and dedication. This year, the band performed at Lake Erie College during their Homecoming Game. The band had a wonderful time performing at the game. "It was very similar to a high school football game," says band director, Mrs. May. There were many pre-game activities that helped create a good crowd for the game.

That Madison Blue Streak Beat

The Madison Blue Streak Cheerleaders had yet another successful football season. The JV cheerleading coach Ms. Evans was pleased with this year's cheerleaders stating that they had great energy and dedication to cheerleading. She also said that throughout the season each girl improved in their own way. "The JV squad is always fresh and new and it's a joy to be with these girls day in and day out and I'm looking forward to the new girls coming up," said Coach Evans. The varsity cheerleading squad also had a successful season despite the change in coaches. As a first year coach, Mrs. Fults felt that the season went very well and she is excited for the future. She also felt that the seniors worked well with the underclassmen. Fults stated, "By the end of the season, the squad was unified and all the new girls really reached the standard of a varsity squad." When asked what she will miss most about football cheerleading, senior Dixie Morgan answered that she will miss cheering with Madi and Alex since they have been cheerleading together since seventh grade. It's hard to believe they will not be returning next year.

A Kick Away From Success

The soccer season began with a rough start. There were many things that hindered the team such as starting the season with no goalie, since last year's goalie had graduated. In addition, many of the returning varsity girls moved to new positions. Second year coach Gary Granger mixed things up and made drastic changes to try to make this season the best it could be. He added a two mile run to the beginning of every practice to help the girls get in shape and then to stay in shape. Along the way, there were many ups and downs but the varsity girls pushed through it and pulled together to make the season great. Even with their best efforts, Madison could not show their hard work through wins. They ended the season with a record of six wins three ties and six losses. Even though the team will be losing the following six seniors: Dorothy Zvosecz, Amanda Beemiller, Kala Dodd, Nicole Theodore, Elizabeth Whipple, and Taylor Mullan, Coach Granger is looking forward to the next year of his soccer season.

Achieving Their Primary Goals

Alex Karayianopoulos stated, "This team went from being young, to working together and pulling through." With Coach Mullan and Coach Blabolil, the 2008-2009 Boys' Varsity Soccer team accomplished more than just wins. The varsity team hoped to continue with another great season following last year. But under circumstances, did not quite meet the expectations. Instead, they accomplished success despite having a young team by pulling together as one, even if some of their players came from the JV team. After the first Chardon competition, the team suffered a lost of 1-13. However, when they played them a second time, the boys triumphed. With about a minute left, another goal was scored, making the game a final score of 4-3. When asked what the greatest accomplishment was of the season, Coach Blabolil stated, "During the Chardon game, the boys really pulled together and it was a big step from getting defeated 1-13, and ending up pulling ahead."

Matching Up To Their Opponents

When asked about some of the JV Boys' Soccer accomplishments this year, Coach Blabolil stated, "They had a lot of skill. It was a tribute to not only their work ethic, but also their willingness to win as a team." The JV Boys' Soccer team was all for hard work, determination, and not just victories. While losing over six of their players, the JV team stayed very competitive causing this season to be a successful one both on the field, and in personal development. The JV Boys' soccer team was not the only team to have hard work and determination. This year's JV Girls soccer season was a success in the eyes of the coach and the girls. Throughout the season the girls grew to be stronger players, pushing themselves to new limits, and reaching their full potential. With an improvement of last year's 1-10-2 record, the girls dominated through the competition with the final record of 7-4-1. The boys' season showed their skills, while the girls' JV season showed improvement.

Madison Girls' Lead a Strong Season

This season was a success for Madison. The girls finished third in PAC and were one of the top competing teams to look out for. They placed first at Wickliffe and second at St. John invitational. This year, the majority of the varsity team was composed of freshmen. These runners included Laura Bruening, Taylor Cline, India Kijauskas, and Allison Rothlisberger. At PAC, Taylor Cline was the first Blue Streak to cross the finish line placing fifth for Madison. With Bruening, Kijauskas, and Rothlisberger following behind for the next spots for Madison. However, having such a young team was also a weakness. "We need more race experience for the younger runners, but that will come with time," said Coach Orris. She also commented that everyone was very close and supportive of each other during this season. This made for a great season and a bright future for the team.

6. Seniors lead a team huddle to prepare for PAC. "I was disappointed because we beat the teams every other time we raced them, but anything can happen at PAC," said captain Kayla Loughry.

Rough Start For Madison

After a strong season last year, Madison followed it up this year with a first place win at both the Wickliffe Invitational and the Newbury and Fairport meet. This year's captains included Konner Lashley and Nathan Johnson who led the team during conditioning over the summer as well as throughout the season. "Cross Country is not just a sport but a lifestyle choice. You have to work hard all year, eat the right foods and get lots of rest," said Coach Verdi. At PAC, the team finished fifth out of six teams. The top three finishers were Konner Lashley 10, Luis Hernando 24, and Jordon Bevan 29. According to coach Verdi the team could use more runners to help place further in PAC for next year. "The new kids on the team are getting so good and will be at the top of their game next season. Konner Lashley and Ryan Spangenburg will lead the team very well, and possibly all the way to regionals," said senior Nathan Johnson.

Playing Against Par

With a ranking of fourth place in the PAC, the Varsity Golf team finished with a great season. The team took an eighth place showing at the state sectional tournament. Their overall record was 6 wins and 8 losses. Juniors Zach Fedele and J.W. Leitch were the leading athletes who earned first team all PAC honors. "Our strengths were our students' dedication and skills around the green," stated varsity coach Mr. Hupertz. The team will be losing two senior varsity lettermen, Aaron Whitely and Greg Hildebrand. Some words given by Mr. Hupertz, "If students are willing to work hard, take advice, make the changes and improve their individual weaknesses, we have a shot at the PAC and to make it out of sectionals." According to JV player

Mitch Helms, "Our golf season started out SKEEVY, but ended well." The JV team started the season out slow by losing their first eight matches. However, with the help of Taylor Patterson, Mitch Helms, Heather Rice and Kyle Coxe, who are said to be the teams key players by Coach Clark, won four out of their last seven matches. Showing much junior leadership and work ethic were some strengths for this season. "If the golfers continue to work on improving over the off season, we will have more success for the next upcoming season," explained Coach Clark. Overall, both varsity and junior varsity had a great season filled with many stories and unforgettable memories.

The 6 W's: Work Will Win, When Wishing Won't!

Being committed, working hard, and willing to learn were just some of the strengths of this year's Varsity Volleyball team. The team did have struggles, but they also did the best they were capable of. Even though their record was 8-12, they competed against very competitive teams including the Chardon Volleyball team. Coach Ryan reflects, "We stayed up with Chardon this year, and put up a great match. We won one game and Chardon also won one." Coach Ryan chose Rachel Lomurno as the Most Improved Player. Rachel was willing to learn new skills and was determined to acquire them. On this year's volleyball season, Rachel stated, "I think this volleyball season taught our team a lot about working together and playing as a team. We're definitely one big family and I don't know what I'd do without them!"

PAIN is TEMPORARY, PRIDE is FOREVER

The Madison JV and Freshmen Volleyball teams made it through a rough season this year. The JV team had a record of 6-13 while the freshmen had a record of 4-12. JV Coach Farina felt that one of their biggest challenges this year was going against some really tough teams. The freshmen had challenges of remaining positive and losing some of their better players by them moving up to JV. Even though the JV and freshmen had struggles this year, they did their best. They were really hard workers and had the passion to win. Morgan Winegord and Lorren Claros were picked for the JV Most Valuable Players. Morgan was picked for good leadership and Lorren for really stepping up to the plate this year by making great plays. Freshmen Coach Markijohn adds, "Our strengths for this season were in hustle, setting, and passing." Let's hope for a better season next year. No more negative but positive. Come back strong and ready to win.

Advantage: Us

Advantage - (ad-van-tage) - noun, verb - a beneficial factor or combination of factors. Many people wouldn't exactly agree that the JV and Varsity Girls' Tennis teams had an advantage. Some would even argue that they had major disadvantages; two injuries and only two returning lettermen on varsity along with many fresh, new faces on JV. However, those people were very, very wrong. Varsity Coach Vidmar's plan for the season was to teach the girls to play their best and respect the game, but have fun doing it. Senior and first singles player Shannon Timperio and senior first doubles player Liz Elmore both suffered very painful injuries early into the season, making both singles and doubles players move up in the rank. It was a huge blow to the team, but they stuck together and did their best. Eventually, Timperio returned and finished out the season blowing away the competition. Second doubles player Brandi Gossard talked about the season, "The season was awesome. Even though we had a lot of setbacks and injuries, we always pulled through as a team." The girls faced, and overcame, many obstacles together and showed people what a team really was and had an awesome time doing it. The JV girls' team had many new players, a lot who had never played tennis before. They wouldn't let that get them down though. All of the girls practiced very hard and worked their way into becoming tennis experts with the help of Coach Green and each other. Many times, sophomores Tasmin Andres and Shayla Silveira stepped up to help at the varsity level when they needed an extra player or two. Coach Green was very happy with the girls' efforts and proud of their improvements during the season. Coach Vidmar and Green were both very impressed with the way the girls played this season and cannot wait for next fall. The 2008 Madison Girls' JV and Varsity Tennis teams truly did have the advantage this season.

A Game of Inches

Working hard and keeping their head in the game was nothing for the Varsity Girl's Basketball team this year. All of the girls were very positive and tried to think of the game as a game of inches; there are always opportunities all around us. Coach Smith's strategy was to apply pressure on the ball in half-court defense and make more attempts at the basket. Juniors Ashley DiLillo, Kaitlyn Oberstar and sophomore Kelsey Koskinen all stepped it up and really took his strategy to heart. He also worked the girls hard during the off-season to prepare them for some tough teams. Madison had two very intense, close games against their rival Chardon; they pulled together and won both! The Chardon home game was especially thrilling because it put Madison in the position to be PAC champs. Senior post player Taylor Mullan said, "This season, everyone worked really well together. They all did their best to accomplish their goals and make the season great. I'm so proud of everyone!" The girls did an amazing job at taking advantage of opportunities and worked very hard to have such a successful season.

He Shoots... He Scores!

This year, the Boys' Varsity Basketball team did a very good job. Their record was 18-5 and in the PAC, they were 8-2. The team did have some challenges this season but they didn't let that stop them from playing the game. One challenge that this team had was injury and illness. Mitch Krotz was out a few games from knee injury, Kenneth Janz for his ankle, and Daniel Heidenreich for mono. They didn't let that stop them from coming back or supporting the team. The basketball team had some strengths but also some weaknesses. Coach Moran stated, "The players had good mixture of inside and outside game. They were hardworking and they were coachable players." The most competitive team that the varsity played this year was Mentor because they were good at shooting, were well coached and were extremely smart. The varsity team doesn't give awards for most valuable player; however, in the PAC, Daniel Heidenreich and Bryan Hill received First Team. Kenneth Janz and Stephen McGuire received Second Team. Finally, Mitch Krotz and Michael Maroney received Honorable Mention. The varsity basketball team did a great job this year and Madison High School is looking forward to the next basketball season to come.

Makin' a Move

Even though the JV Boys' and Girls' Basketball teams had different strengths as well as weaknesses their coaches had similar strategies. First year coach for the boys' team, Coach Tom Reilly said, "This year's strategy was to prepare the players to play on the varsity level next year." As for the coach of the girls' team, Coach Rod Collins said, "My strategy this season was to work on the little things that will make them better basketball players." Overall, the boys' season didn't go how they would have liked but they did improve over the duration of the season.

Both teams had improved from the beginning of their seasons. Aside from both improving, both teams' players played hard whenever they were on the court. The boys' attitudes was their strength. "No one ever quit; they always continued to play hard," commented Coach Reilly. The girls' greatest strength was their half court defense according to Coach Collins. The JV teams of 2008 and 2009 were a great group which made for a great season for both teams. The boys ended their season with 5 wins and 15 losses, and the girls with 11 wins 9 losses.

Shooting for Victories

With Jacob Skelton leading in baskets and rebounding, and Andy Karlson leading in assists; the Freshmen Boys' Basketball team ended their season with a 10-10 record. According to Coach Wagner, the team has improved tremendously since last year. Coach Wagner said, "The highlight was coming back from 10 points down with less than two minutes to go versus Benedictine." If the boys continue to strengthen their work ethic and develop confidence in each other, next year's JV season could be one of the best Madison's seen. The girls had to struggle to win games this season due to many of the athletes who experienced injuries throughout the season. The season ended with a 3-11 record. Chantel Smithberger was team captain, while Sam Short and Caitlin Post led the team in scoring and rebounding. Coach Ziegler said, "The overall improvement has been great." As the team improved so did its players, which led to Amanda Gervan, Chantel Smithberger, Sam Short, and Nicole Wilson moving up to JV this season. Next year, the team hopes to win some major victories.

The basketball cheerleaders kept the crowd entertained throughout the long, exciting season. Both JV and varsity squads perform between quarters, at halftime, and they introduce the varsity boys' basketball team. In the future, JV coach Ms. Evans hopes to come up with new cheers and chants. When asked about the progress of the squad varsity cheerleading coach Mrs. Verdi stated, "In the beginning, I felt they were a little divided and did not have a lot of confidence but quickly realized that they had a lot of talent to offer the squad and came together to be a strong group of girls." One of the varsity captains Erin Maresco commented, "This is a great group of girls. We have fun together which made it an awesome season."

We've got that bluestreak spirit!

The JV basketball cheerleading squad is made up of three sophomores and five freshmen who work together to entertain the early crowd at the boys' basketball game. Captain Kaitlyn Pridemore stated, "This year was a fun year for me. These girls worked their hardest and it certainly showed. The Butterfly Effect

This swim season was another great year. The boys' 200 free relay made it to districts which included seniors Robert Braidich, Greg Pristov and Alex Karayianopoulos along with junior Derek Kuester. Derek and Greg also qualified in two individual events. Senior Greg Pristov went to the state level for the 200 freestyle and the 100 Butterfly. He commented about the honor by saying, "It was a good experience." When asked about what she would miss about the seniors, Ms. Egnot answered,

"We will miss their spirit, humor, goofy dancing and hard work." The team captains this year were seniors Robert Braidich, Greg Pristov, Molly Harris and Marilyn Weiss. They led their teams to many victories and helped them through their losses. The boys won eight meets and lost only one. The girls won three meets and lost six, even though most of the girls dropped their time at sectionals. Overall, the season was very successful for both the Girls' and Boys' Swim Team.

6. Using good form, junior Allen Leet races through the water to try to out swim his opponent.

You've Been Thunderstruck!

Finishing with a 5-5 record overall and a 3-2 PAC record, the Madison Varsity Wrestling team worked hard to finish the season. Unfortunately, Madison was unable to defeat Riverside—the team they usually strive to beat. This year's team had some very strong seniors including their number one wrestlers, Andrew Gasber, Kevin Campbell, Mason Gilbert, and Vincent Nadbath. Matt Turek was an outstanding junior, who was a district qualifier. Attending several tournaments, Madison had several wrestlers place throughout the season. Andrew Gasber placed at State for Madison where he suffered his one and only upsetting loss to St. Edward's, although he came back strong to take 3rd place. Coach says, "Placing 3rd at the state tournament is not an easy feat and the entire community should be proud of him considering he transferred from State Champion St. Edward High School, to wrestle for his home town." They had several wrestlers that performed well on the mats at the JV level that will be moving up next year. Coaches are excited for the upcoming middle school wrestlers that will be moving up next year to participate and compete at the high school level as well. Coaches are proud of their team, and they are looking forward to next season. When asked what he was most proud of this year, Coach Becka responded, "How great our stats were!" This year's theme song was "Thunderstruck" by AC/DC. This year the wrestling team changed the theme song because they felt it was more in line with Madison's mascot.

5. Filling spots on the varsity and JV squads at the 134 weight-class, sophomore Austin Beck tries his hardest to drop his Riverside opponent to the mat.

6. Senior Andrew Gasber brings down his opponent from Riverside to score two points. Andrew says, "This season was a lot of fun. I wish I could have won a state title but placing 3rd was ok. I had a lot of fun with the guys and wish them the best of luck next year!"

Heating it up in the Gym and in the Stands

Although in the winter it is chilly outdoors, inside the gym it is heated up for winter sports! Crowds flood in for the girls' and boys' basketball teams as friendly rivals come together to compete for another "W." Whether it is swimming, wrestling, or basketball there is always a "Blue Streak Freak" in sight to cheer for the home team. The Madison Fan section does its best to pump the crowd up for each game. "Even though all the fans don't sit near each other, it is still nice to come and support our home team," said Lauren Hutchison. The Madison Pep Band plays in unison to some traditional songs like "Eye of the Tiger" and "How Far We've Come". All of which are played to get the teams pumped and ready to compete as well as getting the spirit fans to sing along. The combination of the two really heat it up in the stands.

The Future Looks Brighter Than Bright

This year's Madison Varsity Softball Team ended with a record of 18 wins and only 7 losses. The girls went 4-6 in the Premier Athletic Conference. With 8 juniors returning next year, the season couldn't look any brighter. The biggest games played this year consisted of two contests; the excitement of beating the Lakeside Dragons 2-0 and beating Perry twice. This year, the players accepted the concept of "TEAM" above individual accomplishments which helped them play hard as a team. Some of the strengths of the team included their pitching with junior Brit Hinz with a 12-3 record with an ERA of 1.20 carrying 162 strikeouts. Junior Tawna Whited had an ERA of 1.16 with a record of 6-4 with 82 strikeouts. The team's defense was another big strength this year. The defense only had 15 errors in all 25 games, this was a big improvement from last year. Plans for next year include improving on pitch selection. The team struck out too many times and did not draw enough walks. They will start their weight program in July and work on batting and pitch recognition. Coach Pinelli has set his goals for next year as a PAC Championship, District finals, 20 or more wins, and everything else is just icing on the cake. Leading batters this year were juniors Tawna Whited, Margaret Demko, Kaitlyn Thompson, and Juliana Brotzman. The team will have a loss of 3 graduating seniors including Holly Boggs, Megan Boggs, and Ashley Miller who were solid defenders and a big key to the success this year. Mr. Pinelli picked the quote, "You're never as good as people tell you you are, and you're never as bad as you think you are," to best describe his team and their season.

Hit That Ball Out Of The Park!

Madison High School's JV Softball team did a great job this year with a record of 13 wins and 7 losses. The team played hard mentally and physically. This year, the defensive skills improved drastically. The players were always backing each other up and calling each other out. When the team worked together, they got a lot done. The JV team this year welcomed many newcomers. Jessica Simko was the ace pitcher for the JV team and she did a splendid job of leading the game. The JV team had many strengths and a few weaknesses. Coach Ryan states, "The strengths included the girls communication and camaraderie towards one another. They cheered each other on and gave good advice when someone was not playing their 'A' game." One big challenge the JV team had was that pitcher Jessica Simko got hurt with a back injury late in the season. Chelsea Scarberry and Brianna Beasley stepped in for the team and pitched a few games, doing a good job defensively. The JV team had trouble hitting this year but when they did hit; they were unstoppable. The team will be losing a few players next year due to graduating seniors. Even with those losses, Hal Montgomery from Cinderella Story says, "Never let the fear of striking out keep you from playing the game."

Rounding the Bases

With a team consisting of mostly seniors, the Varsity Boys' Baseball team had a very challenging season. With both PAC members Willoughby South and Eastlake North having a very solid team this year, the boys had to try really hard to strive and achieve their wins in and out of the PAC. On a positive statement about this season, Coach Dragas quotes, "The team worked really well together and had a great time both on and off of the field." Two outstanding players this year were seniors Patrick Styblo and Jordan Dickman who were both pitchers for this year's team. With high hopes for next year, Dragas says that he hopes to improve on fielding and knowing where to throw the ball. However, with most of the team being seniors this year, he also hopes that a lot of players at the junior varsity level this year will step up and become leaders for the team next year. Although their record does not reflect how hard they played, all of the boys put a positive attitude on and off the field and played the games with all they had.

Blue Streak Batter-Up

Although the JV and Freshmen Baseball teams' overall record started off a little rocky, there are some shining aspects to take into consideration. According to freshmen Coach Titman, Tyler McCord and Antonio Nappo were just two standout players. McCord, the pitcher, contributed to the only two wins that the team earned this season while Nappo had the highest batting average of the team and the only home run. Coach Titman voiced some positive feedback regarding the season, "It was successful in the fact that we got better as a team as the season went on, even though we only had two wins." As for next year, the players need to stay focused on the little things and come prepared to play ball! The JV team had a season full of hits and misses. Coach Hamilton shares his feelings about the season, "On paper we did not do well; however, the team showed marked improvement from the start of the season. Also, if a couple of plays had gone our way, our record would be quite different." Each player on the JV team contributed to the many accomplishments the season offered. Next year, the JV baseball team will have to concentrate more on closing out their games. As for both teams, they will continue to "throw the ball, hit the ball, and catch the ball."

Love Hits Home

This year, the Varsity and JV Boys' Tennis teams had some difficult obstacles to overcome. Coach Vidmar stated, "It has been a privilege coaching these fine young men. They give their best and played with class." When asked about the strengths and weaknesses of the team Coach Vidmar said there was a lack of experience. However, he said that the boys always gave 100% and never gave up. Coach Vidmar's goal for the season was to help the boys develop an appreciation for the game so it becomes a lifetime sport like it is for him. The JV team mimicked the varsity team very much. Similar to varsity, the JV team had a lack of experience. However, even with all the rain-outs and a packed schedule, the boys practiced very hard. Coach Brainard commented on how well the boys improved in their positioning at doubles and confidence in singles, "I'm really proud of all the boys and how far they've come. It has been a good season and I'm sure they will continue to learn even more about tennis." Both the JV and Varsity Boys' Tennis teams gave their opponents a run for their money and showed what it truly means to be a Blue Streak; confidence, good sportsmanship and giving 100% in every match!

The Need for Speed

After losing several seniors last year, the Boys' and Girls' Track teams struggled to stay on top. The girls' team had high expectations, since they were co-PAC champs last year. The team tried their hardest to put points on the scoreboard. In the PAC, the girls finished fourth. Knowing that the team wasn't going for the title this year, the girls worked on rebuilding their team and discovering different talents. Many athletes had to experiment in events they weren't used to competing in. The boys ended in fifth at PAC, with star efforts from all the athletes. This year's boys' team consisted mostly of juniors and sophomores. However, many freshmen contributed big points in pole vault, shot put and other field and running events. The majority of the athletes for the girls were young and unexperienced as well, but both teams showed great potential for the next upcoming years. Coach Verdi summed up the season by saying, "A team on the rebound is a dangerous force!" As both teams grow and develop; wins will come easier, talents will be revealed, and Madison will be back on the banner.

Stop

Stop and take a moment to think about everything that you've learned at Madison High School up to this point in your high school career. It doesn't matter whether it was in a classroom or outside of a classroom. Now think about everything that you've accomplished due to something that you've learned in a classroom. In the Academic section of the yearbook, that is what we want you to do. We want you to stop and look at everything you have accomplished in your studies. Stop and look at everything you have learned. Most importantly, we want you to stop and look at everything you still have yet to learn. While finding anything from Social Studies to going to Auburn, we want you to stop and think about all what you have learned this year.

The Madison High School drama department always does a very good job at presenting plays and one acts for students and staff to enjoy. The Winter One-Acts and the Fall Play, The Odd Couple-Female Version, are just two of several finely presented plays that occur each year. "For being in the Winter One-Acts for the first time this year, I had a lot of fun and it was a great experience", says junior Perry Quayle. Much practice and dedication is

Succeeding in Business

If you wanted to learn how to succeed in business this year, all that you would have to do is go to this year's production of How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying. Opening day took place on, May 15, 2009, and ended with a matinee show on, May 18, 2009. Like all the other musicals, this show took place at Rabbit Run Theatre. About the show and how well the students did putting it on, director Ms. Groah quotes, "The production was challenging in many respects, as there were a lot of cast members, which brings many rehearsal conflicts into the mix and 24 scenes in the show, which makes the technical element much more cumbersome. Overall, our MHS thespians did an awesome job with this satirical musical!" Thank you, Mrs. Findak, for your fantastic photos of this performance.

Sophomore Vinney Tomolonis analyzes his work in Mr. Brainard's math class.

Displaying their solutions on dry erase boards, freshmen Allison Camp and Cody Kerby wait to get Mrs. Collins' approval.

In the new Probability & Statistics class, Jenna Mackey and Amanda Perkins work on a project. Jenna stated, "Stats is a great class. We learn, but it's always fun."

Adding to the Product

The Math Department at Madison High School has expanded from 16 to 19 math classes including the new Probability and Statistics class taught by Mr. Mainello. Mr. Mainello states, "The first year of

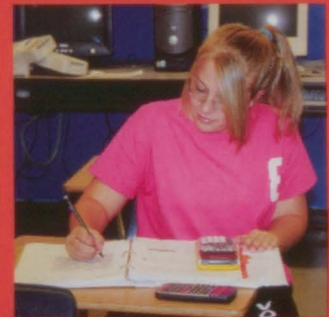

AP Statistics has gone pretty well. Students are excited to do lab activities, projects, and computer work and see all the connections the process of Statistics has in the real world. My hope is more students elect to take this course next year." At Madison, a wide variety of math classes are offered that will satisfy everyone's individual wants and needs. Learning is definitely in your favor.

Technology time! Mrs. Meshginpoosh's Algebra 1B class uses the TI-84 graphing calculator to help visualize exponential growth and decay.

Jennifer Quirk works quietly and independently on her Radioactive Squares lab during Mrs. Meshginpoosh's Algebra 1B class.

Seniors Robert Braidich, Anna Cooley and Nathanael Brawn survey students at lunch for a project in Mr. Mainello's Probability and Statistics class.

Freshmen Kelly Wayman and Marisa Rosa cooperatively work on an exponent worksheet.

Sophomore Cynthia O'Brien from Mr. Fick's fourth block Chemistry Honors class analyzes the effects of dry ice when stirred.

Chemical Explosion!

The Science Department at Madison High School has a variety of science classes that you can choose from. They vary from Biology to Chemistry, Earth Science to Anatomy, Unified to Physics and many others. In each class, you can do a lot of different types of activities. In Anatomy, they allow you to dissect animals so you can learn and name the different parts of the animal. In Chemistry, you do a lot of labs and even deal with dry ice and what happens when you stir it. In Unified Science, you learn the basics of every type of science. You complete many labs and do experiments. Science is a challenge but a great adventure.

In Mr. Hanes' Honors Biology class, senior Bradley Domanovics has scalpel in hand to dissect and find different parts of the pig.

Reading the directions for her ramp project, senior Dorothy Zvosecz applies the skills she's learned in Mr. Bradley's Physics class.

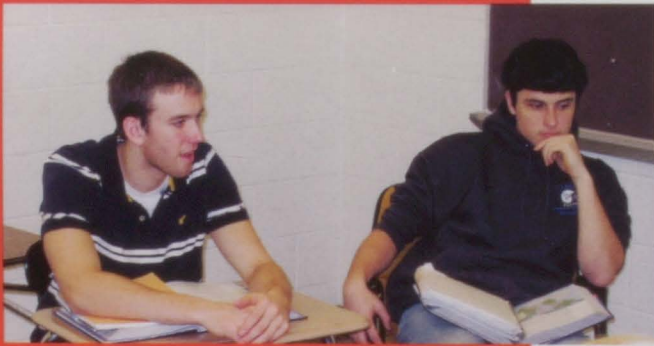

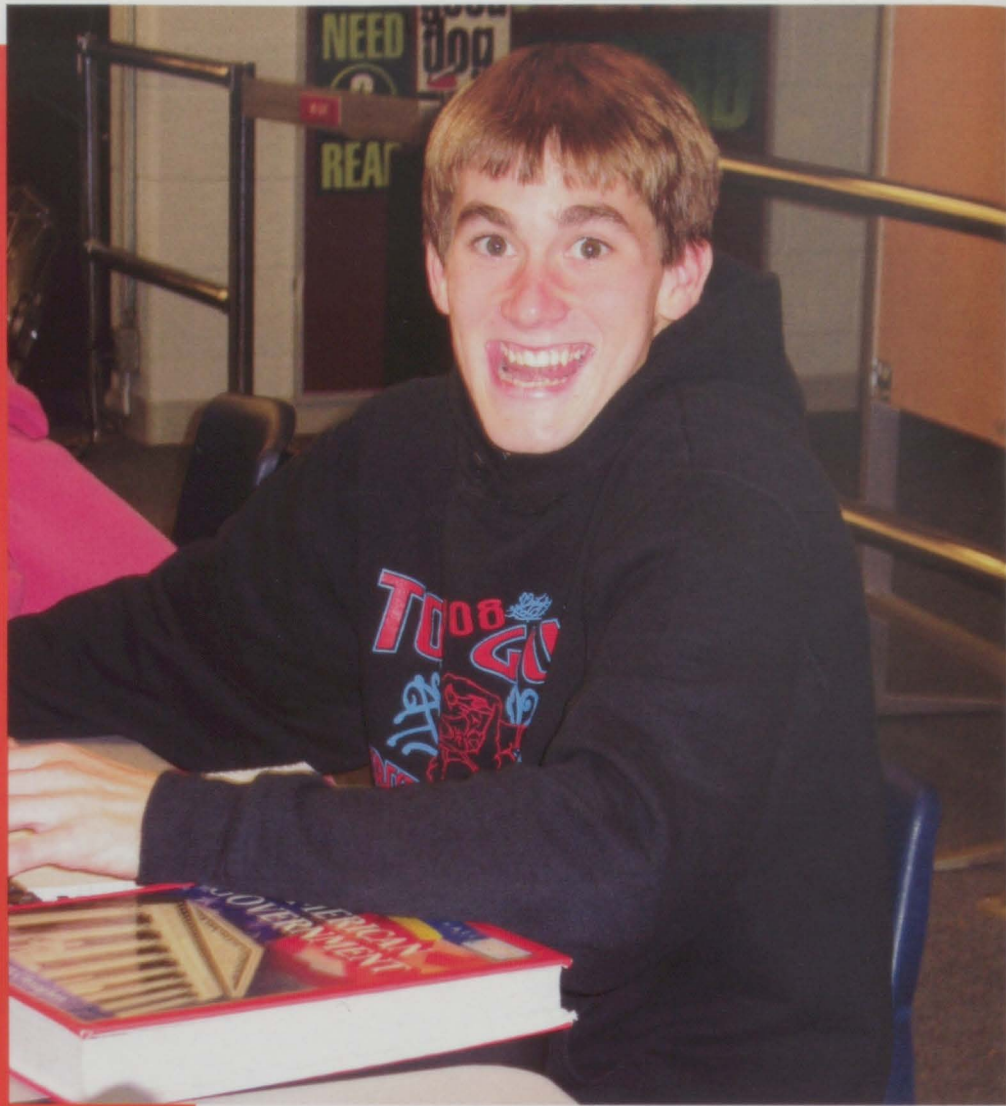

Sophomore Kyle Roberts burns metal in Mr. Fick's Chemistry Honors class to see the results that the heat has on the metal.

Senior Alissa Studer sits patiently and listens to her group discuss their opinions on Western Civilization in Mr. Hamilton's class.

Seniors Kevin Joyner and Paul Gain participate in the group discussion during their Western Civilization class.

Working in the school library, senior Alyssa Amato successfully completes her Cabinet Project in Mr. Dragas' Government class.

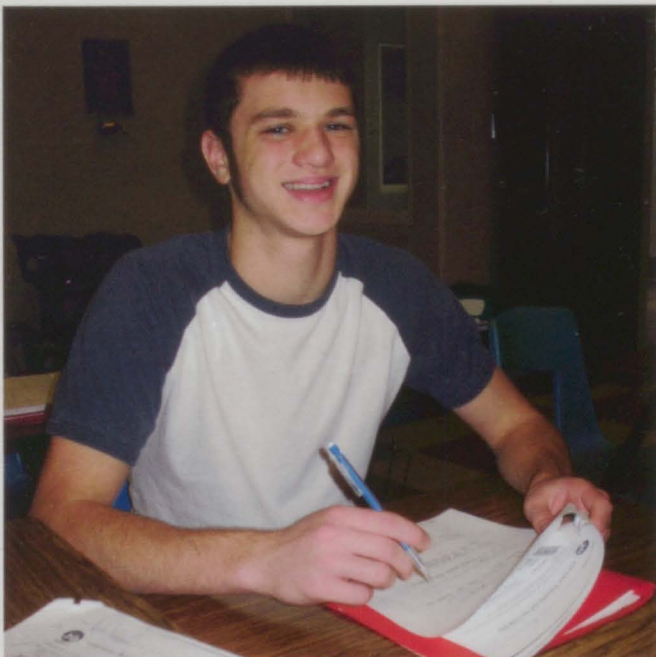

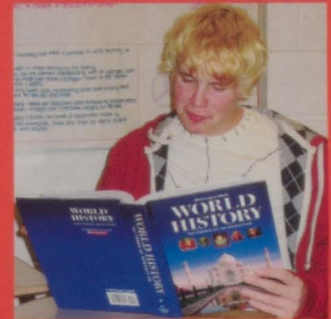

Freedom of the Press

The Social Studies Department offers many different types of classes including Social Studies, History, Government, Western Civilization and Politics. Each class has a way of teaching the students about our country, government, worldwide conflicts, presidential elections, the cultures around the world, and many other things involving the States. This department teaches the students of Madison High things that they should know about the United States, such as the people running it, and how they handle the current events of today.

On a Fact finding mission, juniors Shawn Weinpert and Cory Carsey work on their Cabinet members project for Mr. Dragas' Government class.

Senior Zachery Schrauf concentrates on scanning his Western Civilization book for group discussion in Mr. Hamilton's class.

During the crazy bell schedule of third block, sophomore Joseph Dunkle works on his chapter worksheet in one of Mr. Moran's first semester social studies class.

Junior Jessica Browning looks up information on the internet in the library for her project in Mr. Dragas' Government class.

In Raquet Sports, Philip Bradshaw rallies the ball back to his opponent.

In Mrs. Craigo's class, Stephen Phillips tries to save Annie by giving her chest compressions.

Kyle Weinpert, Becca Valvoda and Victoria Majernik participate in a demonstration for operation keepsake.

Junior Steven Richards looks to make a pass in a game of speed ball in seventh period Team Sports class.

Reaching Their Full Potential

The Health and Physical Education teachers have different goals as teachers, but the same thoughts about health and fitness for their students. They all talk about the importance of health in your life, and as Mrs. Mullan adds, "Your health is your future, take care of it." The four teachers in the Health and Physical Education department include Mrs. Craig, Mrs. Mullan, Mrs. Nikses, and Mr. Willis. They all have their hands full with 10 different classes to teach. There are classes for each student's diverse interests that range from Modern dance to Advanced Weight Training.

Pumping iron, junior Katie Markgraf works out in Mr. Willis' Beginning Weight Training class.

In Mrs. Mullan's health class, freshmen Syan Killian and Quinn Yokie measure each other's height.

Junior Derrick Humphrey climbs the rock wall that the Army brought in for the students in Physical Education.

In the beginning stages of his woods project in Mr. Dean's Woods One class, freshman Anthony Madonna sands his project on the drum sander.

Junior Hanna Vest and senior Jade Querry proudly show off their festive cookies they made and decorated during Nutrition and Wellness before Christmas break.

Madison Students Have Mad Skills!

There are many skills courses offered at Madison High School to make sure students have tools of the trade for life after high school. They vary from Parenting and Family and Consumer Science to Woods and Drafting. In these classes, students learn how to complete tasks that will help them later in life. Students see first-hand what it is like to make deadlines, plan ahead, or to do something as simple as cooking a nutritious, balanced meal. They work on quilts, cutting boards, making a floor plan, or even taking care of a baby. There are seven courses offered in the skills department giving the students a lot of variety to choose from. There is no doubt that Madison students have mad skills!

For these sewing unit in Mrs. Bezzeg's Family and Consumer Science class, junior Taylor Basco works hard on pinning the fabric to the batting for her quilt project.

Junior Jared Zuege works on putting the finishing touches on his woods project as he stains his sofa table.

See the World Through a Book

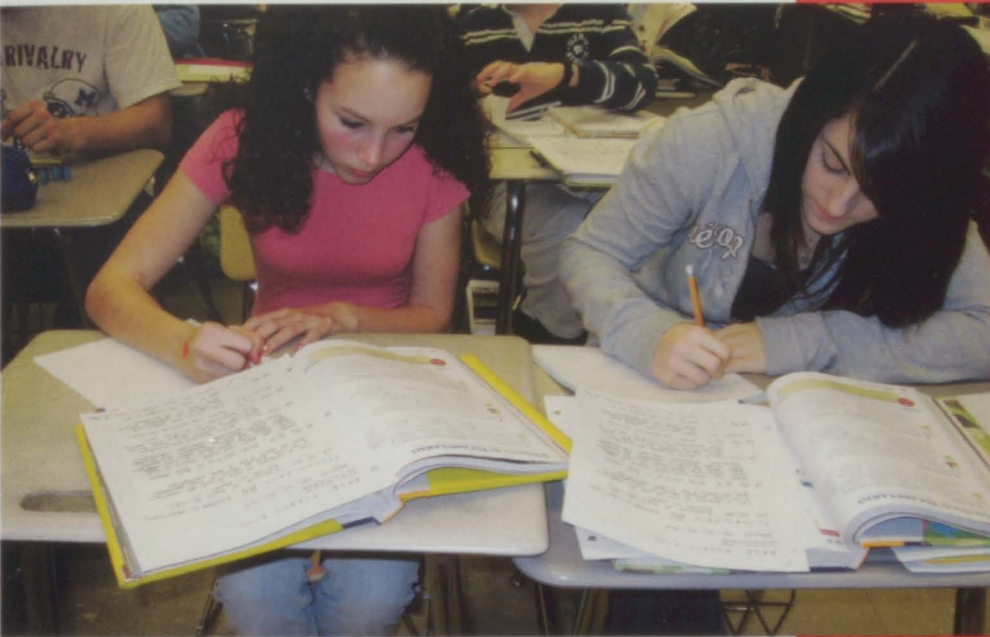

Learning a new language such as Russian or Spanish can be a difficult, but fun task. It challenges students as they learn about different cultures and grammar. Spanish teacher Ms. Busse says, "I love teaching grammar. I especially love assignments in which students write creative sentences." Teachers love educating students about culture and grammar because even they learn something new from the students. This year Ms.

Busse and Mrs. Ryabtseva reflect on learning about culture and current events from their students. Just open up your language book and you'll see the world.

During fourth block, freshmen Morgan Fako and Kayla Avery work on their Spanish packets that Mrs. Busse assigned them.

Mrs. Ryabtseva's first semester Russian 1 class studies for success while waiting for the lunch bell to ring.

Senior Tristin Burr, sophomores Joey Dunkle and Alycia Fleischer and seniors Amy Mihalik and Caitlin Delzoppo show off the flowers that they made for Day of the Dead celebration in Mrs. Battes' class.

In the school cafeteria, Jessica Holcomb, Kenneth Fahle, and Gina Puleo, along with the rest of the Jazz Band, keep the audience entertained during the fundraiser.

Jazz Band senior Molly Harris stums her guitar for the Holiday Concert for the song "Baby, It's Cold Outside".

The Jazz band performs the song "Baby, Its Cold Outside" during the Holiday Concert with featured soloists Garrison Varketta on the trumpet and Jessica Holcomb on the tenor saxophone.

While the snow fell outside on December 18, 2008, Concert band members Kayla Loughry, Brianna Dorko and Erin Maresco played their clarinets during the song "Jingle Bell Forever".

Bringing in the Cash and Crowd

After weeks of preparation and other festive pieces. For their Spring Concert, they played a variety of songs including "Takin' Care of Business", "Early Afternoon Blues", and much more. To help prepare for this, the band used a chicken dinner to bring in $2,000 dollars.

According to Mrs. May, the band brought in the most money they have ever seen in fundraising. At the OMEA District competition, the band was ranked a number one, which is the highest rank at the competition. A few weeks later the band went to the State Competition and was ranked a three; overall, making for a successful year of Jazz and Concert Band.

After the climax of the Holiday Concert, members of the Concert Band Haley Jurick, Corey Crau and Rachel Snider stop, in the midst of the gym noise, to reflect on their successful performances. According to Rachel, "the concert was festive and fun."

Junior Heather Rice plays a flute solo of Pachelbel's "Cannon in D major" during the Chicken Dinner Raffle in November.

Sophomores Katelyn Zawacki and Katlyn Hathaway man the cash box and encourage students to buy raffle tickets to help raise money for the band program.

Joan Cerni, Jeremy Childers, Caleb Hord, and Dan Poulson perform the brass number, "Dashing Through The Snow!" during the Holiday Concert.

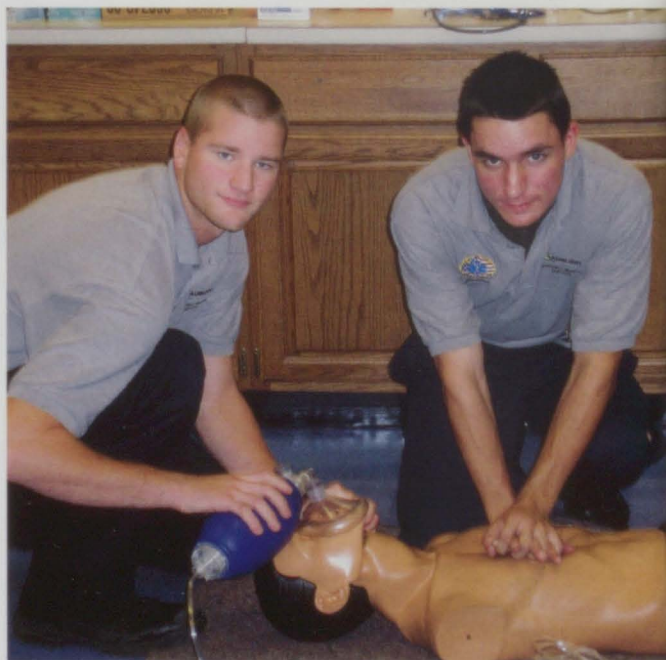

Proud of her work, senior cosmetology student Shire Parcell shows off her newly formed mustache on her mannequin.

While welding on his project, Kyle Gough shows that he's not afraid to have a little fun with fire.

Before continuing on with his presentation, Graham Fitzgerald pauses to point out what he was presenting to the class.

Bringing his dummy back to life, seniors Donald Moran and Justin Lutton practice the steps needed to perform CPR successfully.

Pursuing Your Career

There's not many places in high school where you can explore your own imagination. At Auburn Career Center, some of the skills you can learn include how to cut up a few hairs, cook an elegant meal, or find the problems in cars. However, that isn't all of the things that you can do. While at Auburn, you can take whatever you are interested in and pursue the career of your choice in a more in depth aspect. Whatever you are interested in, Auburn could potentially have something for you. Jeff Healy states, "Auburn is really fun. I can do what I'm interested in and meet a bunch of new people all in the same day."

As he crawls into the car to fix the problem, aspiring mechanic Jeremy Malek tackles the problem right away.

Showing that the kitchen isn't too hot for them, juniors MacKenzie McCreary and Paige Smith help prepare food for their kitchen.

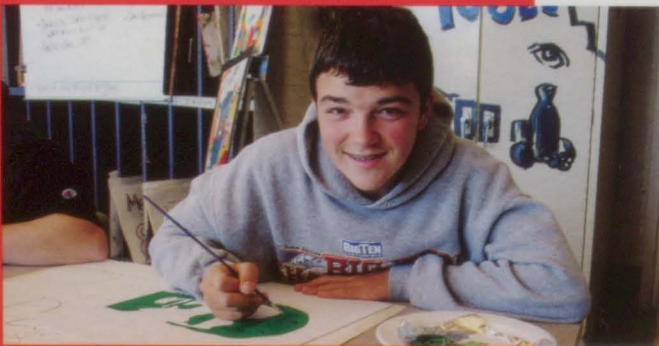

As she works on her computer skills, senior Katie Buehner pauses from her work to prove that you can have fun working on the computer.

While working on her Early Childhood Skills, Marissa Catalano helps her students on a project that involves cutting and pasting.

With ruler in hand, Rachel Brickman works diligently on her drawing in Mrs. Oravec's Art 1 Foundations class to make it one to be remembered.

In Mr. Grier's Art 2 class, sophomore Jacob Davis continues to paint a self portrait of himself in hopes of earning an "A" in return.

Julia Rood is all smiles as she paints her art project for one of Mr. Grier's Art 2 classes.

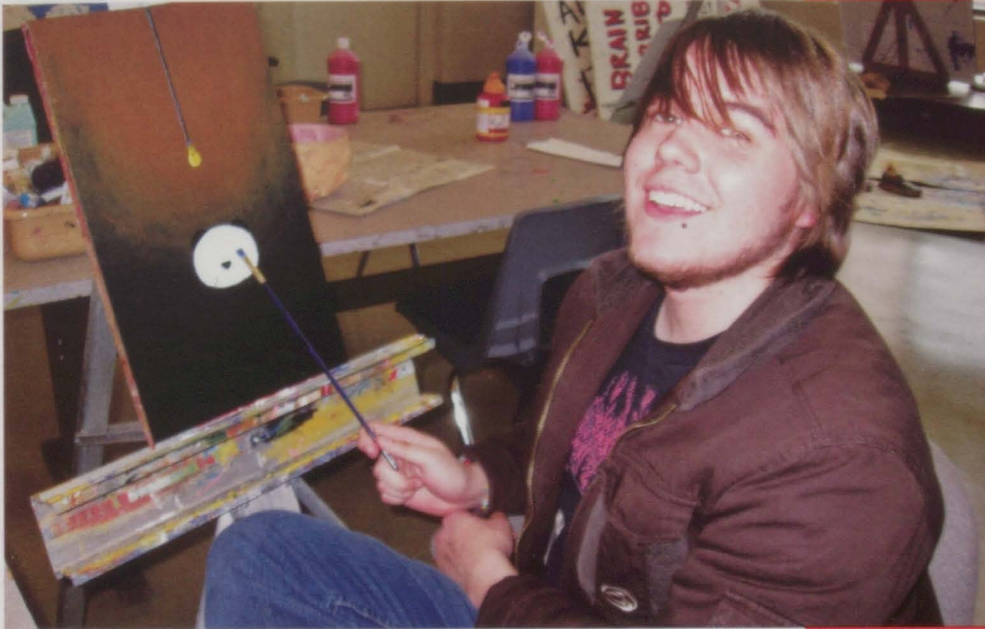

A Collage of Creativity

Madison High School's Art Department offers many classes to express a student's need for creativity. There are a total of eight classes to choose from and they are all taught by Mrs. Oravec or Mr. Grier. Art Foundations teaches students the basic elements of art. In Commercial Art, students can explore a world of graphics. There is a Ceramics class that incorporates a 3-D aspect. A painting class is offered that allows students to experience water colors and different painting techniques. There is also photography which studies a different aspect of art through photographs. Drawing and Design and Independent Art are even more art classes that are offered.

Having fun in her Art 1 class, freshman Erin Burke gives her project a "Thumbs-up" for the day.

Credits

When it comes to the credits of the yearbook, the advertisements of the yearbook financially help make the publication what it is today. Without a doubt, the yearbook would not be what it is without the community support behind it. Just like the credits of a movie, the credits in this yearbook show who the stars are in the yearbook (hence, the asteric). The stars include not only the advertisements submitted by and created for the community, but also the student body in the index. For your viewing pleasure, the credits of this publication are located in the index so one can easily locate where he or she was highlighted in the yearbook.

Advertisements
and Index:
Pages
180-208

Taking time off from their busy work week, students from all over the high school pause for a second to show off the list of our advertisers. This list and three others can be found, during the month of March, all over the school so that students and whoever else are in the school can give patronage to the businesses around our area that have helped contribute to the success of the Madison High School yearbook.

Good Luck Class of 2009!

The 2008-2009 Cauldron is a publication of the Madison High School Yearbook Staff. Three hundred and seventy five copies were printed by the Herff Jones Publishing Company in Gettysburg, Pennsylvania. Many different fonts were selected and used for this book including: AHJ Antique Olive and AHJ Benjamin Gothic. Pre-sale price of the yearbook started in October for a price of $60 including a free nameplate. The yearbook staff would like to thank the many people who came to our aid submitting photos or taking photos. A few names deserve mentioning: Eileen Findak of Findak Photography, Don McCormack, Sports Editor, of The Star Beacon, Officer Ackerman, Mrs. Collins, Mrs. Grau, Mrs. Kemper, Mr. Fickenscher, Mrs. Nikses, Lanie Steigner, Michelle Wiker, among others. Please remember that the Cauldron is a student publication. We work very hard to avoid, find and correct errors, and we apologize for those we missed.
